Unfavorable News Reports Raise Ire Of Syngman Rhee

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee warned today that he would not tolerate newspaper men who spread accounts unfavorable to the Republic of Korea.

Rhee said in a statement:

"There are some correspondents, both local and foreign, who are spreading accounts unfavorable to the Republic of Korea. Now that our country is facing a national crisis, we warn that we will not tolerate the activities of these correspondents should they continue to evoke international hostility and thereby precipitate our national crisis."

Rhee did not name any correspondents.

He said he had read news reports that American soldiers "caused injuries to our high school girls during anti-truce demonstrations last week, with razor blades and committed other inhuman acts and I am extremely shocked."

"No matter what they say about them, there are absolutely no Americans who attempt to commit such diabolic acts as to cut the arms of females. Should there be ones who have witnessed American perpetrate acts of this nature, they must present proof at the office of the secretary to the president.

"Even if these reports are true, news reporters and editors should be extremely careful in handling accounts of this nature. They should not be careless enough to have these accounts published."

He said any such incidents should be reported to the government for handling.

"Should there be wicked elements who capitalize on these critical hours, incite public sentiment and cause clashes between us and our allies, we must see to it that every one of them is arrested and detained in prison.

"We must make utmost certain at this time. . . so as not to cause any misunderstanding among our allies. These misunderstandings will prevent us from acquainting the people throughout the world with our intention."

Rhee's statement did not mention any specific incident.

70 Brazilian Dancers Die as Hall Burned

Estimates of the death toll varied from 63 to 70. Another 70 persons were injured.

When the club director told the crowd of 300 the building was on fire, the dancers pushed toward the single narrow stairway. Some fell in the frenzy and the story became clogged.

The police said later they found a solid pile of bodies on the stairway. Only a few had died from burns. The rest suffocated or were trampled.

ADD UNFAVORABLE NEWS ...

The account of the girls being cut by razor blades was carried in Korean newspapers. It was not certain whether any North American news outlets carried the story.

FALL PROVES FATAL

HAMILTON (CP)—Grace McPherson, 31, of Hamilton died in hospital Sunday after what police said was a fall Friday near steps leading up the mountain. Miss McPherson was found unconscious at the bottom of the steps with head injuries and cuts. Police said she may have fainted or slipped as she walked across to the steps.

Floods in West

House Submerged

A Lethbridge, Alta., house in the lowlying area near the rampaging Oldman river is almost completely inundated. Southern Alberta was beginning to recover from the worst floods in 30 years when fresh storms struck. Medicine Hat, Alta., also suffered severely from the overflowing river, turned into a torrent by heavy rains. — (CP Photo.)

Water Witching Still Practiced By Alberta Man

Ernest Cockrell of Cowley says he can locate an underground water supply by walking over the ground clutching a branch of a willow tree.

When the wand is over a water source it waves violently, he says, and sometimes the bark is torn away. Only a green willow is used. The wand, a three-foot slice of a young willow tree cut in the shape of a prong, sometimes will bend upwards and sometimes down. But whenever it "wiggles," there is water underneath.

English Ancestry

Mr. Cockrell discovered his "witching" talent in his boyhood days in Oxfordshire, England, after watching some water searchers from London.

He says four of his family could make the same wiggle over water, but four others could not. He doesn't know how or why he possesses the talent. He says it may have something to do with the individual's body chemistry, and possibly is inherited.

Mr. Cockrell claims that his "witching" has never failed to find water since he came to Cowley in 1901. He has found water at depths ranging as much as 220 feet.

He has never taken money for a job, believing the charm might be broken if used professionally.

Bomb Theatre Showing Films Of Coronation

BELFAST (AP)—A time bomb early today wrecked the balcony of a Northern Ireland motion picture theatre which advertised that films of the coronation would be shown next week.

The blast took place in the Savoy theatre at Newry, County Down, about 40 miles from Belfast. No one was injured.

Police believe that the bombers attended the theatre on Sunday night, and at closing time hid themselves in the building. The explosive charge apparently was placed inside a girder, in a position to do the greatest possible damage.

World attention is focused on seventy-seven 78-year-old President Syngman Rhee of South Korea because of his adamant stand against a truce that would leave his war-wrecked country divided. What sort of a man is he and what is his background?

Here are some of the answers.

SEOUL, (AP)—Allied troops occupied Seoul in September, 1950, after landing at Inchon and recapturing the North Korean Reds. A throng of Koreans gathered in the battered capital city to hear an address by their wilts - haired president, Syngman Rhee.

It was a momentous occasion for the little man who had endured prison terms of 33 years and 7 in his long fight against monarchists, Japanese militarists and now the Communists. Many present expected a dramatic, spine-tingling speech from the feathery-skinned graduate of Harvard and Princeton Universities.

Simple Address

Rhee said: "We have returned to our beloved city. Now let's get the stink out of the streets and get some rice on the tables."

The incident illustrated several points in the character of the 78-year-old president. He is a simple, direct man with no apparent affections, but stubborn in persisting for what he believes is best for Korea.

He is a passionate lover of trees and flowering things. He has a mania for sanitation.

Today, in the midst of the armistice crisis, he still is exhorting Seoul residents at least once each week to clean up and plant.

His love is for a country in which he was born under a monarchy March, 26, 1875; which threw him in prison when, as a Methodist mission convert, he tried to stir up the spirit of democracy; and from which he was exiled, fleeing for his life soon after the Japanese took control in 1910.

Returned in 1945

He returned to Korea in 1945 after Japan's defeat only to be caught up shortly in a war which kept him moving in and out of Seoul as its fortunes swayed.

Rhee lives in a fine-concrete-and-tile mansion on a Seoul hillside. He spends many waking hours in its spreading, beautiful gardens.

When Gen. Mark Clark flew to Seoul recently for an urgent conference over Rhee's bitter opposition to a truce with the Reds, they held their meeting in the "garden office."

While talking with important guests, Rhee is apt to stop his conversation momentarily while walking over to pull up a weed. He prunes his own trees and hedges and attends to his flowers and shrubs daily.

After a 6 a.m. arising and a light breakfast, Rhee reads newspapers for an hour then sketches Chinese characters on paper with a brush dipped in heavy black ink. His characters spell out such mottoes as "respect Heaven" and love humans."

Walks to Office

At 8:30 a.m., he goes to a large pond and feeds bread and rice to more than 100 goldfish.

Then he walks to his office and receives reports on the war. He consults with his ministers. By 9:30 a.m., he is back in the garden receiving visitors and giving instructions to his secretaries.

Just before noon, he sits down to his typewriter to bang out personal letters or statements. Often they are appeals to his people to plant trees, use coal instead of wood for cooking and heating.

Rhee deplores the barren hills of Korea. He flies often to the battlefront in light army planes, scanning the terrain closely.

"On several occasions, President Rhee has discovered tree or brush fires during his trips," said his secretary, Chang Ki Young. "On each occasion the president made note of the exact location and sent out fire fighters immediately."

At 12:30 p.m. daily, Rhee lunches with his Austrian - born wife, Francesca, 30 years his junior, whom he wed in 1934. He eats what he likes, including chicken, fish, beef and pork. He prefers Western food but occasionally eats rice and some Korean dishes.

After receiving visitors from 2 to 4 p.m. and a 7 p.m. dinner, he listens to the radio. Before retiring, Rhee opens his Christian Bible and reads passages aloud to himself and his wife.

A Mother's Tears for Doomed "Children"

Sobbing, Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg is seen as she addressed a rally at Union Square in New York where she made an impassioned appeal to President Eisenhower to save the lives of her son, Julius, and his wife, Ethel, convicted of giving atom secrets to the Russians, who are scheduled to die in the chair at Sing Sing on June 18. Asserting their innocence, she told the sympathetic gathering, "they never stole any atom secrets," and made a public plea to the president and world opinion to "save my children." — Central Press Canadian.

See Economic Nationalism Developing Threat in Canada

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Countries such as Canada which must export to live have a developing threat on their doorsteps—that of economic nationalism.

This is the policy whereby a country tends to give unlimited protection to domestic industry, even the "hot-house" variety, of bowing imports out of the way to prevent competition.

Exporting countries, hit by this policy, sometimes try to hit back —retaliating with import controls of their own. In extreme cases this could lead to economic warfare, to political distrust, and possibly to economic depression.

That kind of retrograde development could obscure the channels of multilateral trade which have grown up in post-war years between the free countries of the world. It could lead to a denial of markets for Canada's products and to unemployment for Canadians.

A lot of countries thought economic nationalism had died with the damaging depression of the 1930s.

But two world figures fear it may be rising again: Pierre Mazin of France and our own External Affairs Minister Pearson.

Mr. Mazin, president of the 36-country International Federation of Agricultural Producers, told the annual meeting in Rome last week:

"It looks as though the governments have gradually been discouraged by the enormity of the task facing them, as though they now have abandoned the ideals of constructive co-operation which were so excellently defined at the time of the foundation of United Nations.

"... With international trade channels obstructed, the various policies pursued show an overwhelming tendency towards a revival of that economic nationalism which we had imagined to be dead; and the accumulation of certain excess products by a number of countries is beginning to take on alarming proportions.

Hope is Benefit

Mr. Pearson, speaking Sunday at Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., indicated that Communists hope to benefit through economic nationalism, as an alternative to military aggression.

Military force is only one weapon which can be used against the free countries, said Mr. Pearson. Another is the economic weapon.

"We must see to it that disunity arising out of economic nationalism does not do the job that military force has so far been unable to do. Here, too, we must 'go it together'."

"There would be no surer way to dismember our coalition than to permit the flow and volume of trade between the free nations to start on a downward spiral with countries again resorting to extreme restrictive measures against one another."

ARREST PONY

GANANOQUE (CP)—Police here had an unusual occupant in the basement of the police building the other day. They had a vagrant pony lodged in the basement after he was "arrested" wandering out in the rain. Police finally located the owner from whose farm the pony had strayed.

JAYCEES TEST WATER

MAY DO REPAIRS

CHATHAM (CP)—Chatham's police department says it is thinking about opening its own maintenance shops in the near future. Chief constable C. E. Bagnall says he is investigating maintenance costs and if the department's own mechanics will save money they will consider the plan further.

Blazing Tanker Becomes Floating Bomb in Harbor

Vancouver Fears Big Blast As Fire Eats Towards Gas

VANCOUVER (CP)—The explosion-wracked tanker Argus was a flaming wreck in the upper reaches of Vancouver harbor today and a major blast was feared as fire ate toward 18,000 gallons of high octane gas stored in the fore part of the ship.

Some 25 small explosions during the night shook the 5370-ton vessel. Flames, needing for more than 12 hours on 22,000 gallons of diesel oil stored in the aft part of the Argus, burned steadily toward high-octane fuel aboard.

A deck cargo of oil drums popped like gigantic fireworks as orange flames shot skyward from the doomed vessel, which was unloaded by Japanese crewmen at the height of mid-stream by a heroic captain.

Four Seamen Injured

Capt. Bill Boyce made certain his 18-man crew was safely ashore before he stood alone at the helm of his ship of fire and steered into the stream from her berth at a refinery of Imperial Oil Company following an engine room explosion. Four seamen were injured in the blast which started before midnight.

The ship is near the head of Vancouver's 25-mile-long harbor, some 12 miles from the heart of the city. Nearest large centre is Port Moody, with some 2,000 inhabitants. Police and fire chiefs kept abreast developments in the area.

No Evacuation Reported

In the harbor harrowers, the Argus is only about one-quarter of a mile from shore, but no one reported the feared blast would do no serious damage ashore. No evacuation was reported.

Nehru and Mohammed Ali are reported to support Egypt's claim to the evacuation of British troops from the Suez base. Both attended the Commonwealth conference in London and were said to have told the other premiers that the Suez problem must be settled on the basis of an agreement with Egypt.

Mohammed Ali is expected here June 21 and Nehru is due June 23.

He Need's Bag For His Ticket

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexican Airlines figures one passenger is going to need a special carrying case for his ticket he's bought for a trip through the Caribbean, Central and South America.

The airline said it had sold a ticket three yards long to William A. Miller. He plans a business promotion tour of 27 cities.

The ticket cost 137,000 pesos, $15,826.

Nehru and Ali May Seek Talks On Suez Dispute

CAIRO (AP)—New developments in the Anglo-Egyptian dispute over the Suez canal zone, deadlocked since negotiations broke down May 6, are expected shortly with the arrival in Cairo of the Indian and Pakistani premiers.

Political quarters today forecast the simultaneous presence here of both Jawaharlal Nehru of India and Mohammed Ali of Pakistan may mark a new step in efforts put forward to solution of the Suez problem.

Nehru and Mohammed Ali are reported to support Egypt's claim for evacuation of British troops from the Suez base. Both attended the Commonwealth conference in London and were said to have told the other premiers that the Suez problem must be settled on the basis of an agreement with Egypt.

Enumerators Start Work on June 22

The huge list of those who can cast ballots on August 10 — expected to be an all-time high of 8,500,000 or more—will be made up between now and election day.

For each general election, the previous list is "revised" and a new one is put together by an army of doorbell-ringers and others who check and revise their work.

This time, there will be around 50,000 enumerators — those who do the bulk of knocking on the rolls of names in the 265 ridings across the country. They begin work June 22—40 days before election day. The enumeration will take six days.

STOLEN — ONE SKELETON

MAGOG, Que. (CP) — Dr. Eudore Charron, who has practised medicine here for 39 years, said Monday thieves broke into his home during the week-end and stole a skeleton. The skeleton was a souvenir of Dr. Charron's student days at Laval University.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Today another cool air mass will move into the mid- and upper 70s over the southern half of the province as the weather remains unusual weather will continue most of today. However, showers and thunderstorms tonight and Wednesday. Today and tomorrow in the northwestern corner of the province Monday night and will spread across most of Northern Ontario today and Wednesday.

WIN PERMISSION TO SEEK DELAY IN SPIES' DEATH

Likely to Present New Plea for Mercy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Julius and Ethel Rosenberg's lawyers today carried back to the U. S. Supreme Court their fight to save the lives of the convicted atom spies.

They lost three separate moves in the court Monday and then, finally, won permission to present to Justice William O. Douglas today new arguments in favor of a stay of the execution set for Thursday night.

But until they have exhausted every legal effort, the lawyers said, will they present a new plea for mercy to President Eisenhower, who rejected one such appeal last Feb. 11.

John F. Finerty, one of the Rosenbergs' counsel, interrupted the court's last regular meeting of this term with an emotional plea in sharp contrast to the cold legal utterances with which the highest U. S. tribunal had just refused, for the fourth time, to review the case.

Splitting 5 to 4, the court declined to act and, by the same division, refused to issue a stay of execution.

Sought Habeas Corpus

Finerty, declaring "there is no time to go before the lower courts," said he wanted to file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Such a writ, if granted, would have led to a hearing before the court to determine whether Judge Irvin and the jury team are being legally detained in the death house at New York's Sing Sing prison.

"It is absolutely necessary, your honors, that we get our point across to you," Finerty said. "Unless this court acts and acts promptly, the Rosenbergs and Sobells will be dead before we can get our petition completed."

Obviously annoyed, Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson told Finerty to file his plea with the clerk, and then the full court considered it.

Finerty did so, and the justices announced later that, as usual in the day, the court announced it would not act on the petition immediately apparently by a vote of 7 to 2. Dissents by Justices Hugo L. Black and M. Frankfurter were announced.

Appeal to Douglas

Finerty then sought out Justice Douglas and won from him an agreement at least to consider the petition before the date of execution. Under court rules, any justice may grant such a stay.

Emanuel Bloch, the Rosenbergs' chief counsel, had perhaps asked for additional information before he acts on the plea. "He did not promise that he would or did not grant it."

Douglas himself arranged to take the Rosenbergs' two sons, Michael, 10, and Robert, 6, to see their parents at Sing Sing this morning. He said other lawyers would present the legal data to Douglas.

Declares Democracy Can't Exist Unless People Are Adequately Fed

OTTAWA (CP)—An American university professor said Monday that democracy can only exist in countries whose citizens are adequately fed.

Theodore W. Schultz, head of the Agriculture Economics department at the University of Alabama, the survival of democracy depends in part on development of the science of nutrition.

She told an annual convention of the Canadian Dietetic Association that the high standard of living countries can help ensure the survival of democracy is threatened by according technical assistance to increase the food supply of many parts of Asia, Africa, the Middle East and Central America.

Not only was technical assistance necessary, but "practical assistance on dietetics must also be given to these people . . . food production alone is not enough."

It was necessary also to provide for proper nutrition in all economic levels. "It is of little use to tell families that they are ill fed unless we recommend are beyond the family budget."

No Fattening Foods

For overweight persons, she had an unusual message. She said "there is no such thing as a fattening food." Overweight was a problem of calorie imbalance and neither a "seven-day diet," "milk and banana diet" or any other fattening formula would reduce weight and maintain health at the same time.

Queen Elizabeth Says Canadian Ships Make 'Fine' Showing

ABOARD HMCS QUEBEC (CP)—Canada's navy, along with others of the world, showed its muscles Monday to the queen in the first royal naval review since 1937.

The fleet, anchored in grey ranks which stretched for six miles at the horizon, covered 25 square miles of water.

The Queen told Rear-Admiral Roger Bedwell, flag officer of Canada's Cornwallis squadron, that his ships had made a "splendid" contribution to the review, staged in the sun-washed Solent off Portsmouth.

Admiral Bidwell told reporters after his visit to the royal yacht Surprise that the thing the Queen asked him was how many ships Canada had in the review.

When he replied "six," the Queen said it was a "splendid" showing.

The admiral said that the Queen then discussed her Canadian tour in 1951 and asked him to convey to Canada some time.

Canada's navy included the aircraft carrier Magnificent, the cruisers Quebec and Ontario, the destroyer Sioux, and the frigates Buckingham and La Hulloise—locked as trim, sleek and lethal as any of the 260 ships in the review.

Queen Inspects Ships

One-third of the Commonwealth's naval might was included in the three lines of ships at the Spithead, bearing the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, a 21-gun salute from Portsmouth harbor for the review.

The Quebec and Ontario joined in a thunderous 21-gun salute.

Then the warships each started the smoke across the fleet as though for a spectacular naval engagement at close quarters.

The four-inch guns of the Canadian flagship fired in broadside brighter than the sun. The Magnificent was the first Canadian ship to be reviewed. Eight in the first line from the bridge, her crew's cheers sounded faintly across the water and one could barely pick them out the sounds of the national anthem. While sailor's caps flashed in unison as they waved fourragers during the three cheers.

British sailors yelled "hurrah" while the Canadians roared "hurray." There were no "tigers."

The Magnificent's sailors did their cheering near the end of the 1½ hour review as the royal yacht completed its tour. The Queen, dressed in white, waved in reply to the cheers.

She and Philip stood in a glass-enclosed bridge forward of the main bridge on the Surprise. Philip was able to be consulting a program to make sure which ship they were passing.

Fleet Blacked Out

Soon after the Queen boarded the battleship Vanguard for dinner aboard the squadron of navy planes battled across the fleet in a 300-plane fly-past.

But for coronation was so low it was difficult to see. The fleet was at a British cruiser. Sixteen planes from the Magnificent took part in the plane parade.

After dark the fleet was blacked out and then lit up together on signal from the Queen on the Vanguard.

The Magnificent, with lights outlining the flight deck and rigging the island, looked like a huge dinner table with one giant candle in the centre. Lights on the cruisers were strung from bow to stern in a graceful curve, replacing the gay pennants of earlier in the day.

The neon lights of the Portsmouth waterfront and the isle of Portsea blazed brightly.

Lighting up was followed by a fireworks display, this time resembling a naval night engagement.

Nearly 1,000 guests were aboard Canada's ships for the review, including some 630 Canadian merchant navy officers in the Coronation parade who visited the Magnificent.

The Cascadoc squadron leaves for Halifax Wednesday and will hold the cruiser Ontario for a refit in British yards.

East Germans Are Skeptical Of Red Promises

BERLIN (AP)—Refugees still streaming into West Berlin from the Russian zone said today East Germany is full of skepticism over the Communist party's new "I'm sorry" announced change of heart.

After a week of unrest, the flow of refugees jumped upward again, exceeding a 24-hour total of 2,000 Monday night. They included 40 farmers who agreed unanimously that they did not want to turn the zone's promises to decommunize, apologize for errors and halt the terror principles of freedom and liberty.

The zone propaganda ministry painted a somewhat different picture of the unrest. Premier Otto Grotewohl in city government said East Germany's "enemies" in the West now are returning to take advantage of the regime's promises to decrease the pace and to apologize and protect them from reprisals. Grotewohl said the enemies "must have come back in the last four days."

The Red government made good on two of its promises given the workers Monday when it ended many months of open conflict. State subsidies amounting to an average of 1,000,000 East marks a month, published since the first of this year, were paid out in a lump sum for the first four months of 1953. The government also announced the Roman Catholics two children's homes, at Bad Saarow and Potsdam, which had been confiscated several months ago.

Have to Sand Highways Owing to Caterpillars

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Millions of wiggling test caterpillars crawled over highways in parts of northeastern Minnesota Monday night, making the roads so slippery highway patrols had to ask that they called out.

Reached under the wheels of passing vehicles, the caterpillars formed a slimy coating on roads, especially at the crests of hills.

A Soo line freight train was stalled on a hill because after a combination of oil weed spray and caterpillars smeared the rails and tracks. The tracks had to be sanded before the train could move on.

From there he will fly to Winnipeg for a speech next day and then to Regina, Edmonton, Man., Regina and Victoria.

Future speeches include Fort William and Port Arthur July 6, Sudbury July 7 and Ottawa July 8.

Court Dismisses Bridges' Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today reversed the perjury-conspiracy conviction of Harry Bridges, labor wing chief, and ordered longshore leader.

The Australian-born Bridges was convicted of lying when he told a 1945 naturalization hearing he was not a Communist. He was sentenced to five years in federal prison and a $5,000 fine. Bridges' deportation was revoked.

Bridges was indicted in 1949, as a result of the statement he made in 1945 at the naturalization hearing.

Justice Harold Burton said the Statute of Limitations—that is the law governing the period in which indictments may be charged—ran out. Hence Burton said, the indictment "came too late to be effective."

KOREAN TRUCE OFFICIALS PLAN FATEFUL SESSION

Say Red Drive Aimed To Teach Roks Lesson

MUNSAN (AP)—Senior truce negotiators meet in Panmunjom in a few hours for a fateful session which could pave the way to a quick end of nearly three years of fighting in Korea.

The meeting was set for 11 a. m. Wednesday (10 p. m. EST tonight). It was requested by the United Nations command even as fresh Chinese regiments hammered entrenched Allied lines on the east central front.

Approval of an armistice agreement by the negotiators would mean a meeting between the military commanders of both sides.

Staff officers who have been putting the finishing touches on an armistice since June 8 will meet after the top brass session, the UN command said, indicating they are close with their work.

One group of officers has been reported drafting a detailed plan for the withdrawal of foreign troops. Another group, armed with maps, has been drawing up a line of contact which has changed almost continually since the July battles where U. S. and South Korean troops battled perhaps 40,000 Reds.

The UN command said Wednesday's session will be secret, as all meetings have been since May 7.

Two Communist correspondents at Panmunjom said the big Red offensive was ordered to "teach the ROKs a lesson." They said Red leaders didn't like South Korean opposition to the impending truce.

Women Parade

Seven thousand women© paraded through Seoul under banners reading "women—tighten your skirt belts and spring up!" Give us death or not ratification!" But there was no resumption of the angry anti-truce demonstrations which flared through South Korea last week.

The women protested the proposed truce terms to leave 12,000 prisoners who refuse repatriation. Seoul's government is reeling: "We will forcibly oppose landing of Indian troops." South Korean officials have called India pro-Communist.

Senior UN truce negotiators—minus the South Korean delegate who has boycotted the talks since May 2—waited at advance truce headquarters here.

Hopes were very high for an armistice within a matter of days, but Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, Army Dulles warned that the biggest Red offensive of the war may become a serious obstacle to a truce.

Seek Unification

Dulles also revived speculation that the Eisenhower administration will seek Far Eastern peace settlement with the Communists when the Korean war ends.

The administration, Dulles told the senate foreign relations group, not definitely confirmed the stand taken last year by United Nations negotiators that the political conference now scheduled to open 90 days after the armistice is signed should confine itself to strictly Korean questions.

Dulles told a questioner that conceivably the post-armistice conference might take up the question of the Communist-led Viet Minh insurrection in Indo-China.

Reds Gain Peak Guarding Miles Of Allied Ground

Believe Communist Drive Aimed at Vital Reservoir

BY GEORGE A. McARTHUR

SEOUL (CP)—Reuters reported today that two Chinese regiments—almost 3,000 men—today captured strategic Finger ridge in a bloody pre-armistice drive toward Kaesong's 200-foot peak.

Finger ridge fell after an all-out attack preceded by a tremendous artillery barrage, Reuters said. The Red drive, the Reuters correspondent John Stackhouse reported, apparently was aimed at the important Hwachon reservoir.

The Reds broke through the South Korean defences and started up the 2,300-foot pivot hill, highest point in the area. It guards miles of Allied territory behind the main line.

Syngman Rhee, 78-year-old president of South Korea, made a flying two-hour visit to the blazing east central front to confer with his army commanders. He was accompanied by Lt-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, 8th army commander.

The Chinese charged Finger ridge through heavy Allied artillery and small-arms fire, blazing napalm and bombs from about 200 planes. The key height is the west anchor of a two-mile-deep bulge which more than 30,000 Reds launched in the main line Sunday and Monday.

One U.S. officer said the Chinese apparently were surprised at their two-mile gains and unable to exploit them immediately.

1,000 Reds Die

Casualty for as many as 3,000 Communists probed Allied lines as far east as Yanggu—the only area—where more than 1,000 Reds were reported killed or wounded in a bloody attack on Monday when height from the South Koreans.

An UN correspondent William Hazard reported from the central front that Communist artillery had blasted Allied lines and the Reds then opened up with their big guns after softening up enough.

Even B-29s were diverted from their regular night bombing missions to participate in the day and night pounding of the Reds near the front.

Red artillery and mortar fire in the 24 hours ending Monday evening hit a record pitch of 122,567 rounds, the 8th army announced.

The battleship New Jersey threw its weight into the battle. Standing off the east coast it poured 16-inch shells at Communist fortifications on Anchor hill.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Everybody's happy out on 62nd street north today as the city's latest attempt to compromise agreement with their wives to end a weeklong strike of the husbands.

Under the agreement, the husbands will continue turning over their pay to their wives. In return, the wives agreed to ease off on demands that their males do some of the household chores.

The husbands struck against rail road conductor, spearheaded the strike. But by picketing every street, bearing a sign which said the wives were unfair to husbands. Twenty-five other husbands in the area joined in.

They demanded that their wives quit forcing husbands to cut the lawn on hot days, paint the porch and spank the baby.

The compromise permits the men to wait for their cool of the evening before mowing the lawn, but allows their males to go fishing as often as they want to. The wives may go along if they keep quiet.

Bird Rings Bell On TV Antenna

As soon as George gets comfortably planting in front of his television set for an evening of entertainment he hears the telephone ring. He answers it and is asked: "Number, please?"

The phone really isn't ringing at all, a woodpecker, sharpening his bill on the McClain TV antenna, can duplicate the sound of the telephone bell perfectly.

Eleven Dead, Four Missing In Three Crashes

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 11 persons were reported dead today and four others were missing in three widely-separated plane crashes in North and South America.

Biggest known loss of life came when a Chilean airliner exploded and crashed at Coyaipo airport, killing four Chilean passengers and three Chilean crew members aboard. The plane blew up as it was coming in for an emergency landing at the airport, 425 miles north of Santiago.

At least eight persons—including a Canadian child baby were reported to have survived the crash of a Costa Rican airliner in the San Ramon mountains north of San Jose Monday night. There, were 12 passengers and three crew men aboard.

The plane disappeared in stormy weather Friday night on a flight from Washington to Salisbury, Md., and Monday an oil slick was sighted in the south.

Delightful 'Good-Neighbor' Affair as Rotarians Hosts To Members Watertown Club

The spirit of international goodwill which is one of the fundamentals of Rotary, found positive expression in a delightful and eloquent measure here last night, when Belleville Rotarians were hosts to the Rotary Club of Watertown, N.Y. The delightful "good - neighbor" affair was broadened by the presence of Rotarians from Kingston, Picton, Stirling and Napanee and the gathering taxed the capacity of the Club Commodore.

The members of the American club were returning a memorable visit, which Belleville Rotarians made to Watertown last fall. The visitors were responsible for the entertainment, which was of an exceptional character, and for the evening, the Rev. Thomas Parker, president of the Watertown club.

Rev. Thomas Carlisle minister of Stone street Presbyterian, Belleville, was toastmaster and chairman of the club's international service committee for the evening.

Joint Chairmen

President George Campbell of the local club and President Roy Parker of Watertown, shared the duties of chairman. Others at the head table were: George Hayes of Watertown, U.S.A., honorary chairman of the Belleville inter-city committee, Dr. Robert Gallagher, chairman of the Watertown inter-city committee, Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville, Lloyd Allan, secretary of the Watertown club, Allan Bonisteel, secretary of the Belleville Club, Harry Vine, president of the Napanee club, Harold Wells, president of the Stirling club, Gordon Campbell, president of the Picton club, Rev. Duncan McTavish of the Belleville club.

A pleasing incident was the presentation by the Watertown president of a handsome United Nations flag to the Belleville club. The visitors were also recipients of individual wallets from Rotarian George Lansing of Belleville, who also operates a business in Watertown, and of special Coronation souvenirs from the local club. The entertainment was in charge of the "brain washing in reverse" which is a pronounced and enjoyable individual should subject himself.

A New Word

The term itself is a new one, not to be found in any dictionary. "It has emerged," the speaker said, "from the Chinese communist regime in which thousands of men have been persuaded to change their minds and their loyalties and their ideas about communism; not by torture, violence of inquisition, but by a type of education."

Mr. Carlisle referred to the experiences described by one missionary, who had been subjected to this specialized Chinese treatment until the pressure had become so great that he feared he would yield finally to a philosophy which he knew to be false. In self-defence he determined to make believe that he had yielded and then described how he had witnessed the brain-washing of a captured general of Chiang Kai Shek's forces.

"In a freer, more public and less obvious way," the speaker said, "we are being constantly brain-washed." In Canada and the United States people are subjected to it through the radio, television books and magazines every day. It is true, he added, that in our countries there is a right to choose what to listen to or to read, "but the listen much of these things most agreeable to us or what we believe to be the right ideas according to our own prejudices. Or to things which do not make us think at all."

"We have the opportunity of choice and of discernment but we are likely to be fooled by hearing the same thing over and over again. Too many of us take things for granted when we should use more discernment. Many of the ideas we have, the thoughts and the beliefs, the decisions we take from them are due to our receptivity or rejection of the ideas of others.

"That is why we should be brain-washing ourselves all the time, cleansing our minds of unforgiven thoughts and resentments, of anger and envy and the desire to get even."

Toast-Tabs

To those who belong to the great Christian and Jewish religious traditions, "faith makes everything in communism is not calculated to make the minds of men clean, Mr. Carlisle stressed. But, he added, "we should be careful to leave out tattle-tale grey."

The speaker quoted St. Paul's words to the Philippians: "... whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

He stated that the positive and constructive principles of Rotary are the most powerful things about it. He felt that while controversy was not permitted in Rotary there should always be room for more than one point of view and room for those who differ and differ honestly.

Should be Good Friends

The demonstration in international goodwill which was being seen at last night's meeting was nothing "to brag about" or "strike your chest" about, he said. "It is good friends?"

And while much was made of international goodwill, the duty which Rotary he felt that though Rotarians are willing to be "friendly at a distance with those in other lands, how distate to get acquainted with those from other lands who are now living here."

The things of your neighbor and of your heart make all the difference what you and what you are, Mr. Carlisle concluded.

The speaker was thanked by Rev. Duncan McTavish.

Junior Students Of Albert Heard In Recital

Many hours of diligent practice culminated on Saturday evening with the presentation of the Junior students of the Albert College Conservatory of Music in a recital at Memorial chapel. The generally good performances were evidence of careful tuition by the teachers. Miss Beagle Standley, William Connor and Egerton Boyce, and the young performers were a credit to their teachers. Although each number was done to the best of the individual's ability the young singer Peter Van Everdingen deserves special mention for his rendition of "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," accompanied at the organ by Mr. Boyce. Peter has an unusual voice, clear and resonant in one so young, and his interpretation was outstanding.

Although some of the pianists were too small to reach the pedal with their feet they did not lack self-assurance but took their places as their names appeared on the program with the poise of seasoned entertainers.

Mr. Taylor Franklin extended a cordial welcome on behalf of the Principal, Rev. A. Lorne Bigelow, who is on a tour through Northern Ontario.

"This is a department we are very proud of," Mr. Franklin said. "We have an opportunity to display your cultural talents. This is one of the things which is going to give you your greatest pleasure in later life." Mr. Franklin reassured the young people about making mistakes with the piano, that it was a kindly audience, who would not be critical.

Board Names Architects For New School

Watson Wiegand local architects have been named by the Belleville Public School Board as architects for the proposed new public school to be built in the East Belleville area.

City council, the Department of Education and the Ontario Municipal Board, have all approved an amount up to $262,000 for the erection of the proposed new school, although the school board has not yet definitely decided on a site for the building. An option on the former Burlow property near the corner of MacDonald and Victoria A've., has been given up by the board following an engineering firm report on the bearing qualities of the land at this site was not suitable for a heavy building.

Plans call for the construction of a school with 12 classrooms with playroom although this has not been finally decided. The firm of architects employed will draw sketch plans, which in turn will be submitted to the proper authorities for approval. The new school will be named the Sir Winston Churchill School.

100 Businessmen To Visit Station On Thursday

TRENTON. (Special.)—In the neighborhood of 100 big businessmen from industry in Canada are coming to the Trenton Air Station on Thursday.

A special program has been arranged for their entertainment which includes thrilling air displays, ground exhibitions and a parachute drop with personnel of the Search Rescue branch participating.

Accustomed to making their jumps from relatively smaller Dakotas the well known parachute team find that training in a Packet or Flying Box-car, is a thrilling experience. Leading airman Carney Hogeboren of Peterborough, Ontario, leads his three fellow jumpers through the wide entrance door followed by LAC. Fernand Bourdon, Montreal, Corporal Al Savage, White Rock, British Columbia, LAC. Reg. Crawford of Calgary, Alberta, in that order. Also going down with the boys will be Nursing Sister Marion MacDonald, who will also jump in the demonstration.

Pat on Air Show

During the day the air force will put on an air show in which fourteen different types of aircraft from the tiny Chipmunk to the newest R.C.A.F. Comet jet liner. The show will also feature demonstrations of numerous pieces of mobile equipment designed specifically for the air force, as well as five hangars full of technical, training and specialized equipment.

The air show will last for one hour between 4:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. The visitors will get a front seat eye witness opportunity to watch faster-than sound jet planes demonstrate high speed passes across the field on the north side.

Later the newspaper, radio and television representatives will be given time to interview individual and collective Canadian Industrial Preparedness officials.

Popular with Trenton people since his posting here several months ago, Assistant Pilot Officer of the Salvation Army has received word that he will be moving away to another post on June 28. He will be advised of his official destination on Thursday.

Lieutenant Gardiner has made many friends in Trenton and his work in community ventures will be long remembered among the people he worked with. His wife has also been a willing worker whenever she was called upon.

The Gardiners have one daughter, who made a presentation to the Queen when she visited Trenton with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, last October.

Motion to Reduce Board Defeated By Members

The Belleville Public School Board Monday night turned down a motion from Board Member Fred A. Beeby, that would reduce to nine the number of members on the board and which would have asked city council to submit to the ratepayers the question of having board members elected by a general vote instead of by the ward system.

At the May meeting of the board, Mr. Beeby tabled a notice of motion, covering the above matter but following a lengthy discussion at last night's meeting, the move was rejected by members.

One of the reasons for the defeat of the motion appeared to be a feeling on the part of some members that city council should be elected by the ward system and that dropping of this policy by the school board for this reason would not be advisable.

The move to have the number of board members reduced to nine was made with the view of bringing about better attendance at board meetings.

In view of the unsatisfactory attendance of some members at meetings, however, the board, after hurling down Mr. Beeby's motion, voted to have a notice of attendance requirements and a statement of attendance sent out to all members.

Leave of absence was granted to board member A. C. Wilkin who is unable to attend meetings because of ill health.

Big Circus Will Visit City On Wednesday July 1

With the arrival on its No. 1 Advertising car last Wednesday, news that the Ringling Brot. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will positively exhibit in Belleville, Wednesday, July 1, became official.

An army of billposters, lithographers and banner men, armed with tons of flaming posters, are now emblazoning the fact throughout this territory. They emphasize that the Big Show's performances at 2:15 and 8:15 will be given in the world's largest tent, comfortably air ventilated.

Heralding the wonders of the circus, Edward A. Johnson, advance press agent was today a city room visitor. He states that this "Greatest Show on Earth" Circus Show on Earth, now in its 83rd year surpasses anything in the way of circus entertainment ever before offered the American circus-going public.

The big top agent says the outstanding feature of the 1953 performance is "Candy Land," the fabulous new $300,000 procession al pageant in which nearly 2,000 gorgeously garbed humans and animals participate. Designed by humorous fantasy for children of all ages, this musical super-spectacle was produced by John Ringling North, staged by Richard Barstow and costumed by Miles White.

Stunning Extravaganza

Next is "Minnehaha," a stunning aerial extravaganza, featuring beautiful Piullo Del Oro, darling queen of swinging trapeze, surrounded by sixty alluring and exceptionally talented ballerinas aloft.

Then follows "Derby Day Honeymoon," a dashing and highly colorful display of super horsemanship, presented in the gay mood of Kentucky's famous annual racing classic, with beautiful belles, blooded horses, tally-hos, coaches — and-fours and other smart equipages. In this notable equestrian feature, Roberto de Vasconcelles, the world's greatest dressage rider heads a congress on internationally renowned dressage and high school riders.

Pre-eminent among the new attractions from overseas is Mister Mistin (a Third Wonder of the World, — an extraordinary surprise presentation by the tiny musical genius who has astounded Europe, Asia and Africa.

Many Importations

Other marvelous new 1953 importations are Les Revellys, double-trapeze fatalists without counterpart; Sons of the Midnight Sun, amazing accomplished acrobatic aces from Lapland; The Helianos, marvelous equilibrists, jugglers, equilibrists and hand balancers in dangerous slides of life and death on lashing threads of steel; Tell Teigen, in marrow-freesing thrills at the peak of a lofty pendulum trapeze; Ward and Norvell Sisters, contortionistic acrobatic stars; the Ortons, world famous gymnasts; the Marvelous Maxims, incomparable acrobatic contortionists; the Alcotys, masters of manipulation who spin plates on ends of 50-foot whirling rods; Mordkin's new perch thrills at dizzy heights; Tassi's Vagabond Canines, Europe's finest; Hooper Harry and Long, in a veritable typhoon of horizontal bar comedy; the Wallendas, world famous performing jungle-bred wild animals; new troupe of trained baby elephants, and numerous other attractions presented for the first time in America.

A LITTLE REALISM NEEDED

There is a growing tendency among agricultural economists to measure every variation in nature in terms of crop losses and financial setbacks. Too much rain, too little rain, rain at unexpected times, and rain when it is not wanted; hail, sleet, grasshoppers; weather that is too cool or too hot, floods, drought, and every variation from the ideal conditions which everyone would like but never gets, brings gloomy pronouncements from the sages of the farm that ruin lies just ahead.

There is, as usual, a grain of truth in their complaints.

Every variation in growing conditions alters the crop outlook for someone. Perhaps if the weather is good for tomatoes, it is bad for grain. If the grain crop is a bumper one, then apples are a bust. And so it goes. But, no matter what happens, it seems that somebody loses and the losses are always in millions of dollars.

We do not know how these losses are calculated, but the expected crop yield from the number of acres planted is computed in the spring. The crop per acre always seems to be based on the previous record year, with less than peak production being considered a loss, while better than peak production is calmly accepted as a new standard against which future crops are compared. The dollar losses are usually based on premium prices.

Rains in July bring forth dire predictions for November, and all through a dry summer farm publicity is given over to the ills awaiting a hard winter. The final total harvest in the autumn, which is the reality of the year's production, takes on an anaemic cast when compared with the shimmering picture of the preceding spring.

No one apparently calculates, in the spring, on the basis of previous yearly losses, that actual production will likely be fine. Rarely, times that millions of acres, less the hundreds of thousands of acres of production that will be lost normally to various natural calamities that cannot be avoided or averted.

Statistical disaster could be avoided by taking a realistic view of farming conditions, and a truer and more accurate assessment of the agricultural picture. It could be conveyed by the general public which, perhaps unwittingly, comes to believe that the agricultural picture in Canada is darker than is actually the case.

The farmer himself must expect and accept their losses because they have come to realize the vagaries of weather and the multitude of misfortunes that can reduce their yearly profits. Their own hard-headedness should serve as a guide to the so-called experts who farm with a slide rule and a price book in the department of statistics, bowing illusions in the spring, and wrapping an annual harvest of statistical inaccuracies in the fall.

THE PROBLEM OF PART-TIME WORKERS

"The Guardian," organ of the United Auto Workers is indignant. It doesn't like "moonlighters." That is the name it gives to "a union member who takes part-time work which competes with members of other unions."

It is sorry to condemn the conduct of "The Guardian." Nor are union members alone in viewing this practice with disfavor. Employers of union labor react in an identical manner. They have a strong case for their objections and, when we find management and labor united in this manner, we are tempted to conclude that here is one question which is beyond controversy. Actually, however, when union and employers join forces, we should be doubly cautious before passing judgment.

The case against the "moonlighter" is simple. He gets a living wage at his regular job. In his free hours he works at another trade, or even at his own trade, at a price less than that demanded and paid regular workers in this trade. The union, as it is alarmed, because it tends to drive wages down in his trade. The employer is worried because he is unable to maintain the wage scale demanded by the union in his plant and at the same time competed with the "moonlighter."

But let's look at the other side of the picture. Why is the "moonlighter" working extra hours? Is it because he is not receiving enough money to pay living expenses? That is possible—but not likely, except in isolated cases involving special circumstances, because he wants a better living—for himself and his family. That is probably the reason. Is there anything wrong with that? Is it contrary to our Canadian system that a man should want to improve himself? Is that a criminal act?

Business firms and labor unions may suffer slightly from the operations of the "moonlighter" but when the day comes that we denied the right to work hard to improve the lot of his loved ones we shall have undermined the basis of all prosperity.

MAMA MAY OBJECT

If Junior wishes to refer to mother as a "stinker" he should be allowed to do so. Such is the recommendation of Dr. Freda Kemm of Chicago, director of the Association of Family Living, and she is Dr. Kemm's contention that "hostility is one of the basic emotions and has to be expressed. Home is the best place to express it."

Dr. Kemm would not object if Mama expresses some hostility of her own under these circumstances and lets Junior know it in his "best place."

Dr. Kemm's theory sound ridiculous to some but this sort of "family guidance" has played its part in bringing family life to its present pass.—(Winnipeg Tribune).

LIFE'S CYCLE

Life's a cycle. Children small
Are slaves to grownups, one and all.
Must eat (a phrase that I loathe)
The foods we say are "good for them."
And just as soon as they've been fed,
Against their will, are put to bed.
When done with training they will be
More and more reluctant free,
Habits pleasant, habits bad,
Their way of living they'll uphold;
Stay up late; eat what they choose
And what they don't like they'll refuse.
By and-by, when getting old,
"Give up smoking," they'll be told.
No more pie or cake or bread,
Nightly early go to bed.
Told once more what joys to shun,
Second childhood has begun.

THE PACKSACK
By GREGORY CLARK

In the suburbs of my city there is a certain district of some dozen acres of waste land which so far has defied or discouraged the building enterprises. It lasts still, a couple of weedy pastures and three or four gullies down which the remnants of small spring-fed creeks trickle valiantly, even in summer, when, for days and for wide, the pretty popcorn clusters of diminutive new housing spread. But in the waste land, the bush remains dense; pine, birch, elm, maple, and in the moist earth, all the wildflowers follow their season, bloodroot, trillium, lily and violet. Now the wild geranium has it, thigh deep. It is alive with birds. And at least one raccoon has a den there. While exploring its little fastness, you hear the hoot and rush of motor traffic on all its four sides, south, east, north and west.

The queer thing is that it is far better and wilder (other than it was thirty years ago. Dozens of amateur field naturalists have known it today and visit it regularly at all seasons, knew it thirty years ago. Then it was far enough out in the suburbs to be part of a farm, and the cattle grazed and browsed in it, and picnic parties used to commandeer it. Then it was just a nice picnic district from the city. Now it is far more.

Small boys went marauding through it. I can recall seasons when not a single wild flower was picked to be observed in it: the picnics, the cattle and the boys attended to them.

Two things have happened to permit it to return to a state of nature until such time as the bounteous soil is profitably required for building.

The city's picnickers don't want to go fifty miles out, and have the means to do it. And as for small boys, they are no longer interested in the woods. They are interested in the moon and the distant planets. There are so many conscious that there is space, for the time being, for wildflowers, birds and cows. There are so many to be pilots, gunmen, car drivers, anything Indians and westerners. It is nice for us middle-aged nature lovers. But what is happening to the boyhood of the country?

Sport Activities at Station Rounding Into High Gear

Sports activities in and around Middleton Park are booming. The opening of the Station Outdoor Swimming Pool last week-end paved the way for a mass swimming program designed to accommodate members who can swim 25 yards or one length of the pool.

The proposed summer program for the RCAF Station Swimming Club, which is open to all RCAF personnel, including dependents and civilians, will offer swimming classes in water safety and life saving; diving classes for beginners; ornamental swimming; advanced swimming for girls; competitive swimming; water polo; and all-day picnics and excursions. Also included on the agenda is a program training in water safety, lifesaving, spear fishing and many other activities.

Tuesday nights from 6:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. have been set aside as Club nights when members can participate in a variety of water games and get in their swimming practice.

Membership in the club is open to the RCAF personnel mentioned above who can swim twenty-five yards and are willing to pay a small fee of one dollar.

The swimming club committee is under the chairmanship of W/C K. C. Maclure supported by the following committee members: Cpl. R. V. Scott, secretary-treasurer; Cpl. G. McGrath, vice-president; Cpl. V. J. Evans, competitive swimming; LAW Stevens, social activities; and LAW B. Libby, ornamental swimming.

Baseball Highlights

In four games played, the RCAF Flyers, playing in the Belleville and District Baseball League, have chalked up three victories and one loss.

The loss to Bloomfield last Thursday gave the "Flyers" second spot in the league, supplanting four teams. Bloomfield leads the way with the RCAF "Flyers" second, the Prince Edward County Combines, and Belleville Legget Junkers trailing behind.

As well as suffering a 13-5 loss to Bloomfield at Wallbridge, the RCAF "Flyers" added two more players to their injured list. Two pitchers, Lawrence and Mead, suffered torn ligaments in their arms and will be out for three weeks. A casualty in an earlier game, Murdock, broke a number of bones in his wrist while sliding into second base, will not be back in the lineup for approximately two months.

The RCAF team will meet Prince Edward County Combines at Picton on Wednesday, June 17 at 6.15 p.m.

Children and Adults Enjoy St. Andrew's S.S. Picnic at Tweed

In spite of threatening adverse weather, the annual picnic of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was held at Tweed Park on Saturday afternoon. A large number of the Sunday school and congregation of the church journeyed to Tweed to enjoy the outing.

Many of the younger folk took advantage of the swimming facilities of the park, and to some, this dip in Stoco Lake was the first of the season. Several games of soft-ball started the sports of the day off with a bang.

Later in the afternoon races were held in which there was keener than usual interest on the part of all the picnickers. Winner of the little tots' race for girls under five years old was Debbie Young, followed by Judith Adam in second place and Anne McAlister in third. Winner for boys in this same age group saw Billie Lane break the tape, closely followed by Paul Peoples and Joe Hamilton in third and third places. In the event for girls under seven years, Cathie Cook led the field followed by Heather Purves and Heather Ketcheson who took second and third prizes. In the seven years and under boys' race, Brian Adam assisted in to capture first prize, while Steve Fisher and Garry Lafferty took the trophies for second and third places.

In the event for girls nine years and younger, Marilyn Langsbeer won the race, followed by Bonnie Anger for second prize and Elizabeth Maracle for third. The boys' race in this age group saw Stuart Mulrhead take an easy and long lead over the competitors, while Bobbie Muir and Peter Mitchell received the second and third awards. A number of the girls group also entered the older groups and as a result Marilyn Langsbeer won another first in the race for girls under nine years, with Elizabeth Maracle came second. Stuart Mulrhead became the athlete of the day when he took first in the two succeeding events, boys under 11 and boys under 13, to bring in his third first of the day. Bobbie Jimmie Muir again took second place for boys under 11 years, and David Mitchell won second place honors for boys under 13. For girls 13 and under Joan Mulrhead was first over the line, closely followed by Donna Blue in second place.

For girls fourteen and over top honors went to Shirley Bush and second prize went to Mrs. J. Mc-Allister. Boys over 14 years first place went to David Craig and second prize was won by Jack Peoples.

In the open shoe scramble first prize went to Mrs. J. McAllister and second to Shirley Bush. Mrs. Vera Brown was the prize-winner for the ladies spot race. John Craig carried the lean consolation of Mrs. Craig and himself, to first place in the heading for the egg field in the thread and needle race.

The ladies peanut race was made even more interesting through the oversight of one of the committee members. Spoons on which the peanuts were to be carried didn't get as far as Tweed park, 20 miles away. Someone suggested that the contestant kick the peanut the length of the course, without demolishing the peanut, of course, so a regiment of "one-shoe-off-one-shoe-on" racers were seen vigorously kicking a fragile little object for about twenty-five yards of the course. Mrs. McAllister was the successful winner in this novelty and Mrs. Vera Brown earned second place.

Award'g of the prizes was carried out by Rev. J. G. Hornsby at the park bandstand.

Following a hearty picnic supper, the group dispersed, returning to Trenton after spending a most enjoyable time.

Rosenbergs Went on Trial For Espionage in March, 1951

This is the second in the Greenglass series on the espionage-conspiracy case of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who are to be executed June 18.

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP)—If an atom bomb were aimed at the emotional heart of New York City, it probably would explode not far from the Foley square courthouse.

A little oasis of greenery in a sea of concrete, it lies almost in the middle of lower Manhattan island.

Rising 30 storeys above Foley square is the United States courthouse, where on March 6, 1951, Julius Rosenberg, his wife, Ethel, and their friend, Morton Sobell, went on trial as atom spies.

They were not tried for treason, which the constitution defines as warring on the United States or adhering to its enemies in time of war. They were tried under a general espionage law of 1917.

They are accused of conspiring during the Second World War to transmit national defence information to Soviet Russia, which was then a wartime ally but became a cold-war enemy in the years that followed.

Gold Chief Contact

The government proposed to prove that Harry Gold, quiet little Philadelphia chemist, was the chief United States contact for Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the other German-born British scientist worked on the Alamos, N.M., on the first atomic bomb. Gold and Fuchs were confessed Soviet agents, both serving prison terms at the time indeed eventually for Russian of the Rosenberg trial.

The Rosenbergs and Sobell allegedly also worked through Gold in the interest of Moscow.

They were depicted as persuading Ethel Rosenberg's brother, David Greenglass, to turn over atom secrets to Gold at Los Alamos, Greenglass, a sergeant of the army medical—the trigger apparatus of the bomb.

Julius Rosenberg also was said to have provided defence secrets to Russian agents on his own. His 120-pound, five-foot-tall wife was pictured by the prosecution as the stenographic work involved.

Greenglass Sister

A dramatic moment in the trial came March 9, when David Greenglass took the witness stand to denounce his sister and brother-in-law. Greenglass had already pleaded guilty to atomic espionage, claiming that the Rosenbergs persuaded him to tell all he knew.

Greenglass described Rosenberg as a man who voluntarily delivered to Soviet agents. Greenglass quoted Ethel as telling him of her wife's role.

"Julius finally got to the point where he was telling what he always wanted to do—giving information to the Soviet Union."

Arrested With Bomb

So conversant was Rosenberg with this top secret, Greenglass told the court, that when he described the A-bomb in detail seven months before the first one was dropped on Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945, Rosenberg guessed correctly where he gave Rosenberg a 19-page description of the newer, more powerful atomb dropped on Nagasaki.

Greenglass told the jury that he received detailed instructions from Rosenberg on how to flee to Russia via Switzerland, if it became necessary. The government claimed the Rosenbergs were preparing such a flight when seized.

Then Harry Gold was brought from prison to swear that the stolen Atom secrets were "sent immediately to the Soviet Union."

Denied Charges

On March 21, 1951, Julius Rosenberg took the witness stand. Point by point he denied the testimony of Greenglass and other government witnesses. He refused, however, to answer seven questions designed to incriminate if he ever was a Communist. The only clue to his feelings toward the Soviet Union came when he testified:

"It contributed a major share in the defeat of the Nazi beast who killed 6,000,000 of my (Jewish) co - religionists. I felt friendship for them and I do now."

Mrs. Rosenberg, in turn, backed up her husband's story. She denied she ever typed any secret data he handed eventually for Russian

Normal Routine Re-Established After Jail Riot

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—Normal prison routine was re-established at New Mexico's state penitentiary today following a prison riot in which two ringleaders were shot to death.

Rebellious convicts held deputy warden Ralph Tahash and 21 other guards hostage for 7½ hours Monday before Tahash got hold of a revolver and a carbine as state police stormed the prison hospital.

Tahash, whose custer the rebels had demanded because he was "too tough," then shot Homer Lee Gossett, a life-termer, and Adolfo Benavidez.

The riot started in the early morning hours, with the rebels complaining about Tahash and the prison food.

It reached its climax when state Police Chief Joe Roach, followed by other officers, stormed the prison hospital.

Acted Quickly

No formal order was issued for the combat-like attack of the state police. Governor Edwin L. Mechem, a former federal bureau of investigation agent, held a conference with Roach. Mechem later said:

"I told Roach, if it was me, I'd take the crowd and clean it. I turned around and he was gone. The first thing I knew, they had the hospital."

Cell Block 2, scene of the second riot, then was cleared by Roach's order.

When the police stormed the hospital, Tahash was inside. He described his action which ended in the death of Gossett.

"I went into the room where the inmates were. Then I shot Gossett who was holding as hostage himself over by the side. I shot Gossett in the throat. I think he was killed instantly. Then I shot the other man."

Police passed Tahash a revolver and later a carbine after Gossett tossed a tear gas bomb at Tahash. Tahash threw it back and police passed him the weapons through a barred window as about 25 convicts retreated.

Did Not Take Stand

Sobell did not take the witness stand.

The jury debated the issues 19 hours, ending May 29, 1951, found all three defendants guilty.

It was expected the Rosenbergs would get the maximum prison term of 30 years but April 5 Federal Judge, Irving R. Kaufman, pronounced sentence of death.

"Only the Lord can find mercy for what you have done," said the 43-year-old judge, a Jewish lawyer. "Plain deliberate murder is thrafted in multiple by comparison with the crime you have committed."

The next day Greenglass was rewarded for his co-operation. His wife was cleared of the threat of prosecution. He received the relatively light sentence of 15 years.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Ronald Hough, wore white embroidered organdy in ballerina length, with tiny cap sleeves and an off-the-shoulder neckline appliqued on a yoke of plain organdy. Her fingertip veil was held by a bonnet brim of organdy and lace and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis.

Mr. Ross MacCullough, Kingston, was groomsman and the ushers were ushered into the church by Mr. Harry King, Kingston, and Mr. Edwin Mullen, of Wolfe Island.

The reception was held in the church hall, where the bride's mother received the guests, wearing navy blue sheer with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother assisted in a costume of powder blue crepe with matching accessories.

Leaving on a wedding trip to New York, the bride changed to a grey flannel suit with yellow accessories. The couple will live in Belleville.

Shown above are Mr. and Mrs. V. P. F. Shiels following their wedding Saturday, June 6, in St. Margaret Mary's Catholic Church, Ottawa.

The bride is the former Barbara Ann Mary Furmston, Reg. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Furmston, Ottawa. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester J. Shiels, Belleville.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Mr.'s 20 and Married; She's 20 and Single

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 20 years old, and have worked in a certain office for over two years.

There is a man in my office whom I like very much, and he seems to like me, He asked me to go out with him and I did, and he told me he loved me and wanted to divorce his wife. He is 26 years old, but he says age doesn't matter if we love each other. I don't think I love him, but he takes me to nice places and I enjoy being with him.

What I want to know is, whether I should keep going with him as he wants me to, or leave town and get a job somewhere else? I seem to be losing most of my friends because of going with this man.

G.E.

Dear G.E.:

If you haven't the will power to stay away from this man any other way, then I certainly advise you to leave town. It seems to me, however, that you would be more likely to gain back the confidence and respect of your friends if you stayed right where you are and behaved yourself.

I am quite sure that, at 20, you know very well you are doing a very foolish and improper thing to go out with somebody else's husband. Moreover, if you haven't already developed the common sense to know it, then I will tell you right now that it is the most unlikely thing in the world that a married man of 26 has anything good in mind when he tried to promote a friendship with a young woman of 20. Think this over, and then make your own decision.

Let The Young Man Write First

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Recently I met a college boy at a party given in my town for the football team on which he plays. We were not formally introduced, but just happened to get talking to each other and seemed to be mutually attracted.

He gave me his name and address and told me to write to him. I gave him mine and told him to write first, to which he replied that he was very busy but if I wrote him first, he would answer soon. Do you think I should write to him first? I am 18 and he is about 22. — J.S.

Dear J.S.:

Don't you think it would be much better for you to postpone writing this young man until he shows he is interested in you by writing first? You don't want to put yourself in the position of having your letter unanswered, as might very well happen, should he seem to feel "too busy" to write you first. Furthermore, I wouldn't be surprised if you let him think your interest in him is greater than his in you!

TRAINS COLLIDE

HAMILTON (CP) — A Canadian National Railways doubleheader freight train piled into the rear of a Canadian Pacific Railway Toronto-to-New York passenger train at Stayner Junction at Bayview Junction just west of Hamilton, a C.P.R. spokesman said.

The crash derailed the last three cars of the passenger train and overturned the first locomotive of the doubleheader freight on its side. No one was reported injured.

Anybody Can Make Hot Rolls

By Mary Moore

This lofty observation has been made by me before but so few of you have faith in your-best-yet-turned potential that I am still hesitate.

It's a cinch to do. If it were not I wouldn't do it so often, because to work a party in I have to be efficient to the last minute.

My young people remind me to make them for sure when their friends are due, because their friends expect them. Sometimes I wish they were not such articulate press agents.

If you want to serve hot rolls at 6 o'clock for dinner and you think you are going to have six hungry diners, here is the recipe with exact timing.

Sweet Hot Rolls

Soak 1 package of granular yeast in 1-4 cup lukewarm water with 1-2 teaspoon sugar for 10 minutes, then stir it a little. Meanwhile in a mixing bowl stir together 8 tablespoons sugar, 6 tablespoons soft shortening, 3-4 teaspoon salt and 1 very large egg or two very small ones. Beat these ingredients until they are perfectly smooth. Now add 1 tablespoons warm milk, and 3 cups sifted all-purpose bread flour. Add the yeast and beat until smooth. This is stiff so you have to clean off the spoon and mix it with a kneading motion with the hands. Scrape down sides of bowl, spread top with melted butter, cover and let rise at about warm room temperature until at least double in bulk. (I made some yesterday starting at 8 a.m. I let them rise in the kitchen at 70 deg. Fahr. until 1:30 p.m.) Roll out the dough on lightly floured board to less than 1-2-inch thickness if you would like to make Crescents as I did. Cut dough into 2-inch wide strips and cut these into triangles 2 1-2 inches wide at base. Roll them up, starting at base, and place on greased baking pan, tucking the point underneath. Let rise again, covered; if room is only 70 deg. Fahr. they are ready to bake at 425 deg. Fahr. by 5:45 p.m. If desired dough may be spread with butter after it is rolled and before it is shaped into crescent. Bake about 12 or 15 minutes.

Note—This dough may be used for cloverleaf, Parkerhouse, or Snail rolls. I shape of roll. You may substitute 1 cup whole wheat flour for 1 of the cups of white flour if desired.

Cinnamon Rolls

These are made from sweet dough. This sweet dough may be used for coffee cakes, or ice rings or any of the fancy sweet dough yeast breads.

For 2 dozen rolls soak 1 package granular yeast in 1-4 cup lukewarm water with 1-2 teaspoon sugar for 10 minutes. Scald 1 cup milk; add 1-2 cup sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt and 1-2 cup shortening; cool until partly smooth. Add soaked yeast; 3 1-2 cups sifted all-purpose or bread flour and 1 egg, beaten. Beat until smooth. This is stiff so you have to clean off the spoon and mix it with a kneading motion with the hands. Scrape down sides of bowl, spread top with melted butter, cover and let rise at about warm room temperature until at least double in bulk. (I made some yesterday starting at 8 a.m. I let them rise in the kitchen at 70 deg. Fahr. until 1:30 p.m.) Roll out the dough on lightly floured board to less than 1-2-inch thickness if you would like to make Crescents as I did. Cut dough into 2-inch wide strips and cut these into triangles 2 1-2 inches wide at base. Roll them up, starting at base, and place on greased baking pan, tucking the point underneath. Let rise again, covered; if room is only 70 deg. Fahr. they are ready to bake at 425 deg. Fahr. by 5:45 p.m. If desired dough may be spread with butter after it is rolled and before it is shaped into crescent. Bake about 12 or 15 minutes.

For 2 dozen rolls soak 1 package granular yeast in 1-4 cup lukewarm water with 1-2 teaspoon sugar for 10 minutes. Meanwhile mix together in a bowl 3-4 cup lukewarm milk, 1-4 cup sugar and 1 teaspoon salt. To this add then add 1 egg, 1-4 cup soft shortening; shot until perfectly smooth. Add soaked yeast; 3 1-2 cups sifted all-purpose or bread flour and enough more to make a soft dough that will not stick to the hands at once. Roll out each half. For cinnamon rolls spread each half with 2 tablespoons softened butter, 1-2 cup white or brown sugar mixed with 2 teaspoons cinnamon. Roll up tightly, beginning at wide side. Pinch ends of roll together to seal them. With sharp knife cut into 1-inch slices. Place without touching, on greased pans in muffin tins. Cover and let rise until doubled and light to touch. This takes at least 2 hour at room temperature, or if it is hot day about 45 minutes. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 25 to 30 minutes.

Tea Ring

Make same as cinnamon rolls up to before slicing. Then place sealed edge down in a ring on greased baking pan. Join ends of ring and seal. With scissors, snip deep cuts 2-3 way through ring at 1-inch spaces. Twist each section to lie on its side Let rise. Bake same as cinnamon rolls. Tea ring is usually sprinkled, before being rolled, with raisins or nuts or cherries. Very impressive too.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. BEECKMAN
Emancipation Tip

Research is a word we hear and use these days, both nouns and verb. Remember to pronounce it with the accent on the last syllable . . . re-search.

Cards Should Be Invited Individually

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Soon my parents are going to celebrate their Twenty-fifth Wedding Anniversary. Is it proper to send engraved invitations to relatives and friends in town and out-of-town? The party is going to be a big affair. Or if invitations were sent to close relatives and intimate friends, should it be announced in the newspaper that there will be

Open House for the other relatives and friends?

2. What would you suggest as an appropriate present for me, their daughter, to give my parents for this occasion? — ALL.

1. Since you are planning to give such a large, important party to celebrate this so-important occasion, you should honor it by sending out proper invitations and sending them out correctly. Make out a complete list of relatives and friends to be invited, and send the invitations in good form ,and to all. It would certainly be bad taste to invite some relatives and fiends properly, by personal, individual invitations, and others by an impersonal newspaper notice. You may, of course, send a news-announcement of the Open House to the newspaper, but this should not be worded as an invitation.

2. I suggest that you don't cling unnecessarily to the idea of giving silver . . . most people nowadays don't do this, even for such special wedding anniversaries, and more sensible to give a present, of any "material," that you know both your mother and father will enjoy and find useful or decorative, or both, in their home.

She's Foolish Not To Take Advantage of Her Opportunity

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

After my graduation from college last June, I got a very interesting position which meant that I had to live in this city where I know very few people. I live with a very delightful family who have a daughter about my age. I have just received an invitation to the wedding and reception of a girl who was in my class in college (she lives here with her family) and I would very much like to go. But I don't want to go alone, because I probably wouldn't know anyone there but the bride and her mother (whom I've met only once) and I'm sure I'd feel bad. Would it be correct for me to invite to go with me the daughter of the family with whom I live? — Pamela

I'd like to urge you to reconsider and go to this wedding and reception alone. You have been given a wonderful opportunity to enlarge your social contacts, to meet people whom you should get to know and enjoy in this new city where you are to make your home . . . and you should sensibly take advantage of this opportunity.

Regent Juniors Defeat Picton For First Win

Bryson Keizer Regent Juniors swiped for six runs in the fifth inning and went on to whip the Prince Edward County Combines 11-6 for their first victory in the Belleville District Baseball League, last evening at the CNR field.

The Juniors, held to two hits in the first four frames, scored six successive singles through the Combine defences in the fifth to chase starter Miller. The big inning was enough to clinch the contest that went seven innings before being called because of darkness.

Right-hander Bill Strahan, working smoothly with adequate support from his mates, held the Combines to four hits in going the distance. He struck out one and walked four.

The Regents opened the scoring in the second inning with Gerry Goyer singling with one out. Goyer stole second and took third on a passed ball. Stevens struck out and Barclay walked and promptly pilfered second. Miller will pitched and Goyer scored. Barclay scored as the first baseman booted the relay on Fox's grounder to short.

The Regents picked up two more in the third on a walk to Hull, a single by Carr, a double steal and the pitcher's wild throw to third in an attempted pick-off of Hull.

The Combines counted two runs in the fourth on singles by Ostrander and Callaghan, two stolen bases, and fielder's choice.

Pitcher Bill Strahan started the fifth inning outburst for the Regents with a single to centre. Hull and Carr bunted safely. Jones singled to left and Batchelor's bold belting scored Hull, went for a single when three fielders did an Alphonse-Gaston routine as the ball fell in safely. Goyer singled to right and Miller was headed to centre field as McAllister came on to douse the blaze.

All six men, who batted safely, scored as Stevens, Barclay and Fox went down on fielder's choices.

Strahan scored the Regents' final run in the sixth on a single to centre and walks to Carr, Goyer and Goyer.

A walk to Carson, a single to left by Whattam, a double steal, and Dave Jones' two-base error on Cornelius' grounder to short accounted for the Combines final two tallies.

Miller started for the Combines and in four-innings walked two, struck out two and gave up eight hits for 10 runs. McAllister worked two frames, walking three, striking out two, and giving up one hit for one run.

Carr, Goyer and Strahan each with two hits in their tripe, led the Regent attack, while Ostrander had two of the visitor's four safeties.

Line-up:

Combines—Cornelius ss; Mullholland rf; Bolton cf; McAllister p in 5th to Ostrander 3b; Miller p, cf in 8th.; Zimmerman lf; Chalmers c; Carson 2b; Whattam 2b.

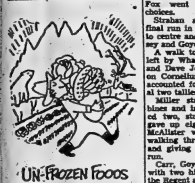
KILLED BY CAR

SMITHS FALLS (CP) — Nine-year-old Marsha Chapman was fatally injured Monday when she ran into the side of a moving automobile at a downtown intersection. The child died in hospital.



May Abandon Test Match

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters)—Washed out by a steady rain Monday, the first test cricket match between England and Australia appeared due to be abandoned as a draw.

Rain was still falling Monday night, more than 30 hours after its start, and there seemed little prospect of play being resumed on the final day today.

England, 144 and 42 for one wicket, needs 187 runs to beat Australia, who scored 348 and 122.

Despite the rain, which affected all first-class matches, Surrey, tied for first place in the current county campaign, put up a fine show against Kent, declaring their first innings at 313 for five. Kent, out for 92 in their first innings, had scored 43 for no wicket in their second at the close of play.

UN-FROZEN FOODS

War in Is Alaska, within the Arctic Circle, one 70-year-old gardener has found how to get his full quota of fresh vegetables and table vitamins. He works gardening wonders by "trapping" the brief summer heat with reflector aluminum foil barriers, set up behind his vegetables.

This Arctic application takes a leaf out of the book of modern builders and others who make use of aluminum's remarkable reflecting and insulating properties. Demand for Canadian aluminum in foil, sheet, rod, tube and other forms today totals one billion pounds a year. When Alcan completes its present expansion program, supply will be further increased. Bisons Swamp Toronto 13-1; Royals Rolling

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons lowered the boom on Toronto Monday night and when the Maple Leafs had recovered they found themselves on the receiving end of a 13-1 decision.

The victorious Bisons had themselves a field day at the expense of three former big league southpaws and a righthander. They were good for 13 safeties and as a result bounced ahead of Toronto into third spot in the International League.

The three local southpaws—starter Lou Sleater, Vic Lombardi and Stubby Overmire—were belted for four home runs by first-baseman Jack Wallaesa, second-baseman Ken Chapman, rightfielder Jack Crawford and catcher Al Lakeman. Chapman enjoyed a perfect game, adding four singles to his big blast.

The Leafs' only run came in the seventh inning off rookie righthander Frank Lary, who went the distance, allowing only six hits.

The league-leading Montreal Royals defeated Ottawa Senators 8-4 behind the hurling of Jetty Ken Lehman, who also racked up his nine hits against 12 of two Ottawa hurlers.

The second-place Rochester Red Wings fell to Baltimore Orioles 4-3. Jack Sanford formed 11, walked only two and gave up five hits in pitching the Orioles to victory. Archie Wilson unloaded a grand-slam homer for the Birds in the fourth.

The tail-end Springfield Cubs ran up their biggest winning streak of the season—three games—defeating Syracuse Chiefs 8-4. Jim Ellis went the route for the winners, although he allowed 12 hits behind six errors.

Thistles Prick Hamilton 9-5

HAMILTON (CP) — Fergus Thistles moved into a second-place deadlock with Orillia West Yorks in the Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association Monday night with a 9-5 victory over Hamilton Tigers.

They were tied 1-1 at the end of the first quarter, the Tigers led 4-3 at the half only to have it tied again at the end of the third.

Leading the Fergus attack was J. J. Hill with three goals and Don Geier with two. Singles were added by Stan Abbott, Frank Chamers, Bob Dobbie and Marlowe Woods.

Wellington Boat Wins Feature At Buffalo

WELLINGTON (Special) — A sassy Canadian speedboat motored with a Mercury outboard streaked past 11 American entries at Buffalo, N. Y., on Sunday to take first prize in the feature race. The Canadian entry won both her heats.

She was the "Slokum" driven by John Palmer of this village. "Slokum," just to show her victory had not affected her speed, entered in another feature which was away out of her class and finished with a highly creditable third position.

The Canadian boat surprised a lot of her American competitors at the Buffalo Regatta. She showed remarkable speed afoot and with near-perfect water conditions prevailing, tossed a Canadian flag over the bows of her "Stars and Stripes" opponents.

Palmer was accompanied by his father Marshall, Ab Watson, maker, and son Bill. They were guests of Ken Wolfe, Mercury Outboard Motor dealer of Buffalo, during the entire trip.

The Canadian quartet spoke very highly of the reception and hospitality accorded them by their host and the Buffalo drivers during their stay in the American city.

Fonthill Girl Sets Record In Golf Tourney

TORONTO (CP)—Anne Sharp of Lookout Point Golf Club at Fonthill set a record Monday for the qualifying score in the Ontario Ladies' 32th championship tournament at the suburban Thornhill course.

She shot a 38-35—73, two under women's par and three better than her handicap of four. She added 16 points to her total in the competition for a place on the Ontario team in the inter-provincial match at London in August.

She now has an aggregate of 3b. None of her opponents for places has yet reached double figures.

In her round over the par-15 layout she was paired with Mrs. M. H. Currer of Toronto St. Gregor's, who turned in a 77 to take second place.

The Fonthill sharpshooter started off with three pars, took bogies on the next two holes, then ran off five straight pars, then added three birdies in a row and three more pars for the remaining holes.

Northern Wins Over Frankford By 7-1 Score

In a game featured by seven hits and two double plays Northern Electric downed the Frankford Merchants 7-1 at the Alemite Field last night.

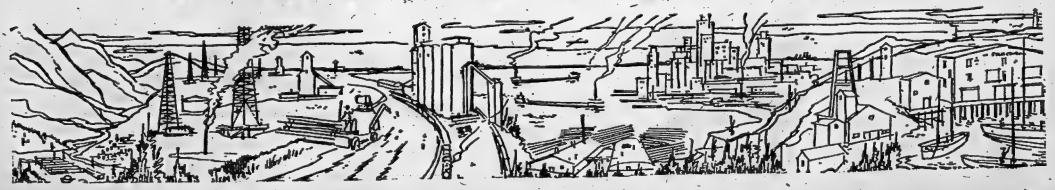
WITH PRIDE IN A GREAT TRADITION

FORD BUILDS FOR CANADA'S TOMORROW

Today we of Ford of Canada join other companies bearing the same proud name in 25 countries around the world in saluting the Fiftieth Anniversary of our parent firm, Ford Motor Company in the United States. We take pride in the fact that we enter our Fiftieth Year in Canada in August.

Henry Ford was a man of vision and initiative. He wanted to build "a motor car for the multitude—so simple anyone could drive it—so rugged it would stand up under the roughest use." He wanted to build such cars so efficiently and in such numbers that any family with a modest income could afford to own one.



The little group of Canadian business men who undertook in 1904 to build the Ford car in Canada were men of vision and initiative, too. These pioneers faced ridicule and indifference, but their courage and determination carried their organization through to success.

And so Ford of Canada expanded and grew because it continued to look into the future, and because it made a product which brought pleasure to millions; which freed the farmer from isolation; which revolutionized transportation and industry, and brought better working and living conditions to Canadians.

Today, as we look back over the past, we gain inspiration to look forward to the future. We see before us constantly increasing opportunity to serve our country and its people in the era of unprecedented progress and prosperity which lies before us. We accept today, as we have accepted in the past, the challenge to meet the automotive needs of a nation that is going places—the challenge to build the best cars and trucks we know how to produce, and to ensure the complete satisfaction of our customers.

Our $65,000,000 program to enlarge and improve our productive facilities already is more than half completed, and from coast to coast our 1,100 alert and progressive dealers are engaged in undertakings designed to provide even better service for their customers. Our company and our dealers are moving forward with a forward-moving Canada. With complete faith in the future of our great country, we build for Canada's tomorrow.

Battle Of 'Straights' Begins Tonight Between Yankees And St. Louis

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carven, Sports Editor

PIP PIP, OLD BEAN

Bilmey, Lor.lerve-duck, 'ave a banshee, and strike-me-pink. Dig those lads with the crazy titles. "Rasslin" royalty in crombo and gold, and scarlet and blue linked by the cummerbund's pantaloons, "Verses," will be here to uphold the honor of the Hampah next Friday in a tag-team battle with Bobo Brazil and Don Jonathan, black and white pachydermic perfectionists.

They are Lord Athol Layton, well known to the city's wrestling hatchets and his blue-blooded baronial buddy, Lord Bicera, pronounced "Biesha", m-deahs. So roll out the scarlet carpets, varlets and make way for two school chums who starred in the scrum for Old Dagnabians. Both battled centuries for the MCC against Australia for the "Ashes" and both strode excellent poses in that famous polo match when England bested Upper Throbovia sixteen "goles" to nil.

The masculine beauty of the six-foot-eight Layton, pahdon m'lud, Lord Layton, is somewhat contrasted by the shackler, but just as powerful build of the be-monocled Lord Biesra. But, bilmey, the blokes don't arf carry on, when they are in the Middle East. It seems the old school carried, and all that stuff, y'know, is forgotten, and the cover jus' blinkin' well better down the opposition by 'eck or by crook.

Supporting the royal joust will be Timmy Geohagen and Hasan Bey, and Pat Flanagan and Steve Stanles (Mr. America.)

THE WAY WE HEARD IT!

Down Mexico way, if the aficionados (fans to you) don't like their pachydermic entertainment, some of the more excitable among them who have been tickling the Acapulco resort in a shooting war.

The fence in Mexico City was packed," quoth Richard. "It was a bull-fighting amphitheatre and 'Bull' Umphalaya and 'Black' Ungaden, otherwise known as the Mexican Black Panther, were matched with us in a tag-team go."

"Yeah," added Lou, "we were told that the week before an American wrestler had lacerated the liv er the pecans and took home a chunk of Mexican lead in his gizzard. Now we're a trifle overweight as it is and we had no desire of carrying excess baggage back to Texas, especially when it is in a spot where you can't declare it."

"Anyway," said Richard, "we won the brawl and the Mexican tag-team championship with it. The place went wild. The soldiery had to escort us out of the amphitheatre, thence to the office and thence to the hotel."

"We had been guaranteed a certain amount of money for the fight, and when the payoff came the Mexican promoters wanted to pay us off in Mexican pesos."

"That," said Richard, "would have necessitated the hiring of a fleet of trucks."

Apparently the boys got that matter straightened out and they left for the hotel under heavy military guard. According to them, they underwent a state of siege and had to call on the American consul for aid and eventually flown to their "native" Texas.

"That," said Lou, pointing to the silver-plated horseshoe and chain which later was hung on a ring-post, "is our good luck piece. It was given to Dick by his mother before we went overseas in World War II and has been with us since. Dick and I, he went on by way' of explanation, "have been buddies since before the war, fought together in the same unit and have wrestled together for the past several years."

"So when we came back we decided to keep the horseshoe for good luck and it has brought us just that. We are now the tag-team champions of Canada, Mexico and Texas. We haven't been defeated in four years."

We threw a shot in the dark at them. "What about the world's tag championship? Seems to us there are more, or as many champions as there are teams."

Quick as a flash Plummer came back. "This is an exclusive for you. Robert Hardy, a New Waverley, Texas, oil and cattleman, and a great tag-team fan, is holding a tournament on his ranch soon and has invited twenty-two teams to take part in the elimination. We expect to be there. Invited, or to be invited, are Watson and Flanagan, Bobo and Jonathan, the Sharpe brothers, the Becher brothers, the Dusek brothers, the Zaharias brothers, Lords Layton and Bicara and others.

"The prize money amounts to $22,000 with the winners splitting $10,000. The tournament will last three days and will attract thousands of people from all parts of the States."

Timmy Geohagen steamed into the dressing room at this time and the stentorian tones of big George announced the first fall. That ended the interview.

It was interesting enough but something was missing. It seemed. Then it struck us.

"Ye 'Texas Tornadoes," who enter the ring to the lively strains of "The Eyes of Texas Are On You," are the only two hombres from the longhorn state we have met who never used "you-all" nor had the slightest trace of the Texas drawl. Ah, well!

Casey's Surging Stengeleers Getting Big Between the Ears? Boast a Record for All Years

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

They lead the lambs to slaughter at Yankee Stadium tonight.

The pure ole St. Louis Browns who can't rightly remember when they last enjoyed prosperity is the victory column, come smack up against the powerful New York Yankees, winners of 13 straight games.

One more victory and the Yankees will tie the American League record which they and the 1906 Chicago White Sox.

The Browns can expect no mercy. Casey Casey Stengel and his men already are talking about not only tying the record, but breaking it and then going on to overhaul the all-time major league mark of 26 set by the 1916 New York Giants.

The Browns have dropped 14 straight, an all-time mark for St. Louis clubs, in the written six games of the American and major league losing record.

Detroit Next

Just to make the record prospects even brighter for the Yankees, when Monday night's farce of the pennant race with a 105-game log is finished they will stick around for three more games. Then Detroit, the only team with a poorer record than St. Louis, comes in for a four-game set. Over in the National League, Milwaukee Braves went home today six percentage points behind first-place Brooklyn. They came east two weeks ago tied for the same spot.

On a 23-game swing through the entire league except Chicago, the Braves won 15 games.

The Braves lost a tough one Monday night, 3-2, to Pittsburgh in 18 innings. Pirate hurler Bob Friend gave up only five hits in going the route, but relief pitcher Lew Burdette forced in the winning run when he hit Danny O'Connell with the bases loaded and one out.

The Giants, aided by Alvin Dark's three singles in four trips to the plate, salvaged the finale of a four-game stand with St. Louis Cardinals, 3-2. Jim Hearn allowed six hits in going the distance against his former mates for the first time since he was sold to the Giants during the 1952 season.

The two National League games were the only ones played Monday.

Today's schedule marks the start of the second western invasion for National League clubs and second eastern excursion for the American League moguls.

In the National League, Philadelphia visits Milwaukee for a twi-night-night doubleheader. Brooklyn is at St. Louis, New York at Cincinnati for Leo Durocher's managerial affair, and Pittsburgh at Chicago for a day twin bill.

In the American League Chicago visits Washington, Detroit is at Philadelphia and Cleveland at Boston in addition to the Browns-Yankees encounter. All are night games.

American League Is Crying Havoc In Ruinous Wake of Flaming Yanks

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — In the wake of the Yankees' relentless pillaging of the last remaining Indian settlement on Lake Erie, columnist Ed McAuley of the Cleveland News says in agricultural tones:

"Organized baseball is in trouble. Its ailments will be aggravated seriously if the fourteen winners continue to make a joke of the pennant race."

Truer words were seldom spoken. If the American League thinks it has problems in its various television problems, just wait until Casey Stengel's runaways increase their lead to 18 or 20 games by mid-August.

Who, for instance, beyond a few hundred thousand from the Bronx would be interested in watching Ed Mickelson win his 19th straight tonight at the expense of St. Louis Browns, losers of 14 in a row? It could get worse than that, though not much.

No Prospect at Relief

As McAuley goes on to say, nobody wishes the Yankees to let up. "The task of balancing the league belongs to the clubs behind them, not the conquering leaders," he sighs. But in the following paragraph, Ed conceded there is no prospect of relief soon:

"Degredly, patiently — and no doubt expensively — the clubs which trail the Yankees will have to duplicate their operation, not only on the field but in the front office. Let the Yankees mess on its hands. The Yankees are much too good for the competition, and attendance is going to suffer the remainder of the summer.

The emergency of the present Yankee club as a really great outfit during its current rampage has come as something of a surprise even to the men who followed it closely from training camp. Daily the Yanks writers marvel anew at the gyrations of Stengel and his seeming ability always to pick the right athlete from his prodigious bench for any given situation.

Robinson, Mantle Top Sluggers In Major Loops

NEW YORK (AP) — Most of the season fans have been asking what qualities Jackie Robinson playing?" Now the time is ripe to inquire "what's he hitting?"

Almost unnoticed except by opposing pitchers, Robinson has bettered his way up the hitting ladder to challenge Johnny Wyrostek for the national League lead. Jackie, who has played first base, third base and left field for Brooklyn, is batting .349 to .350 for the Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder.

The 34-year-old Robinson climbed from ninth place last week with 16 hits in 39 times at bat for a .410 pace. He's hit safely in his last nine games.

The left-handed batting Wyrostek was action only against right-hand pitching. With the Phillies facing a host of southpaws last week Johnny batted only three times and failed to hit. He took over No. 1 spot only because Red Schoendienst of St. Louis Cardinals hit .348 to a third-place .342, a 34-point drop.

In the American League, Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees is the top man with a .340 mark. He tallied 40 more points but that was four less than Washington's Mickey Vernon, his leader last week. Mantle also heads the runs scored list, a statistic with 46. Records include Sunday's games.

Ed Mathews of Milwaukee leads in home runs with 19 and Roy Campanella of the Dodgers has driven in most runs, 56, in the National League.

He failed of Mantle and Vernon in the American, comes George Kell of Detroit with 18 hits in 39 times at bat for a .333, a 10-point drop from last week.

Southpaws Whitey Ford and Ed Lopat of New York top the American League pitchers, each with 7-1 records. Frank Smith, Cincinnati relief pitcher, is unbeaten in five decisions to pace the National League.

Savoie Wins Over Ed. Compo

BROOKLYN (AP)—Armand Savoie of Montreal took only a week ago dropped his Canadian lightweight title to Arthur Persley of Toronto, Monday night cut up Eddie Compo until their scheduled 10-round bout ended at 1:11 of the fifth at Eastern Parkway Arena.

Savoie who weighed 134, three quarters of a pound more than his opponent, worked on a deep gash over Compo's left eye all through the 11th rounds, until blood was gushing profusely.

Until Savoie's barrage in the fifth, the fight was fairly even. All three officials gave the 24-year-old Compo, a veteran of 53 battles, the first and third rounds while he made Savoie miss long rights and lefts.

Ben Hogan Says Secret of Success 30 Per Cent Skill, Rest Management

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—What makes Ben Hogan great?

What is the success secret of this 40-year-old man who today strolls the golf world like a colossus?

"It's three-dimensional — that's what it is," said former champion Lawson Little after watching Hogan fashion his fourth straight U.S. open championship last weekend at Oakmont.

"He never chooses the wrong club. While we other golfers always have to worry about whether we're long or short on a shot as well as wide, Hogan has only to worry about whether he's too much to the right or left.

"He is the greatest I ever saw for putting the ball in the exact position he wants it."

Gene Sarazen, who has won all the major crowns of the U.S. and Britain, attributes Hogan's superiority to superior brain work.

"There are several golfers who can swing a club as well if not better than Hogan, including Sam Snead," said Sarazen. "There is none who can out-think him."

"Watch him out on the course. He is always studying, thinking, plotting, taking mental notes of every shot his opponents make. He seems to file all these notes away back in his head for future use."

Bobby Locke of South Africa, who must defend his British Open championship against Hogan next month at Carnoustie, called Ben "the master of every shot in the bag."

He is never guilty of shoddy thinking or a bad club or shooting," Locke added.

Hogan himself may have put his finger on the reason for his success when, after capturing his second Masters title at Augusta this spring he remarked:

"Golf is 30 per cent skill, 70 per cent management."

Hogan is the greatest manager of them all. Like a brilliant checker player, he plots every shot. He seldom gambles wildly.

How to Play Winning Baseball

By ARTHUR MANN

PITCHING—PART IV

If a natural side-arm pitcher is to remain one (and he should), he must understand that his fast ball cannot have the direct backspin of action of an overhand pitcher's. But that's no handicap. Left-handed - Walter Johnson said, 414 big league games with a side-arm fast ball that didn't hop - it "zipped in" toward a right-handed batter and more accurately than the fastest left-handed curve. Johnson never had to develop much of a curve.

Another historic example of sidearm pitching - who did all right, too, - Grover Cleveland Alexander, winner of 373 games in 20 seasons of National League pitching. In 1916 he pitched 18 shutouts, an all-time record. He threw right-handed with an easy, relaxed side-sweeping motion, but what a perfect control.

"My fast ball broke in and down to a right-handed batter," he explained to me one day. "As I brought my arm around, I rolled my hand over slightly forward, releasing the ball off the middle of the second finger tip. That gave the ball a slight forward spin, but at an angle that made it act like a screwball, or reverse curve. Since I called it Christy Mathewson's day. I kept it low and made sure it was always on the corner around the edge of the plate."

Alexander had a good curve, but he depended most on the sinking fast ball in his hand was small, but the fingers were long. His wrist was rubbery and loose from many years of twisting to throw the side-arm curve. The side-arm pitcher must have a strong and loose wrist that can stand the steady twisting necessary to put spin on the ball.

The basis of all curves is the forward spin imparted by releasing the example used to show the principle. Hold the glove hand on top of the ball and put the first two fingers (held together) of the pitching hand underneath. Roll the ball forward on the fingers to the tips. That is the direct forward spin, scarcely seen in modern baseball. Because it produces the old fashioned "drop," Carl Erskine and Joe Black of the Dodgers, Sandy Garcia of the Indians are three of the few who use this rare delivery.

Instead of rolling the ball slowly to the tips of the fingers underneath by rolling it on a forward slant off the first finger. Note the diagram, or slanted spin. That produces the old fashioned "sinkerball" or "drop," so-called because it breaks down at the plate, slightly or sharply, depending upon the angle of the forward spin and the speed of the spin.

Curves give young pitchers trouble chiefly because, in throwing, they fail to co-ordinate the speed of spin, angle of spin and their natural pitching motion. Merely "throwing curves" repeatedly and watching results is a wasted time and effort, unless the pitcher understands the reason of the grip he is using. To develop this understanding, a pitcher must first learn exactly what spin each position of his finger-grip gives to a thrown ball. Here again the practice ball with the black dots on other side should be used and from the regulation pitching distance. The angle of the spin can easily be recognized.

Sal Maglie, of the New York Giants, is one of the best curveball specialists in the big-league baseball today. He throws a breaking ball from a three-quarter motion, and sometimes overhand—from three different angles and with two different grips. When you combine this ability with control enough to place the ball high, low, inside or outside, you have enough to keep the score down. No pitcher can always win, but he who keeps the score down figures to win most often.

It is an advantage to hold the curve ball with the same grip as used for the fast ball, but it is not necessary, and it's certainly not worth the sacrifice of a good, sharp-breaking curve ball. The question is: Which pitch will be more deceptive in the split-second long curve that can't be detected from the grip, or the sharp-breaking hook that can be detected during delivery?

Two of baseball's greatest lefthanders, Herb Pennock and Waite Hoyt, started 25 years apart, give a satisfactory answer. Pennock, of the Ruth-Gehrig Yankees, only used one different grip for fast ball and curve, but rucked his thumb under in gripping the curve. He won 237 big-league victories, and he told me:

"The main thing is to get the pitch "in there" with something on it. With my windup (it was before the one-second stop rule) and delivery, any batter can tell what I'm throwing, but he can't tell how much hook it's going to have, or whether it's coming in three high or low. He can see my thumb bent for the curve, too."

Preacher Roe confounds the opposition in a manner reminiscent of the great Pennock, whom he resembles physically. Roe does not tuck his thumb under to grip a curve, but he does change his position from the fast ball grip for every batter to see.

The old Babe Ruth system is not recommended. As a young southpaw pitching star with the Red Sox, Ruth had a habit of sticking out his tongue as he gripped his curve. The batters watched for the tongue and knew a hook was on the way. Batting rallies soon broke young Ruth of the habit.

Bear in mind that it takes a pitch of good speed five-tenths of a second to travel from the pitcher's hand to the catcher's glove. Enough time to check a pitch you say? Or get a tip-off from your sign-stealing coach? Yes, but is it time enough to untrack yourself and avoid a "beanball"? In most cases the batter's tip-off is wrong? Finally, if a batter's reflexes are sharp enough to take advantage of a pitcher's grip in that fleeting instant, he will hit whatever is thrown into the strike zone once every three times without the benefit of advance information.

'Ole Perfesser' Shoots for Mark

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The old "perfesser" smiled a wry smile and winked at the world today before sending his hatchet men out on the turf of the Yankee Stadium and rasped:

"I'm sure gonna shoot for 26 if we can win the next two. Don't forget I was around when the Giants did it."

The "perfesser" was manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees, who are making a farce of the American League race, and he was talking about the all-time major league record of 26 straight victories by the 1916 New York Giants.

Going into tonight's game against the sad sack Boston Braves, who have a record of their own (14 straight defeats), the Yankees had won 18 in a row.

"Suppose we do and it turns out to be a loss?" Stengel asked. "You know the Giants didn't win that season. We did. I was with the Brooklyn Dodgers that year."

Maybe Case has forgotten, but the Giants wound up fourth that year. And they even put together another 4 in a row streak (17 straight.)

Well, if ever a team had a good chance to break an all-time record, the Yanks have. If they sweep the seven-game Browns and the last place Detroit Tigers, they'll tie it. That would be Sunday. They open Monday and take on Chicago White Sox Tuesday. They've won 16 of 21 games at home.

BEACH ARENA AGREEMENT

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Mayor Percy England said Monday the Owen Sound area commission and Owen Sound Mercurys of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League have agreed on a rental figure on the arena for the 1953-54 season. The figure was not disclosed.

A spokesman for the club said previously the team would play elsewhere or disband unless it received a better rental rate than had been offered.

Trainer Jim McIlmurray is looking for the aging thoroughbred, Mr. Infinity, since a promising two-year-old racer resulted from the unexpected union of Mr. Infinity and Sweets, a United States-bred mare. McIlmurray, believing Mr. Infinity's useful days were over, gave the horse away. His son, Sweet Infinity, shows the same affection for running in the mud as his sire, shown here after winning a race in the heavy footing at Thorncliffe, Toronto, in 1947. — (CP Photo.)

By JOHN PATERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Come home Mr. Infinity, wherever you are. All is forgiven.

Admittedly, you were in deep disgrace a long time. That was hardly the gentlemanly thing to do — getting so chummy with Sweets, the attractive young mare you wintered with on a farm outside Toronto.

But things are different now that Junior—he is called Sweet Infinity—has turned out to be a mud-loving runner with a world of speed. You would have been mighty proud if you could have seen him Thursday afternoon at the head of the mud-filled stretch at Woodbine Park the other day he paid win by a whisker. And he paid a fancy price, too—$65.30 for $2.

Sweet Infinity whipped a number of well-regarded two-year-olds whose family tree was more carefully calculated than the casual, unexpected romance that blossomed between you and Sweets.

Had Maternal Problems

Trainer Jim McIlmurray, who has been 55 years around the track, couldn't understand the trouble with Sweets when she returned from the farm in the spring of 1950. She wasn't interested in racing and it took old Jim months to figure she had maternal problems on her mind.

Jim was mighty sorry he gave you away to a farmer who came along earlier, but he figured your racing days were over, days when you thrilled racegoers in handicap races with your canvas-ball stretch runs, particularly in "mud".

Sweet Infinity now has been lured in several stakes at Woodbine and Jim is so happy he has a place to race your youngster in the fashionable Queen's Plate next year.

Perhaps then that, a few owners have looked up Sweet Infinity's breeding and they would like their brood mares to meet you, socially, so to speak.

So, Mr. Infinity, come back to your old stall in barn No. 2 at Woodbine Racetrack. It's directly behind the cookhouse.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

When a team loses, whether it's in baseball, football or hockey, you know who is first in line to get the blame. The coach. That's axiomatic of sport. And though Springfield and Cincinnati had very little to do with the matters, we've known of coaches chased out of jobs because they didn't win what was enough to win. And that occurred in all three of the sports named.

But when a team wins, who gets the credit. The Coach? Don't be silly. The players are heroes, wonderful guys. The coach is some unknown figure in the background who opened and shut the gate.

Well, I'd like to pull a switch on that. For everything Canadiens accomplished in winning the Stanley Cup, I want to give a measure of credit to coach Dick Irvin, whose teams in Chicago, Toronto and Montreal have missed the playoffs only once in many years of leadership.

I'm giving Irvin credit because of his skill, and his daring, in benching regulars who weren't producing in the early part of the Chicago series and pushing in four minor leaguers and a veteran who was considered "washed up." This was the gamble that placed the Canadiens in the Stanley Cup finals, which they won.

Canadiens "Unwanted Players" as Irvin called them after his team had whipped the Bruins, 7-1, at the Boston Gardens to sweep both games there, were Eddie Mazur, who ventured in Victoria in the Western League; Lorne Davis and Calum Mackay from Buffalo in the American League; and veteran Ken Mosdell. The fourth minor leaguer was goalie Jacques Plante who served the coach's purpose by helping to win 2 games, use a shutout.

"Nobody wanted these players in Montreal" Irvin declared. "The press and the fans were against them. But my regulars weren't producing. Benching them was small. So I put in that quartet, adding 574 pounds of beef to my team, and it turned the tide."

Irvin is not a fellow to stand pat. If things aren't going right he's quick to make changes. He benched his three regular left-wingers, Paul Meger, Dick Gamble and Bert Olmstead. In their places he put Mazur, Mackay and Dickie Moore, a promising youngster who missed most of the season with a knee injury.

There was a little more to it than that. Irvin watched everything. He juggled the lineups, and Meger looked, for the shot the player into action. He made up lines as he went along. He gambled on freezing Jerry McNeil's injured ankle in the first game of the final series at Boston.

Irvin proved a master strategist, and I'm very happy, in the midst of all the hoopla being loosed at the players, to hang one on the lapel of the forgotten man, the coach.

Majors Slipping Lead Is Cut To Half Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors are losing their grip on top position in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League. They now lead Kitchener Panthers by only a half game.

The Majors Monday night lost their only game out of four. It was a 6-5 loss to the fifth-place Waterloo Hawks. They lost the two to the fourth-place Oshawa Merchants.

In other league games Kitchener defeated Guelph Maple Leafs 5-3. Oshawa set back Brantford Red Sox 6-5 and Galt Terriers edged St. Thomas Elgins 4-3.

Don Penny went the route for the Majors, giving up only five hits, but he walked seven batters and committed a balk.

The Elgins tallied two runs in the second and one in the third. They got the two more insurance runs in the sixth when shortstop Bob Deakin threw wildly to third base with the ball still in hand. London scored their only run in the fifth when Ross Gaskin tripled to right centre with a man on base.

Kitchener struggled past their second-place position with the win over Guelph. The mound victor was southpaw Wally Boggs who lasted until the ninth when he was relieved by Chuck Fedora who in turn was replaced by Bill Allen. Starter Marty Kaiser was charged with the loss.

The Panthers led all the way, taking a two-run lead in the first inning. They added another in the sixth, in the seventh and two in the ninth. Leafs got their first run in the fourth and scored two in the eighth and two in the ninth.

Rod Ripplemeyer pitched Oshawa to victory and also did well at the plate, getting a triple and a single. The homer went over the left-field fence in the seventh. George Fiaber started for Brantford but Ali Gavey lost the game.

Oshawa started in the fifth when Jim Hall walked and Jerry Jones' walk. Tom St. John's double and Ripplemeyer's single followed. They added another in the sixth with an infield out giving Jones the run. Ripplemeyer's error on Bob Thurman's roller and two stolen bases with an infield out gave the Sox their first run. They took the lead in the third with three runs. Gale-wise their fourth straight game in 14 starts when Zed Eaton pitched them to victory over St. Thomas. Eaton helped his own cause with two hits. Joe Grasso opposed him on the mound. He allowed eight hits but walked six.

REMILLARD OUT FOR YEAR

AT THE CAPITOL—Rhonda Castle (Jean Simmons) and Lawyer Todd-Allington (Stewart Granger) in "Young Bess," which is playing in "Cow Country" with Edmond O'Brien. Doubling production for Allied Artists opening Thursday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program The Bowery Boys make their debut in wrestling in "No Holds Barred."

AT THE McCARTHY

The Coronation of Queen Elizabeth which now brought to the screen in its entirety by J. Arthur Rank's Technicolor presentation of "A Queen is Crowned," opening Wednesday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre with continuous performances daily, is considered the greatest Coronation spectacle of all time.

Plans for the June, 1953 Coronation of Queen Elizabeth got underway immediately upon the death of King George VI in February, 1952.

The hasty and long-range preparation was not in disrespect to the dead King but was the practical application of the ancient proclamation: "The King is dead; long live the King!"

The Coronation ceremony is climaxed in the Westminster Abbey with a two-and-a-half hour ceremony and the placing of the crown upon the head of Queen Elizabeth.

Known as St. Edward's the Coronation crown is placed on the Queen's head by the Archbishop of Canterbury, and is worn only momentarily because of its great weight. The St. Edward's crown is made of solid gold.

Queen Elizabeth will actually wear the Imperial State Crown made for Queen Victoria's Coronation. It is described as a white gold band surrounding a velvet and ermine cap.

"A Queen is Crowned" covers the entire Coronation, capturing all the pomp and pageantry that is associated with this great spectacle.

Pilot Is Killed

Firemen were called to put out the flames and help remove the body from the charred wreckage. The air force withheld identification of the pilot pending notification of next of kin.

MARMORA

MARMORA — The annual church parade of Marmora L.O.L. 319 and Harmony L.O.B.A. 620 was held on Sunday evening with St. Paul's Anglican Church being visited. Led by the Spencer Killip Band, the sisters and brethern and the two juvenile lodges of the village paraded the streets before and after the service.

The service was conducted by Canon J. M. Brownlie who preached an inspiring sermon on "Justice and righteousness." The lessons was read by Past County Master W. J. Cottrell.

Following the service, a short session was held in the Orange Hall with speeches being heard from Past Grand Master F. Bateman, County Master Gordon Moffatt, District Master Cecil Holland, Past Master Robert Wrighthy, of Havelock Lodge and Past County Master Cottrell.

Rev. James Hutchinson, missionary to Europe, and representing the Bible Club of Philadelphia showed pictures and gave a talk on that work at the town hall on Friday evening before a goodly sized audience.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Sanders, of Peterborough, visited relatives and renewed acquaintances here over the week-end.

Mr. W. J. Cottrell spent Friday afternoon in Peterborough.

Rural dean and Mrs. A. S. Coppell of Trenton, called on Canon and Mrs. J. M. Brownlie on Sunday evening.

Many Incidents in Career Show Character of Sir Edmund Hillary

By J. C. Graham
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Friends of Sir Edmund Hillary, the New Zealander who reached the top of Mount Everest, know of many incidents in his career which show the kind of man he is.

He's tall—six feet, one inch lean and rangy. He's shy. He's just what he means. And it's some years now since he first told a friend that "some day I'm going to climb Everest."

Everything in his life since he first took a mountain holiday as a schoolboy has been directed to one goal. He conquered all the great New Zealand peaks, saving all his money to hire the best guide to teach him the perfect technique.

Then he went to Switzerland, learning more mountain wisdom.

Finally in 1951 he was ready for the Himalayas. During the last three years he made no fewer than four Himalayan expeditions, all the time building up for the ultimate goal.

Mountain Rescue

Friends recall how he saved a first climber's life after an accident in New Zealand's southern Alps. She fell 200 feet, breaking an arm and suffering concussion.

Hillary turned back from a peak he was nearing, wrapped the girl in his clothes and cared for her for three days, cutting steps in an ice cave until help arrived. Then followed a terrible four-day journey to civilization, with the injured girl strapped to a stretcher. Hillary's driver and experience sustained the team of mountaineers as they fought their way through snow, ice and jagged mountains with their burden.

Air force friends recall how Hillary was badly burned when a launch caught fire in the Solomon Islands during the Second World War. Despite severe pain he swam nearly a mile to shore. He was not expected to live but sheer determination restored him to life. Some said no more to be cut of the forces he was back in the mountains.

L. V. Bryant, a New Zealander who climbed with Eric Shipton on Everest in 1935, recognized Hillary as an Everest man when he first met him.

"I saw in Ed the same spirit of high adventure as Mallory, Shipton, Tilman and other Himalayan climbers possessed," he said. "He has the physical fitness, the endurance and the right philosophy."

Honey Gives Stamina

Arch Lowe, father of George Lowe, the other New Zealand climber in the Everest party, claims that both Hillary and Lowe got the extra stamina needed for big climbs from honey. Hillary is a beekeeper and he and Lowe both eat quantities of honey when training for climbs.

The people of Papakura, the township near Auckland where Hillary's apiary is located, have opened a fund to erect a monument to the district's most famous son.

Sir Edmund's father, P. A. Hillary, said the neighbors awarded his son after the Everest exploit would not be likely to alter his career. "Edmund is the best beekeeper in New Zealand," he said, "and he loves the country life which beekeeping gives him. There is a challenge to him all the time and that is what he likes."

The elder Hillary said he wished there could have been 14 knighthoods — one for each member of the party. "The essence of success in the expedition was team work," he said.

Though he has conquered the highest mountain, the Himalayas will see more of Edmund Hillary. He has undertaken to lead a New Zealand expedition to the little-known Barun valley in Nepal next year. He and Lowe made a preliminary exploration of it in 1951 and think there may be high adventure yet unsuspected among the terrific peaks which surround it.

The Barun expedition will consist of six New Zealanders and perhaps five or six Sherpa climbers. The New Zealand Alpine Club is calling for applications from climbers between 24 and 33 who are able to contribute $200 toward the cost of the expedition.

Tornado Relief Causing Concern In Sarnia Area

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Tornado relief for Western Ontario will likely have to be handled by committees handling tornado damage claims and estimates of damage for rural and urban areas separately, acting Premier Geo. Doucett said here Monday at the conclusion of the tornado relief conference.

With estimates far from complete it appeared that approximately $4,000,000 would have to come from private subscriptions and government aid — federal and provincial.

At the meeting, wardens and reeves from Middlesex, Lambton, Kent, Perth and Huron counties reported first estimates of damage made by assessors which totalled $2,132,000, not including the city of Sarnia.

Sarnia's mayor, William C. Nelson, estimated that $4,000,000 damage had been done in the city, but that the $3,000,000 suffered in the commercial section had been largely covered by insurance.

Suggests Two Committees

Mr. Doucett's suggestion that two separate committees might be formed to handle relief was based on the fact that rural and urban damage coverage is entirely different.

Mayor Nelson said that most farmers had little or no wind insurance, whereas urban concerns were usually covered "whether they knew it or not."

All representatives declared that their estimates were tentative. Mayor Nelson said he had received a telegram from the federal government which required that the province declare a disaster area in Western Ontario before federal action could be taken. A resolution was passed asking that the declaration be made.

Anticipate No Trouble

Mr. Doucett said he knew of no action was taken on either of these suggestions.

COSTLY WAREHOUSE FIRE

DURBAN, South Africa (Reuters) —Fire destroyed a six-acre British wool commission warehouse at the docks here Monday with an estimated loss of more than $2,500,000. Every fire brigade in Durban and the surrounding area was called out to fight the blaze, which could be seen 11 miles away.

U.S. East, Gulf Coast Shipping Faces Tie-Up

NEW YORK (AP)—A union policy of "no contract, no work" went into effect today for U. S. east and gulf coast shippers, confronting them with the prospect of a gradual maritime tie-up.

The National Maritime Union (CIO), seeking a wage increase, stuck to its traditional position against working ships under a contract without a federal mediator's request for a postponement of a stoppage.

Bargaining sessions between the NMU and passenger and dry cargo shippers broke off shortly before midnight, when old contracts covering some 50 ships expired.

Federal mediators stepped in and early today asked the union to "maintain the existing status quo" at least until a new negotiation session scheduled at 4 p. m. EDT. The mediators also cited the "pressing national interest."

However, union president Joseph Curran later told newspaper men he had taken no action on the conciliators' request.

Negotiate Separately

Negotiations here on contracts covering coastwise tankers were proceeding separately but broke down when Curran at about 4 a. m. walked out of the meeting and said the tanker representatives were treating the sessions "as a joke."

Union spokesmen said separate contract talks for ocean and Great Lakes oilers have been going on in Boston and Chicago.

An NMU spokesman said the disputes involved 31 passenger ships, 21 freighters, 229 oceangoing tankers, 28 colliers, 10 to 15 Great Lakes tankers and some river craft operating out of St. Louis and Pittsburgh.

The passenger vessels include Scheduled for Drydock the superliner United States, which is scheduled for drydock today and is then scheduled to go into drydock for her first overhaul tomorrow.

Curran said the union first asked for a pay increase of 7½ per cent, depending on a seaman's rating, and then offered the alternative of a flat boost of two to six per cent for all ratings. Curran said the companies turned down these demands.

Joseph J. Maloney, chairman of the passenger-dry cargo committee, said the operators had made no offer and did not expect to do so.

Able-bodied seamen now earn a base pay of $302.32 a month with an hourly overtime rate of $1.87.

'Book Burning' Debate Wages In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—James B. Conant and Senator Joseph McCarthy debated estimated "book burning" Monday and in one exchange the Wisconsin Republican told Conant "I frankly think you are not doing a good job," as U.S. high commissioner in Germany.

Earlier in his appearance before the senate appropriations committee Conant told the Senator he regretted that McCarthy had seen fit to make public purge of books in U.S. information libraries abroad.

It would have been better for U. S. foreign relations, the commissioner said, if McCarthy had taken his complaint to the executive department and had the books removed from the shelves without publicity. He added: "I advised under our mistakes publicly," Conant argued.

But McCarthy said Americans were paying for the information program and they were entitled to know that the libraries were circulating literature to communists and fellow travellers.

Conant was here to testify in support of a $40,000,000 budget for his office in the fiscal year beginning July 1. He was interrogated with questions by McCarthy.

Many of the questions arose from a speech President Eisenhower made at Dartmouth College Sunday, in which the president spoke out against "the book burners" and advised Americans to fight communism with "something better."

$10,000 DONATED

RANGOON (AP)—The Burmese government Monday donated $10,000 toward the relief of tornado victims in Mishigan, Ohio, and Massachusetts.

Doctors Give Conditional O.K. To Federal Health Program

WINNIPEG (CP)—Delegates to the 86th annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association Monday spread their discussions over topics ranging from pregnancy to government health grants.

More than 1,000 shirt-sleeved delegates gathered in Prairie heat for the first day of the five-day conference.

A Toronto psychiatrist electrified the meeting of the Canadian Psychiatric Association, being held in conjunction with the CMA gathering, when he advocated uniform and more liberal views of abortion.

Dr. Daniel Capson of the University of Toronto said it should be permitted for other than purely physical disorders. He said termination of pregnancy should be considered for social and psychological reasons and to prevent the blighted lives of illegitimate children when alcoholism, delinquency, mental or moral inability is found in the parent.

"It is a sad reflection on our time to realize the national, social and class injustices in this regard," he said. Where social injustice is tolerated in one country and even legalized, it is a crime elsewhere.

The doctor said each patient should be treated as an individual and a board of acknowledged consultants should make the decision for abortion together with the couple concerned.

Discuss Health Plans

The general council of the CMA, Monday, discussed the government approval to recent additions to the federal government's hospital and health grants program but attached several conditions.

Concerned are grants for hospital construction, maternal and child hygiene, rehabilitation of patients and diagnostic services, the council had little to say in approval.

A grant for diagnostic services raised doubts, Dr. Norman H. Gosse of Halifax, chairman of the CMA executive council, said in an interview. He said the association does not want the grant to interfere with the fee-for-service relationship between patient and doctor.

Dr. Gosse said the diagnostic grant was approved on condition that services be confined to the equipment installed be paid for by the patients either directly or through a recognized medical plan. He said the grant should be specifically for laboratory and radiological services due to the complexity of diagnosis.

The government could pay for the treatment of tuberculosis patients, but if the doctors handling the services became salaried government employees, it would be another step toward socialized medicine. "We don't want that," he said.

Dr. C. O. W. Cameron, deputy minister of health and welfare, said the method of handling the grants makes it impossible that all CMA recommendations be carried out. Speaking for his department, he said the strength of the plan is that it is not administered by the government but by provinces and Dominion jointly.

Study Nurse Shortage

The council expressed concern at the shortage of nurses and established a committee to study the matter.

It also moved to raise the academic standards of general practitioners in Canada. A college of general practitioners will be established under the aegis of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada which sets the standards for medical specialists.

Details of admission to the college and its organization will be worked out by a committee.

The aims of the body will be to "maintain the academic unit with broad educational aims and to provide opportunities for teaching for and general practitioners as well as post-graduate training."

Admission will probably be by examination with consideration given to medical research and years of service. The group decided to have membership in the CMA, its division at the provincial level and the corresponding local medical society a prerequisite to entering the college. French-speaking doctors would belong to L'Association des Medecins de Langue Francais du Canada.

Dr. C. C. Routley of Toronto, general secretary of the association, was elected for the first time (vice-president of the British Medical Association, 1953). He is located at the joint meeting of the BMA with the CMA in Toronto the week of June 20, 1954, by the third Canadian to receive the honor.

CCF Leader Opens Campaign At Maple Creek

MAPLE CREEK, Sask. (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, charged Monday night that "inept and bungling" policies of the federal government have caused a loss of traditional markets and contracts to the serious impairment of Canadian agriculture.

In his first speech of the Aug. 10 federal election campaign, Mr. Coldwell pledged the CCF party if elected to adopt a series of measures "to restore our trading position and enable Canadian producers to secure stable and long-term markets for their produce in the sterling countries.

Only by "active and imaginative trading program," he told Saskatchewan farmers, can Canada's stiuency convention, could Canada regain past markets for apples, cheese, cattle and bacon.

He listed these elements of a CCF prescription to retain the export markets: Acceptance of sterling as part payment for Canadian exports to the sterling countries; placement of a higher proportion of government orders in sterling area; lower tariffs and dumping duties on sterling-area imports; negotiation of long-term commodity agreements with credit arrangements if necessary.

Twelve Arrested In Theft Ring At Cornwall

CORNWALL (CP) — Twelve unidentified persons were arrested here Monday and police and private investigators said they believe an organized racket in the clothing material from three Canadian Cotton Company plants has been broken.

Police estimated the pilfering cost the company "well over $1,000,000 during the last 15 years." At least 10 more arrests were expected.

Detectives from a private Montreal agency were called in company officials a month ago when recent thefts totalled $30,000. Three men, alleged receivers, buying stolen material charged.

Seven men already have appeared in court here in connection with the thefts. Alfred Michaud, 38; his brother Albert, 35; Jacques Boileau, 30; Lawrence Besner, 38, and Riley Roach, 40, pleaded innocent to theft and receiving charges. Harry Segal, 63, charged with receiving, was released on $4,000 bail. Horace Campeau, 35, pleaded guilty to charges of theft and receiving.

Arvida Remains World's Biggest Aluminum Plant

By PETER BUCKLEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

With another publicity being given the Aluminum Company of Canada's $500,000,000 construction project at Kitimat, B.C., there is a tendency to feel that Alcan's plant at Arvida, Que., remains the largest aluminum-producing plant in the world.

Hewn out of farmland in 1926, Arvida today is a thriving industrial city of 11,000, considerably more than the 7,000 persons expected to swell by Kitimat by early next summer when the plant there starts production.

Capacity for aluminum production at the Arvida plant is 1,000 tons a day. At Kitimat, the first stages of production will see 90,000 tons a year roll from the plant, although with production extended to its maximum, some 550,000 tons would be produced.

Employs 7,000

The Alcan plant itself employs an average of slightly less than 7,000 workers, with a payroll in 1952 of $33,788,953. Last year the Aluminum Company spent approximately $3,700,000 on major additions and alterations at Arvida, largest single item being a new $2,500,000 anode rod plant.

The town of Arvida itself spreads out from the Alcan plant about three miles to the city of Chicoutimi in northern Quebec. It has its own elected mayor and city councillors, fire department, schools, churches and lodges and clubs.

An estimated one-third of the Alcan workers live in Arvida, the remainder coming from Chicoutimi and Jonquiere, about five miles away.

Another major aspect of Arvida is the Shipshaw power development on the Saguenay river, which runs past the town.

The two sections of the development have an installed capacity of 1,200,000 horsepower — enough power to supply electricity for three cities the size of Montreal.

Indian Facing Charge of Murder

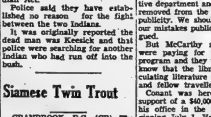
Also arrested was Mrs. Keesick who faces charges under the Indian Act.

Police said they have established no reason for the fight between the two Indians.

It was originally reported the dead man was Keesick and that police were searching for another Indian who had run off into the bush.



Siamese Twin Trout

Siamese-twin fish, and a two-headed trout appeared on the scene Monday.

The Siamese twins, now free-swimming but still living on remnants of their egg-sac, appear lively. They swim out at a time with the other obviously deadheaded.

The one with two heads is also free-swimming. One of the heads appears to be atrophying.

CAMPBELLFORD

Council Names Chas. Lockwood Chief of Police

Campbellford—This town is soon to have a Chief of Police. After being without an official since last summer all during 1953, council decided at a special meeting held on Saturday afternoon to accept application of a Belleville policeman, Charles M. Lockwood.

Mr. Lockwood is 31 years old, weighs in at 214 pounds and is 5 feet 11 inches tall. He served for three years with the Canadian Army Provost Corps during the last war, and spent two of those three years overseas. He has worked as a constable and as a detective on the Belleville force for the past six years and come to Campbellford highly recommended.

It is expected the new chief will take over his duties on or about the 22nd of June. His salary has been set at $2,800 plus a $350 allowance.

Also at this meeting, Campbellford was left vacant in January with the death of Mrs. George H. Hardy. Constable Wilfred Rowe of the local force was promoted to the position of acting chief, on a six-months probationary period. Constable Rowe resigned over a month ago, leaving the force short again.

A couple of weeks ago, after sifting through more than 25 applications, the town council finally engaged John Rankin, well known local constable at Madoc. Rankin accepted the position, then at about the time he was about to start, notified council that he would be unable to accept the job. He has been retained by Madoc, and had decided to stay there. Council soon went over their applications and chose Mr. Lockwood, whose experience, it is hoped, should serve the town in good stead.

The company said the daughter of former president Truman will have singing and guest star roles during the 1953-54 season. Contract terms were not disclosed. Last year NBC said Miss Truman was paid $2,500 for each radio or television performance.

REDS DECLARE MARTIAL LAW IN E. BERLIN

U.S. and China Say Truce Line Set

Secrecy Shrouds Exact Details Of Armistice Meet

No Official Announcement But Last Bar to Truce Gone

WASHINGTON (AP)—United Nations and Communist negotiators have agreed on the truce line to divide the armies in Korea after an armistice, it was reported here today.

The agreement was made under secrecy restrictions covering the truce sessions at Panmunjom at this stage.

The state department had no comment on the information, and gave no details.

The demarcation line, laid out by military staff officers in several intensive sessions, was described as based upon the present battle line.

There was no immediate information, however, as to whether it took into account the impact of the latest offensive upon United Nations positions.

Made Little Difference

The impression of officials here was that the Communist assault had not made enough real difference in the battle position to affect the truce arrangements materially.

The line runs mostly north of the 38th parallel although it drops south of it in the extreme western area.

The agreement was understood here to have removed the last major item standing in the way of a final, full understanding on a truce.

Nonetheless, it was indicated that for reasons not full apparent at the moment, it may be several days before a final truce agreement is signed.

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — The voice of Communist China, Peiping radio, hinted broadly tonight that a cease-fire line has been drawn and agreement reached on the Korean barrier to a quick truce in Korea.

The broadcast came a few hours after Allied and Communist negotiators met for 39 minutes at Panmunjom and shortly after rumors that a demarcation line had been agreed upon.

There was no official hint, however, that agreement has been reached.

Two teams of staff officers covered after the plenary session. One group reported to be working on the demarcation line met for eight hours then adjourned without scheduling another meeting, indicating that they had completed their work.

The second group of staff officers, which is believed to have been working on other final truce details, scheduled another session Thursday.

Allied and Communist liaison officers met late in the day for an hour and 40 minutes and recessed without scheduling another meeting.

Liaison officers normally arrange for meetings of the full truce delegations. However, there was no announcement that the senior negotiators would meet again.

Another Vital Step

The Peiping broadcast heard in Japan said today's plenary session probably concluded "another important step toward the signing of the truce agreement."

And while it pointed out that the demarcation line was secret, the broadcast hinted that in addition to the line of contact, boundaries of the 2½-mile-wide demilitarized zone between the two armies also have been set and drawn on a map.

The radio said there has been a "noticeable speed up in the meetings of the staff officers and their subcommittees" which made it said this "indicated the culmination of the work in revising the military demarcation line to coincide with the present battle lines."

The lighter Newman has been sent from here to assist part of the Kinsman SIT Company ship's cargo and the tug Favorite has been ordered to try and free her later today.

Windsor Unions Protest Buying Non-Union Goods

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Union officials Sunday accused the police commission of "sloppy and archaic thinking" in considering uniforms of non-union manufacturers as equals in dealing with the annual supply of police uniforms.

This was the latest comment on the dispute which has split city council during the last few weeks and sees the police commission take an opposite view to that of council and board of control.

A joint statement issued by the presidents of three locals of United Automobile Workers (CIO) said they "protested against" the commission's decision "vigorously."

It was signed by president Charles McDonald of local 200, Earle Watson, local 195, and Joe Kenny, local 240.

The controversy arose when mayor Arthur J. Reaume cast the deciding vote in favor of buying five city trucks from a union firm despite a lower tender from a non-union firm. The non-union company was awarded a contract to supply two of the seven trucks needed.

THE WEATHER
TORONTO, (CP) — Synoptic: Showers spread across most of the province Tuesday night with occasionally severe thunderstorms every southwestern Ontario as a result of a cyclonic storm centre speeding southeastward across Michigan. During the night, however, this disturbance slackened up and began to take a more easterly path. Hence occasional light rain will persist over northern and eastern sections or the province most of the day. Considerable sunshine will prevail over most regions on Thursday with temperatures a little higher than today.

GOVT. TO APPEAL INDEFINITE STAY GRANTED BY JUDGE

Rosenbergs Scheduled To Die Thursday Night

WASHINGTON (AP)—Supreme Court Justice William Douglas today granted an indefinite stay of execution to atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The U.S. government immediately appealed Douglas' decision to the full court. The court has been recessed until November but Justice Fred Vinson could reconvene it at any time in order to hear the government's plea for reversal of Douglas' action.

Douglas said he has serious doubts whether the jury which convicted the couple had the right to send them to the electric chair because they were not tried under the law dealing specifically with espionage cases.

The husband and wife had been scheduled to die at 11 p. m. (EST) Thursday in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison at Ossining, N. Y. Newly Legal Ground

Douglas granted his stay on the purely legal ground of which law should prevail.

Defence lawyers claimed that the Atomic Energy Act superseded the espionage laws under which the Rosenbergs were convicted.

The Atomic Energy Act was passed in 1946. It provides that the death sentence can be imposed only on the specific recommendation of the jury and then if it has been found that the offence was made with an attempt to injure the United States.

Douglas said neither of these requirements was fulfilled in the case of the Rosenbergs.

His order had the effect of sending the case back to the U. S. district court in New York for a hearing on the legal point.

"I do not decide that the death penalty may not be imposed upon the Rosenbergs only if the provisions of section 10 of the Atomic Energy Act were satisfied. I merely decide that the question is a substantial one which should be decided after full argument and deliberation.

Can Be Protected

"It is important that the country be protected against the nefarious plans of persons who would destroy us.

"It is also important that before we allow those plans to be snuffed out we be sure—emphatically sure—that the procedure by which we are not sure, there will be lingering doubts to plague the conscience in the event."

Warden Alfred L. Denno said his office would not notify the prisoners formally "until I receive official papers on the action."

Korean Front Fighting Dies As Cease-Fire Line Said Fixed

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The fighting died abruptly early today (Thursday) on the Korean front in the wake of a reported agreement at Panmunjom on a cease-fire line.

The hills of eastern Korea, which had rocked for a week to the greatest Chinese artillery concentration in two years, were quiet except for the occasional clash of patrols and the crash of artillery.

On the battle-scarred central front, where 2,400 Chinese had battled Republic of Korea troops all day Wednesday, the only action reported early Thursday was a single patrol clash.

It still is too early to say whether the fighting is dying down as the hour of armistice approaches, but another 24 hours probably will tell the story.

Communist loudspeakers along the front blared that there would be an armistice by June 25, third anniversary of the war.

The Chinese had smacked into South Korean troops Wednesday for heavy gains on the east central front, and appeared to be building up for a major drive by dark. But that attack never came.

An 8th army spokesman said the South Korean 2nd division pushed after a two-mile withdrawal by the South Koreans Wednesday and Monday appeared "out of the fluid pressure area" and stilled.

Bitter one-saw battles—at times hand-to-hand—raged in fog and rain at each flank of the two-mile bulge, however, even as the Peiping radio hinted broadly that negotiators have approved a cease-fire line.

Shoved Back

A Chinese battalion shoved back Republic of Korea soldiers who had advanced more than 300 yards in a savage fight southeast of Heartbreak Ridge, western anchor of the bulge.

AP correspondent Milo Farwell reported that the Chinese had a tremendous Allied artillery barrage thrown against them and the ROKs fiercely counter-attacking Communists.

Southwest of Christmas hill, on the right flank of the front, the Koreans captured 3.5 miles and moved nearly 400 yards north of it only to be pushed back to the ridge by a counter-attacking Communist battalion.

The red drive followed the biggest Communist air raid of the war on the Seoul area. Sixteen Americans were injured. Four Koreans were killed and 21 injured. Several buildings and more than 1,000,000 gallons of fuel were destroyed by 15 ancient Russian-built biplanes which raided Inchon, Seoul airport's port, Tuesday night.

The fighting raged on the western flank of South Korean lines which had been shoved southward as much as two miles by a powerful Communist week-end offensive.

Except in the Finger and M-1 ridge sectors the big Red push appeared to have been stemmed. Six thousand Reds Tuesday seized Finger ridge, western anchor of the bulge in the South Korean line.

By giving up Finger ridge, the South Koreans withdrew about one-third of the Kyorum mountain mass, which guards a deep valley to the rear. The RoKs stopped two Red probes near Finger ridge Tuesday night.

Fights Still Rage

At last report, heavy fighting was raging on five heights which the Reds captured near Christmas hill, at the eastern end of the 38-mile front. Allied troops had attacked Sunday. The Reds made their biggest gain on the front's east coast Tuesday, in territory defended mostly by South Koreans.

Communist MiG jets roared out of Manchuria and the U.S. 5th Air Force said four were shot down and five more damaged in dogfights with U.S. Sabre jets at twilight Wednesday.

Allied Planes Busy

Planes from the U.S. carriers Boxer and Lake Champlain struck three Communist airfields on Korea's east coast today.

A "considerable number" of wounded Allied troops for one day in 2½ years was carried from the fighting by transport planes of the U.S. combat cargo command. The number wasn't disclosed, but they were mostly South Koreans, who are bearing the brunt of the stepped-up fighting.

Red guerrillas wrecked the Communist Allied army supply train 48 hours Monday night, in a strike behind Inchon. Important port, eastern Korean port, deep in Allied territory.

Bridges Washed Out, Homes Flooded by Torrential Rains

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thunderstorms dumped torrential rains on parts of southwestern Ontario today, washing out bridges, flooding basements and cutting hydro power. Damage will run into the thousands of dollars.

Weather officials said conditions were similar to those in which tornadoes developed at Sarnia and Flint, Mich., during past weeks. However, no twisters have been reported.

Rain washed out two highway bridges near Stratford, stranded cattle in turbulent waters and damaged basements and furniture in flooded homes.

Other bridges and road supports in the area were weakened. Highway officials said the approach to a large bridge in Plattsville had washed out, leaving the structure in danger of collapsing.

At St. Catharines more than two inches of rain fell in 75 minutes. Power in surrounding districts was cut off for almost two hours. Telephone and telegraph communications to outside centres were disrupted.

SAVED BY FLY ROD

HINTON, W.Va. (AP) James Ellis Taylor is alive today because of a friend's skill with a fishing rod and reel, Thomas and Hugh Carrett were fishing from a platform below the Bluestone dam. Thomas slipped and fell 50 feet into a weir, an area staked out for catching fish. Taylor was clinging to his fly rod. He hooked Thomas' clothing, reeled him limp body aboard and administered artificial respiration. Thomas revived.

Baptists Draft Property Board Regulations

HAMILTON (CP)—By-laws of the newly-formed property board were approved by delegates to the 60th annual Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec this morning.

To make the work of the board possible, the convention will apply to the Ontario legislature to extend the rights to hold land to boards created under the authority of federal statutes.

It will seek a further amendment to allow property of a convention church, which has ceased to function for a year, to be vested in the property board. In the future properties of churches wishing it may be vested in the convention through the board.

A proposed home for retired ministers and missionaries may also be vested in the board. It has already taken over management of Church House in Toronto.

Officers named to the board for the coming year are: Fred W. Kemp, of Willowdale and Gordon C. McEwen, of Toronto.

Multitudes of Lemmings Face Death in Mass Arctic Migration

POINT BARROW, Alaska (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of lemmings, said to face a "starve or migrate" fate, are choosing drowning again in a mass migration into the Arctic Ocean's frigid waters.

The migration started here early this week and the little furry-footed rodents with the short tail and odd teeth have been pouring into the ocean ever since then.

There is no food on the ice either —just death by cold or drowning for those unable to dive 5feet into the water. Some have been observed as far as 25 miles from shore, still scampering over the sea ice.

Dr. John Buckley, biologist for the University of Alaska in Fairbanks, said science can't fully explain the periodic suicide migrations of the lemmings in the Arctic. But he said it appears that what their food, they haven't got much choice but to migrate or starve or go out to sea and drown."

The lemmings feed on roots, and the scarcity of such forage in the Barrow Arctic coastline seems to bear out Dr. Buckley's explanation.

They migrate to their death periodically. The last time was in 1937, Eskimos and residents of Barrow reported that year in a mass migration. Dr. Lyle Foote of Hebrington of the U. S. Coast and geodetic survey also observed that the suicide movement and the tiny animals were observed more than 30 miles from shore then, too.

He said they still were running in the Barrow area during his general direction of the north pole.

Neither Hetherington or Doctor Buckley mentioned another popular theory about the lemming migration—that they are driven by some ancient instinct toward some mysterious land they once inhabited.

Lemmings are found in the cold northern extremes of North America and Europe and in both places are noted for their self-eliminating mass migrations.

Rioters Explode Four-Hour Revolt Against Red Rule; Deputy Premier Flees Zone

'Floating Bomb' Safely Beached, To be Unloaded

VANCOUVER (CP)—The coastal tanker Argus, transformed by fire into a floating bomb, was safely ashored in no strained today of her cargo of potential disaster.

Fire which threatened to set off 18,000 gallons of high octane gasoline in the forward tanks broke out Monday night aboard the 517-ton vessel, injuring four men.

Skipper Bill Stone, in a display of calm courage piloted the Argus out into Burrard inlet, away from the Imperial Oil Company dock where she was being loaded.

But the menace of a savage explosion continued along Vancouver's waterways until after the vessel was beached some 16 hours later on the south shore of the inlet, 13 miles from the downtown district.

Plans are to tow the Argus to the Imperial Oil refinery where the gasoline, bought to be loaded, will be pumped from her forward tanks.

Although a major blast was avoided, about 20 minor explosions occurred during the day as burning breakdown minutes before the Argus docked probably averted tragedy. No fuel was flowing when the flames began.

The start of the fire and his 300-yard voyage with flames licking toward the gas were described by the skipper.

Chief Engineer Walter Huska and the cook, I went for a walk up to a store for a Coke and some cigarets," said Bone.

"We hadn't been away for more than a minute or two when we heard the explosion. We began to run back, and then heard the alarm bell. I knew it was serious.

"The other seven members of the crew were still aboard, and when we got back two of those hurt had been taken ashore.

"The engine room was a solid mass of flame. But we dived down the ladder after Huska, put out the fire there, and switched off various valves before it got too hot.

"The fire kept getting worse. The carbon dioxide apparatus on the ship had been damaged, but apparently an explosion put it out of action.

Sent Men Ashore

"By this time I could see the danger to the shore installations. I sent all my men ashore, made sure they had got off safely, put anchor ready, and the tug took up the tow.

"Before we got far enough out to be safe, I had managed to shut the hatches and get a load of gas and oil to try and prevent an explosion.

"Then I dropped anchor, and stepped over the side into the fireboat. I wasn't really sorry to be off."

Maul Communist Officials, Haul Down, Burn Red Flag

BERLIN (CP) — Fifty thousand rioters exploded a four-hour revolt against red rule in East Berlin today. Soviet troops, backed by tanks and armored cars, fired on the workers, and the Russian authorities declared martial law.

East Germany's deputy premier, Otto Nuschke, fled to West Berlin during the riots. West sector police said Nuschke applied to them for asylum.

The East Berliners hauled down and burned the red flag, mauled German communist officials and shouted "iran go home." But the drastic military action dispersed the crowds and ended the violence.

No accurate account of casualties was available.

At least two demonstrators were killed, crushed by Russian tanks. Reuters said 12 persons were wounded when Communist guards fired on machine-gun bursts into crowds demonstrating in Potsdam Square.

Started Tuesday

The revolt in Berlin, 100 miles inside the Soviet-occupied zone of Germany, started Tuesday as a stage-managed parade in which 300 workers marched to the East German government headquarters demanding higher pay and lower prices.

Apparently the government failed to show its new-found policy of freedom and democracy by the workers, backed by a show of strate. The movement got out of hand. Everybody with a grain of caution to the winds today and workers began calling a general strike.

After East Berlin police calmly battled to stem the tide of rioting, green-helmeted Soviet troops, amounting to a regimental combat unit of 3,000 men were called in.

Tanks deployed against the workers. Gunfire echoed at several places where the biggest crowds were gathered. The people attacked tanks with stones, and dislodged at least one with a log jammed under the treads. But the mobs had to give way. The core of the demonstration was scattered, Reuter Correspondent Finally, about 2 p. m. Maj.-Gen. P. T. Dibrova, military commander in the East sector, issued the decree of martial law in Berlin. The order forbids gatherings of more than three persons in the streets, and imposed a 9 p. m. to 5 a. m. curfew on all pedestrian and vehicle traffic.

The order in effect took authority from the hands of the Russian puppets, the East Berlin government, and placed the situation back to that of 1945 when the Russians ruled with iron fists over the city.

West German and Allied authorities, surprised by the violent turn of events, issued a warning against rule were reported last week from Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria.

Queen May Fly to Canada to Open New Parliament After Election

LONDON (CP)—The Queen may fly to Canada this fall to open the new Parliament reassembling after Canada's federal election, says a British newspaper suggested today.

The Daily Mail said the proposal was that the Queen should start on the long flight en route to Bermuda. Thus the trip could be fitted into the round-the-world Commonwealth tour scheduled to start in November.

The paper said the suggestion had been made at the highest level and that it was believed the Queen would be agreeable.

There was no comment in House, commenting on the proposal, said information in London indicates a royal visit to Canada in the near future is "most unlikely." Buckingham Palace officials, too, said had heard nothing of such a plan.

At the time of the royal visit to Canada in 1951, palace authorities spoke freely of the likelihood that royalty would increase its visits to Commonwealth countries utilizing modern travel facilities to make more personal the link between the Crown and some of the more remote Commonwealth countries such as Canada, Australia and New Zealand. "It is believed here, however, that the Queen would prefer to make slightly planned far into the future, and that any deviations are unlikely.

Was Busy Night, Error Slight, All Ends Right

DALLAS, Texas. (AP)—Rev. John Shanks, youth director at Cliff Temple Baptist Church here, was called on to substitute for the pastor at a wedding.

It was a busy night Mr. Shanks discovered just in time to escort the couple to the office. He hurried behind the being a Bible because there was always one on the minister's desk. This time there was not. He spied a book that looked like a Bible, grabbed it, went through the ceremony from memory.

After saying "I pronounce you man and wife" he looked down and saw he was holding The Funeral Processional."

MANY ENJOYING POOL FACILITIES

The Belleville Community Swimming Pool is getting off to a fine start this year. Several hundred people have enjoyed the privileges of the pool in its first three days of operation.

The high school students flocked in droves during the noon hour and evening, and the public school students seem to arrive right after four and they stay until it closes at six o'clock.

RACING BOATS DEVELOP TROUBLE

Last night two boats were out racing on Front Bay. They were on the other side of the bay bridge, when one boat had engine trouble. The other boat left for the harbor. The second boat was about halfway between the bridge and the dock when it ran out of gas.

The first boat after about an hour's delay finally had the motor running again and new the second boat with its occupants drifting onto shore. The occupants were none the worse for their experience.

Teachers Receive Holiday Cheques At End of June

June is the month of big pay cheques for the teaching staff in Belleville public schools.

Not only will they receive their regular pay, but their envelopes will contain an extra amount totalling approximately 30 per cent of their year's salaries. It doesn't mean that Belleville teachers are getting a big bonus with their pay cheques before the holiday season—they all have to pay income tax, remember.

The extra money at the end of June is the total of a two per cent deduction from their monthly salaries which has been taken from their pay cheques during the year.

It is all part of a teacher-approved policy of having the school board treasurer be their banker for the total deposit of their salaries which then comes to them as a kind of a pleasant surprise with their June cheques.

"It is all done at the request of the teachers themselves," explained school superintendent L. A. Kells, "and then extra money just before they go on their holidays."

And, according to Mr. Kells, it also works out to the advantage of the school board in that it saves the city money on bank borrowings. At the Monday night when they held their final meeting before the summer recess.

Attending that meeting were board chairman Fred Symons and members Beaty, Godwin, Grandame, Hannem, Jackson, Van Tassell and Ward.

The duties of the recently appointed supervisor of schools maintenance came in for discussion at the meeting with Frank Grandame, chairman of property, buildings and grounds, and schedule of duties. The report was adopted.

The maintenance supervisor will act under the direction of the property superintendent and with him will have supervision and control of all caretakers. It will be his duty to make periodic inspections and report on all repairs and maintenance work on buildings and grounds and have supervision of all contracts for repairs and maintenance and new construction with the exception of where the work is under the supervision of an architect.

To Make Report

Included in his duties will be the supervision of any rinks that the city may operate in winter. He will also make an annual report to the board on the condition of all buildings and equipment.

The new supervisor, Stan Wilson, has already commenced a survey to determine what repairs and maintenance work should be done on school buildings during the summer months.

Mr. Grandame will investigate and make a report on fire hazards and a safety storage for paint supplies in the schools.

The board has decided on a program of safety lectures to be given by a lecturer of the Ontario Safety League. These lectures will consist of pictures and talks to be given at all schools following the commencement of the fall term.

Granted Permission

Mr. R. Farquharson was granted permission to run a sanitary sewer across part of the Queen Elizabeth Park property providing there are no legal barriers.

Superior Cleaners on North Front Street will be advised that they may not use the King George School grounds as a parking lot for their vehicles.

Reports of all accidents at two public schools were received by the board. Stephen Safe had been bitten by a dog, when he left the Queen Mary school grounds to retrieve a ball from a neighbor's yard. Stitches were required to close the cut.

At King George School John Laffman slipped when using a slide and caught his arm on a projecting bolt.

School attendance for the month of May was reported at 94.33 per cent, it was noted in the attendance report. This compared with an attendance of 94.58 per cent for the same month last year. School enrolment was 2,566 compared with 2,368 for May, 1952. Thirty-nine children were admitted during the month while 36 were transferred to other school districts.

A new teacher, Miss Hilda Silver, graduate of Toronto Normal school and University of Detroit, will report for duty, Miss Silver was hired as staff member when another applicant for the position was unable to accept the position.

Dental Advisory Committee Lines Up Program in Schools

The old saying that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure has supported the membership of the Belleville Dental Advisory Committee, who since the organization of the committee a few weeks ago have lined up their program of operation in Belleville schools.

It has been decided to set up a preventive program, which, it is claimed, can do far more good than operative procedures. The program will include an enrolment of parents and children in the proper care of their teeth.

Chairman of the newly-formed dental advisory committee is John H. Godwin, of the Belleville Public School Board. Members include Dr. John M. Carlyle as dental officer; Harold Craig, D.D.S.; W. J. Dunn, D.D.S., and L. A. Hubbs, D.D.S., and L. A. Kells.

Dental health programs of schools and clinics in the Toronto area were studied by the committee before drawing up the local program.

Letters indicating that dental examinations of as many pupils as possible will be made during the school year will be sent out to parents. It is also recommended that due to the fact that a child may be a carrier and also that the prevalence of tooth decay, children be taken to the family dentist as often as possible.

A complete examination, using a uniform dental chart, will be made of all children in Kindergarten. At this time the parent or guardian will be instructed in home dental care and diet.

Examination to be Complete

A complete examination of Grade 1 pupils and possibly those of higher grades will be made and proper cards sent to parents to be returned when signed by the family dentist.

Approve Schedule of Duties For Maintenance Supervisor

Members of the Belleville Public School Board wound up their business with the regular Monday night when they held their final meeting before the summer recess.

Purchase of the Mackenzie property on West College street as the site for the proposed new high school has been announced by the Bay of Quinte District High School Board. Purchase price of the property was given as $18,885 with the former owner to clear the property of all buildings by July 15th, 1953.

Sketch plans for the new high school drawn by Architect H. E. Roberts have been approved by the Department of Education and final plans and specifications are now underway and will be ready for final approval in about one and a half months.

Several possible sites for the new high school had been considered by the high school board, but the College street property was chosen as the logical site due to convenience of servicing the area, and because of other factors.

May Convert Room

At their final meeting Tuesday night prior to the summer recess, board members Harold Seldon and W. McKechnie were given the ability of converting the present welding room in the southeast corner of the collegiate basement into class rooms.

If such a plan is considered feasible the two classes presently being conducted in the school auditorium will be taken out and moved into the new quarters and other accommodation if necessary, would be sought for the welding classes after the day school. If the conversion was made in all probability night school classes for welding would be dropped.

It was pointed out that utilizing the welding room as regular classroom space would be a temporary measure only until the new high school was completed.

Will Enlarge Room

The commercial room at the collegiate will be enlarged through moving of a partition dividing the present classroom and the commercial department office.

The report of the Grade IX curriculum co-ordinating committee was adopted by the board. This is headed by Principal G. E. Currie, with L. A. Kells as drive for one of the lathes.

Kenora Uranium Find Possibly Biggest in Canada

SUDBURY (CP)—Reports of uranium discoveries in Long and Snegang townships along the shore of Lake Huron about 130 miles west of here have been confirmed by both the Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie mining records offices.

A total of 360 claims has been recorded at both offices within the last 10 days. Sixty of them have been listed here and another 200 at the Sault office.

Officials of the Longyear Diamond Drilling Company, engaged in taking samples throughout the area since April, declined to make any statement on the rush.

The Long and Sprague townships are in a square miles of rocky wasteland, was first staked in 1945. There was little activity then until about a year ago when drilling started.

This is the third uranium rush reported in Northern Canada in recent months. Heavy staking has been taking place in the Mackenzie district of Quebec about 100 miles northeast of Ottawa, and along the eastern end island of Lake Nipissing at North Bay.

"A Grip for Every Trip"

CheeseExchange

A price of 39¾ cents for colored and 39¼ for white cheese was paid on the Belleville Cheese Exchange Tuesday night.

A total of 4,288 cheese, including 2,588 white and 1,800 colored were offered on the exchange, the Marketing Board taking the balance of 1,087 colored, and 1,447 white cheese after buyers for the trade had made their selections.

There was a brief discussion as to whether the exchange would allow a selection of factories by private buyers when their bid was not higher than that of the Marketing Board.

Charles N. Heath said, however, that the bid by the Marketing Board was considered as a support bid and not a board bid. "It just means that if no buyers step into the picture the Marketing Board will take the whole thing," he said.

Cheese buyer W. D. Cook noted that at 39¾c no buyer could purchase cheese and get out on the basis of the government guarantee price of 30 cents for cheese declared surplus next October. He said it would be more than 1¾ cents per pound in carrying charges until that time.

He said it meant that cheese purchased at the price would have to be sold to the trade.

Under the co-operative marketing plan adopted for Ontario cheese this year, farmers will receive an initial price of 34 cents for their cheese, with any monies above this figure received during the year to be pooled and prorated back to factories.

The factories represented and the cheese each offered on the exchange were as follows:

The vehicle in question is a 1908 Model T Ford, complete with its glittering brass radiator, carbide lights and high wooden spoke wheels. The old model touring car, owned by Haydn Butters, of Cobourg, is on display at the showroom in connection with the local observance of the 50th. anniversary of the Ford Motor Company of Canada.

Still in excellent operating condition the old model Ford, was brought here by truck and was wheeled into the local showrooms "on its own power". It is expected the old model car will take part in the Trenton Centennial later this month.

The car provides quite a contrast to the present day models on display in the same showroom. The old open touring car is in every sense "open". Setting a precedent for present day flashy convertibles, the roof of the old vehicle is neatly folded back and the front and doors are conspicuous by their absence. The doors weren't taken off — the car was built that way.

The brass of the radiator shell and the carbide lights get a regular shining by the proud owner of the old Model T, who wants to keep the car in his family until it is 100 years old. Mr. Butters has a five-year-son who he hopes will take the same loving care of the old vehicle. The original 1908 front licence plate, made of rubber, is still affixed to the car.

Reproductions of pictures of the first car Henry Ford made back in 1896, lend further atmosphere to the Riggs' showroom for the 50th. anniversary of the founding of the Ford Motor Company. The old car will be at Riggs' for another week.

SARNIA MAN HURT

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—David Mish, of 257 Vidal street north, Sarnia, received bad cuts and bruises to his face in a traffic accident on Dundas street east late Tuesday night.

He was rushed to Victoria hospital by ambulance.

Police said Mish's head was knocked through the windshield when the car in which he was riding was in collision with another.

Dewar Declines To Contest Seat

WOLSELEY, Sask. (CP)—Henry Mang, a farmer in the Edenwold district, a former member of the legislature, Tuesday night was nominated Liberal candidate to contest Qu'Appelle-Wolseley in the Aug. 10 federal election after Austin Dewar, former Liberal member for Qu'Appelle, who resigned his Commons seat in May, hailed proceedings to say that his name be withdrawn.

Mr. Mang defeated two other nominees, F. M. Dundas of Sintaluta, a former M.L.A. and Thomas Kearns, editor of a weekly newspaper at Kipling.

Mr. Dewar resigned his seat in the House when a Toronto newspaper linked his name with Harvey Luman, Regina contractor, in a matter that involved an exchange of cheques between the two men. Mr. Dewar said his actions were innocent at all times in the sense that he was simply giving the contractor, a friend, some financial help.

The Luman firm has had a number of government contracts.

Resolution Calls For Tolerance

HAMILTON (CP) — Baptists from Ontario and Quebec will consider a resolution calling for repudiation of "intolerance" in Quebec towards Protestant groups.

Meeting at the group's 65th. annual convention, some 600 pastors and laymen will hear the resolution, one of 10 to be moved at the sessions in McMaster University's Convocation Hall.

The resolution urged Baptists to use "all their resources to challenge the religious intolerance practised from time to time in the province of Quebec toward various Protestant groups.

In Ontario, signs pointed to a united stand against liquor and Sunday sports by the Baptist and United Churches.

LIVING COSTS DROP

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The government announced today that President Peron's drive against food profiteering has brought the cost of living in Buenos Aires to the lowest level in a year. It said the cost-of-living index, which reached 719 in February in comparison with the base or normal figure of 100 in 1943, dropped to 626 last month.

COMMUNISTS ARE DIVIDED

"Never again will we trust the Russians 100 per cent." Who said that. This is a Communist. The believers in Communism as an economic system are no more united than are the believers in private enterprise. Nor are the splitter groups into which the Reds are split any less numerous than the political parties pledged to the support of free enterprise in our own Canada.

Titoists, of course, are comparative new-comers to the treacherous strife among Communists. In the jargon of dialectical materialism they would be known as right deviationists. They now represent the strongest challenge to orthodoxy, but before the war it was the left deviationists, the Trotskyites, who gave the Stalinists the most violent pangs of heebejeebies.

We might make a case today for the theory that the Stalinist will shortly find himself a heretic, for there are some rather pronounced signs that Malenkov is moving to the right, particularly as regards self-determination in the member republics of the Soviet Union. And, of course, Titoist, Stalinist, Trotskyite or Malenkovite, all will claim that they are the only true Leninists.

Straightening out this jumble for those who have had neither the time nor the inclination to delve into the mysteries of Marxian politics, we might explain that Stalin maintained that the establishment of Communism in a single nation, Russia, was a necessary prerequisite for the eventual triumph of Communism throughout the world. Trotsky disagreed violently, holding that there was no hope of establishing a stable Communist regime in Russia as long as capitalism flourished in other countries of the world. Trotsky argued that to conquer the whole world Communism it all at once. Stalin, of course, exiled him—and events would appear to have proved that Stalin was correct in his estimate that Communism could be firmly established in one land while the rest of the world remained capitalistic.

But, if Stalin was prepared to move slowly, there was never any question that he did not envision a Communist world as one ruled from the centre. Here is where Tito differs. His dream appears to be a world where nations shall adopt the Communist system but remain at least sovereign and independent as are the nations of the capitalist world. Such an idea shocked and horrified Stalin. There is little doubt that it would also have horrified Lenin.

And yet, the founder of modern Communism, repeatedly placed himself on record as favoring self-determination of national groups in a Socialist state. In the minimum of national groups in a Socialist state. In the middle east between the independent Communist states of Tito and the centralism of Stalin that Malenkov may be settling out to tread.

If any person thinks that Communist factions do not take their internal quarrels seriously, he knows little of the Reds' talent for invective. Sometimes funny incidents result. There was, for instance, the occasion shortly after the conclusion of the Second Great War when Willson Woodside, then literary editor of "Saturday Night," lavished high praise on a book denouncing Tito and supporting Mikhailovic. Anyone who knew the identity and political views of the author hiding behind a pen-name couldn't help wondering whether Woodside would have been quite so enthusiastic had he been aware that the author's enthusiasm for Mikhailovic did not stem from any deep devotion to the principles of free enterprise but rather from his affectionate hate of a Stalinist—which Tito then was and now is not.

BANISHING THE BLUES

Most of us will probably be surprised to learn that colors are really important to us—particularly if we are males.

We talk about suffering from the blues, being in a black mood, painting the town red and feeling in the pink of condition. But we don't believe our own chatter.

Johns Hopkins University psychologists have now proved that we are more influenced than we think. Experiments have shown that school children receiving their instruction in rooms painted in accordance with "the principles of color dynamics" perform better work than those pupils studying in conventionally painted rooms. As for a school in need of redecorating, it is practically a dunce's home.

This is not to say that psychologists have found the great-est response to color dynamics was found amongst kindergarten children. Color seems to mean most to the young.

Women will probably be surprised to learn that boys showed greater color response than girls. Men, on the other hand, will be quick to accept this finding, having noted in themselves their remarkably quick color response to a new paint job—whether it be on the dented fender of the family charlot or on the lips of that little blonde in the next block.

DON'T THEY REMEMBER THE DEPRESSION?

The Population Reference Bureau pants with excitement as it announces that "women who graduated from college during the war ten years already have had more babies than the Betty Co-eds of 1928."

Of course, the low birthrate in families where the parents are college-educated has long been a cause for concern. However, we fail to become excited when we learn that the class of 1943 had an average of 1.30 babies, while their sisters of 1928 had only 1.24 babies each.

This is not necessarily an earth-shaking reversal of an alarming trend towards small families in intellectual circles.

We can think of a simple explanation for that extra .06 baby per woman; the depression of the thirties — and the prosperous times of the past decade.

You may do it if you try.
But if you don't Letting time and chance go by,
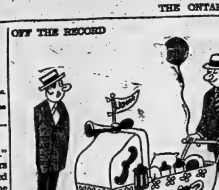
Certainly you won't.



Stop with, "Nothing more to learn,"
Nothing more you'll know.

Just what effort you will make,
You've the one to choose.
One step more refuse to take,
Where you stop you'll stay.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL DOUGLASS

A PERPLEXING PROBLEM

One of the things to understand about decisions is how they are made. Some months ago I spoke of Richard Wagner, who as a man was unreliable and erratic, but as a gifted interpreter of the very highest, he shamed Liszt. Richard Bacon is another example of an evil man who performed a splendid service. He was a great deal today about research. Francis Bacon was the father of the scientific method upon which all research is based. He could be paralleled by Betrayed Essex, the nobleman whose kindness put Bacon in debt. But Francis Bacon, England's greatest lawyer, could not judicially decisions until he was driven from office and fined an amount of money which staggers even the modern financial mind. Bacon was an unworthy detestable person, yet he was the author of a system of scientific research which these generations has blessed mankind.

Evil men sometimes do good in spite of their evil and good men are sometimes mistaken and ally themselves with evil projects. We have to judge a man and his work separately. We dare not condemn an evil man because his work is good, nor condemn a good man because the man himself was evil.

We are all a mixture of good and evil and should abstain from judging one another.

Hails Return Of Red Men

(Vancouver Sun)

A small item tucked away in the inside pages of the newspapers tells us that Canada's Indian population has increased by 10,000 since the last Indian census three years ago. The Indian population of the realm now stands at 160,000, according to figures in British Columbia.

This is an indication that the real native sons of Canada — now more conscious of their rights than ever — are continuing to be a greater force to be reckoned with in the future.

It's interesting to note that in the United States the 334,000 native Indians constitute one person in 685 of the total population of approximately 155 million, while Canada's Indians constitute one in 1,000 of the Dominion's total of 15 million.

The point is them in a decided minority still. Yet with native Indians encouraged to exercise the right to vote — and elections getting more complicated — they could be important to politicians.

The department of Indian Affairs deserves credit for the rise in population since the Indians are still its wards. Only a few years ago the number of Indians were dwindling and it was being predicted that they would die out in measurable time. But if they can gain 10,000, which is better than seven per cent, in three years, what will their numbers be in 40 years?

Keeping Cool

(Times Magazine)

In San Francisco, Edward Delache, resolutely keeping cool after crashing his automobile into one parked car and careening into another, nonchalantly lighted a cigaret, then flipped it into a pool of gasoline, which flamed and set fire to one of the three vehicles as well as two other cars.

Mechanic Trouble

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

Sometimes there is more the matter with the mechanic than with the auto he is trying to repair.

They Smuggle Cigarettes

(By Frederic Sondern In Parade Magazine)

Millions of Europeans, during the recent years of war and occupation, have acquired a taste for American cigarettes. But their various governments have profitable tobacco monopolies and import prohibitive excise taxes on imported brands.

As a result, approximately 30 million dollars' worth of U.S. cigarettes will be smuggled this year into Italy, France and Spain.

This huge and highly organized business, which Americans play an important part, has attracted some of the most energetic and resourceful bedmen of three continents. The Marseilles "Gangsters" are the Western Mediterranean between the sports of Tangier, Gibraltar and Marseilles is known-gun battles on the high seas, piracy, murder and every kind of skullduggery are matters of course in a well conflict with the law.

Now ruled by an inefficient combination of eight nations, including the United States, Tangier harbors one of the greatest concentrations of international spies in the world. Its small port is crowded with the dark faces of Arabs, Britons, Africans, Dutch and other flags. This is the Tangier smuggling fleet, available for hire to any who can pay its right.

Not far from Tangier's waters front in modern office buildings are the luxurious offices of the smuggling kings. An unofficial but tightly organized cigarette smugglers association.

Two big firms control the field. One of them rents out to its clients five thousand cases of cigarettes in New York and resell them to brokers in Tangier.

Since all exports of American cigarettes to Europe must be approved by the U.S. Consulate General, the broker must have a permit which is accurate enough except that the destination—usually listed as Gibraltar or Turkey—is fictitious. But since cigarettes are not contraband in the U.S., it is not the Consulate's business to check on where they are actually going.

Each "broker" has his smuggler captain or pilot, usually a Spaniard, Italian or Portuguese, who usually salts of every nationality.

Behind the violent captains and their crews are the shrewd brains of the Tangier brokers. The operation of one Rome distributor is typical:

"Fishing boats" meet his runners off the Italian 12-mile limit and transport the contraband to a beach not far from Rome. There it is transferred to trucks, farm carts or automobiles. The gangs usually have ingeniously constructed hiding places under floor-boards, false gas tanks and hollow tops.

The Guardia di Finanza (finances police) watch the beaches like hawks, where they know smuggling is going on. They've shrewd at discovering these dodges. But when they find one another is invented.

From the beach, the contraband is taken to secret warehouses—caves, ruined hovels, abandoned barns with concealed entrances to cobwebbed cellars. From there on, smaller lots of cigarettes are brought into Rome, usually by truck.

Here another staff takes over to distribute them in 10 and 20-carton lots to the barbers, barmen, street vendors, hotel porters and others with whom the vast army of final retailers.

The economics of smuggling American cigarettes into France and Italy allows attractive profits. The U.S. price original importer in Tangier pays a wholesale price of 10 cents a pack. By the time it's gone through the hands of the broker, the captain, the British, the retailer sells the package for 40 cents. The official price is 60 cents. Available in Tangier for 10 cents per pack.

On shore, the revenue agent is supported by the carabinieri, battle and lenient courts. He operates in addition to the big smugglers those who drive Cadillacs, and he may not use firearms unless his life is in immediate danger.

A smuggler when caught rarely gets more than a three months' jail. Some 30,000 illegal cigarette packets, and a thousand smugglers, are arrested last year, and 134 tons of cigarettes were confiscated. Such figures, however, have made little impression on the industry. During recent months the whole business has been changing. Both the smugglers and the authorities alike are streamlining their organizations, and their procedures have become more violent and efficient. The Guardia di Finanza is getting nothing and paying out months at a delightful island retreat in Nova Scotia, and Halifax's quiet quiet, stimulating suggestions from the lap of Nature. And inside between the instant idea and thought. Call those hours between Klis once—but they are not! They are full of the fruits of hope, happiness and potent seedlings.

I have a dream about Walt Whitman in my library. It is called "The Magnificent Men." People who used to make a strange looking person seated next to them on the Fifth Avenue bus in New York never suspected they were looking upon one of the great poets of America, for Walt Whitman, no matter where he might be, was always thinking. Even standing in those so-called idle hours, or those between actual writing periods. Walt, the discoverer of gravitation, was idling when he got the idea that the sun was the good earth, the apple fell near him started him to thinking. Thus was born a new idea in the world! The hours between are often made the most useful of all our hours—if we think in them.

Vacations are investments, both for the employer and employee. They're reward days and nights which the mind is given a new perspective.

Britons Seek Canadiana

(Hamilton Spectator)

In a lovely English village, within sight of the sea on which world wars, a disabled Canadian naval officer is busy these days collecting Canadiana. He has found that the historic relics of his own country are, apparently, more appreciated outside its borders than within. He buys them and that pictures and prints of old Canada to satisfy the demand from dealers in Britain.

Few will question the value of preserving a national pride is history. It is the men of yesterday who have built the Canada of today. These men were more than shadowy figures against between the covers of school books, for history is made by living men and women and their ambitions effort, their ideals and also their failings, as well as their Canadian story.

Surprisingly much has been done in recent years by the government, societies and individuals in Canada's history, the past still remains a fruitful field for study worthy of consideration.

It is to be regretted the past that we can foresee, however dimly, or partially, the future. Even Winston Churchill recently. It is because this shrewd old statesman has a clear insight of history and recognizes that it is a powerful intermingling of forces within a nation that make it, that he understands so well the contributions of other countries.

The absent Canadian commented that it was his experience that many foreigners were interested only in the Canada of today and that all the romance and glamour of the nation's early struggle were as naught.

While this is a sweeping statement, it has, nevertheless, some sort of truth. Canadian history, compared with the older countries, may seem a bit of an exciting story. It needs to be illuminated, to be brought and taught into the present; here worship in the past, with a consequent emotion and when it is centred on the men and women who have made Canada's glorious patriotic pride.

The time has gone when persons interested in his country's history could be regarded as "old fashioned" or antiquated, or, perhaps, reckless. There can be no national pride in the present without a corresponding pride in the past. History is the lamp that lights the way; Canada has nothing to fear from the exposure, yet she suffers loss of prestige when one of her sons discovers that her historic relics are more appreciated in foreign lands than they are at home.

Exams Hard On Parents

(Oshawa Daily Times Gazette)

Examinations presumably are given to test pupils. But they test parents as well.

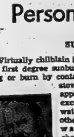
It is the parents who have to listen while the pupils declare they have studied as much as they are going to fail. It is they who have to summon up every energy to assuring the pupils the examinations will be all right, as well as pupils imagine, only to be told they are 100 per cent wrong. It is the beliefs of parents that the iniquities of teachers who are to give grim verdicts, examinations that have not been taken up in class and about numerous other things invented by them.

It is the parents who must try to soothe the pupils when their teachers take special pleasure in failing particular pupils, and their actions have indicated that they are now prepared to do their worst.

It is the parents who must struggle to keep up their pupils' food and sit up until all hours cramming and still get them early enough to bed and get a good night's rest so that their brains will be clear in the morning.

It is they who must try in vain to tell our young people that they are assuring them they are going to pass and insisting that examinations are not everything, and all will not be lost if they fail.

It is they who must resign themselves to passing through this period at least twice a year, the time their child reaches examination age until their last child is beyond it.



Concepts like the Marshall Plan, the Truman doctrine and the containment policy outlined by Secretary Dulles to combat the Russians in another crucial period and rallied the Western nations to the defence of freedom, this kind of clear and imaginative thinking, which springs from the resiliency and resourcefulness of free men's minds, is needed again in the shaping of American policy.

stove or from prolonged exposure to excessively hot water bottle or other artificial warmth. The characteristic manifestations of each and all of these conditions are redening of the skin, irritation, in some instances formation of small blisters. First there is numbness and tingling, then perhaps itching and burning pain.

Various good medicinal authorities, not including the doddering old grey-beard combine chilblains and sunburn in the same columns. Assert that persons with calcium deficiency are more susceptible to chilblains than persons with normal nutrition.

To prevent chilblains, avoid over a hot stove, radiator or open fire. It is better to take tepid or cool baths and rub and warm up by rubbing with a coarse turkish towel.

If chilblain is congested paint the affected skin with a solution of a dram (teaspoonful) of iodine in an ounce of col-lodion. This gives immediate comfort and relief.

If chilblain, frostbite, scald or burn blisters or if the skin is burst it must be cared for as though it were an operative wound, in order to prevent an infection and delayed healing.

Only sterile (germ free) bandages, ointments, dressing or medicament should touch the wound or raw spot. If any salve, ointment or balm is to be applied it should be squeezed on from a collapsible tube, not dipped out of an open container.

Once such dressing or medicament is applied, keep the wound or raw place protected with a sterile bandage or other cover and do not disturb it again for a week unless infection becomes apparent by swelling, discharge — in which event of course the dressing or covering must be removed and the wound made surgically clean again—by washing, irrigation if necessary, disinfecting.

Any one subject to chilblains or frost bite should go barefoot as much as possible. But, on the other hand, any one subject to chilblains or frost bite of the feet — or to— oh, well, we may as well come right out with it—any one with feet should go barefoot as much as possible.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE TIME BETWEEN

Each day of our lives we have to fill the time between with productive work. These hours can be made to be the most significant ones! A French scientist by the name of Fenlo once stated that fully half the work of the creative ideas of scientists came to them in their leisure hours, not while engaged in their work.

Early in the years of my business life I did a great deal of traveling. I always had a little notebook in my pocket, and as I looked out of the car window or listened to talk by those in the car, ideas would come to them. I jotted them down for later translation into articles for newspapers, which was my business. Many an idea thus became known to millions of readers.

Each year, for nearly a quarter of a century, I have spent two months at a delightful island retreat in Nova Scotia, and I utilized that quiet, stimulating suggestions from the lap of Nature. And inside between the instant idea and thought. Call those hours between Klis once—but they are not! They are full of the fruits of hope, happiness and potent seedlings.

I have a dream about Walt Whitman in my library. It is called "The Magnificent Men." People who used to make a strange looking person seated next to them on the Fifth Avenue bus in New York never suspected they were looking upon one of the great poets of America, for Walt Whitman, no matter where he might be, was always thinking. Even standing in those so-called idle hours, or those between actual writing periods. Walt, the discoverer of gravitation, was idling when he got the idea that the sun was the good earth, the apple fell near him started him to thinking. Thus was born a new idea in the world! The hours between are often made the most useful of all our hours—if we think in them.

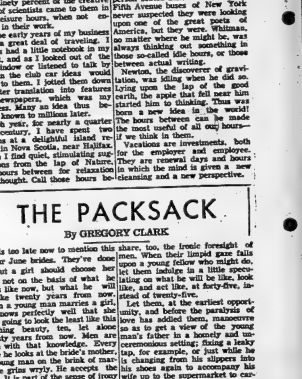
Vacations are investments, both for the employer and employee. They're reward days and nights which the mind is given a new perspective.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It is too late now to mention this to our June brides. They've doubtless by this time settled down to man not on the basis of what he looks like now, but what he will look like twenty years from now. When a young man marries a girl, he knows perfectly well that he isn't going to look the least like this blushing beauty, he'll look like twenty years from now. Men are born with that knowledge. Every boy knows that his father was once a young man on the brink of marriage grim worry. It's the business of a girl. It is part of the sense of irony all males possess as a natural gift.

But girls lack this philosophic sense. Every woman's mother and father can be a regular gargoyle. But the girl can't even believe that the small ever decay into such a potbellied, sway-backed, adipose creature. Even on the instant when the vision of the poor deluded girl's life is thrown, the bride's mother is always the mother of the bride. But to the bride, the groom's father is a formality.



A girl can still be beautiful twenty years from now. What happens to a young man in twenty years is still our girls begin assuming their full rights. It is not enough to have the vote and be able to sit on juries. Let them look sharp, too, the ironic foresight of the Creator. When limpid gaze fails upon a young fellow who might do, they should be able to read his destiny in what he will be like, look like, and act like, at forty-five, in the most unofficial way.

Let them, at the earliest opportunity, call for the psychiatrist of love has addled them, manoeuvre him into a chair and by using a man's father in a homely and unceremonious setting; fixing a long tap, for example, so that while he is changing from his slippers into his shoes again to accompany his wife up to the supermarket to carry the groceries, the perceptive prospecting bride see her young man's uncles, on both his father's and his mother's side. Then she will have an inkling of what to expect when he is dressed.

Traffic Signals

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

There are too many rear-end collisions everywhere, and in our view, based on personal experience, it is often the driver whose car has been run into who should be required to offer a reasonable explanation. There is far too much negligence in regard to signals.

Public Relations Subject of Talk At Kiwanis Club

"If you are happy inside you have no personal public relations problem," stated Sam Fletcher, director of the Fletcher Institute of Public Relations and Salesmanship, London, Ontario, in a dynamic address to the Tuesday noon meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

The speaker noted that public relations can be divided into two different types, commercial and personal, but that both kinds are public only as long as the "a" and the "i" are integral parts of the system.

"When the individual is right, when the staff is right, when one's home associations and his associates are right, there is no public relations problem. Good relations between people in a firm are vital to good relations with the buying public."

"Ads deliver people to your business door," the speaker said, "but what they buy, how much they buy, and whether they will return, depend on the treatment they receive. The attitude of the salesman and his thinking, are more important than his appliance."

Stresses Cordiality

In stressing the attitudes essential to the success of any business Mr. Fletcher stressed cordiality above courtesy, because cordiality is the spirit of the law, while courtesy is merely the letter of the law.

"There are too many go-getters in business today," the speaker said, and not enough go-givers. Go-givers are people who give of themselves, their time, and their energies, without thought of reward.

"When you are thinking of what you will get in return for what you give, you are not giving at all, you are striking a bargain," Mr. Fletcher stated.

"Live and let live is not enough. Live and help live is the goal to aim at. We must put something into the lives of others. It is still true that the more you put into something the more you get out of it in personal satisfaction."

Made Plea for Tolerance

"Our life is what our thoughts make it," said Mr. Fletcher in stressing the importance of the individual's control over himself and his environment.

"What we think, we are. We are not always what we think we are. The power to think as we wish to think is the only power over which we have absolute control," said the speaker.

"We can think positively about things. Too many think negatively."

Mr. Fletcher made a plea for tolerance of others, stating that tolerance was the great need of men and nations today. The golden rule, "do unto others as you would have them do unto you" is a basic lesson we dare not forget.

"Successful public relations and successful living is the practice of the golden rule. Frustrations, fears, and intolerance will not be resolved by force of arms, or in the economic sphere, but only in the minds, souls, and hearts of men. It is everyone's responsibility to rebuild the world torn asunder by intolerance and ignorance."

The speaker was introduced by L. A. Kells, and the thanks of the club were expressed by Harold Carruthers.

It was announced that all Kiwanians were to have their blood typed in the future, with a permanent record of the type to be kept by the club.

Kiwanians Milt Davidson and Ray Grant were presented with a red rose of achievement for donating blood in an emergency last week.

It was announced that the Kiwanis Club would undertake to assist persons at the Old Folks Home to attend the Thursday presentation of the Coronation film at the Belle Theatre.

Charges were preferred two weeks ago when an anti-gambling squad from Toronto in cooperation with the Trenton Police Force cracked down on the storekeepers.

Those paying the penalty included Donald Bell, $100, Albert Fisher, $100, Harriett Cooper, $100, Kenneth Hartman, $100, Harry F. McDermott, $100, Douglas A. Miles, $50, Edith Hamilton $100, Helen Hartman, $50.

Woman Injured

One woman was injured while four of her friends suffered a severe shaking when the car in which they were riding rolled backwards down a steep grade on Meyers Street last night crashing into a high sidewalk and round over on its side.

Mrs. Grace Dawson a passenger sustained shoulder injuries which needed treatment at the Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Driver of the car Mrs. Dorothy Potter 36, of 43 N. Murray street, stopped at the intersection of Meyers and Marmora streets. There were no brakes when the car and its passengers started moving backwards. The uncontrolable vehicle crossed to the south side of Meyers street crashing the sidewalk in front of D. V. Howard's house. Mrs. Dawson was crushed when the car turned over on its side. Other passengers affected were: Mrs. Steve Bowden, Mrs. Don Bennett, Sidney street and Mrs. Dan Bennett, West street.

Police estimated the damage to the car at $300 and figured it would cost $25 to repair the broken sidewalk.

Three Men Upset Boat in River But Reach Shore

TRENTON (Special) — Three men upset in the Trent River by the high railway bridge causing a great deal of excitement before they finally reached shore little the worse for their experience.

Their cries for help attracted scores of people, firemen issued by with rescue apparatus, while the local police stood on the shore ready to assist.

An eager, hero, young Sam Crosby, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Crosby, Front Street, peeled off his clothes to his bathing suit and jumped in. He was walking home along the street when he was prompted to make the decision. He missed the men, who had reached shore safely but arrived in time to help tow the upturned boat to land.

Apparently the trio had trouble steering the overturned boat because an eyewitness reported that outboard was veering and lipping before it capsized.

John Graham, Toronto; Tom Carswell, Nanaimo and John Dillon, of Curtiss, swam to shore while the upturned boat floated on down with the current causing an observer on the bank to sound the alarm.

Boxers Busy

Zigman boxers are in heavy training these days preparing for a one hour and a half show in the Trades and Labor Council taking an active part in the extensive preparations for the Centennial festival. Strings of pennants shields and Union Jacks appeared overnight adding to the enthusiasm dominating Trenton these days.

West Germany Cabinet Called To Discuss Riots

BONN (Reuters)—Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor, today called an emergency cabinet meeting to discuss the strikes and demonstrations in East Berlin.

A West German government spokesman today said the Berlin riot is proof of "unbearable" conditions and the "inhuman and bankrupt Communist system" in East Germany.

The demonstrations should cause the real rulers of the Soviet zone to open the way to free all-German elections and to a lasting peace in Europe and the world," said the statement.

The General-Adreiger suggested that the demonstrations had been instigated by the Communists themselves but find got out of control.

The West Deutsche Presse said the riot is "simply the cry of an animal that has been kicked about."

The paper said the demonstrations showed the urgency for reunification of Germany.

Says 'Pub' System Is Not Always Suited to Canada

VANCOUVER (CP)—The "pub" system of British is not always suitable in Canada, Dalton J. Caswell of Sundridge, Ont., board chairman of the Hotel Association of Canada, said Tuesday.

Addressing delegates to the association's annual convention here, Mr. Caswell said public houses or taverns "haven't worked out."

"The owner of the public house has no obligation to his customer other than to sell beer. His hours of sale are limited and he consequently operates on a smaller staff, spends less on decoration and improving standard of service.

Mr. Caswell said experience has proved that hotels are the "most logical place" to have lounges.

"Hand in hand with the lounges go improved service and a better atmosphere for the social drink."

QUEBEC (CP)—Fire of unknown origin Tuesday destroyed 3,500 tons of newsprint destined for the west coast of the United States in a blaze that caused damage estimated at more than $400,000.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Graduation Day at Ontario School For Deaf Interesting, Colorful

Yesterday was "Graduation Day" at the Ontario School for the Deaf; a perfect day with its sunshine and cloudless skies — happy omens of the days that lay ahead for the 13 sweet girl graduates in their dainty graduation frocks who had reached the climax of many years of hard work, which is the version of the poet, an archway, "through which glosses that untravelled world whose margin fades forever and forever as we approach." It was an occasion intermingled with happiness and sadness, happiness because they recognized what had been accomplished, and sadness because of leaving the dear, old 'Alma Mater', their comrades in studies and the teachers whom they had learned to love. But the same poet also said, "The old order changeth, and God fulfills Himself in many ways..." and this was one of the "ways."

Certificates, Grads, Awards

Baskets of pink peonies, variecolored iris and English honey suckle arranged on the platform flanking the table bearing the trophies won, the certificates and the credits and the grad gifts. Soon the whole assembly hall was filled to overflowing with students, parents and friends, and then the musicians unconsciously made the graduates, in their white dresses and red and white shoulder corsages, and the young man with his natty suit and white boutonniere, preceded by the school staff, slowly wended their way down the aisle, the light to be lighted by the graduates to the front row of seats.

Following the singing of "O Canada," with Mr. S. Alec Gordon at the piano, Mr. J. G. Demeza, superintendent of the school, extended a cordial welcome to the many parents, friends, teachers and girls who had assembled for this momentous occasion, also adding a special welcome to those who had been associated with him during part of the year, in W. H. Morrison, former superintendent; Mrs. Morrison, Mr. Lally, former superintendent; to Mr. Lally, managing director of the Department of the Deaf, and to Mr. Parker, who places the students, on graduation, in vocational employment.

After the program, the usual flash pictures of the departing graduates were taken in groups, as a whole, and singly, amid smiles and good-byes, handclasps and moist eyes. As the school 'bus' pulled out, queues were seen standing, having a last look before setting forth with parents for distant parts, and a new life, for which they had been so well coached.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

She's tired of living with her in-laws.

"I have been married over two years, and all that time my husband and I have been living with his family," writes a girl in this many another in a similar situation, has reached the point of desperation.

She then goes on:

"My husband is a wonderful fellow, and we get along just fine except for the fact that I detest a house of our own, where we can be by ourselves, and he doesn't. He keeps saying we will get one soon, but I have begun to think that he just doesn't want to leave his mother, by whom he has always been very attached.

"I would go and get an apartment myself if I thought he would come. My friends say he will, but I am not so sure. You see, once I did go out and find an apartment and he didn't we would just put a deposit on it until he talked it over with his mother. So she talked him out of it. For the past couple of months I have been telling him I was going to get us a place, and he says all right, but not to go and look on it until he has seen it. I think he just says that so I won't bother him about it any more. Anything else I want is always left me have, but I am beginning to think that unless I do something about it myself, we are just going to go on living with his family forever.

"I want to do the right thing and be a good wife, but, living as we do, it seems impossible. I know we would be much happier if we had our own home, and I have been thinking that if he keeps on putting it off, and won't take an apartment even if I find one, I might get a furnished place for myself.

"What do you think about this?"

Of course this wife and her husband ought to have a home of their own, and I would say that she is quite right in her surmise that if in her husband's attachment to his mother that is standing in the way, he may wake up to high time for action on her part.

She has put up with the situation for over two year now, and I think she should bring matters to a head, and insist that her husband decide whether he wishes to be a real husband or a mama's boy.

My thought would be that she should either tell him, as pleasantly as possible but still very definitely, that the time has come when he must do just this, or else she should go at it in the way she herself has suggested and get a place to which she could move. Then if her husband still not agree to go there, she would be all to herself, get the furnished place she mentions if, as I assume she means, she is not in a position to furnish an apartment by herself at the start. If worst comes to worst, she could probably get herself some kind of job and eventually set up her own place.

But she must make up her mind very firmly before she either says or does anything at all, for unless she really intends to go through with whatever she says or does, it would be better to remain silent. To start something and not to finish it would be fatal, because it would so weaken her position; her husband would never again take her seriously. Her only hope is to make him see that she means exactly what she says.

If he actually is the "wonderful fellow" she declares him to be, she may "get along just fine" in every way but this one. It hardly seems likely that he would hold out against her decision indefinitely. It's perfectly possible that she has never been firm enough about the whole thing to make him understand how deeply she feels about it. Now is the time to do just that.

Boiled Pickled Tongue

Quick-cooked Cabbage Wedges

Parsleyed New Potatoes

Rabbit Food Salad

Kay's Mother's Dessert Coffee

Directions

The dessert for today's little banquet is one that Kay's mother used to make when they were all at home and guests were coming for dinner. You will never find this in a cookbook and you will find it delicious—perched for you some select and discriminating tasters.

The boiled tongue is pickled. Try to choose one weighing at least 2 lbs. (preferably 5 lbs.) to obtain the best value for your money. A pickled tongue is an economical buy.

Bring the tongue to boiling in unsalted water to cover. Reduce heat to simmer and cook gently for 3 1-4 hours or until tongue is tender. One hour at 12 to 15 lbs. pressure is sufficient if tongue is cooked in pressure cooker.

When ready to serve place the tongue on the platter on its side, and slice down the length of the tongue. If you have a large ox tongue you will notice the fine webbing of creamy fat at the centre, which makes the meat tender and delicious.

Note to Economizer: Save the liquid in which you boiled the tongue for two things: the rabio sauce (see below) and for making soup. It will be very salty so do not add salt when you make your vegetable soup until you have tasted it.

Raisin Sauce

Mix together 2 tablespoons cornstarch and 1 tablespoon sugar and 1-8 teaspoon paprika. Stir into them 2 cups hot liquid from cooking the tongue. (Water may be used if this sauce is to be used for another purpose.) Stir until thick. Add 6 tablespoons raisins and cook over boiling water, covered, for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add 1 1-3 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar, and serve hot. This is delicious with boiled or baked ham or pickled shoulder.

Rabbit Food Salad

One-half head lettuce coarsely chopped, 1-4 cup each chopped or sliced cucumber with skin on, green pepper, celery, parsley, 1 coarsely cut tomato. If you have peppercress or chives in the garden add some of them too. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing. If you would like to extend this we think 1 cup of finely shredded cabbage is a delicious addition.

Kay's Mother's Dessert
Baked Chocolate Pudding

One-quarter cup butter and shortening (Kay says make this scant, and that it is tenderer than when full butter); 1-2 cup brown sugar, 3-4 cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons cocoa, 1 cup cake flour. Kay did not give directions for mixing but you know as well as I that you cream the sugar and shortening; sift the flour, baking powder, cocoa, and salt together; add to the sugar alternately with the milk. Bake in a greased loaf pan at between 325 and 350 degrees F. deg. Rahr. "until when you poke it with a finger it is done."

Sauce

(This is the very special part.) Separate the whites from the yolks of 2 eggs. Beat the yolks with 1-3 cup sugar until good and stiff—add a little more sugar, Kay says, if not stiff enough. Beat whites until stiff and fold in. Chill until thoroughly cold. Spoon on this lovely creamy sauce over the cake-pudding at table—by cold.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. BEECHAM

Bride-to-be — and thank-you notes.

Great excitement — when your wedding presents arrive! Wonderful expressions of friendship, of devotion, of loving and generous interest in you and your happiness. Your family, your relatives, and your friends, and your fiancé's family, his relatives and his friends have all opened and thought and time, devoted planning, to offer you more money than they could afford, on their wedding day, to you.

Surely such charming gestures deserve high-hearted gratitude. And this is the right attitude of the, right-thinking bride-to-be. She doesn't take her wedding presents for granted. She isn't casual in her point of view toward such thoughtfulness and kindness. She does not write short-measure notes.

There's a world of difference between the notes that merely "acknowledge" a wedding present, and the notes that really "thank" for a wedding present! The notes that simply "acknowledge" a present are too general, so perfunctory that we are chilled by the bleak notes that receive no assurance that our present was welcomed, really appreciated. And it's a sad, sad fact that the remembrance of such superficial notes stay long in the thoughts, a dull, tepid, unattractive memory. Such flat notes — what a waster opportunity.

Here are some hints for your thank-you notes:

1. Write your thank-you notes promptly — the day the present arrives, if you possibly can. When you feel opened them your enthusiasm and appreciation are fresh—and as it will be easier to write enthusiastic notes. Naturally there's a special glow about a thank-you note written immediately after the gift has been received. Let your words captive that glow!

2 Use your very best letter-paper or note-paper, as fine quality as you can afford. (The bride who sends a ready-made thank-you card shows the low level of taste she does not deserve to receive a wedding present.)

Note of Thanks

3 Your note of thanks need not be long—but it should be warm-hearted, gracious. Imagine you are chatting with the giver. Let your "tone of voice" and into your words.

4 Get off to a good start by being your thanks for the thought behind the gift. A charming prologue might be, "How very kind and generous you are and how I love it!" Or, "How thoughtful you were to remember me so happy!"

5 Then mention the gift specifically. If you refer to it vaguely as "your gift" or even "your beautiful gift", thus giving the impression that you don't really remember what it was.

6 Naturally, the most welcome and endearing thank-you note of all makes the giver feel that her or his gift is "just the right one." "Bob and I wanted so very much to have a pair of crystal candlesticks to shed light on our dining table, but never even thought our dream would come true so soon and so perfectly as you and Bill have made it come true!"

Enthusiastic comments about special features of the gift can be the crowning of your thank-you note. "Such charming color in the pair of vases you sent us, such graceful design — perfect for our living room. We are enchanted with them!" Or "The blanket you sent is so bright indeed with the sunny yellow border — it's just like sunlight!" You sent us a master-piece—and as practical for us, too, since we aren't to have a sitting room. We're sending our deep and high thanks now — and we'll be thanking you every time we use the teacups!"

7 Sign your notes with your name always—in the body of your notes include your grooms-to-be's appreciation and enthusiasm for the gifts.

These notes you write on this important occasion of your life are golden links in the chain of old friendships, and also they are revealing introductions of you and the quality of you to many new friends, relatives and friends of your bridegroom.

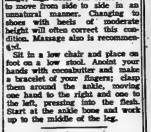
BEAUTY

Ankles, Trim And Slender



When excess fat begins to settle around one's ankles, it is positively the last call for starting a reducing campaign. As a rule, fat cells appear on the waist and hips before they take up residence on the extremities, so that, in the majority of cases, adipose tissue has gained a good start before one notices that decorative ankles have become bulky. Of course, it should be remembered that the girth of the ankles depends primarily upon the bony structure within. The girl with a large frame can never acquire the slimness that naturally belongs to the small boned type. Sometimes the thin girls do not qualify either, because a really beautiful ankle must have sufficient flesh on it to veil the angular lines of the joint. Also, the string-bean figure hasn't perfectly developed calves to form a contrast and create pleasing contour.

There are normalizing exercises that are beneficial to the fat and the lean. Your count of walking on tip-toe, for one thing. This practice strengthens the muscles extending from the foot to the knee. Fat cells are distributed, thus giving aid to the plumpie in her efforts to remodel her legs. With better developed muscles, the thin girl fills out the calves.

Sit in a low chair and place the feet flat on the floor. Then lift the heels slowly, pressing down hard with the toes. Keep going higher and higher. Then lower the heels slowly, sending the toes forward slightly. There will be a hard muscle pull on the ankles and calves of the legs. Make the fibers work like every thing.

Weak ankles are a common trouble, often caused by wearing high heels. The ankle is a one-way hinge; high heels can cause them to move from side to side in an unnatural manner. Changing to shoes with heels of moderate height will often correct this condition. Massage also is recommended.

Sit in a low chair and place on foot on a low stool. Anoint your hands with cocoabutter and make a bracelet of your fingers; clasp them around the ankle, moving one hand to the right and one to the left, pressing into the flesh. Start at the ankle bone and work up to the middle of the leg.

If a wood surface becomes stained with milk, wipe it up at once and polish with a damp cloth. Do not rub; keep the cloth moving. If stain does not disappear until the stain is gone.

CLUB GIRLS

Bethel-Xion — On Saturday night the Club Girls met in the home of Connie Sills for their 9th and 6th meetings.

The girls made plans for their supper meeting which will be held on July 1 in Maple Leaf School. Each mother is to invite a guest to the supper.

Mrs. Percy Ray the club leader, demonstrated "How to Make Biscuits", and then discussion, with the girl: the variations in making tea biscuits, such as adding grated cheese, or using whole wheat flour.

Salad Making

Mrs. Clifford Ray led in the discussion of "How to Make Good Salads." There are four "C's" to be remembered in salad making, vegetables should be clean, cool, crisp and colorful.

After the discussion, the girls made a salad. Lettuce, onions, cucumber and raw carrot were put together in a tossed salad. On individual plates were placed sliced tomatoes, sliced cucumbers and squares of cream cheese. With the salad, the girls had the hot tea biscuits which carried out the suggested idea of an earlier meeting of sewing and foods which contrast in heat, taste, color and texture.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE UNITED CHURCH W.A.

The monthly meeting of the W.A. of Shannonville United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Damon Hinchey, on Thursday with a good number of members and three children present. The theme song opened the meeting and the president, Mrs. K. R. Vivian, welcomed all to the meeting, with a special welcome being accorded the visitors.

Mrs. Harpendon, group leader, took charge, the theme being "Young of Heart". Mrs. Claude Clare read the Scripture lesson from Matt. 5, and Mrs. W. D. Robertson read "Thoughts on the Lesson".

Mrs. R. Clarke, gave a reading "Charity", and Mrs. Gerald Stratton sang a duet "Friend". Mrs. Orval Stratton read "The Importance of Little Things".

The secretary read the correspondence. Mrs. J. McFarlane sent thanks for the card received when she was ill. Cards of thanks were also read from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood and Mrs. Lillian Curl.

Mrs. R. Clarke thanked the ladies, on behalf of Mrs. Rose for the plants she received. Mrs. Saul McFarlane also expressed thanks for the card sent to her.

The president expressed appreciation to the hostess for opening her home for the meeting and the group leader, Mrs. Clarke, added her for the help given by the group, and to those who had helped with the program.

Following the close of the meeting, Mrs. Hinchey and her assistants served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Saul McFarlane, on July 8th.

Fashion Flashes

Half a hat is much better than none, especially when the half-hats are as pretty as those shown this year. Cool and comfortable is a black velvet, covered-wire-frame half-hat with layers of black halo lace and a short, flimsy veil.

Perfect for smart city street wear is a dress of gray cotton tweed. The base of the deep squared neckline and the side closing—straight diagonal on bodice and curved diagonal on the skirt—outlined with yellow, black and white striped ribbon. The buttons are covered with ribbon, which is also used for the wide, tucked belt. Buttons to below the waist.

An impressive ensemble is made up of a strapless dress of white silk shantung, with a black diamond print used in horizontal formation. Black linen edges in dress top, which has a trousers pleated skirt, and also lines the full-length black linen coat, but with the print used in vertical lines.

Devotees of pants should be happy this Summer, since designers have turned out pants for every occasion, for every hour of the day. For smart wear indoors, or for terrace or garden, there are long shorts of quilted, Paisley pattern voile, the design picked up with matching sequins.

Trimly tailored, yet soft and pretty, is a dress of white bird's-eye piqué with wide-V-neckline, permanent bulli-is bra and rhinestone-buttoned front. Navy and red contrast cording trims the neckline, front closing and the big half-moon pockets.

To Brighten Up Sallow Skin

If skin's sallow, choose your cosmetic colors carefully. Avoid blue-red lipsticks. An orange shade will be more flattering.

By HELEN FOLLETT

Foremost among the girls who stand before beauty's calling wall is the young lady whose skin is sallow. She looks with envy upon the peaches-and-cream girl.

Our poor dear must work from within, eating fruits and vegetables avoiding rich sauces and fried foods. She must drink plenty of water. As the lungs are an avenue of elimination, breathing must be deep. Because, the skin also throws off wastes, she should have a rousing bath each day with plenty of friction.

Make Comparisons

Local treatment calls for fairly hot, moist compresses after the bath, slightly face washing. This helps the skin shed discolored cells and normalizes the functioning of the glands. A cold-water rinse should follow to get a quick reaction of all the blood streams. After a thorough drying, a bleaching cream skin that is far from fair, can be rubbed lightly into the flesh. It should remain on overnight.

The choice of make-up colors must not be casual. Rouge and lipstick with a blue undertone are not to be considered. Those with an orange blend are best. Flesh-colored powder will camouflage skin that has a yellow cast.

Some Color Cues

When selecting blouses, avoid dead white. Soft creamy tones are better. Black dresses, suits and coats are a safe bet for a blonde with the golden halo. Navy blue isn't so good and green is fatal.

Some beauticians, realizing that one must work from within, ask that the beauty patient drink unsweetened lemonade before breakfast. They also suggest that the pulp of a lemon be pressed lightly over the face and neck occasionally. Buttermilk is also supposed to have a favorable effect upon rough skin.

Companionship Most Essential For Happy Marriage—Brisson

By VIVIAN BROWN

NEW YORK (AP) — Right in the middle of the month of this month of brides, let's pause and ponder an age-old problem—what is the recipe for a happy marriage?

Is it a wardrobe of furs for the lady of the house? Or a palate-tickling cuisine for the king of the roost? Or is it mysterious pandex that keeps two hearts bound in wedded bliss?

"Nonsense," says Danish entertainer Carl Brisson.

"The secret of a happy marriage is so simple that many people discover it. Companionship—a mutual sharing of interest—is the one ingredient absolutely essential to the marital union."

Married 36 Years

Brisson ought to know. The popular international star, idol of the older woman for a quarter century, has been happily married to Cleo Brisson for 36 years —since both were 16.

Husbands are the principal offenders against this marriage rule, Carl says. He cites these examples:

1. Males who marry their jobs and underestimate the intelligence and compassion of their wives to understand their troubles. Women have a natural capacity for understanding, but some husbands treat them like servant girls.

2. Men who forget that many big fortunes are built frequently on a wife's penny savings.

3. Men who do not keep their wives occupied, so that they have too much time for quarrels.

4. Men who neglect to have a conversation with their wives. They come home from work and bury their noses in the paper while waiting for their dinner.

5. Men who fight back when the wife is in a temper, instead of quieting her with a firm commanding "keep quiet."

The Other Side

But it takes two to ruin a marriage, Carl agrees, and here are some of the mistakes he thinks women make:

1. Being jealous of other women. Cleo didn't mind even when a woman followed them around the world to watch Carl perform. Matter of fact, she said she was flattered.

2. They don't brag about their husbands enough. If they don't do it, other women will.

3. She is likely to scorn his old friends, instead of welcoming them to the house. If he doesn't see them at home, he'll find a way.

4. A complex about keeping up with the Jones'. This drives many a man to ruin when he fails to satisfy his wife's unreasonable demands.

5. Neglect of the husband's family, while he finds his wife's relatives parked on the doorstep all the time.

Religious differences are not obstacles to happy marriages, providing each partner learns respect for the other's religion. Carl and Cleo are of different faiths but he says:

"I would be nothing today without the strength Cleo gets from her religion. It has helped bring us through difficult times."

Carl believes in young marriages, if not everybody can meet in a community cradle as he and his wife did in the age of nine months. They have been sharing their interests ever since. At one point they even worked in adjoining millinery shops. They began "going steady" at 12.

Their son, Freddie, who is married to Hollywood's Rosalind Russell, was born a year after their marriage.

FIRE GUTS HOUSE

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A family of four lost their two-room tarpaper house Tuesday when fire gutted the interior of the building. Occupants were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon MacIntyre and their two young daughters, one aged two years and the other four months.

BUSY COWBOYS

CALGARY (CP) — About, 46 stampedes and chuckwagon race meets are being conducted this year under rules of the Cowboys Protective Association in Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. The season runs from May 16 to Sept. 7.

HELPFUL NEIGHBORS

WILLINGDON, Alta. (CP)—After a major operation in hospital, George Cacheran came back to his farm to find neighbors had put in his entire crop. With as many as four tractors working at once, they seeded 181 acres in 2½ days.

Front Road W.A. Entertains Members from Three W.A.'s

Members of Front Road W.A. entertained the W.A. members of Kingston Road, College Hill and Grace Street, at the church on Thursday afternoon. The church and hall were beautifully decorated with baskets of bouquets of iris, peonies and yellow roses.

The president, Mrs. Ben Corby, and the 1st vice-president, Mrs. Clifford Reid, greeted the guests at the door and welcomed them to the meeting. Mrs. Claxie opened the meeting.

Address of Welcome

Mrs. C. Reid gave the address of welcome, after which the devotional period was held under the direction of the Kingston Road W.A. led by Mrs. Martin La Rue, who took as her topic, "The Church of God". The Scripture was read by Mrs. Grover from Matthew 3:13-16, and 8:18-34-30. A season of prayer was led by Mrs. Bruce Bracey, Mrs. Noble Brown, Mrs. Blakely, and Mrs. Ferguson. Mrs. La Rue read the lesson which prime minister, Sir Winston Churchill, read the Queen in St. Paul's Cathedral where she had gone to give thanks to God for the crown she had received.

Church of Christ

At this time, Mrs. Farnsworth gave a splendid address on, "The Church of God," saying, in part, "It is with a thankful and joyful spirit we have met here today in this union meeting which brings together the four appointments of this suburban charge. For quite a few years, this idea of uniting these out-lying appointments under one pastor had been considered. We have been most fortunate in having as our pastor, one who is so outstanding in Christian character, filled with divine desire and the spirit of our loving Saviour, to do all he can for all four appointments.

"Our pastor, Mr. Bruce Besley, brings to our minds again the beloved minister of Kingston Street Church, one who was so well-liked by all the churches. He gave his all for the sheaths of God and leaves behind many fond memories among his people.

He said "In Christ we find"

"So, it is with Mr. Besley; his love of God and his sincere desire to do all he can to build up this suburban charge has been like a challenge to his people to do better work in each of the churches.

"As we meet together today, may we more than ever feel we are linked together in one bond of Christian brotherhood. We almost encircle the city, standing on guard, as it were in this large and ever-growing area, to give help and service to every home and to every person. This seems almost like an inaugural meeting to give us a start in uniting our efforts and strengthening our love and friendship.

Unity Gives Strength

"We say, 'In unity there is strength,' which is a great truth. If we organize a class or a society each member adds to its strength. In the Scripture reading, we heard Jesus' words to His disciples, and Christ gives to each of us a clear, definite call to duty. We are to be the lights in the world'; that not we ourselves may be seen, but our good works. The Master's great petition is, 'Loved thou me?' and His supreme command, is 'Feed My lambs.'

"As the church spire lifts its heavenward pointing finger, so the church also points men to God and cries 'What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?' 'In the midst of the works of Christ, 'We cannot live by bread alone.' This life is more than meat, the soul is greater than the body—it stands for things eternal.

Grow in Grace

"We are told to grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. What helps us to grow? First, prayer, the greatest thing we can do is to link up with God, as He is the source of all grace and power; 2nd, pray without ceasing. To live in the spirit of prayer and study the world of God. Christ can be real in us if we respond to His love. 'Closer is He than breathing; nearer than hands and feet.' Then we will have a victorious life."

Mrs. Farnsworth asked all to stand true to God; to the pastor.

Mrs. La Rue thanked Mrs. Farnsworth for her splendid address.

Mrs. Charles West sang a beautiful solo, "Close to the Heart of God," accompanied by Mrs. Bailey. This number was from Gaston Hill W.A. Which of Hillcrest, gave a reading entitled "Cheerful Resolve".

Guest Speaker

Mrs. Clazie introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Davidson, president of the W.A. Presbytery, who brought a fine message of love and encouragement to all the members. Her theme was "Make the W.A. members feel like with the true meaning and place in the church. In her remarks she said "Our Quota was most Queen through her love for God."

She spoke of a need for a temperance secretary in the church and told of a young girl being taken from a beverage room. When asked why she went the girl remarked that she was lonesome. Mrs. Davidson urged that all should help to overcome these conditions. The United Church Training School is no longer a dream but is progressing favorably.

Garden News

Mrs. Clazie gave the famous 'garden rows' consisting of the four P's—personal application, preparation, promptness and perseverance. Then three rows of squash—squash indifference, gossip, and unjust criticism; three "Let us be faithful in our attendance.

"We are told to grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. What helps us to grow? First, prayer, the greatest thing we can do is to link up with God, as He is the source of all grace and power; 2nd, pray without ceasing. To live in the spirit of prayer and study the world of God. Christ can be real in us if we respond to His love. 'Closer is He than breathing; nearer than hands and feet.' Then we will have a victorious life."

The offering of $15 was sent to Toronto to defray the expenses of the previous house.

Mrs. A. Dickens gave a reading, "The Ladies' Aid" followed by one by Mrs. Ferguson of Hillcrest, "When to Start."

Mrs. Brown closed the meeting, all repaired to the hall where tables were prettily appointed with bowls of yellow roses. Refreshments were served by the members of the Front Road W.A.

Mrs. Bailey tendered a vote of thanks to the ladies for the bountiful repast and also for their kind hospitality to which Mrs. Clazie responded, voicing the pleasure of all for this wonderful get-together, and stating she would like to have many more of them.

All departed for home with a feeling it had been truly good to be there.

Fashion Flashes

The drama of black and white is nicely expressed in a new hat, the shallow crown and large, curved brim of black velvet, the trim faced with glistening white Rice straw.

The brightest flower in the clothing garden this year, is the tulip, for every house is doing its version of Dior's tulip cut. The line shifts width and fullness from skirts to bodice tops and so looks very new. It appears in coats, dresses and suits, and when not overdone is most attractive. Anyway, it's new!

Rose Is Set Above All Flowers

The rose—"queen of the flowers"—has been intertwined in man's history, art and legend for many centuries. L. H. Coman writes in The Milwaukee Journal. But the rose is much older than humanity itself. One rock formation, the Crooked River, Ore., bearing the imprint of a rose, is estimated to be 25,000,000 years old.

Today the rose industry is a tremendous one, bringing millions of dollars to the florists who supply cut roses and the growers who supply bushes. Some of the outstanding plant scientists are devoting their lives to improving roses.

Famed For Beauty

The beauty of this flower is reason enough for its fanciers' enthusiasm, but it might add to the fun of some of us as we putter with that bush in the yard if we could recall some of the stories about the rose.

To account for the color of the red rose, the Romans had a legend that when Venus, goddess of love, went over the dead Andonis, her tears were white roses. She stepped on one and the sting of the briar caused her foot to bleed, staining the roses red.

They had tales, too, about how the rose got its thorn. One relates that Cupid tried to kiss a rose blossom, but a bee, seeking nectar, stung the intruding god on his lip. Cupid was so angry that he asked Venus, his mother, to punish the flower. She supplied him with arrows tipped with bee stings, which he shot into the rose garden. So Cupid's darts became the thorns.

Rose Pudding

Cleopatra is said to have given a banquet for Mark Antony, in which the floors were strewn with roses to a depth of 16 inches. When Nero went visiting, his honored host filled the fountains with rose water, scattered roses on the ground and cushions, gave out garlands of the flower and served rose pudding, washed down with rose wine. The height, or depth, of this rose infatuation was reached when some of Nero's guests were supposedly suffocated in an avalanche of rose petals thrown from balconies.

When "knighthood was in flower" the flower was the rose. Knights had roses embroidered on their sleeves and painted on their shields in heraldic devices. The Order of the Rose was a high honor. The rose symbolized gentleness and courage, and "beauty's reward for valor."

There was even a War of the Roses, the 15th century quarrel between the English noble houses of York (whose badge was the white rose) and Lancaster (red rose).

Legend has it that there were two taverns near parliament. One displayed the sign of the white rose, the other the red. Secret conferences of the rival parties took part. From hence, "under the rose" or sub rosa.

Blended Roses

The rose houses finally were united by the marriage of Henry VII of Lancaster and Elizabeth of York, and civil war ended. The blended roses were emblazoned on arms and coins and the poet astonished:

Let merry England proudly rear
Her blended roses bought so dear.

The colonists brought rose bushes to America with them, although the Indians had known the wild roses. The Cherokees used the white roses as a symbol of their unity against the whites.

A mexican war rose story involves Gen. William Tecumseeh Sherman, when he was stationed at Monterey. He is said to have fallen in love with a noble Mexican girl. When his orders came to leave, she gave him a rose, and he gave it back to her to plant.

"If you leave me, it will grow," said Sherman. There is a picture of the Spanish lady in her old age, beside Sherman's rose bush. The rose can overcome the fickleness came back proving, it seems, that not even the love magic of the rose can overcome the fickleness of the soldier.

Religious Rose

The rose has its religious meanings, too. One story is that the briar rose emerged from the crown of thorns worn by Christ at His crucifixion. We blooms forming from the blood. Another is that the moss rose appeared when Christ stepped upon the moss of a cool glade to rest from the heat.

The rose appears in many old paintings and sculptures of the Virgin Mary, and "wreaths of prayers and praises" of her are said to be the origin of rosaries. Real rosebuds may have been used for some of the early rosaries.

Roses were used in early medicine. William Penn, who brought 18 roses to this continent from London, prescribed a remedy which included roses, cloves, nutmegs, all mixed in rose water, and laid in "ye nod of ye neck." It was prescribed "to comfort ye brains, and for ye palsie and for ye giddiness of the head"

Mists of Mosquitoes Rise From Marshes at Eventide

Out in the marshes, the swamps and lesser pools of stagnant water there is activity these nights. Along about sunset, at that precise moment when the western sky is shedding its last feeble light and when the air chooses to be still, you can see the silhouette. A rather definite and perceptible haze springs from the reeds and thickets. Almost like a mist on the moors. It rolls upward and outward. Not as fine, perhaps, or colorless as fog, but just as distinguishable. It consists of rising clouds of mosquitoes leaving their swamp-land haunts and setting off to gorge and satisfy their near-insatiable appetites.

These pesky little insects seem to betray no emotion at leaving their water-logged dens, to which they will surely never return. There is no embracing of fellow and sister mosquitoe that shared the murky water as pupae. These thirsty little cannibals offer no backward glances of longing, so insects are they on their mission. Wings flutter flaccidly at first until strength comes to their wispy bodies. They dart and circle in erratic patterns as if in surprise that nature intended them to fly.

Although there is no formation observed in flight, or any mechanical engine to throb and pulsate, these tiny relatives of the fly family resemble pursuit planes in many respects. They have their weapons, effective, as all of us will testify. Speed, except of their flying is limited, but they can perform all the intricate loops, rolls and pull-outs required of any human flier. Particularly annoying in the comparison is that mosquitoes have their own built-in radar sets, enabling them to seek out targets in the night. Worse still, man has divised no completely adequate defense against their attacks. There are no anti-aircraft guns to stop mosquito raids. A screen is no deterrent to them when the scent of a human is found. The smallest crack or aperture provides passage. Mosquitos seem desperate and yet patient. They have their own kamikaze squadrons who dash their machines in fury against the glass until it is opened, for reasons known only to man. Whenever a window is opened there will always be a mosquito waiting to come in.

No matter how small the room or how well lighted, a mosquito, when inside, is difficult to track down and elusive when found. He nestles her skinny frame in an obscure corner so as not to cast a revealing shadow. She shuns the light and keeps well outside. He says, never moving until seen. When pursued she moves effortlessly and without sound, bumping blindly along the ceiling. It is only when the weary human tries for rest in the summer's sweiter that the mosquito finds the time best for attack. When darkness is at its zenith and sleep comes creeping slowly onward, is this moment she selects to rev up her engine and sweep over the area in search of a landing site. Sleep loses ground. The human wonders if that was the sound he thought it was or just imagination. The ear strains for an unwelcome encore while the body remains tense and still. The mosquito has the field in sight or smell now—the narrow valley behind the ear. Flaps down, head lowered on the stick—a short glide for those last few inches. Down safely and now to work. Swish! A hand slaps clumsily in the dark. Emergency take-off!

There is no mistaking that humming buzz. It was a mosquito. On with the lights. It must be here, but where? The roving eye, unaccustomed to the light's brilliance, fails to penetrate the darkened corners. Maybe it went to another room, or, more pleasant to believe, flew out the stick—a short glide for those last few inches. Down safely and now to work. Swish! A hand slaps clumsily in the dark. Emergency take-off!

Young German Seeks Home In Belleville

Jamie Clark's sponsored visit to his native Scotland is having far-reaching effects as well as resulting in much valued publicity for this city.

As a result of the publicity given Jamie by Scottish newspapers, the Army Navy Veterans in Canada Branch 201, is in receipt of a letter from a young married German residing in the British Zone of Germany requesting information regarding a job and a home here.

His name is Henry Hick who spent five years in England and married a Scottish girl. They have two children, both girl, the eight and six years of age.

Hick writes he has applied for removal to Canada but has been placed on a waiting list because of no guaranteed job here. He is a qualified painter and de orator and holds scholarships from high school and a school of commerce. He is 30 years of age.

He says the family has saved the money for their transportation here, and can leave as soon as matters are arranged. He can supply character references.

It is not known what kind of publicity the Scottish paper gives Belleville but Hick footnotes his letter, "My wife says that in a town of half Scots, you can depend on help."

Japan Plans to Regain Position As Arsenal of Asia Says Paper

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times says today Japanese industrialists have developed long-range plans to restore the country to its position as the arsenal of Asia.

The report, from Tokyo by William J. Jorden in the first of two dispatches on plans for Japan's revival as a major producer of arms, says:

"In answer to questions from United States Army authorities concerned with the problem, exhaustive studies of Japan's present and future arms production capacities have been completed by the Japanese.

"One of the most elaborate, and still largely secret, surveys was conducted by the defence production committee of the Federation of Economic Organizations, an influential group representing Japan's largest industries.

"Heaviest because there is strong sentiment in Japan against any form of rearmament, top government officials, including Premier Shigeru Yoshida, have seen fit to acknowledge only that such studies were 'being made.'"

Among other points in The Times dispatch are these:

Surveys that indicate what areas Japan can make in the next two years—including everything from .30-calibre cartridges to 155 millimetre howitzers—have been in the secret files of interested parties for several months.

Another and more elaborate study just published to the government recommends an eight-year program of rearmament that would require an average expenditure of more than $1,000,000,000 a year, of which the Japanese expect the United States to steal almost half the bill.

Ringling Clowns Are Not Just Born

Clowning is a business before it is an art. Not all clowns are artists, but all of them—stars and rank and file—with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey, coming to Belleville, Wednesday, July 1st., have learned their trade the hard way, the big top way. They know their business.

Clowns are not born. However, the good ones and the great ones are born with the comedy spark. It may light their paths to the stage or to the circus. But they are not the ones the folks back home refer to as "born clowns". They are the quiet ones.

No cut-ups ever held a crowd in the Big Show with "life of the party" antics. Every skit, gag or walkaround clown bit is a studied thing. Knowledge of human nature, psychology and comedy know-how are factors in each bit, no matter how brief or trivial.

The Big Show clowns — "the famous Ringling Hundred"—have all been through the mill. A few tried vaudeville and burlesque as they brewed out their comic ways. at 1 and 7.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was sewing in her room and I was on the floor reading my Thrills and Chills of Science Magazine, and ma said, Oh dear, what's the use?

The use of what, ma? I said, and she said, Oh, of anything and everything. This just seems to be one of those days when the prevailing color is blue, she said.

Meaning she felt sad and useless like she does sometimes, and I said, Aw cheer up, Ma. If this was a few million years from now, you would really have something to worry about, because I just been reading the different ways the world mite come to an end, but that's so far away you may not even be here, I said.

Goodness, I hardly expect to, ma said, and I said, I meen you dont even need to think about it.

Thank you, I wont, ma said, and I said, Anyways, it will have to be gradual, because the erth cant freeze all at once, so even if you have got a cold still alive, they'll have plenty of warning.

That's a hopeful thawt, ma said, and I said, Even if it happens sudden and unexpected by another planet getting mixed up in its orbit and bumping into us, the peeces wont all be lost. Some of them mite get attracted to other planets, and you may be on one of those very peeces, for all you know.

I wish myself a pleasant journey, I'm sure, ma said. And now feel so mutch better I couldn't bear another bit of good news, so if there's more, please spare me, sir, said.

Which I did, not telling her ambout the possibility of the sun comin so close nobody could stand the result.

Rawdon Circuit Hears Report Of Conference

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

RAWDON — Mr. Orno Sharp, Mount Pleasant Rawdon, representative to conference from the Rawdon United Church circuit, gave a fine report at the Sunday appointments on Sunday. He spoke at Bethel and Wellman in the morning and at Mount Pleasant in the afternoon.

The speaker introduced his report by saying that the Bay of Quinte Conference extends from Renfrew on the east to Pickering on the west. It consists of seven presbyteries — Belleville, Cobourg, Kingston, Lindsay, Oshawa, Peterborough and Renfrew.

The conference was held this year in Oshawa. The evening service Tuesday was devoted to Missionary activities with Rev. J. E. Griffith as special speaker. Mayor Chadwick

The mayor of Oshawa gave a special address to the conference officials to assist in building more churches in that city. The United Church has increased by 26 percent in membership and is still growing.

Rev. Alfred Poulter, Wellington, was chosen by ballot as the new president of conference.

Increased interest has been taken during the past year in the department of evangelism and social service. Four schools of evangelism were held in Peterborough Presbytery while special preaching missions were held in Cobourg, Kingston, Oshawa, Peterborough and Renfrew.

To Cabinet

John W. (Jack) Pickersgill, 47, political strategist to the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Prime Minister St. Laurent, has been appointed to the federal cabinet as secretary of state. Until recently he held the non-political $15,000-a-year post as clerk of the privy council. His appointment stirred Ottawa speculation he will be in the running for the leadership of the Liberal party on Mr. St. Laurent's retirement. — (CP Photo.)

Again Convict Epileptic Youth In Robbery Case

TORONTO (CP) — An epileptic Thornton Smith, who said that he had his "hopes built every night" while serving a four-year penitentiary sentence that his innocence could be proved, Tuesday night was convicted by a jury for the second time on an armed robbery charge.

The second trial of Paul Cachia on the charge was ordered by federal Justice Minister Garson in an almost unprecedented legal move after an investigation initiated by Cliffe Magoon, Ontario's deputy attorney-general.

Cachia was sentenced to two years less a day in reformatory after Crown counsel reminded Judge Samuel Factor that Cachia had already spent almost two years in jail and after defence counsel had pleaded for leniency.

Cachia was described by both counsel and the judge as a youth "obviously mentally retarded."

Cachia's defence hinged on his testimony that he was at his home at the time of the robbery committed Sept. 20, 1951.

One Pig Blamed For Outbreak Of Trichinosis

SUDBURY (CP)—Doctors said here Tuesday that the latest trichinosis epidemic that struck 22 persons has been licked. They blamed one pig for the whole outbreak.

The lone hog was thought to have been butchered early in May and most of its meat used in making smoked sausage. The insufficiently cooked sausages provided a perfect medium for the transfer of the trichinosis parasite to humans.

Trichinosis, a fairly common disease among certain types of hogs, is rare among humans in Canada, except in the Sudbury district where some 63 cases have been reported in the last six years.

Cause of the disease is a tiny parasite living in the infected pig's muscles. Doing little harm to the animal, it 'is sometimes fatal and causes fever, muscular pains and eye swelling when transferred to human through uncooked or insufficiently cooked pork.

Dr. J. B. Cook, Sudbury medical health officer, said Tuesday there has been no sign of the disease here in the last three weeks.

Dr. Cook said two weeks ago that the lack of an abattoir where animals could be killed under supervision was responsible for the spread of trichinosis in Sudbury.

First indications of human infection here were noted in 1947 when one person was infected. In 1948 eight persons were stricken and in 1950, some 30 cases reported. There were four cases in 1951 and another eight last year.

Sen. Robertson Given High Post

PITLOCHRY, Scotland (CP) — For the first time in its history, the Dunfermlin society has selected a Canadian as honorary president.

The new office holder is Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader in the senate, who was appointed at the recent annual meeting of the biggest organization of its kind in Scotland.

The senator, here for the Coronation, has served as honorary vice-president for the last three years. The presidential honor will be passed on to an Australian next, in keeping with the policy of rotating the post among Commonwealth countries.

Senator Robertson, in a new kilt, attended the two-day meeting during a visit to Scotland after the Coronation. He will spend another two weeks in the country before leaving for Canada by sea July 7.

Pain Intensity Being Measured By Dolorimeter

LONDON (Reuters) — Doctors here have found evidence to back what women have always claimed —that there is no worse pain than the suffering of childbirth.

It outmatches the pain of severe burns in intensity but is far more endurable because it has purpose.

A research team at the Middlesex Hospital, one of the biggest in London, is using a new instrument called a dolorimeter to measure pain intensity. The doctors have invented a unit of pain called the dol.

Toothache, earache and backache are low on the pain list at between one and two dols. By comparison, the pain of a heart attack and severe headaches from brain complications have scores to nine dols.

Women in childbirth top the list at 10 dols, while men go through life seldom experiencing pain above five or six dols, unless they suffer severe skin burns which rate nine dols.

There is little pain attached to dying, doctors have found. Most people die in a state of unconsciousness.

The dolorimeter is a simple but effective instrument. It focuses a light beam on known strength through a magnifying glass on the volunteer patient's forehead. Patient tell the doctor when the beam hurts as much as the pain of the complaint.

The doctors are not only applying burns to willing subjects. They are using the instrument on themselves to study different levels of pain first-hand. Among them, Dr. John W. Markham, has endured 35 bad blisters during the last year.

Easy Conquest Gone

KINGSTON (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson said Tuesday night that if the current Russian peace offensive could be pinned on any one cause "it was the realization by the men in the Kremlin that the date of easy conquest in Europe is gone."

He said the military might of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, plus the solidarity and unity of the Western nations, had deterred Soviet aggression. Canadians must not be responsible by either deeds or words for weakening that unity.

Mr. Pearson, who spoke to a Liberal party meeting, said he felt certain that the Russians were not going to be improved by Western unity as they were by the military forces that backed up NATO.

US STEEL BOOSTS PRICES $4 TON ON AVERAGE

Increases Could Send Cost of Living Higher

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—United States Steel Corporation boosted steel prices an average of $4 a ton today, presaging industry-wide increases which could send U. S. living costs higher.

Big Steel's action came five days after it granted an 8½-cent hourly pay increase to 170,000 employees represented by the United Steel workers (CIO).

It is the first rise in basic steel prices since the Korean war summer which ended after the union won a 21½-cent hourly package increase.

Other steel producers are expected to follow U. S. Steel's lead and raise prices. They probably will announce the new scales soon. However, president C. M. White of Republic Steel Corp. says his firm plans an increase of $5 to $10 a ton.

Industry-wide steel price boosts may be reflected in higher price tags for the thousands of items which are made of steel. It is unlikely that manufacturers will absorb any such increases, meaning the consumer ultimately may have to pay more for everything from pins to refrigerators.

U. S. Steel, largest producer in the country, said overall effect of the price changes represents an average advance of about $3.10 a ton—a cent a pound—on steel products, which now will sell for six cents a pound or about $120 a ton. Along with this upturn, there are proportionate advances for alloy and stainless steel products.

Three more basic steel producers signed agreements with the USW Tuesday giving nearly 35,000 workers an 8½-cent-an-hour wage increase. They are Sharon Steel Corp., Wheeling Steel Corp. and Pittsburgh Steel Company.

This brought to 19 the number of firms signed up of about 430,000 of the union's estimated 600,000 members in basic steel now are under new wage pacts. They had been averaging from $2.06 to $2.16 an hour.

PEPPING RADIO

There were some developments to support reports of an agreement.

1. Staff officers drawing the line of demarcation met at which patrols clash in no-man's-land—worked until almost midnight Tuesday. There was speculation that they wanted to get the line drawn and ready for approval when the main delegations met today.

2. Communist correspondents at Panmunjom advised Allied newspaper men to "keep your eyes on what happens at the front." They indicated that the staff officers might have reached agreement and that the line might have been approved by the senior delegations.

3. The big Chinese offensive on the central front showed signs today of slackening, even though a beefed up Red battalion attacked southeast of Sudong Finger ridge today.

Junior officers carried maps into the meeting of the main delegations and into the staff officers' session which followed. It was understood the maps were referred to in discussing points other than the demarcation line.

One such use would be to mark the main routes over which observer teams and other supervisory personnel will travel in North and South Korea while enforcing an armistice.

It was anybody's guess as to when the expected agreement would be announced. Most observers at this Allied truce base camp predicted an armistice within five days to a week.

The Communists made a change in their top truce delegation today, replacing North Korean Rear-Admiral Kim Won Mo with Maj.-Gen. Lee Sang Hak of the Korean Red Army.

Days of Wily Timber Wolf Are Numbered

SASKATOON (CP)—The days of the wily timber wolf in northern Saskatchewan are numbered.

Saskatchewan's control programs in the last two winters have sharply reduced the numbers of the predator which annually destroys up to 10,000 caribou, deer, elk and moose in the province.

Harold Read, northern game supervisor, reported in Prince Albert that 229 adult wolves and an estimated 690 unborn wolves were killed in last winter's control program, and about 400 in the previous winter.

A bounty now has been established on the Saskatchewan-Northwest Territories border, covering an area of about 460,000 square miles.

Most timber wolves in the province have been found to have come originally from the territories. The offer now is an effective way of cutting down on the migration.

Bake Sale Planned

A total of 51 bait sets of caribou meat impregnated with strychnine were put out in the zone last winter. Twenty-one wolves were killed at one set alone.

The baits were located on isolated lakes to avoid poisoning of forest-dwelling fur bearers, a precaution not destroyed prior to the spring ice breakup.

Most wolf carcasses were destroyed, but some were used also as bait. The wolves often ate their less fortunate kin.

Mr. Read expects the control measures will bring about a 'sharp increase" in northern Saskatchewan big game, just as coyote control resulted in an increase of deer along Saskatchewan's forest fringe region.

Popular Young Couple Honored

Plainfield — About 150 friends and neighbors gathered at the hall on Friday evening to honor Gerth McCreary, and his bride, Rev. R. J. Kersey acted as chairman for the evening and after a few remarks called on Mr. Gerth and Wayne Gow to sing. Linda Shawna gave two tap dancing numbers and Marion Sills a piano solo; Meade Harrison and Clayton Hall favored with a piano and violin duet, followed by dancing by the Dawson sisters.

Mr. Kersey then asked Gerth and Barbara to take front seats after which Garfield Hall read an address and Sherman Parks, Clayton Hall, Stewart Goodfellow presented them with a coffee table, large mirror, a table lamp and several miscellaneous gifts, for which Barb and Gerth both expressed their thanks.

Garth showed several moving picture slides taken on their trip through the States.

Refreshments were served and a social time was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. McCreary will reside in Belleville.

North Bay Firm Charges Unfair Trade Practice

OTTAWA. (CP)— A n Ontario hardware retailer has accused General Steel Wares Ltd. of Montreal and Toronto of practicing price discrimination, but the retailer's trade practices commission has declined to start a formal an enquiry into the committed, Justice Minister Garson announced today.

The accusation was made by Silas Richardson Hardware, a retail firm in competition with Richardson Hardware at North Bay, Ont. The firm complained to combines investigators that General Steel Wares, a manufacturing firm, was giving its competitor more advantageous price discounts, contrary to section 498A of the Criminal Code.

The section provides that a supplier may not discriminate among competing customers by granting one of them a discount, rebate or other price concession not available to the buyer's like and a similar volume of goods.

In a three-count complaint, in a 27-page report to the minister, said that, after appraising the evidence, it does not feel it should express an opinion as to whether an offence was committed. The commission did not feel that the evidence warranted it to draw general conclusions about the industry.

But it did find three trade practices of General Steel Wares which apparently did give the complainant's competitor a price advantage. Mr. Garson said he will be decided later whether the case warrants court action.

The commission in its report said the complainant's competitor a price advantage. Mr. Garson said he will be decided later whether the case warrants court action.

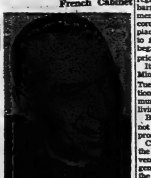
Mr. Richardson's firm stemmed from a parent firm, J. H. Richardson Hardware, which had been split in 1945. General Steel Wares, said the commission, treated Richardson's Hardware as the original customer and regarded the firm Richardson Hardware as a "new and untried account."

Boy Must Decide His Own Religion Judge's Ruling

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario Supreme Court judgment Tuesday decreed that a six-year-old boy must decide when he becomes of age whether to become a Protestant and thus inherit some $23,000.

The boy, now being raised as a Roman Catholic by his parents, was left the money by his grandmother, Mrs. Edith Mercer, who stipulated that the child be free to decide for himself when he reached the age of 25 providing he is brought up as a Protestant.

Mr. Justice H. W. Treleaven in his Tuesday ruling that this was a condition precedent. It has long been held in English law that a bequest is a condition precedent and the condition is not met then the gift fails. Mr. Justice Treleaven said there was no need for him to rule on whether it was valid or not.



The effect of the judgment is that Julian J. Empey will be able to decide for himself when he becomes of age whether he will meet the condition. If he does not, the will provides that money in it go to the Anglican Synod of Toronto.

THOUSANDS WAGE

Fifteen Russian T-34 tanks, 20 armored cars and 30 truckloads of machine-gunners concentrated on the ugly mob threatening government headquarters after East Berlin Communists had been herded for hours to control the uprising.

The rioters were demanding that the Russians leave, the Communists be with them and that Germany be reunited by free secret elections.

As the tanks drove into the mob from two sides, enraged rioters were shot. It was impossible to tell immediately, how many fell.

Then the tanks—Red Army tanks stenmed from a parent firm, J. H. Richardson Hardware, which had been split in 1945. General Steel Wares, said the commission, treated Richardson's Hardware as the original customer and regarded the firm Richardson Hardware as a "new and untried account."

The East German Communist regime, astonished and insulted, barricaded in the government headquarters behind a Soviet cordon. It made a new effort to placate the workers it is supposed to have. A new food ration system began blaring promises of lower prices and less work.

It was the same promise Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl made Tuesday night after a demonstration by 5,000 workers against Communist speed-up tactics and low living standards.

But this time the crowds did not appear inclined to believe the promises.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the West German government convened his cabinet into an emergency session in Bonn to consider the latest events.

All East Berlin was paralyzed by a general strike that had been called throughout the east zone.

By mid-morning 15,000 workers from Oranienburg in the Soviet zone had marched in and joined the East Berlin rioters. There thousand more showed up from the Hennigsdorf steel works.

Finally, Russian armored cars started to clear Leipziger strasse, the East German government quarters and West Berlin's frontier Potsdamer plats. There, bristling with tommy-gunners, drove forward slowly.

Workers, knowing what they wanted but uncertain how to proceed, had to give way.

The phenomenal assault against the Red regime was started by men who had been dragooned into many a Communist spectacle parade. It apparently got started with little organization, but the effect on the population was startling. Everyone with a gripe cast aside all fear and joined.

Inspired by eight years of terror, secret trials, Soviet bayonets and the speed-up terrors at the work benches, the people staged their own parade. It was very disorganization was effective for no one knew where it would converge next.

When Soviet reinforcements began to be brought in from the surrounding zone, the Russians had on hand a force about the size of a regimental combat team.

Many east german are 70h years be

Then strikers broke down barricades, stoned police and Soviet stores, burned Red flags, smashed border guard huts and routed police barracks.

Then they centred around the office of the ministry of economy and reconstruction.

Other tanks troops were digging trenches in the Potsdamer Platz, where British, United States and Soviet sectors meet. Crowds in the square pulled down the sector signs, shouting: "So will all barriers go."

Many demonstrators were injured in clashes with the police. Most were dragged into the U. S. zone and taken to West Berlin hospitals.

Two truck-loads of Soviet soldiers were stationed on the East Berlin side of the Brandenburg gate to stop demonstrators from crossing the border there.

Soviet troops watched silently while two young East Berliners leaped to the 30-foot high Brandenburg gate and ripped down the Red flag.

The crowd below tore the flag to shreds shouting "we will beat the Russians to death."

West Schöners Join In

By mid-day a stream of West Berliners had begun to cross into East Berlin to join in the demonstrations.

The Potsdamer Platz rally was told by speakers that the workers of the entire eastern railway network had joined the rebellion and that general strike would be the order of the day throughout the Soviet occupation zone.

The subway and elevated train system had completely.

As the thunder of rebellion crackled over Berlin, there were reports that the Russians were spending every reinforcements they could muster outside the city.

People working in a travel bureau and a souvenir shop on the west side of the frontier said they saw reinforcements pass through. One deputy prime minister and chief of planning, a member of the politburo, was reported Soviet occupation zone.

People working in a travel bureau and a souvenir shop on the west side of the frontier said they saw reinforcements pass through. One deputy prime minister and chief of planning, a member of the politburo, was reported to have been immediately confirmed if Rau was in the hands of the East Berlin police.

Party Bosses In Hiding

His superiors, Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl and Party Boss Walter Ulbricht, were in hiding while their tumultuous throngs demanded their political hides.

At noon the freedom bell pealed out. It was rung from the tower of West Berlin city hall. And at just about that moment the Russian general riding a T-34 tank drew up to the embattled Soviet sector register's headquarters, once Goering's Luftwaffe centre.

The general waved his cap at the mob as the troops opened their fire to assist him in his entrance. He strode inside amid a chorus of catcalls.

A nervous policeman inside the government building fired three pistol shots into the window, but it was not established immediately if he hit anyone. Later, two were seen apparently wounded state propped on bicycles by their comrades as they were being taken toward the west sector.

Forced Back to West

Then a new crowd from Russian armored cars started to clear the Leipziger Strasse, the link between the government headquarters and West Berlin's frontier Potsdamer Platz. The cars, bristling with tommy-gunners, slowly drove forward, forcing the mass of men to back toward the west.

The violence came in the wake of recent Communist reversals in their communization program which has impressed East Berliners apparently viewed as a sign of Red weakness.

While Soviet troops, armored cars and tanks stood on the alert around strategic buildings, some 5,000 Communist East German police battled the demonstrators with flailing clubs.

The marching, jeering strikers came from nationalized factories, state railroad repair shops in the Lichtenberg district and the Stalin Allee housing project. The housing project was the scene of the demonstration with a march Tuesday protesting high prices and recent government decrees increasing production quotas.

Ranks May Swell

There was no telling how big the ranks of the strikers would swell.

The core of the government office is on the Wilhelmstrasse was a sea of milling workers and the scene of one open battle after another with the cops swinging people's police.

Six Russian troop carriers and two trucks filled with Soviet tommy-gunners, plus a pair of T-34 tanks, raced to bulwark the endangered Red regime.

In front of the Soviet embassy on Unter Den Linden, thousands of Berliners cat-called and demanded free German elections." Various police had fled, were ripped down and spat on.

Told to go Home

Cries of "Ivan, go home," swelled through the streets. On the border, armed workers smashed control points and burned police control houses. Communist officials caught on the streets were beaten up.

There was concern that the demonstrations might get out of hand and swirl into West Berlin, where some of the demonstrators sought refuge after clashing with the Red police.

Jacob Kaiser, minister for all-German affairs, flew to Berlin to represent the Bonn government in any action that might be necessary in the divided city.

He pledged the East German people the solidarity of West Germany and "the whole free world" in their efforts for political and economic freedom.

Are Alarming Sign

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party said the East Berlin demonstrations were an alarming sign for the world that the oppressed Germans in the east zone want freedom."

"Now there comes to light for all to see the bitter feelings of the people against the regime—a regime which never had any popular support," a party statement declared.

Red police cordoned off the government headquarters but had to repulse repeated drives by workers to charge through their lines and get at the main doors. Inside, the Red government of Premier Otto Grotewohl and Communist party secretary Walter Ulbricht faced an astonishing crisis.

Strikers Organized

The strike started as a means of protesting high prices and soaring living conditions. It turned into a patriotic swell for German unity. Soon border, armed workers smashed through the Brandenburg gate. Soviet bayonets and tanks held Potsdamer Platz where the British, U.S. and Russian sectors meet.

West Berlin police braced for trouble and called up toughened "alert unit" but faced no East German interest in anything but the west in his own sector.

West Berliners sped to the sector borders to peer across in wonderment at the East Germans trying to throw off the Communist yoke. Public bookpurchasers urged the West Berliners to keep out of it.

Canadian Catholic Confederation Controls Labor Force in Quebec

By RICHARD DASKINAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — A church-sponsored movement launched at the turn of the century to counter the rise of socialistic and communistic ideologies has grown into a labor organization that dominates today's scene in Quebec.

The Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, once regarded as a social-minded branch of church organization, now controls the labor forces in many of Quebec's key industries.

Its 423 unions—known as syndicates—negotiate contracts for most of Quebec's pulp and paper, metallurgical, asbestos, ship - building, construction and hospital workers. Wages Membership

Its membership of 83,000 is estimated by the Quebec labor department to be the largest in the province. The department estimates Trades and Labor Congress membership at 80,000 and Canadian Congress of Labor membership at 30,000.

Boosted by official support of Quebec's Roman Catholic archbishops and bishops, the CCCL has grown into a powerful two-faced organization whose influence is spreading from the industrial to the religious and political fields.

Industry, accustomed in other Canadian provinces to dealing with labor on a purely business basis, is confronted in Quebec with a Catholic labor body that drives as hard a bargain as any other union and invokes the support of papal encyclicals and religious doctrine.

Quebec's high clergy, who nursed the labor body to healthy life to keep workers in the Catholic fold are beginning to wonder at the powers they have unleashed.

Blood has flowed and police-worker clashes have increased in recent years on Quebec's troubled labor scene.

If Quebec's upper and middle classes were shocked at these incidents, they at least understood the forces at play in their province, puzzling as they may have been to outsiders.

Founded in 1921

The CCCL was founded in 1921 to strengthen and give unity to a variety of labor movements organized with church support and direction.

Industry, in a tangle with international unions at the time, turned to Catholic unions in the hope of maintaining industrial peace.

Membership remained at an impressive 45,000 for a few years but with the recession developing in the early 1930s the CCCL watched its membership dwindle to 20,000 and dissension grew within its ranks.

These were years when Communism took root in Catholic Quebec and Dec. 8 Bolshevik Bible Villeneuve sounded an alarm.

The Quebec government, under the leadership of Premier Duplessis, passed its controversial Padlock Act and Laval University gave Rev. Georges-Henri Levesque, a brilliant social student, the job of organizing a faculty of social sciences to train social workers, union leaders and industrial relations experts.

By 1938, CCCL membership rose to 62,000 again and another 17,000 members were picked up during the war.

Leadership Change

As Quebec headed into an era of unprecedented industrial expansion, the CCCL threw out its old-guard leaders and elected in 1946 a 37-year-old former newspaper man as president.

Gerard Picard studied the situation. Farmers' families were flowing to the cities, rural centres were changing into industrial areas. Quebec's new workers, farmers' sons yesterday, saw in the Catholic labor organization the protecting arm of the church.

Seconded by a 30-year-old pupil of Father Levesque, Jean Marchand, Mr. Picard launched an organizing offensive that paid off. In six years, the CCCL enrolled 31,000 workers and moved into the virtually untouched white - collar worker field.

As the organization drive picked up steam, government and industry stiffened their resistance to CCCL demands.

In 1949, the CCCL paralyzed the world's largest asbestos mines in Quebec's Eastern Townships, to win a contract for 5,000 miners.

Quebec's government declared the strike illegal and sent police to the scene. The asbestos industry prepared for a long siege.

But the union clamped up into a do-or-die affair for the CCCL. Chevrolet Bellevues

Then Quebec's high clergy stepped into the picture—on the side of the workers. A short time later, quiet-spoken Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec announced the strike was over.

The miners returned to work with a better contract than they had hoped for.

Less than a year later, in a 73-page collective pastoral letter, Quebec's archbishops and bishops made their official position on labor problems clear.

Quebec was no longer a predominantly rural province. It was predominantly industrial. The church's big problems were in the cities and towns. The worker was entitled to a living wage. To get it workers were urged to join the CCCL.

Children today are being taught in Quebec's Catholic schools, at the request of the bishops, that the worker has the right to organize and that the duty to join is in the CCCL.

But, if the church stepped in when the chips were down, it also withheld its support in situations it disapproved.

Strike a Failure

Last, in December, when the CCCL in a desperate move to win the textile strike at Louiseville, Que., decided on a general work stoppage, the church maintained a cryptic but telling silence. Threatened with the severest penalties under the law, CCCL leaders dropped their plan and the strike was lost.

CCCL leaders now agree the conflict was too local in nature for a mass sympathy walkout.

Mr. Picard now has his eyes on Quebec's white-collar workers.

CCCL officials say this is probably the most difficult field to organize and note that most unions shy away from it.

But in an interview recently Mr. Picard said: "There is a big field for action there."

27 Cells in Death House Where Rosenbergs Are Held

This is the last in a three-part series giving the background of the spy conspiracy case against Julius and Ethel Rosenberg who are to die in Sing Sing's electric chair June 18.

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP)—There are 27 cells in the death house at Sing Sing prison and three of them are in a wing reserved for women. The cells are slightly larger than the average prison cell, being eight feet wide, 15 feet long and nine feet high. But they are furnished the same as any other cell, with little more than a bed and a lavatory.

Into one of these cells on April 11, 1951, vaulted Ethel Rosenberg, a tiny mother of two sons. She now is 37 years old. She was the first woman spy Sing Sing had ever seen. In fact, she was the first federal prisoner ever to enter the death house.

Mrs. Rosenberg, her husband, Julius, and their friend, Morton Sobell, had been convicted the previous March 29 on charges of conspiring in time of war to hand over atomic secrets to Soviet Russia.

Mrs. Rosenberg and her husband had been sentenced to death by Judge Irving R. Kaufman, who branded their's a "crime worse than murder." Sobell, a lesser member of the conspiracy, got off with 30 years.

As Mrs. Rosenberg entered the death house that day two years ago, her last remark to the outside world came in a denunciation of her prosecution as "a political frame-up."

Until the sentences of death were pronounced, the Rosenbergs' case had not aroused unusual interest. But the unprecedented sentence changed all that.

Some said the Rosenbergs were condemned to die because they were Communists and because they were Jews.

Judge Kaufman, the sentencing judge, is Jewish. He had opened time in prayer in his synagogue before he passed sentence. Irving H. Saypol prosecuted the Rosenbergs for the federal government and he is Jewish.

Communists had other propaganda tunes to offer, and they were sung again and again to the marching rhythm of pickets' feet here and abroad in the next two years, in repeated demands to "save the Rosenbergs."

It was public drama of a sort that recalled the mass demonstrations throughout the world in the 1920s, when two radicals, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, were convicted for murder by the state of Massachusetts.

Allowed To See Each Other

The Rosenbergs have been allowed to see each other twice a week. There have been occasional visits from their two sons, Michael, 6, and Robert, 6. Most of the time the couple spent apart, reading and listening to the radio loudspeaker. When weather permitted, the Rosenbergs were allowed outside for exercise, although not together.

It was not until Feb. 25, 1952, that the U.S. circuit court of appeals was ready to act on the first appeal from the Rosenbergs' conviction. The court refused to interfere with the death sentences. On Oct. 13, 1952, the U. S. Supreme Court refused for the first time to review the conviction. Only Justice Hugo Black dissented. Again Nov. 21, Black was the sole dissenter as the Supreme Court refused for a second time to intervene.

Stop Up Demonstration

Judge Kaufman scheduled the execution of the Rosenbergs for the week of Jan. 12, 1953. Leftists stepped up their demonstrations. Pickets marched outside the White House in Washington.

Not all the protests are Communist inspired. Many sincere persons took issue, not so much with the verdict as with the sentence. Albert Einstein was among those who urged clemency.

Late in 1952, the Pope intervened. The head of the Roman Catholic church, without entering into the merits of the case, informed the Justice department of the many appeals he received for intervention in behalf of the Rosenbergs.

Denied Clemency

On Jan. 2, 1953, Judge Kaufman denied the clemency pl his court to the Rosenbergs with the words:

"They chose martyrdom and to keep their lips sealed . . . I still feel that their crime was worse than murder."

His statement strengthened the belief the government might commute the death sentences if the Rosenbergs would confess and name other spies who had escaped detection.

On Jan. 9, five days before the scheduled execution, a stay of execution was served on warden Dehm at Sing Sing as the Rosenbergs could appeal to the White House for clemency. President Truman failed to act on the plea and left office Jan. 20.

Eisenhower Refuses

However, Feb. 11 President Eisenhower refused clemency, saying he was satisfied the Rosenbergs had been "accorded their full measure of justice."

Still a third time, the case went to the Supreme Court. But May 25, 1953, the high court again refused to intervene. Justice Black again dissented and this time was joined by Justice William O. Douglas.

A new execution date was set for Thursday night, June 18, set by a grim coincidence it fell upon the 14th wedding anniversary of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

increases spark plug life 150%... gives you extra mileage, too

Today it is possible for you to enjoy the effect of an engine tune-up simply by changing from your present brand of gasoline to Shell Premium with TCP! You'll feel that increase in power by the time you've finished the second tankful, and as long as you continue to use Shell Premium with TCP.

Here's why. The biggest cause of both fuel and power loss affecting the majority of cars on the road today has been overcome.

In the average car, certain combustion by-products are constantly accumulating both on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. These deposits actually "short-circuit" the spark plugs and cause pre-ignition of the fuel-air mixture in the combustion chamber—especially when you accelerate, when you climb a hill, when you tour the open highway.

To overcome the power-wasting, fuel-wasting effect of these deposits, Shell Research developed a fuel additive—TCP. This remarkable ingredient, now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, actually renders these deposits harmless. Your spark plugs spark as they should, combustion chamber pre-ignition is controlled and your engine takes on new life.

Shell Premium with TCP is indeed the greatest fuel advance since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922.

All cars benefit

Shell Premium with TCP is essential if you have a car with one of the high compression engines and want it to keep on delivering its original power for the normal life of your spark plugs. But even if you drive an older car with 30,000 or more miles on the speedometer, Shell Premium with TCP will "bring back" much of the performance you're missing.

Now in Canada but only at your Shell Dealer's

TCP was originally developed by Shell Research for aviation fuels and until now has been largely restricted to military aircraft.

Today, Shell Premium with TCP is available in this area, but only from your Shell Dealer.

Auxiliary Holds Monthly Meeting At Rawdon

By MRS. PERCY MACMULLEN

The June meeting of Mount Pleasant, Rawdon Missionary Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Will Potts, last week. There were 13 members and six visitors in attendance.

Mrs. Burton Sharpe presided and all sang "My Own Dear Land" with Mrs. Kenneth Wyer as piano accompanist.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave her report and the roll call was answered with missionary messages. The report of the treasurer was read. Miss Shirley Potts gathered the offering which was dedicated with a prayer hymn.

The July meeting will be held at the church hall when the Mission Band members will present the program assisted by the Baby Band. The Auxiliary will be hostess to both bands, their mothers and leaders on Wednesday, July 8.

Healing Ministry

Mrs. Milford Wrightson gave a synopsized "The Healing Ministry" from the study book.

She said that the redemptive work of Jesus includes the body as well as the soul of man, and concern for health is vital in missionary service. In Africa and the babies die and it is a great blessing that the United Church has been able to send consecrated leaders in the field of scientific medicine to help preserve the health of the natives.

Dr. Sidney Gilchrist, M.B.E., serving at the Scott Memorial Hospital Dorzi, pointed out that Canada has one doctor for every 1,000 of population but in Africa there is only one doctor for every 100,000 of the population.

The problem of disease is very common with malaria, leprosy, smallpox, pneumonia, intheria, pleurs, malnutrition, predominating. The native medicine is very inadequate and ancient practices are useless. The village health clinics are promoting a better understanding. Life expectancy is as low as 20 years. Medical science is a great evangelist helping to portray and interpret the Spirit of Jesus Christ.

Quebec Catholic Labor Unions Come to Clash With Premier

By RICHARD DARMAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) —Quebec's Catholic labor unions, in their effort to apply pressure in Quebec's political field, have come to a head-on collision with Premier Duplessis.

The Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, officially supported by Quebec's Roman Catholic clergy in labor matters, has no political party of its own and maintains it has no intention of founding one. But in last summer's Quebec election campaign the CCCL officially backed four Liberal candidates. Three were elected. In most of the province's other ridings, the CCCL urged workers to vote for the Liberal party.

It was the first time that labor actively took part in a Quebec provincial campaign and qualified observers believe at least half of the 23 Liberal members in the Quebec Legislature were elected as a result of labor support.

Against Duplessis

While CCCL leadership made no bones about its anti-Duplessis feelings, some of the membership secretly murmured disagreement with official union policy. Some members felt labor could only injure its cause by throwing its weight openly behind one party or another.

Relations had been strained for years between the Catholic labor organization and Mr. Duplessis, but last summer's election campaign brought a smouldering situation to a head.

In the legislature session following the election, Mr. Duplessis bluntly termed CCCL leaders "agents of disorder." He accused Gaston Ledoux, former president of the Textile Federation (CCCL) and now a Liberal member, of dragging out a bitter textile strike at Louiseville for political purposes.

When the CCCL threatened to call a general work stoppage if the Louiseville trouble were not settled, Mr. Duplessis let CCCL leaders know he would recommend the severest penalties under the law if the plan was carried out. Mr. Duplessis is Quebec's attorney general and in that capacity has charge of the administration of justice.

The CCCL retaliated through its elected spokesmen in the legislature, charging police brutality against workers in industrial conflicts and accusing Mr. Duplessis of behaving like a dictator.

Formed In 1949

The CCCL's Political Action Committee was founded in 1949 shortly after a long asbestos strike in Quebec's Eastern Townships.

The committee conducted its anti - Union Nationale campaign openly through radio and newspapers. Mass meetings of workers were organized in the industrial towns of Asbestos, Jacquiere, Shawinigan, Thetford Mines, Louiseville and St. Joseph d'Alma. The CCCL organ with a circulation of 30,000 carried columns of political campaign matter directed against the government.

The CCCL, at its 31st annual convention last fall, reported it was satisfied with the result of its campaign. It reiterated that the CCCL supports no party as such but only candidates sympathetic to labor.

It says the purpose of action in the political field has been to put power behind its demands for legislative reforms.

One of the reforms sought, for instance, is greater representation in the legislature for urban constituencies. Scores of reforms are sought in the field of labor legislation alone.

Political Action

In a report to the CCCL last fall, the committee's secretary Andre Roy, former editorial writer for the Quebec newspaper L'Action Catholique, said:

"The workers in their daily activity ceaselessly clash against this alliance of the forces of state and finance. That is why they must fight, on the political scene, to return to the state its full and entire freedom . . . ."

Mr. Duplessis has often termed labor's demands as efforts to set up government of the people by one class.

Labor groups who visit his office seeking various legislative changes have heard him repeatedly say that government must look after the needs of all classes. He has stressed his belief that the welfare of the farming class is basic to Quebec's economy.

Catholic labor's decision to push its views in political action has only served to accent widely-differing views held by government and labor.

Labor's partial success in the last provincial election is an indication that its influence is real in urban sections.

Mighty Yankees Eighteen-Game Winning Streak Broken By Lowly Browns

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

(News item:—Yankees say they will beat Giants' all-time record of 26 straight victories).

(With apologies to the "Strawberry Blonde")

And the Yanks yakked on.
"Bring the 'lambs to the slaughter,' said "Case", with a grin
While the Yanks yakked on.
"Oh, what we won't do to those guys from St. Lou, the Bisons they will sing evermore."
Then up came Vic Wertz—and the fans lost their shirts
And the yak was gone.

A LESSON!

The New York Yankees' cop is busted flatter than a sports editor's wallet the day before the ghost walks. The Goliaths of Gotham, strutting proudly down the record trail, boasting long and loud they would smash the all-time record for consecutive victories, chewed large chunks of humble pie last night.

For a bunch of baseball bozos out of St. Louis, thought a stepping stone to the Yankees' unbeaten record, produced a David whose four-bagger slingshot set the proud Bisquerleers back on their haunches and peeved to the American League in general that the Bronx Bashers are not as invincible as their performances of the past month would have people believe.

The Yankees asked for it. They broke baseball tradition along the lines that it is an unwritten law that when a pitcher is headed for a no-hitter, all and sundry keep their big mouths shut. The Grandeos of Gotham, figuring the lowly St. Lou's, with a record of fourteen straight defeats, would prove nothing more than a workout, shot off their yaks to the effect they would break the 1927 Giani undefeated mark of 26 games.

And the Yankee sports writers and experts who labbed the game "leading the lambs to the slaughter" contented themselves with the mere facts in today's despatches. They say Mel Allan, the Yanks's top tonsil, was last seen heading for parts south, and detouring St. Louis.

And the irony of the whole thing is that two Yankee cutoffs were mainly responsible for the failing of the mighty. They are Dusan Pifhelic, who joined with "Ole Hatch" Faize in stifling the Yankee bludgeon, and Vic Wertz, refused by the Yanks in a player deal, who smashed out a two-run homer in the fifth to later Yankee hopes of a record.

The old adage, with the exception of "Native Dancer," to the effect that if you stick your neck out somebody will lop it off, still applies.

• • •

THEY DOOD IT!

The Regents baseball juniors finally emerged from the doldrums of consistent defeat and blossed with the weather and the sunny smiles of Dame Fortune, not to mention the football tactics at times of the opposition, came up with their first victory of the year.

The youngsters took the measure of the Prince Edward Combines the other night, and showed at least if they are not of the ilk of the New York Yankees they are opportunists.

Billy Strahan, who went the route for the youngsters, showed that the new benedict environment has not spoiled his arm; He let the Combines down with four scattered hits besides which he even came with a pair of clouts.

The entire team played a brand of baseball that was vastly improved over their former performances and now that they have struck their stride they should make it mighty interesting for some of the other squads in the loop.

Lord Layton and Lord Blears, accompanied by their manager, Capt. Leslie Holmes, will be in Friday night's team bout feature at the Memorial Arena, opposing the talented twosome of Bo-Bo Brazil and Don Leo Jonathan, who made such a big hit with the fans last week.

Blear and Layton, Pacific champions, are one of the top teams in four-man wrestling today. Their teamwork is as polished as their ditties and appearance. They specialize in rapid, frequent tag exchanges, sometimes tagging one another over 100 times during a bout. Layton, from Surrey, and Blears from Manchester, are big, experienced men. Layton uses his judo chops and English Octopus to advantage, with Blears' long suit being "naval" type of footwork, his educated feet having the power of a knock-out punch, it is said.

Timothy Geohagen, the Irish strongman, will be back in the semi-final, opposing huge Hassan Bey, of Turkey. In the first bout, flying Pat Flanagan will wrestle steve (Mr. America) Stanley.

Gotham Goliaths Meet David In St. Louis' Vic Wertz Whose Slingshot Homer Made History

By BEN PELEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe there's still some hope for the American League. New York Yankees finally lost. St. Louis Browns finally won.

The two longest streaks of the season ran slam-bang into each other at Yankee Stadium Tuesday night and today both are broken, along with several other auxiliary ones.

For the Browns it was their first victory in 15 games, an all-time record losing streak for the club. St. Louis also ended New York's winning streak as a starting Yankee pitcher and snapped Jon Collins' 14-game hitting streak.

Ford Loses First

Ford, a brilliant young southpaw, had won 16 games since coming to the Yankees in 1925, all as a starter. He lost once in relief in his first year.

Duane Pillette, once Yankee property, combined with old Satch Paige to baffle the Yankee sluggers on six hits. Vic Wertz, whom the Yankees turned down in the proposed deal last week, homered in the fifth inning with Jim Ryck on base.

The Yankee half of that fifth inning provided the only joy for the home folks. With two men on big Johnny Mize stepped up as a pinch hitter looking for his 2,000th major league hit. He rapped a single into right field, driving in the only Yankee tally.

The Braves won a pair from Philadelphia Tuesday night, 6-3 in 10 innings and 3-2, while St. Louis Cardinals were disposing of Brooklyn Dodgers 5-3.

As a result the Dodgers were replaced at the top by Milwaukee and the Phillies lost third place to the Cardinals.

Pittsburgh split a daylight doubleheader with Chicago, winning 4-3 and losing 4-2, while New York Giants divided a twilight-night pair at Cincinnati. The Giants took the first game 7-5 but lost the second, 13-5.

In the other American League action, all at night, Chicago defeated Washington 5 to 1 in 11 innings; Detroit surprised Boston 5-3 and Philadelphia won its seventh straight at the expense of Cleveland Indians 9-7.

Trailing by five runs after five innings of the first game the Braves pitched up a rally in the sixth on Eddie Mathews' 20th home run of the year and tied it with three in the eighth off Karl Drews and Robin Roberts, who was working in relief. The winning run came home in the 10th when rookie Thornton Lippert, the 24th Philadelphia pitcher, walked Bill Bruton with the bases loaded.

Majors Cling To Top Spot; Trim Elgins 7-3

LONDON (CP)—London Majors Tuesday night held on to first place in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League by defeating St. Thomas Elgins 7-3.

Trailing 2-0 going into the fifth inning, the Majors drew even with a one run in their half and sewed up the game with a five-run rally in the fifth.

Jack Brumm yielded the Elgins only eight hits to score his second straight win of the season. Starter Don Sommers was the loser.

A triple by Gerry Mack in the fifth, scoring two runs, headed the hitting. He also had the big hit of the game.

Peewee Baseball

League Scores

Blaind's Sports hammered out a 24-13 victory over Boyce's in a peewee baseball league game last night. The game was closely fought up to the end of the sixth inning when the score stood at 11-10 for the winners.

Donovan was the hero of the piece. He hurled steady ball for Blaind's getting up 12 hits, striking out four and walking eight. He smashed out a homer, triple, double and single. N. Till got four singles, Gordon three and a double and Westfall, two homers.

Moore and McDonald gave up 25 hits for Boyce's Boys, whiffing two and walking nine. Dalnard paced them with three singles.

Test Match Ends in Draw

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP)—Rain robbed England of a great chance to beat Australia in the first test cricket match at Trent Bridge. The five-day game ended out in a draw Tuesday after a continued drizzle limited play to two hours on the last two days.

England, with seven wickets still to fall, needed 187 to beat Australia when Len Hutton and Reg Simpson went into bat on a sodden pitch for the last two hours. They took the score for 42 for one loss in one but the match ended with England still needing 109 to win.

As a result the pursuit of runs might have spelled defeat, Hutton, 80 not out, and Simpson, 23 not out, stalled for time.

It was a fine finish to a game that had been sparked with the bowling record and courage of Alec Bedser.

Final scores were: Australia 249 and 125. England 144 and 120 for one. Match drawn.

England will have four more games in which to vie for the Ashes.

Frankford Mgr. Suspended By Softball Body

In order to clean up all the outstanding business before the executive of the Belleville and District Softball Association, President Barrage called a meeting on Monday evening. The game in Frankford, which was forfeited by the umpire, Phil Lott, was awarded to Point Anne and the Frankford manager, Herb Rankin, had another game suspention tacked on beside the one he was ordered not to play by the president.

The report of the game as given by the umpire in question was read to the meeting by the secretary and also was read a defence by Mr. Rankin. The executive felt that the umpire's decision must stand in the matter.

In respect to games played the one between the C. N. R. and the Glen Roys in which the C.N.R. could not field a full team was awarded to the Juniors. The game between the Glen Roys and the Northern Electric in which the Northern team could not field a team was also awarded to the Glens. It was shown that the Northern Electric were willing to play the game on the date allotted but the late umpire could not have a full team to play.

Secretary was authorized to notify all managers of teams not to allow William John Carson on their bench until the A. A. U. has dealt with his reinstatement, the player having been suspended list for the past two years, although the executive has recommended his reinstatement to the O. A. S. A.

It was also decided to follow the rules implicitly with respect to playing of games, that is the manager of the home team as to whether the field is fit for playing or not and after the teams take the field, the charge of the game reverts to the umpire.

Ottawa Edges Montreal 3-2; Orioles Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The worm turned in at least two International Baseball League games Tuesday night as the ninth place Ottawa Athletic handed the pace-setting Montreal Royals a 3-2 setback and the fifth-place Baltimore Orioles blanked the second-place Rochester Redwings 3-0.

In other games, the third-place Buffalo Bisons downed Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 and the cellar-dwelling Springfield Cubs defeated Syracuse Chiefs 6-5.

At Ottawa, Hal Bevan's two-run double and a single by Al Pinkston in the ninth gave the Athletics their victory.

The final-inning rally snapped the A's three-game losing streak and gave reliefer Ed Hrabcsak, who came on in the ninth, his third win against two losers. Bob Lubacsek went the route for the Royals.

Ken Heintzleman pitched Baltimore to victory while Jack Fanboir, who opposed him, went seven innings before leaving for a pinch hitter. He gave up only five hits and a run, but Baltimore bopped on reliefer Jack Crimlan for four straight hits in the eighth for another run.

Buffalo staged a fourth-inning scoring spree to bag all the runs they needed for the second straight over Toronto. Bill Volselle, who recorded a brilliant rescue performance to protect Milt Jordan's sixth victory against one defeat.

Springfield's Columbids gave up 10 hits but was tight in the pinches and turned in his third round triumph against two defeats.

How to Play Winning Baseball

By ARTHUR MANN

PITCHING—PART V

Since most fast balls involve backspin, and curves depend upon some type of forward spin, all other deliveries are characterized by no spin at all, or as little as possible. A spinning ball is natural, for the way he helps it overcome air pressure in its flight. That's why the earth turns in its speedy trip around the sun, or throws this, try dropping a light ball directly under you, then lift it with your foot—no spin. Note the wobble and you will see the effect of a knuckle ball and accurately with minimum spin or none at all.

Ever since William A. "Candy" Cummings first astounded a batting order with his curve in 1867, pitchers have tried to throw a ball with no spin. One of the most successful was right-handed Jack Chesbro, of Pittsburgh in the National League and New York in the American. He is the only pitcher to lead both leagues in percentage (1902 and 1904). He came up with a spitball in 1901, some say, though it was acknowledged his idea when he pitched Pittsburg to the pennant.

Then pitball results from placing saliva under the seam of the first two fingers, permitting the ball to slip out with no friction at the same time it leaves the thumb. In the absence of spin, pressure is built up in front of the speeding ball, and a vacuum in the rear, causing the ball to wobble in one direction or another at the plate. The major league rules committee outlawed the use or foreign substance by pitchers in 1920, including saliva, though seventeen spitball specialists of record were allowed to continue. The ban resulted in a constant hunt for new ways to throw a non-spinning ball, and the search continues even today.

Eddie Cicotte, of White Sox fame and infamy, perfected a "shine ball" that had the wobbling effect of a spit ball. He rubbed or polished a coin-sized spot on the ball to reduce friction under his two fingers. Bullet Joe Bush, of Red Sox and Yankee glory, perfected the first fork ball to achieve minimum spin. He spread his first two fingers wide, hammed the ball deep in crotch, balanced it with his thumb and had his secret weapon a minimum spin ball.

The pitchers discovered that they could reduce spin by lifting their finger tips as the ball was released. They went further and hammed the ball back into the crotch formed by the two fingers and the thumb, gripping with the first knuckles of the fingers, rather than the tips. After that came a change ball, a sort of one-pot effect, which was brought into prominence during the 1950 season by Jim Konstanty, relief star of the pennant-winning Phillies. Each of these efforts was a fake to pass the spinning curve, and, at the same time, to produce a change of pace from the fast ball to upset the batter's timing.

But the knuckle ball is the granddaddy of them all, for it is more than a non-spinning delivery. It is one of the very best weapons of pitching, for it can be used as a change of pace off fast ball or curve, and yet do enough tricks to substitute for a curve. One of the first to gain fame with the knuckle-ball was Nap Rucker, left-handed star of the Brooklyn Dodgers. There is no record of who threw the first knuckler, but it was Rucker's stock in trade as early as 1907. Another early thrower was Jack handed Nick Allrock, star of the White Sox in 1906.

Fred Fitzsimmons threw what was perhaps the best knuckle-ball because it wasn't a true knuckler in effect. He could control the break in a manner that stands as a model of deliberation. Fitz-simmons's thumb and little finger gripped the ball at the sides. His three middle fingers (some pitchers use only two) were doubled at the top so that the nails were just behind the line of stitching. He would throw the ball spasmodically and release it as an ordinary knuckle ball, but by gently pushing with his finger tips, he would impart the slightest forward spin to prevent the ball from wobbling wildly.

"By pushing more with my first finger," Fitzsimmons confided, "I could give the ball a slightly diagonal forward turn and it would break in and down exactly toward a right-handed batter, or away from a left-hander. By pushing more with my third finger, I could make it break the other way."

Fitzsimmons' explanation of his spinning knuckler lays bare the most effective weapon in pitching. The sinking speedball. Whether the effect is achieved by knuckle grip, or rolling over the hand from a side-arm delivery a la Al-exander, the sinking effect will fool the batter most often.

Pitchers with a natural three-quarter delivery have thrown a deceptive sinker, which is nothing more than a ball gripped on either side instead of top and bottom, and thrown with a slight forward spin. Many modern pitchers—Bob Lemon, Larry Jansen, Johnny Sain, to name a few — have developed a sinker and called it a slider. It is also called a "nickle curve" and a "nothing curve". It is a natural type of pitching ball, but with the axis or angle of spin turned. It curves slightly, but the chief effectiveness lies in the sinking, sliding quality, and invariably the batter hits on top of it, assuring the defence of an infield play.

By experimenting with spins and grips and practising sameness of motion and delivery (the slower to good control), the young pitcher can easily develop his own favorite method of holding a curve, fast ball, knuckler and change of pace deliveries. That is why understanding the reason for spin and the angle of spin are so important. Knowing what you are doing; and why, is the shortest cut to pitching confidence.

Dreyer, who now has a 3-1 record on his current trip to the States, dropped Cardell for a count of eight in the seventh round and had the Connecticut fighter on the verge of a knockout with another well-timed attack near the end of the round.

Dr. Francis Candia, New York state athletic commission physician, examined Cardell after the seventh and permitted the fight to go on. The defeat was Cardell's 20th in 89 fights.

Tennis Stars Win Rounds

LONDON (AP) — Australia's Ken Rosewall and three Americans advanced Tuesday into the third round of the Queens Club grass court tournament — the major test leading to the Wimbledon championships June 22—July 4.

Funny eh — except when it happens to you? Oddly enough we are all human and act this way one time or another. Those of us who do, and are unlucky, find ourselves in a serious plight when someone is injured on or around our premises because of our neglect or misjudgment.

PERSONAL AND RESIDENCE LIABILITY insurance was designed to help us at such times. Remember, 100% only does this policy indemnify us against legal judgments against us—it also takes care of legal expenses, win or lose.

Latta Defeats Camifton 11-4

Playing on their home diamond the Latta team evened up their series with Camilton with a 11-4 victory Monday night.

Doc Empson threw his veteran left hander Garfield Hall against the Camilton team and with the exception of four fifth and seventh inning when the Camilton team scored 3 in the fifth and one in the seventh was in no difficulty; with eight strike-outs to his credit he held the Camilton team in check.

Dey started for Camilton but the infield booted the ball around for five errors coupled with Sullivan's home run in the fourth with three on led to his retirement with Good Oliver finishing up, Latta scoring three off his delivery. They scored one in the second and three in the third.

Sullivan, Ellis, Rice and Slewerd were the big hitters for Latta; Cole and Marmer were best for Camilton. Marmer's home run was a feature catch in centre field to rob Scott of a sure hit.

The lineups:

RCGA Announces Rules Changes

TORONTO (CP) — The Royal Canadian Golf Association announced Tuesday night that professional golfers now may be reinstated as amateurs after a two-year period of non-pro playing. Formerly a five-year period was necessary before reinstatement could be considered.

The change, along with others, was made to conform with rules of the British Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club in Britain, the association said.

Hereafter, the rule still will be that a golfer serving five years as a professional normally will not be eligible to return to amateur status.

There was only one major upset. Mrs. N. J. Carlson of Toronto Rosedale, who had qualified for the 11th time, was beaten by Mrs. W. G. Jackson of Toronto Thorhill, 2 and 1.

TWO GOLF ACES

BRANTFORD (CP) — Frank Laitar scored a hole-in-one on the 306-yard ninth hole of the Brantford Arrowhead Golf Club Tuesday. He used a No. 3 wood from a lofty tee and with a high wind at his back. The ball landed on the green on the first bounce and rolled into the cup.

Jack Shewchuk, former defence man with Boston Bruins hockey club, also scored a hole-in-one Tuesday. He shot his on the short, tricky 11th hole of the country club.

The Kibitzer

Your troubles are not over just because you bid a bridge hand correctly. Or a sudden spate of unexpected problems at play may come up to make your psych rough and rocky.

Such was the case in this tournamented deal:

	NORTH
	♥A 3
	♦K Q J 2
	♣9 6
WEST		EAST
♠J 9 7 2		♠5
♥K 9 6 3		♥Q 10 8 5 2
♦10 5		♦9 4 3
♣A Q J 8		♣K 10 3
	SOUTH
	♠K Q 9 4
	♥7
	♣7 5 4 2

Nearly all the south players were in a contract of four spades. They were able to reach there without much trouble. But some tripped up when they found the bad break in trumps against them.

To make it tougher, west started with an opening lead of that singleton diamond or his. Came the matter of entries to plague those who began feeling their way along the usual lines.

After winning trick one, some decided to ruff two of dummy's hearts with south trumps that were small. Not a bad idea. There was still the assumption that trumps could be picked up later in three rounds.

There was only one bad feature to this plan of play here. They found out too late that trouble popped up when they tried to get back to the north hand. Those who tried to get back with a diamond flopped with a jolt. These landed with a loss.

Others first took two rounds of trumps before starting the plan of ruffing hearts. Some of these got into trouble when their first two trump tricks were taken with north ace and south king or queen.

Only those made the grade who cashed the first two trumps with king and queen of spades. And these had to be content with the ruff of only one heart. They then had to lose a trick.

Trick four was with heart ace. South ruffed a heart. Now he led his last south trump and finessed the dummy ten that held. The last west trump was picked up by cashing the dummy spade ace. Three more diamond tricks still now be enough for the needed ten tricks.

AT THE BELLE

Elizabeth is Queen, Color Feature of Coronation

Within a short period of the actual Coronation of Canada's Queen Elizabeth, the Belle Theatre today will bring you the full story of the Coronation, in film, a close up and the feature film was made entirely in color, by the same process used to record "The Royal Journey", the story of Her Majesty's visit to Canada.

Patrons of the Belle Theatre will be able to see what those thousands who journeyed to England could not see...the complete and full story of the Coronation. For while the spectators in England could only see one part of the greatest spectacle of our time, theatre patrons will be able to see the whole pageantry through the magic of the motion picture screen—and in natural color.

This full length feature film "Elizabeth Is Queen", is showing Today, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Belle Theatre, photographed from the moment when the eight Windsor greys are harnessed to the moment when the procession moves off through the gates of the palace.

The Coronation ceremonies in Westminster Abbey are featured in full detail showing the actual crowning of Her Majesty. After that the color cameras pick up the homeward route and record on the Queen's head.

AT THE CAPITOL THEATRE

The Bowery Boys

Once again the Bowery Boys, headed by Leo Gorcey and Huntz Hall, are on their way to delight audiences at the Capitol Theatre.

The popular boune has booked "No Holds Barred" their best comedy, as the next feature attraction, opening Thursday. "No Holds Barred" takes the boys to the professional wrestling ring, with Gorcey as a manager and Hall as an invincible grappler with powers that even he cannot understand.

As the Mystery Champion, he has a rugged time, for one after the other he faces six of the best known and most popular wrestlers in the professional ring today. They are Hombre Montana, Henry Kolky, Pat Fraley, Frank Jares, Ted Christy and John Smith.

"Cow Country"

On the same program "Cow Country," the thrilling picture spectacle of vast herds of beef cattle being stampeded over miles of open range land and then driven into a box canyon, for a mass slaughter by mined explosive is the driving climax of "Cow Country," the widely-heralded Scott R. Dunlap production for Allied Artists, which is the added attraction at the Capitol Theatre.

The big picture stars popular Edmond O'Brien as the leader of a group of Texas cattle barons, facing the fierce opposition of organized raids on their herds, and a depressed market created by a small group of wealthy crooks determined to get control of the entire cattle empire. Exposing the plot, O'Brien breaks it wide open, and the picture ends in a fighting climax.

REMEMBER PETS

MONTREAL (CP) — Citizens going on vacation were urged not to forget the family pets. The SPCA said citizens should either take household pets along or else make sure someone is looking after them while the house-owner is absent.

TIRE KING SMASHES PANES

BRANTFORD (CP)—A 35-pound steel tire rim from the wheel of a 18-ton truck rumbled 30 feet across the main street Tuesday "like a gilded sinister" and smashed two big plate glass windows in A. G. Goldie's hardware store. The tire rim was propelled by a tire blowout on a truck loaded with seven tons of coal driven by Herbert Stevenson of Vineland.

W. A. Holds Monthly Meeting At Rawdon

Chisamble, a 90-bed hospital, is served by Dr. Walter Strangway, his wife and two nurses, Misses Edith Radley and Edith Brown. A contribute greatly to the efficiency of the excellent building will be by of the work.

Dondi Hospital has 72 beds and in one year they had 1,500 in patients, of whom 756 were men. They had 10,000 out patients, some 480 operations were performed and approximately 100 maternity cases.

Dr. Sidney Gilchrist is physician and surgeon, with Miss Mary E. MacDougall as nurse and Miss Frances Bolton, laboratory technician.

Promoting Health

Our health experts are promoting their activities in order to eliminate the source of various infections. Each doctor has to be a specialist and has to find time for dozens of special procedures and he has to help train native helpers. The mass education program tries to instill into the minds of the Africans the importance of proper diet.

The world health organization points out that three fourths of the diseases of the world should be controlled. Insect pests, pure water supply and proper sanitation would be a big help.

Christian missions have transformed homes, bettered educational standards, and provided health clinics. But there are not enough missionaries to cope with the life in Africa.

Mrs. Will McAdam sod Mrs. Carleton Potts sang, "The Voice of My Savior." Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a poem, "The Light Upon the Quarry."

Pastor Speaks

Rev. R. R. Bonsteel spoke on "Christian Stewardship" and the value of missionary money and prayers in assisting Africa. He also voiced the importance of summer camps and then spoke briefly on the theme, "What is poison and what is food for the mind?" The pastor reviewed cheap books, poor class of comics, and poor quality of some shows as being very detrimental and a harm to the minds of children.

Children should be provided with interesting story books so they will develop the joy of reading. If young people are provided with good reading standards they will automatically become unsatisfied with poor reading material.

Rev. Bonsteel reverted to his text, "Fix you minds on the things that are pure and thus provide food for your souls."

The devotional opened with "I Love to Tell the Story." Mrs. Grant Hubble read the Bible lesson on the theme, "I Go to Prepare a Place for You."

Inspirational Address

Mrs. James Sharp, Ridge Road, and a former resident of Mount Pleasant, gave a very uplifting address on the theme, "The good news about Jesus as found in the Gospels." She gave a brief glimpse of the everlasting promises found in the Bible and told a following of Jesus needs to have a humble penitent heart and then God pleases His cross and no person can bear a cross without resorting to prayer.

Consecrated helpers are needed to carry on God's work and the speaker paid tribute to the faithful women who have carried on the Mount Pleasant W.M.S. since 1901. Today there are two mighty giants stalking the world.

The first is the Communist menace and the second is communism. In concluding, Mrs. Sharp said God has provided another golden opportunity for us in "The Hunter Mission" coming to St. Paul's.

She emphasized the great need for more missionaries, evangelists, teachers, who will be faithful to the great work of the church.

The pastor called for inspirational service with prayer.

Gigolini Tries To Put Chain Back on Feet

By DEREK JAMESON

LONDON (Reuters)—Gigolini, who rose from a shilling-a-week-and-dinner waiter to become the intimate of kings and millionaires, is back in business.

At 81, the Italian-born king of restaurateurs takes over the management of the British Gordon hotel empire, which has not paid a dividend since he left it for London's newly-opened Dorchester hotel in 1931.

Born in the Italian province of Piedmont, Giovanni Cigolini ran away from home at 14 and worked as a cafe waiter in Lyons for five francs a month.

He made his way from rags to riches until he dominated Europe's most glittering hotels—the Grand in Rome, the London House at Nice, Claridge's in London, the Hotel du Palais at Biarritz.

"Biarritz is Cigolini and Cigolini is Biarritz," wrote poet Rudyard Kipling. He fed Madame Melba and Madame Patti, the darlings of the opera, Caruso and Marconi, King Edward VIII, Alfonso of Spain and the Empress Eugenie.

Now silvery-haired and slightly bent, but still spry, Cigolini wants to bring back the old pomp and glitter of carefree Europe.

How does he hope to bring to life the memories of the past? "It is food-food-that matters," he said. "I want to bring back the old food of the old school. It will take time. I want my staff of 3,500 to be very polite and to serve people in a way that makes them feel at home."

And the staff of the Mayfair hotel, biggest in the Gordon chain, where he has his office, is already on its toes, ready to listen to the old maitre d'hotel.

Wet Weather Causes Rapid Growth of Hay

TORONTO (CP)—Some farmers were seeding and harvesting at the same time during the last week, the Ontario department of agriculture said Tuesday.

In its weekly crop report, the department said wet weather has caused rapid growth of hay, winter wheat and rye. It has also slowed planting of crops such as corn, soybeans and some grain crops.

As a result, some farmers were cutting hay this week, while others were just getting around to planting their corn.

Haying in some counties, including Northumberland, was far ahead of other years. Much of the hay being cut now will be used for grass silage.

Continued rains have hampered Lambton county fruit growers in their battle against apple scab. Farmers in Brant county report the seed corn maggot was flourishing and many fields had to be replanted.

In southwestern and central areas, fall wheat and rye were heading out and showing promise of a good crop. Tomatoes, tobacco and early potatoes were also making good headway.

In northern Ontario pastures were reported good and most livestock was out and in good condition.

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario department of highways said Tuesday $2,000,000 is provided in the 1953 provincial budget for elimination of level crossings in the province.

The department's statement was made before the board of transport commissioners here. A highways spokesman said the department recommends that the $2,000,000 figure be increased in future years.

The department was prepared to accept a proportionately higher share of the costs than the railways. The highways department suggestion was made contingent on the board's consideration of this proposal and others.

Rhee Frees 25,000 Anti-Red Prisoners

Rok Army Leader Threatens Action If Arrests Made

Allies Angry at Rhee's Act; Affect on Truce Doubtful

By GLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO (AP)—About 25,000 militant, anti-Red North Koreans fled Allied prison camps today as South Korean guards turned their backs to open revolt against the United Nations command.

President Syngman Rhee ordered the prisoners freed in an un-precedented move that caught his Allies flatfooted and left them resentful.

Rhee's arbitrary order for the first time turned South Korea's vociferous anti-truce threats into direct action.

No official source would speculate whether that would delay or block an armistice that had seemed only an arm's reach away.

First reaction from observers was that Rhee's move would not keep the Allies from signing an armistice agreement.

However, some sources said the Reds might balk and demand delivery of the prisoners. They were part of 40,000 anti-Red North Koreans and Chinese who refused to go home and thus became a problem that was resolved only last week after months of negotiations.

17 Fugitives Killed

Rhee's order came Wednesday night. By 5 a.m. 25,000 prisoners had slipped away in the darkness and scattered through South Korea.

With most of the 16,000 South Korean guards standing by idly, small numbers of surprised U.S. soldiers tried to stop the flight with rifle fire, but they were too few.

Nine prisoners were killed and 16 were wounded.

UN troops recaptured 971 prisoners, even as Lt.-Gen. Won Yong Duk, South Korean provost marshal, warned that anyone who tried to arrest them—"regardless of nationality"—would be dealt with severely. He said Rhee had ordered them freed.

As the news became known, the 8th army cancelled all leaves for Allied troops.

The problem of rounding up the prisoners appeared almost impossible—many South Koreans who had been impressed into the North Korean Army. All could blend into the mass of other South Koreans unmarked by language or physical differences.

The UN command was relying almost entirely on radio broadcasts asking the prisoners to return, even as South Korea's Radio Pusan broadcast a message from Rhee urging civilians to house and feed them.

The UN broadcasts told the prisoners they had made a mistake in leaving the prison camps. They promised no reprisals and assured the prisoners they would be set free after an armistice is signed.

Meanwhile, Gen. Thomas W. Herren, U.S. commander of POW camps, conferred with Gen. Yun Yup Talk, South Korean Army chief of staff, without reaching any solution.

"Talk was inconsultial," Herren said, "and he made it clear that it was all in the hands of President Rhee."

Allies Resentful

Pte. Jim Golcloh of Akron, O., said: "We gave him everything. We do everything for him and now he turns around and kicks us in the teeth."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: After a dull and rainy day today, skies are beginning to clear over most of Southern Ontario this morning. Pleasant, mainly sunny warm weather will prevail over these regions today and Friday. Across the north, however, showers and thunderstorms will occur today and a good part of Friday, which is a risk that some or two may drift down across Southern Ontario tonight or early Friday.

$300,000 Given To Subsidize Cheese Sales

TORONTO (CP)—An order-in-council approving payment of $300,000 to subsidize Ontario cheese sales to Britain last year was passed by cabinet last week, government officials said today.

The government established a special fund of $300,000 from which payments may be made under an agreement made last July with the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association to guarantee payment of six cents a pound on all checked cheese.

Payments will be made to support the price of cheese sales made by Ontario producers to Britain in the last six months of 1952. The Ontario contribution is subsidiary to subsidization made by the federal government.

Brand as Lie Charge West Provoked Riots

BONN (AP)—West German authorities today branded as "A feeble lie" claims by Moscow's foreign and the East German Communist government that the bloody anti-Communist riots in Soviet East Berlin were provoked by "Western agents."

"That is complete nonsense," a government spokesman added, "it has been unequivocally established that at least 100,000 persons participated in Wednesday's demonstrations in East Berlin. It has also been definitely established that the demonstrations were spontaneous. Their motives are clear and obvious—it was a demonstration against the Soviet system of oppression which can be maintained only with Soviet bayonets."

Politicians, press and public denounced the Russians for shooting unarmed German civilians.

Swiss May Alter Decision to Act On Truce Bodies

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—Swiss Foreign Minister Petitpierre said today "new difficulties" in Korea may force Switzerland to reconsider her readiness to agree on the neutral nations prisoner-of-war and armistice commission in Korea.

In a statement to the upper house of the Swiss Parliament, Petitpierre said that the release of 25,000 anti-Communist prisoners of war in South Korea, ordered this morning by President Syngman Rhee, "considerably changes the situation."

Petitpierre said Switzerland had agreed to serve on the five-country POW commission on the understanding that all the prisoners in South Korea were under the complete control of the United Nations command.

He made no direct reference to the immediate attitude of the Swiss government in a risk that Rhee's act may affect the armistice, but said "it now appears . . . as though the circumstances occurred this morning."

Outline of the Belleville - Trenton bypass is shown in the map. The $1,000,000 four-lane highway will eventually form a section of the Ontario trans-provincial expressway reaching from Windsor to Quebec province. The length of the new section will be slightly over 10.7 miles. The cloverleaf into Belleville will be on Highway 14 instead of 37 as shown on map.

DRAFT OF TRUCE THOUGHT READY FATE UNCERTAIN

Release of Anti-Reds May Delay Signing

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR

MUNSAN (AP)—The draft of a Korean truce apparently was completed today but its fate might hinge on President Syngman Rhee's open defiance of his allies in arbitrarily releasing 25,000 anti-Red prisoners of war.

Rhee's order opening the gates of four PoW camps in this bitterly-aching area was in direct opposition to the armistice terms.

Even as the prisoners scattered, it appeared that all details of an armistice agreement had been wrapped up and that the text was ready for initialing.

Preparations for exchanging thousands of war prisoners were hurried by both sides. UN officials speculated on whether Rhee's action might delay the return of some 13,000 UN prisoners held by the Reds. At least 18 are Canadians.

Anticipated Delay

Official UN sources in Tokyo said they did not expect Rhee's move to wreck the armistice, but a delay was anticipated. The Reds might demand delivery of the escaped prisoners before signing a truce.

Staff officers who have been putting the finishing touches on the armistice wound up their sessions at 12:30 a.m. and translators went to work immediately. They presumably were putting the document into English, Korean and Chinese.

The staff officers recessed indefinitely.

There was no announcement as to when the senior negotiators would meet to approve the text.

Some observers said it was possible the armistice agreement would have to be sent to Washington and UN headquarters in New York for approval. This would take several days.

Prepare For Truce

Meanwhile, both Red and UN officials reacted as though a truce were still no more than a few days away.

Communist work crews tore down mud huts in Panmunjom and began construction of what appeared to be a large permanent building. This may be the site of the official signing and could serve as headquarters for the military armistice commission.

UN officials stepped up the job of clearing sites for the exchange prisoners and senior officers who will serve on the military armistice commission flew to Korea.

Riot-Bloodied East Berlin Counts at Least 16 Dead

BERLIN (CP)—An uneasy quiet settled over embattled East Berlin today as the ball-ruby ends to wounds in the wake of anti-Communist riots that took at least 16 lives.

German truck drivers crossing the 105 miles of highway between West Germany and Berlin relayed to West Berlin police uncon-firmed rumors that Red police also had shot and killed 22 rioters in Magdeburg Wednesday, and that similar riot-strikes against the Communist government erupted in Dresden, Chemnitz, Dessau and Brandenburg.

Machine-Gun Fire Heard

Machine - gun fire that ripped along the East-West zonal frontier in the heart of the city from Wednesday noon into the night was heard again early today.

Martial law, slapped on East Berlin Wednesday in the peak of bloody street fighting, was extended today to other cities of East Germany.

East German police said Russian authorities had placed the city of Potsdam (120,000 population 10 miles outside Berlin) and Babelsberg (15,000 population) under the edict. It bans all public gatherings and imposes a night-long curfew.

The Communists' Radio Berlin reported over and over that the outburst of 50,000 workers against the Red regime—put down only by Soviet intervention—was steamed by "Western agents."

Generally Uniform

Western anti-Communist reaction to the riots also was generally uniform. In Washington, Bonn and other Western capitals the outbreak was viewed generally as a damaging blow to Soviet claims of creating a workers' paradise, a monkey wrench in the new Red peace offensive, and a powerful spur to pressure for unification of Germany.

Union Vote Ordered Among Uranium Miners

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan labor relations board has ordered a vote among miners of the Rix-Athabasca uranium mine in northwest Saskatchewan to determine whether they want the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), allegedly Communist-dominated, as their bargaining agent.

Dean C. Crosbie, chairman of the board, said today the board is not satisfied the union represents a majority of the uranium miners.

Arrangements are being made for the vote and it likely will be held within the next week, he said.

East Berlin Anti-Red Riots To Affect East-West Relations

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—East Berlin's anti-Communist uprising was certain to have a profound effect on relations between Western powers and the Soviet bloc.

That view was voiced today by U. S. officials who said there will be intensive consultations among the United States, American, French and West German governments on the whole situation. The unexpected decided outburst and what steps to take.

First estimates made by authorities here concentrated on these points:

1. Russia appears to have suffered a severe propaganda blow through the demonstration that workers' paradise. This will consider it the workers' paradise. This must be related to the fact that in Russia the Communists have agreed to a prisoner-of-war repatriation formula recognizing that thousands of Red Chinese and North Koreans do not want to go home.

2. Pressures for unification of German probably will become much more acute. A review of the whole Western position on the critical issue is considered certain in the light of the new situation. The extent and violence of anti-Communist sentiment shown by the Reds do not hold all the scene.

3. The argument of those who see little profit in an early meeting between Western leaders and Prime Minister Malenkov may be strengthened. Evidence was seen in the feeling that one of Russia's peace gestures may actually have been directed at the West's weaknesses behind the Iron Curtain. It is believed that this is true, a premature Big Four meeting might tend to strengthen the Soviet position in the world. It is expected that the Russians would make a play for Western acceptance in some way of their hold over the Eastern European satellites.

4. The unrest in East Berlin, coupled with various reports of discontent elsewhere in East Germany and in Czechoslovakia, raises the possibility that Russia's hold on Eastern Europe may be more vulnerable than had been supposed. For the Eisenhower administration the feeling that the liberation for the satellite peoples, the possibility is one to be considered with great care and interest.

120 U.S. SOLDIERS, 7 CREW MEMBERS KILLED IN CRASH

Globemaster Transport Plunges After Takeoff

TOKYO (AP)—A giant C-24 Globemaster plowdecked out of the Tokyo sky near Tokyo today and crashed in flames carrying at least 127 and possibly 130 Americans to their deaths in the world's worst air disaster.

The U. S. Air Force said 53 bodies had been identified and the death toll could be 127 or 130. The huge doubledeck transport was carrying 120 to 123 U. S. Army reinforcements and airmen back to battle stations in Korea. The plane had a crew of seven.

There were no survivors.

The four-engined Globemaster crashed seconds after taking off from the U. S air base at Tachikawa, 25 miles west of Tokyo.

An eyewitness said the giant plane "somersaulted like a bird and plummeted to the ground."

A Japanese farmer, Masayasu Kinoshita, said "the huge plane came skimming over the trees by the highway. Two of its four propellers were not turning. Then it circled and crashed and exploded."

On Special Flight

The plane was a special flight for soldiers, not one of the regular courier runs between Japan and Korea.

The worst previous air disaster was the crash of another Globemaster near Lawson air force base at Moses Lake, Wash., which killed 87 last Dec. 26.

An eyewitness said Stan Carter, reporting from the scene, said sickened air force medics toiled under searchlights carrying broken bodies to ambulances across 100 yards of deep mud.

"The scene was like something out of hell," Carter said.

"There was the terrible smell of burned oil and burned human flesh intermingled.

"The bodies were terribly mangled.

"One medic tried to pick up one body and put it in a stretcher. The head fell off.

"The wreckage was all jangled into one concentrated spot—the plane must have come straight down," Carter said. Tons of mud from the bulls of crumpled metal 30 feet deep.

Names Not Released

Names of the dead will not be released until next of kin are notified.

The air force said there was some light rain and fog as the plane left Tachikawa but the weather was not bad enough to ground aircraft.

It said there was a ceiling of about 1,000 feet and visibility of about one mile.

Japanese farmers were the first to reach the blazing plane.

Belleville-Trenton Section Part Of New Expressway

Announcement of Plan Made By Elmer Sandercock, MPP.

Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P., Hastings West Riding, announces that the Ontario Department of Highways, on authority of Hon. George H. Doucett, the Minister, is calling tenders in the near future for a four-lane traffic bypass that will serve the Trenton-Belleville area. Located about two miles north of King's Highway No. 2, on the average, the 10.7 miles of controlled access highway will, eventually, form a section of Ontario's Trans-Provincial expressway which will extend from the Quebec border a few miles west of Montreal to Windsor. It will thus serve the more populous areas of all southern Ontario.

Two initial contracts are to be let for the Trenton-Belleville Bypass. The easterly one extends from the Trent River east to Lots 18 and 19 of Sidney township, a distance of 3.3 miles. The easterly contract will extend 5.5 miles from the latter east through Lot 18 and 19, Sidney township, to Highway 14, which joins with from Picton in Prince Edward county through Belleville, to Marmora, junction point with Highway No. 7, which is being partly incorporated in Ontario's program, 1,432 miles, of the Trans-Canada Highway.

May Cost Over $1 Million

Unofficial estimate of total cost of grading and culvert construction on the Trenton-Belleville Bypass is that it will likely exceed $1,000,000. Other contracts will be required when the dual highway is ready for paving.

Location of the Trenton-Belleville Bypass is designed to give maximum traffic congestion relief in that area. Intensively built but keeping traffic streams using it near those thriving centres which are selecting points for some of the most delightful vacation districts along the Great Lakes which are to be found to the Bay of Quinte and Prince Edward county area. The Trenton-Belleville Bypass also is expected to direct a heavy volume of summer and autumn tourist traffic to Highway No. 7 about 25 miles north on the average, which links in to Highway No. 2 from the beautiful Rideau, Kawartha and Muskoka Lakes areas, to Kingston and Montreal.

Relieve Congestion

"When this Trenton-Belleville section of Ontario's Trans-Provincial Highway is completed," Elmer Mr. Doucett commented, "the development should help greatly in relieving serious traffic congestion through Belleville, Trenton municipalities and on Highway No. 2 which passes through the Bay of Quinte area from end to end. Highway No. 2 is not built simply by starting at one end and going through towards a Central Ontario meeting place. Instead, building controlled access highways to by-pass traffic bottlenecks has been given priority. When the new highway is ready and in service, the matter of linking up with the Trans-Canada Provincial expressway will be simplified."

Value of the Trenton-Belleville bypass will likely be very evident from the fact that the volume of traffic, Trenton and Belleville will be greatly relieved of traffic with adjacent small centres. Farming areas in Hastings, Lennox and Prince Edward counties, and in Northumberland and Lennox and Addington will also profit through further expansion of the Bay of Quinte area's chief tourist industry. Volume of annual tourist traffic also should be greatly increased, both in summer and autumn.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj.-Gen. Robert N. Young, assistant army chief of staff, said a senate appropriations sub - committee Wednesday the army expects to cut its strength from 1,533,800 men next July 1 to 1,420,000 men by next June. Young said the fighting continued in Korea, the Far East commander has asked for to have 337,000 replacements in a year under the present system of rotating troops home.

Suggests NATO Pay Cost of War In Indo-China

PARIS (AP)—Asking the National Assembly to confirm him as the head of France's 19th postwar government, Andre Marie proposed today that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization put up the money it says the war is spending annually to fight Communist-led rebels in Indo-China.

If NATO wouldn't shoulder the cost, Marie told the assembly, "exceptional m e a s u r e s" would have to be taken to keep up the war effort against the Indo-China rice fields.

The candidate for the premiership who held the job for 35 days in 1948, was not specific about what these measures might be, but indicated France could find the money for Indo-China only by reductions in what she is spending on European rearmament.

Douglas Says Rosenberg Case Decision Routine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas said today his decision ordering a stay of the execution of Ethel and Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, far from being unprecedented, was a matter of legal routine.

Douglas who flew back to Washington for a special court session on his order, told reporters it is perfectly normal for any Supreme Court justice to stay an execution when he is presented "substantial new questions that have never been decided."

AQUA LUNG USED IN LOCAL HARBOR

Wednesday afternoon Dr. Harold Craig went down in an aqua lung to aid Will's Marine Supply dock, to look for a missing net from the dredge of Mr. Stuart Smith's Rose Hill.

After several trial "runs" of the lung, he had Mr. Smith drop a line for a bearing under the surface, and taking a small sledge hammer he pulled an submerged to look for the net.

He was down for some ten minutes, but could not find the missing net.

To survey of the lung, George McGee, stated that he might go to Midland within the next few weeks to explore a ship that sank in some ninety feet of water in Georgian Bay.

Follwell Again Candidate For Liberals in Hastings; Pearson Is Keynote Speaker

Frank S. Follwell, sitting member of the House of Commons for the riding of South Hastings, is again the Liberal party candidate for the federal election which will be held August 10.

No other name was proposed to the nominating convention which was held Wednesday night in the auditorium of the Belleville Collegiate Institute. The auditorium was well-filled. The main speaker was the Honorable Lester B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs for Canada, and president of the United Nations assembly.

Mr. Pearson did not say anything momentous. He contented himself with a review of the record of the government. Mr. Follwell spoke about local political affairs. It remained for Senator W.A. Fraser to introduce a flavor of old-time politics in the hustings in the brief speech with which he concluded the meeting. In contrast to his party colleagues the senator qualified himself as an "old age pensioner who at times gets tired" and swung out verbally with the sort of exhortations that were to be heard in every campaign before the advent of the radio. It was refreshing.

Nominated by Collins

Mr. Follwell was nominated by A.R. Collins. Mr. Collins said that four years ago the local member had been nominated with some misgivings as an untried man. "Now," he said, his name was a by-word throughout the constituency. He pointed out that although the local member was a tyro in political affairs in Ottawa he had been selected for appointment to the important railway committee of the House. In the nomination speech Mr. Collins reviewed the career of Mr. Follwell in local affairs.

Held Three Missales

The chairman, Irving McGaughey, did a remarkable thing in political circles when he demanded that the meeting should abide by the rules. No sooner had Mr. Fraser's name been nominated by Mr. Collins and the nomination seconded by J. H. Smith, than the chairman ruled that there must be an interim of three quarters of an hour before any of the accredited delegates to change their minds. None did. On a motion from Dr. F.R. Ross, seconded by Harold Wilkinson, nominations were closed. It was unanimous.

Attending the convention were delegates from Trenton, Thurlow, Stirling, Frankford, Deseronto, Tweed and Tyendinaga. They had their banners with them.

Apart from the political theme there was some entertainment of commendable quality during the various enjoyment. Before the meeting opened the audience heard a half hour recital at the organ by Mary Deacon, well known organist and composer of Belleville. There was a splendid mezzo soprano solo offering by Mrs. Cathrina Hendriks and a dance number by little Linda Lennox.

On the platform were many prominent members of the party including Dr. G. C. McVickers, Deseronto; Mrs. Herb McCabe, Belleville; Mrs. Morris Sibbitt, Sidney; George Brown, Trenton; Mrs. Frank Follwell, Sidney; Jack H. Smith, Trenton; Miss Hazel Farley, Trenton; Gerald Weaver, Trenton; Arthur Duncan, Bayside; Martin Doyle, Tyendinaga; Joseph E. Walsh, Tyendinaga; Lou Demers, Thurlow; Earl Bonisteel, Thurlow; Robt. Temple, Belleville; Jack Sheridan, Bungay-Cordova; Herbert McCabe, Belleville.

Following the nomination, reminded the audience that he began a career of service to the riding before he had been a member of the House of Commons. "He had," he said, "enjoyed it, and liked to feel that he had tried to serve the people in the riding whenever they had approached him, and of whatever political faith they might have been adherents.

Dealing with local affairs, Mr. Follwell reminded his Listeners that for many years there had been a question of a new post office and federal building in Belleville. "This" he said, "has been assured so far that a site had been selected and the current estimates there was an appropriation for $100,000 to take care of preliminary plans and specifications for the project. He did say, however, that some of the property in question before he had been completed, but he was hopeful, nevertheless, that it would not be many months before Belleville may have a federal building.

Recollections

The member also recalled that in this year expansion of the Parliament Library on Dundas street had been undertaken at a contemplated cost of close on one million dollars. He referred to harbor dredging which, he said, "had gone beyond the many years, and which was now being carried out."

In this regard Mr. Follwell claimed that not only had there been appropriations for a new dock on the bay, but handsome arrangements had been made for Trenton in this respect. "There, too," he said" a new bridge floor had been put in, a splendid improvement."

At Tweed, said Mr. Follwell, there has been a long-standing N.P.C. Mrs. Herman Caulters (Mabel) Barrie, Ontario; Mrs. and Ross Bateman, Port Trenton.

Also surviving her are one sister Mrs. Manley Maybee, Brighton, and two brothers, Edward Keighton, Brighton, and Harry Alexander, Trenton, and six grandchildren.

The deceased was a member of Grace United Church.

George S. White Nominated PC Candidate in New Riding Of Hastings-Frontenac

Sharp criticism of the Federal re-distribution committee action in combining the Federal ridings of Hastings — Peterborough and Frontenac-Addington, was heard at the Progressive Conservative nomination meeting for the new riding at Madoc Wednesday afternoon.

As the unanimous choice of party delegates to be their candidate in the August 10th. election, George S. White, current M.P. for the Hastings-Peterborough riding said the move was "the only reasonable thing to do away with a sure Conservative seat."

"Conservatives on the re-distribution committee did all possible to retain the Frontenac-Addington riding," Mr. White stated. "But the plan of the Liberals was plain. That plan was to eliminate a Tory member who could not be defeated in any other way."

Mr. White was referring to the strong majorities which Frontenac-Addington had given Conservative candidates in recent elections.

Mr. White Unanimous Choice

Party delegates made no bones about the fact that Mr. White was their choice as candidate to be the Conservative standard bearer in the August election. The first 22 nomination papers cast by the meeting secretary nominated Mr. White as candidate. The only other man nominated was Hastings county Warden John A. Kincaid, of Madoc village.

In a brief address Mr. Kincaid expressed his appreciation for the opportunity and also his thanks for his nomination but declined to allow his name to stand.

"This riding is an empire that belongs to George White," he said.

Expressing his appreciation for the support and co-operation of riding delegates, Mr. White said that "today we are saying good-bye to an old federal riding that had existed for over 30 years."

He recalled past campaigns and the loyalty of the support given him since 1940 when he was first elected, and said he was both humble and proud in accepting the nomination as Conservative candidate for the new combined riding of Hastings-Frontenac.

Proud of Candidature

He said he was proud to be a candidate in a riding where the people still "feel God save the Queen" as their national anthem and where the flag flown is the Union Jack. He trusted that nothing be said or did would ever sever ties that tie with the British Commonwealth to be broken.

Following a brief homestay of the new Hastings-Frontenac riding, Mr. White will then include 61 townships and eight separated villages, therefore it would be impossible in the brief time before the election to visit all centres. He assured, however, that he would try to spend as much time as possible in what he termed "the new part of the riding."

Belleville Rinks Win at Kingston, Peterborough

When the Belleville Bowling Club sends out bowlers to tournaments in the district, they generally come home with some of the silverware and this held true on Wednesday afternoon when rinks won at Kingston and Peterborough.

At Peterborough, Bruce Miller, Gordon Vince, Gordon Edwards and "Pop" Davison, as skips won the Stratton trophy and four beautiful gold watches. This was one of the silliest tournaments in a long time and it took seven extra ends for the Bellevilla rink to come out on top. In the three games of the tourney the Belleville rink tied with a rink L. E. Rea of Agincourt, and the two rinks were ordered to play four extra ends.

In the first of the Agincourt team scored one point but Belleville came back with a six in the second. The Agincourt rink then killed three ends in succession and scored one in the sixth but Belleville came back with a two to win the game and tournament. In the first game the local rink was down 9-1 at the end of six ends but managed to tie the game on the last end and it required a measure on the extra end for "Pop" to win. The margin of victory was only about one-sixteenth of an inch.

At Kingston, Ald. Gerald B. Hyde, president of the club and his partner, Harold Parker won third three-high in the William McCartney Memorial trophy for the doubles. The winner of the tournament was Jack Smith and Lloyd Smith (the Smith boys are in again) with Ralph Hinton and partner two second high, with James Johnson and partner from Brockville, in the fourth spot. Bill Duncan and partner from Kingston won the two-game high score while Jim Rutherford and partner, also from Kingston, were the one game high winners.

At both places the greens were in excellent condition and the hospitality unsurpassed.

TORONTO-OWNED CAR HOPS CURB, HITS TREES

Damages of about $500 resulted to the front end of a Toronto-owned car and driver today when the vehicle went out of control on Dundas St. east, and went into a spin and struck a hydro pole.

The car owned, by James Y. Woods, of 69 Clarton Blvd., Toronto, was going west on Dundas St., when near Dufferin, it went out of control, bopped the curb and bounced off a tree before striking a no parking sign.

ORGANIZER EXECUTED

BERLIN (CP) — A Russian firing squad today executed a German accused of organizing army command of organizing Wednesday's anti - Communist riots in East Berlin.

Car Hits Hydrant, Earl Street Area Without Water

Residents of the North Front Street district in the Earl street area were without water for a considerable time last night and this morning due to a hydrant being knocked off by a car which went out of control.

Water from the broken hydrant spouted into the air for approximately an hour before Utilities Commission employees could turn the water off and residents of a certain area were still without water shortly before noon today.

Police said that a car driven by John L. Johnston, 25 Hunswood Drive, southbound on North Front Street, went out of control on the slippery pavement, bopped over the curb, knocked off the fire hydrant and then damaged a telephone booth.

Damages of about $200 resulted to the car; $100 to the hydrant and about $50 to the telephone booth.

CHEQUE 15 CENTS SHORT, COSTS MOTORIST $15 MORE

How a $8.50 traffic fine can balloon into a $23.65 tag, all because of the lack of 15 cents in cheque exchange, was demonstrated in county magistrate's court today.

After being checked by Provincial Constable Howard Tasker, of Trenton, and passing on the highway, George H. McGowan, of York Mills, near Toronto, pleaded guilty to the charge and forwarded a cheque to cover the $8 fine and $3.50 costs. What he failed to do was to include an extra 15 cents for exchange.

So the court deemed the matter still unsettled. Magistrate T. Y. Wills fined the accused in absentia and found him guilty as charged. But instead of court costs of $3.50, these by now amounted to $18.50, or $23.50 in all.

FOLLWELL AGAIN

Mr. Follwell also pointed out that this was his first term in office. Earlier he was attempting to accomplish things for the men who had been in Ottawa for years, and he was still trying to learn the ropes. "I think I know the ropes now", he said.

Favorite Farmers.

The candidate said that it had been his opportunity to know more about the problems of a farmer than he had known heretofore, that it had been with some dismay that he found to note that a cabinet decision had assured that the agricultural part of the federal price floor would be maintained even although the provincial subsidy was being withdrawn. "This," he said, "means that September wheat will be sold for 30c a pound.

Introduced by the candidate, Mr. Pearson had nice things to say about the candidate. That's why he was here. This is but a recital of all the nice things that are said about all candidates in an election year.

How about Mr. Pearson:

Obviously there were people at the Bayview Hall last night who were there to hear Mr. Pearson because he is a singular figure in international life. They were there to hear the president of the United Nations Assembly. He was quick to disabuse any minds about his status or his presence here when he said:

"I am glad to be here. I am glad to be here as a Liberal, but of Canada I am a Canadian. But as a member of this kind I am very proud to be part of the Liberal party . . . and of a Liberal government."

Compliments Candidate

Mr. Pearson complimented the convention upon re-nominating Frank Follwell in unanimous accord. He told the meeting that while he, Mr. Pearson, had been a new member in Ottawa he had been placed on the highly important railway committee, he had won the esteem and respect of his colleagues on both sides of the house and had come to be regarded as "a good member of the House of Commons."

He also said that Mr. Follwell is listened to with some respect. Mr. Follwell had not, said Mr. Pearson, toiled in the vineyard, a term, that "repetition is reputation."

The speaker said Mr. Gordon's address was shown in his first and direct appeal to his listeners to exercise the ballot. "In this", he said, "we see the test and vindication of our democratic system of government. It is the responsibility of the Electorate in order to make it the vindication of our system".

"In this," said he, "we see exercising the greatest privilege conferred upon free men—the privilege of choosing those who will represent us in the government of our country.

Mr. Pearson pointed out that last week in Italy, ninety-four per cent of the total vote had turned out to the polls.

"In Europe", said he, "they are closer to slavery. Many peoples and nations have lost this privilege of the ballot. I have seen some of them. It is only when it has been lost that they begin to appreciate it.

Behind the Curtain

At this point in this discourse Mr. Pearson recounted an anecdote arising from his unique position as president of the United Nations Assembly. He explained that in their off-duty relations, and at least superficially, it was possible to sit down and have a few words with man from behind Iron Curtain. On his occasion Mr. Pearson was countering a diplomat from behind the Iron Curtain with the essential democratic and secret ballot.

Behind the Iron Curtain too there is a sense of humor. To Mr. Pearson the reply was: "We have the ballot in secret but even the voter doesn't know."

Here, "said Mr. Pearson," we have four choices. But all of us believe in the democratic processes of government and we avoid violence this by our conduct at the polls. Our democratic responsible. We must not be vitriolic. We must stick to the issues in a reasonable way which is what we in the days in which we live. We are living in a world in which we have brought an end to war but have not made peace."

Domestic Affairs

Branching into domestic affairs Mr. Pearson anticipated the attack from the opposition. He said "we expect — but will not complain — that there will be attacks from the opposition.

He expressed the hope that the policies of the government might be attacked with the assurance that the opposition was capable of putting forward alternative policies.

Mr. Pearson said he suspected that the opposition would not be so anxious to attack the policies of the government as they would be to attack the manner in which the policies were being carried out. He said that the opposition was going about "extinguished, in efficient, worn-out and arrogant old men in the government.

"We are not old, we are not worn out, and any government under the leadership of that great Christian gentleman, the Rt. Honorable Louis Stephen St. Laurent, is not an arrogant government."

Mr. Pearson said he had no doubt that the opposition would attack the fiscal policy of the government and high taxes. He challenged anyone in opposition to dispute, refute or renounce any of the items which add up to high taxes today and invited all to add the "incidentals" for which the opposition is clamoring to the total cost the Canadian taxpayer an additional billion and a half dollars a year.

Times Are Changed

The minister for external affairs puts it this way: He says that the Canadian people are demanding services, which were undreamed of 25 or 30 years ago. He says that in this the individual must be protected from want and fear.

But the minister also says that we should not stop but the processes must not go beyond the point of assistance where people have begun to depend on the government. Mr. Pearson made it clear, that if the point is reached where individual initiative is destroyed, no contribution has been made to the community.

Mr. Pearson went on to point out where the Liberal's define it. Saying. He said that there have been taxes since the Stone Age. There have always been too high; they should always be considered too high; something should be done about reducing them at all times.

However, says Mr. Pearson, 48 cents of every Canadian tax dollar goes for defence; 19 cents of it goes for social security, 10 cents of it goes for interest we have to pay on the bonded debt of two world wars, 11 cents goes to the government for normal, current living expenditures.

That is what Mr. Pearson says!

Having recited these details of the government's over-all expenditures, Mr. Pearson defended some of the expenditures into which the opposition had invited the government. It was Mr. Pearson's claim that while the opposition screamed economy the alternative seemed nothing but over-spending for the government.

Right of Appeal

Mr. Pearson contended that the opposition always supported new proposals. He listed some of them "the loan", as he said, "of at least a billion or a billion and half dollars");

All these projects had been attacked by the opposition in recent months in the House of Commons: Trans-Canada Colombo Plan and $25,000,000 aid to the United Kingdom, $200 million (Korea) aid to colombo (10 per cent of cost) $70 million; family allowance to 18 $120 million; disability pensions, $72 millions; old age pensions at 65, $730 million guaranteed bank plan, $100 millions and some others.

"All this the opposition offers and lower taxes, too! It could only be done by the greatest sleight-of-hand performance in history," Mr. Pearson said.

Anticipating the attack from the opposition Mr. Pearson told his listeners that there would be no attack on the Liberal party as has ever been afraid of that challenge he said, because the Liberal party had always been one change. Whenever there has been a demand from the people for a change" we have met it," he asserted.

"But what changes?", asked Mr. Pearson. "To another party? From what to what?"

Mr. Pearson said it was silly that the electors should transfer their affections elsewhere when the country was strong, prosperous and wholly united behind the Right Honorable Louis St. Laurent. This is no time to be swapping horses in mid-August, said Mr. Pearson.

As the meeting was brought to a close Senator Fraser, veteran of many stormy campaigns on the hustings, was in high spirits at his best. His best kick was that there was not one good party member who could not take out two walks, even in August, to try and elect the candidate.

Price of strawberries dropped fifteen cents from Saturday on the local farmers' market today as vendors quoted 35c per box for top quality berries. There was a fairly large offering of berries but with a good demand only a few vendors remained on the market by noon.

BELLEVILLE TEACHERS ARE WISE

Belleville public school teachers hit pay-dirt this month. The gold-mine was of their own making. Besides their regular monthly pay, they collected approximately 30 per cent of their annual salaries. This additional payment had been deducted from their regular pay cheques throughout the year.

L. A. Kells, superintendent of schools, says that as far as he knows Belleville is the only school board following this policy. Generally teachers receive ten pay cheques each year, one for every month during which they are teaching—and then they may have to scrape along, through the months of July, August and September, until they receive their first pay of the new school year.

This puts quite a strain on the teacher's will-power, and on the finances of the family he supports—and sometimes on the family tie. Differences of opinion crop up between individuals meet the problem differently, each according to his or her character. There are some who spend freely during July—and then have financial worries until September. Others, teachers, some of whom by nature, who live by budgeting during the vacation in order that in September they may be able to live in the style to which they have become accustomed during the pay-period of the year. And there are a few who, with foresight and wisdom, by virtue of staunch resolve and unusual luck, face the summer period with their bank balances, accumulated during the previous ten months. But, teachers being human, these fortunate few may be in the minority. Except, of course, in Belleville. Here the school board has adopted them—and all go away on holidays with full pockets and carefree hearts.

It's a grand idea!

THE CASE FOR CAUTION IN FLUORIDATION

Here in Belleville, as in other centres throughout Ontario, plans are being considered that sometime should be added to the drinking water. — Don O'Hearn, writing in the Port Arthur News-Chronicle, recently pointed out that Hon. Mackinnon Phillips, Ontario Minister of Health, is not one of those who are enthusiastic supporters of fluoridation.

The case for fluoridation is simple. Experiments have proved, beyond all reasonable doubt, that the addition of fluorine to a community's supply of drinking water will reduce the amount of dental decay suffered by the persons who drink the water regularly.

—Opposition to fluoridation generally falls into one of two classifications. There are those who regard it as unwarranted interference with the right of every person to decide what he shall eat and what he shall drink—or what he shall refrain from eating and drinking. If fluorine is put into drinking water before it is delivered to the consumer, that consumer has no choice about the matter.

We are not much impressed by this argument. Deserving of greater attention—and of the most careful study—is the contention that nobody really knows what fluorine will do to the human body, if it is assimilated over a period of many years. Fluorine is used in concentrated form in the extermination of rats and roaches. Can a human being swallow it daily, even in minute quantities, without eventually suffering some unpleasant consequences?

Some of the scientists—will provide us with the answer to that question. But even if it were answered today—even if fluoridation was proved beyond any possibility of doubt, we believe Dr. Phillips would still be unenthusiastic.

After all, decayed teeth can be treated by a dentist and unless neglected they do not involve any serious hazard to health.

The Minister is, however, deeply concerned about a multitude of serious, and more serious, health problems. An increased supply of hospital beds, an adequate supply of properly trained nurses, provision for psychiatric treatment in centres other than the major cities, research into heart disease and treatment for the sufferers from this, the greatest killer of our day—all these are problems with which he must struggle. Their solution will involve the expenditure of considerable sums of money. This money will have to be raised by taxes. There is a limit to the amount of taxes which Ontario citizens can pay. Fluoridation is something which can wait until further research proves its value.

MUST BUILD FOR FUTURE

We read a statement from a motor association the other day about the hundreds of billions of miles a year travelled by cars and trucks in North America. And, we were warned, that was only the beginning.

We're building more and, faster cars and trucks. We're not building the highways and the arterial highways to take care of the increasing traffic. We back away from that one.

What the situation is going to be in the next 10 years we can only imagine. But we do know it will be a lot worse unless we build more and better highways and provide more parking space. The community immigration board is lagging on this problem much too long.—Lethbridge Herald).

TRAINING IN HUMANITIES

We are caught up in vocational training almost to the exclusion of the humanities. Skill has become more important than the thinking process developed by the humanities. Yet life is richer against the cultural background the humanities provide. We can learn to live this as well as the skills if we wish. The problem is one for the schools to solve. It is true that the complexities of modern living have forced them into the vocational field to the detriment of the cultural.—(Montreal Star).

LOOKING BACKWARDS
GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE DAYS

25 YEARS AGO

Mr. W. B. Anderson has been appointed principal of Queen Alexandra School, Ann Street, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. M. W. Mott after many years of efficient and faithful service. He will receive three months' salary as a gift from the Board of Education.

The Kiwanis Club will be hosts to the boys and girls at the Children's Shelter this afternoon at the Strand Theatre Shows near the C.P.R. station.

The extensive rose garden of Mrs. James V. Freeman at her residence on Dufferin Street is indeed a beautiful sight and many persons visit the garden to enjoy the display.

In an economy move the county council has reduced by 15 per cent the salary of D. Fox, road superintendent; E. W. Haggerty, county-treasurer, and W. H. Nugent, county clerk. The number of members were in favor of a reduction of 20 per cent and some favored a reduction of 10 per cent. The motion was paid on now: road superintendent $2,500; county clerk, $1,800; and county treasurer, $1,900. C. E. Metcalf moved and seconded by C. Rollins that the stipend of county councillors be reduced 15 per cent. A standing vote on the motion was laid over until the December session of the council.

Complaints are made that the city clock is not sufficiently illuminated at night; some claim that a taller candle is used, but whatever it is, the time cannot be read from any distance. The dial of the venerable timepiece should be lit up, enabled and a more powerful light placed in the clock. The light should burn all night and not be turned off after midnight. This practice does seem rather small.

The fellow who prophesied a cold, rainy and disagreeable June didn't make such a bad guess after all.

Strength for the Day
DR. EARL DOUGLASS

When an infant begins to eat off the family table, he is available at a time: pablum, a mashed vegetable, a biscuit when it gets its first tooth. Then, in homes of good taste, the routine of one-thing-at-a-time continues. Many children insist upon this habit as they grow into basic terms, and store their plates are, like those of the older members of the family, filled with islands of meat and vegetables, they consume each thing separately. The adult custom of blending the provender, taking a bite of this, then a bite of that, and occasionally a forkful of two or three things together, is abhorrent to the child devoted to his early way of eating.

It is all a matter of fashion. The Chinese place the dishes of food on the table, and everyone reaches with chopsticks in the mouth-ful of this, a mouthful of that until the common bowl is broken at the excessive fashion in this country, where the diner wades through a dinner of half a dozen courses, the children who are at home, because the be very much at home, because the soup, fish, salad, entree, sweet and dessert all served on the one-at-a-time basis, except the entree which might have some potatoes or vegetables on the side with the meat. In parts of India, Arabia and among many Africans it is the principle of one item of a food at a time is strictly followed.

Several of the young people who regularly or frequently sit at my table have a distinct preference to me, being an old-fashioned mixer-upper of my food, this business of eating all the meat, then next all the vegetables, and finally all the potatoes, seems a pampered way of consuming food; and I said so. One young lady, who is an only student said:

"Well, it's the sense of taste may be like the sense of color. If you mix up all the colors on the palette, what do you get? Grey, but muddy grey. It is the same with food; Mix it up, mashed and a mushy flavor, that can't compare with the individual taste of each separate item."

A fine thing to tell a man, after all these years.

Running Into Trains
(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

What kind of a driver is most likely to run into a train? According to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, it is the "average" driver" who is involved in a seven-year-old automobile and he is driving 30 miles of the grade crossing concerned. And the accident usually is a forkful of the smack into the side of the train after the locomotive has passed the crossing.

Holiday for Two (London Times)

The Queen has approved a proposal by St. Ives, Cornwall, that the town should offer a fortnight's holiday to two deserving people, using for the purpose the money which would have been spent on the Coronation address to Her Majesty on the occasion of her Coronation. The Town Council instead conveyed the loyal good wishes of the people of St. Ives by telegram.

Meaning of An Election
(Oshawa Journal)

A ballot is a civilized substitute for a bullet. It is an instrument by which a majority can reach agreement without the clash of force. A majority can be reached only when it is necessarily a Reasonable judgment; virtue when votes are not dependent upon 51 percent of any collection of men. The true influence of the majority rule in politics is in the sheer necessity of a place in civilized society for the force which resides in the weight of numbers. Only in this way can society this shall we come to know clearly what an election is about.

A ballot, of course, means other things. It means, for one thing, the final sovereign power of the citizen.

Between elections, governments, upheld by disciplined majorities, are all powerful. The average citizen, realizing this, comes to believe that political affairs are in no convincing way his affairs. They are for the most part invisible. They are managed at distant centres, from behind the scenes, by unknown people. As a private person, the average citizen does not know what is going on, nor where he is being carried. He lives in a world which mostly he sees through propaganda which he does not understand and is unable to answer. He therefore begins to feel that the public eighty is a fiction; that his role as omnicompetent man is only a game, rather than an inconsequential — that while he reigns in theory he does not reign in fact.

This mood of frustration and futility, of unbelief and cynicism, an election day has come and the "sovereign" citizen truly becomes sovereign, intervenes, or can intervene, in the affairs of sole arbiter, the judge and jury. His intervention may be unwise, his decision foolish. The fundamental fact is his power to intervene, anyway.

This, roughly, is democracy; the system which "gives which' the English devised, and which they have spread over much of the earth's area.

* * *

But an election, intervention by the citizen, implies more, under an effective democracy, than that a ballot be registered. It implies, indeed demands, that the ballot be registered intelligently; registered, at least, after earnest and considered inquiry. That is why we have election "campaigns."

It follows, then, that an election campaign should be more than the mere distributing of slogans by parties seeking votes.

An election campaign should be a process through which a government, seeking support for its policies and record, must lay all its cards face up upon the table, with men who are free to speak also compelled to answer. An election campaign should be a process also through which other parties, seeking to displace the government, come with sensible, reasoned criticism, not a stone of condemnation, making the public mind a receptacle for a torrent of speeches, arguments and half-truths. The aim of an opposition party in an election campaign should mean more than the effort to displace the sphere of envy to the sphere of power.

* * *

Nor should an election campaign be permitted to resolve itself into a contest of personalities. It is not important that as we shall not be electing a tribal chief, but a Parliament, and any attempt to make it otherwise, to turn the campaign into a race for fame another, a veritable denial of democracy's theory of government by men instead of by men, should be met by right public censure.

Finally, in this election campaign it will be well for us if we remember that while it is our right to disagree, to criticize, to express our views vigorously and passionately, there is no need for us to hate, knowing that there are precious things that all of us have in common, and which we are individually and collectively defending.

This coming election, in truth, will be more than a test of the strength or appeal of some party; it will be a test as well of how we have learned to be disciplined, civilized democracy.

Population Like Snowball
(Moose Jaw Times-Herald)

The future appears to indicate a further substantial rapid population growth than has taken place in previous decades, very largely for the reason that population is like a snowball in that it tends to automatically becomes larger and, as it increases, the momentum increases.

This country has reached a point in its growth and development where its native population, the birth rate is high enough and the governments must begin to place greater emphasis upon price per head of the people and the value of Canadian citizenship to those who hold it. Only by so doing can it be expected that Canada will be in a future be able to hold secure the institutions upon which it has been built and against the pressures which will increase rather than lessen in the years ahead.

Geese Oust Mexicans
(Philadelphia Bulletin)

For generations the weeding of cotton patches has been back-breaking work. Since cotton growing has spread to the Rio Grande Valley, large numbers of Mexicans have been brought in from Mexico to supply the need to do the job.

Now that appear to be on the way out, and all on account of geese. The geese eat the weeds but they're death on weeds. They fertilize the fields, and that's all there is to the extra they need not be sent back — they merely go to pasture.

This year the canny "Rio Grande Valley" cotton growers who devised this scheme is sending 6,000 geese a week into action, and expects to use 250,000 himself. In New Mexico's Pecos Valley the use of geese is said to be hired this year has dropped from 750 to 330.

Nothing for Free
(Saturday Night)

During the past couple of months we are going to hear a great deal about the various things we shall get for free. If only we give our votes to such-and-such a politician or party. It will make pleasantly listening only if we are able to believe that nothing is "for free"—not even the air, which involves the payment of excise and sales taxes, one way or another, if we use it for much else than breathing.

Onrush of Civilization
(Edmonton Journal)

Our sincere condolences go out to Newfoundland, where the number of automobiles tripled since 1948.

Type of Bingo Is Key Factor
(Hamilton Spectator)

It would be hypocritical and pointless to ban bingo games as such. The Government itself legalizes and takes revenue from lotteries. The real issue is no statute ever devised that can prevent gambling in some form or another.

We know there are people who feel that many participants, in even the small games, can afford to risk their money. That is understandable, and the law could be made through, how can any authority determine what is worthless to a person spending is? How can people be so tied down by rules that will be prohibitive of foolish outlays? It can't be done.

If a bingo game is a racket, then the Hamilton Spectator is at once as a racket. There may be a hazy dividing line where it is not always vague as to frustrate proper control. As recreation and help to charities and good causes this kind of "gambling" is hardly to be held as a breach of morality without making the law look like a hypocrite.

For that reason there should be a sharp line cut for abuses that, if allowed to flourish, would bring the whole salad granting any leeway at all.

TV Hosts Bad Mannered
(Toronto Financial Post)

There's nothing wrong with the idea of TV interviews. But people should learn where the switch is.

After all, when a person's host doesn't expect to whistle, sing, play solitaire) listen to his stooge, or answer the telephone or seeding the newspaper and still there is entertaining his guests.

Yet the average person will pull the drapes, douse the lights, turn the TV set down to a point of silence—utter and complete (except during commercials) to hear what the host and guest think he's entertaining you.

Imitators Foiled
(Brantford Expositor)

Seems to have been some confusion, and all round, a good deal of contention on double-talk as what precisely was the color and material of Her Majesty's Coronation robe. That is explainable, however, on the grounds that Her Majesty had a closely-guarded secret until it was the late for the unsurprising imitations or merchandisers come up with

Personal Health Talks
By DR. WM. BRADY

WHAT PRICE A HALF DOZEN TEETH?

A year ago, writes Mrs. T. A., I started having trouble with my teeth.

That, I (Brady) should say here constitutes a record. Ninety-nine out of a hundred Ontarians a v e plenty of trouble with 'em from a early age, but not Mrs. Tidbowl.

DR. Brady

I went to a dentist who was highly recommended, continues Mrs. A., unperturbed. He said I should have my teeth out at once....

Just why, Mrs. A. does not explain. Perhaps the dentist didn't either.

... which I did, and had my dentures put in at the same time. They never did fit and he refused to make me another set, so I had to go to another dentist. The second dentist made me two sets which didn't fit. He then advised me to go to a specialist.

The specialist used electro-surgery to remove what I thought was a bony tissue from the upper jaw and laid open and scraped the bone of the lower jaw.

Now I've had a fourth set made, which are no different from the others. The uppers just won't stay up. After I've worn them an hour or so my mouth gets inflamed and burns. I can't eat with them as they fall down. Now the specialist tells me it may be from loss of tissue.

The letter closes with a pathetic appeal:

Is there anything you can do regarding this condition?

I might have done something for Mrs. A. had she asked for my advice a year ago before she submitted to the removal of all her teeth.

Even if several of her teeth or most of them had to be extracted damaged beyond reasonable hope of repair by proper treatment there were probably half a dozen or at least two or three left, still fit to function. A denture is much more likely to be of service if it is anchored to or supported by one or more teeth than if it has no such support.

Mrs. A's first dentist, who installed the dentures immediately after extraction of her teeth (immediate denture service, dentists call it) was evidently no old fogey. Immediate denture service, if it is to give satisfaction, and it does give the utmost satisfaction to people whose time, personal appearance, comfort and health it assists, demands skill and patience on the part of the dentist and the complete cooperation and confidence of the patient.

Whether Mrs. A's predicament is chargeable to the unwarranted clumsy laser from the dentists or teeth she had left or her own failure to find satisfaction, the dentist, even I, as many old fogy dentists will be amazed to know, are averse to say. I do say that every sound tooth is worth $1,000, and that is a little observation. I arrive at this valuation from experience in relation of the teeth to good digestion, health, efficiency, wife, good looks and longevity. Only a fool will accept less than $1,000 compensation for the loss of one good tooth!

INCENTIVE AND INITIATIVE

We are all born into this world with Opportunity open on an equal basis to all, but fortunately there are always here and there with incentive (a motive) and those with initiative (ambition) to embrace the chance look upon Opportunity as their own special gift!

What is the matter? A Ford, an Edison, a Westinghouse, the Wright brothers, and a multitude of others beating paths to definite objectives. Unfortunately there will always have never nurtured incentive and who have left the initiative to others, these matters rest with doing the chores for others.

Encouragement is food to one with the spark of incentive in his blood, and the will to do it but starts initiative somewhere in the region of the heart! There is a fact that faith lies slumbering. It has been said of the human family that it has had unbounded faith in himself, and that led to other people having faith in him—and so

Course Designed to Instruct Prospective Brides, Grooms

By KEN STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—An idea conceived about 10 years ago by two priests at the University of Ottawa has resulted in a popular marriage-preparation course in Quebec.

The course, designed to instruct prospective brides and grooms in the fundamental problems of marriage, was started in 1946 and since then more than 75,000 persons, young and old, have followed it with what Roman Catholic Church officials here described as "remarkable results."

The course, based mainly on Catholic principles, has spread through Canada, the United States and European countries. It was first published in French and English, and now is also available in German, Spanish and Portuguese.

Covers Wide Range

It deals with marriage problems in general and delves into such topics as masculine and feminine psychology, sexual and feminine anatomy, canon law, civil laws concerning marriage, financial problems and others with which young couples may be faced.

Lectures are given by doctors, priests, notaries and financial economic experts. Following the lectures forums are usually held during which various problems may be discussed. Groups of from 20 to 300 persons attend these lectures, depending on the size of the parish.

Quebec churchmen have voiced the opinion that the course, usually given in each parish every spring, may be looked upon as a means of protecting marriages and reducing the number of cases of divorce and separation.

Rev. Leonard Murphy, who introduced the course here four years ago, thinks it's "just wonderful."

For Non-Catholics, Too

"It has really worked wonders," he said, "for those who have taken it here. It doesn't matter if a person is a Catholic or non-Catholic, it is designed to help anyone contemplating marriage.

"What men must realize," said Father Murphy, "when they enter marriage—and too often do not—is that they must marry a woman, not another man. They must try to understand their mate, study her make-up. The same applies to the woman.

Provincial President Hospital Auxiliaries Guest at Luncheon

The Women's Hospital Auxiliary of the Belleville General Hospital entertained at luncheon on Tuesday, Mrs. R. G. Horning, of Woodstock, provincial president of the Women's Hospital Auxiliaries, and several guests from the district auxiliaries.

The hospitals represented were Kingston General Hospital, Hotel Dieu, St. Mary's of the Lake; Ongwanada, Rockwood of Kingston, and the hospitals of Trenton and Picton.

Attractive Table

Mrs. Buchan, president of the Belleville Auxiliary and Miss Peart, director of nurses, presided at the luncheon table which was attractively decorated with peonies and orange blossom sprays. After a delicious luncheon, the monthly meeting was held in Bitchie Hall.

A minute of silence was requested as a tribute to the memory of Mrs. Oliver Rynas, former past National President of Hospital Auxiliaries, whose sudden death in May removed an indefatigable organizer and worker. Her brochures are a manual in the United States as well as Canada on "How to Form Auxiliaries."

Auxiliaries' Aims

After the business meeting, Mrs. R. G. Horning gave her address. She spoke of the aims of Hospital Auxiliaries, which are triple—service to patients; assistance to hospital personnel; promoting good public relations.

Mrs. Horning mentioned that the first Women's Hospital Auxiliary was formed in St. Catherines in 1845—at present auxiliaries boast a membership of 28,000.

A committee has been formed to develop regional meetings. These would encourage the members of various auxiliaries to attend the meetings of others in their district once or twice a year. This would stimulate interest and encourage the exchange of ideas for supporting their local hospital. It would especially help newly formed auxiliaries.

Mrs. Horning suggested a question and discussion period on the topic of regional meetings. Many interesting observations were presented by members of the various auxiliaries.

A beautiful cup and saucer was presented to Mrs. Horning, and a vote of thanks given her for attending the closing meeting of this season.

Recent Bride Honored By Many Gifts

A miscellaneous shower in honor of a recent bride, Mrs. Kenneth Gordon, nee Miss Cora Margaret Baker, Madoc, was held previous to her marriage at the home of Mrs. Robert McCaffrey, Madoc, by friends, neighbors and ladies of Harti's Church.

The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion with lovely spring flowers, streamers and bells.

Games and contests, were enjoyed throughout the afternoon, and a bride's book passed around for signatures, after which a gaily decorated basket laden with gifts was brought in by Laura Sexsmith and Loraine Fleming, and placed in front of the bride-to-be.

After the gifts had been opened, the cards bearing best wishes read, the bride-to-be expressed her appreciative thanks to the donors.

Refreshments, served by girl friends of the Hart's Church congregation, concluded a most happy occasion.

St. Andrew's Guild Group Sponsors Charming Tea

An attractive afternoon tea, sponsored by Mrs. W. F. Ponton's group of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Guild, was held yesterday at picturesque "Alnacote", charming home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Graham, Trent Road. Though skies were dull and the overcast, many guests and friends were present to view the lovely rose garden, to enjoy the delightful repast, and to join in a social get-together.

Those receiving were Mrs. G. E. Graham, the hostess; Mrs. W. F. Ponton, Mrs. J. G. Hornsby, and Mrs. A. D. McLean, Guild president.

Charmingly Appointed

The tea table was charmingly appointed with lace runners centred by a crystal bowl of graceful blue veronica, lemon lilies, shasta daisies and white iris. Flanking this were pale green tapers in green holders surrounded with white and yellow pansies, while on the antique buffet and Welsh dresser were bouquets of pink and white peonies, lemon lilies and smoky iris.

Those who presided during the afternoon included Mrs. A. Gillen and Mrs. A. Cameron, Mrs. R. Chadwick and Mrs. A. Williamson.

Those who replenished were Mrs. G. Robertson, Mrs. R. H. Smith, Mrs. G. A. Freeman and Mrs. Gordon.

Those who served: Mrs. G. Scott, Mrs. C. Ryan, Mrs. A. G. Orr, Mrs. D. MacDonald, Mrs. A. L. Wetmore, Mrs. C. Wood, Mrs. J. Parsons, Mrs. E. Elliott, Mrs. H. Kelley, Mrs. F. McKeown, Mrs. C. Broomfield, Mrs. N. Wilkinson, Mrs. A. Hill and Mrs. W. Manson.

Delectable Confections

The homecooking table, with its delectable confections, mingled its tempting aromas with the fragrance of the peonies, lilies and columbines, which decorated the music room, fronting the Bay of Quinte and the sweeping lawns.

Here were found made straw berry jelly, chocolate cakes, peach jam, cookies, coconut cakes; peppermint patty cake with daisy design, iced top; apricot jam, wheat muffins, French dressing, dainty cup cakes, and many others. Presiding there were Mrs. J. W. Kinnear and Mrs. C. E. Argue.

Receiving the dues and tickets was the acting treasurer, Mrs. M. Leggat.

A delightful tea, charmingly convened.

Miss Audrey Scott Honored With Gifts

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mastin, Shannonville, was the scene of a pleasant gathering last Friday evening when friends and neighbors met to honor Miss Audrey Scott, bride-to-be.

The shower was a complete surprise to Audrey, as she and her parents, the Rev. L. W. Scott and Mrs. Scott, Shannonville, were invited to come and watch television.

The archway was decorated with white wedding bell and the guest chair surrounded with pink and white streamers suspended from the ceiling and trimmed with a cluster of colored balloons.

After the bride-to-be had been seated, Miss Betty Mastin, Reg.N., read an address and Misses Martina and Beverley Mastin carried in a large basket (trimmed in pink and white) and placed it in front of Audrey, who read the verses on the gift cards, and opened the gifts, which included lovely silver, china, pyrex, glass at home, she has made a host of table linens, and money, all of which were much admired. Audrey most graciously thanked the givers, both for the lovely presents, and also for the kind wishes which accompanied them.

Mr. Scott also thanken the assembly for their—Kindness to Audrey. At this point, the balloons suddenly exploded showering the guest of honor with confetti, a signal for the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow", after which refreshments were served.

Although Audrey has been attending University, and seldom home, she has made a host of friends with her willingness to assist in the choir, as well as contributing solos and on special occasions accompanying her mother in duets, which added greatly to the church services.

The good wishes of all will follow Audrey as she goes to her new home in Regina, Sask.

"WHERE PARKING IS NO PROBLEM"

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

When You Want Any Kind Of Information, Go To The Proper Source

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Could you please give me some information concerning the marriage laws?

A friend of mine says that' if a man grows tired of his wife and there are no children involved, he can pack up and leave her without giving her a penny's worth of support if she is able to make her own living and that if she is ill, all he has to pay her is five or ten dollars a week.

To my way of thinking, this is very unfair, and if it is true, what protection has a wife? — Mrs. P.

Dear Mrs. P.: Give me the reason why you are asking your question, but I assume that you find yourself may be in the situation described.

So what I would say to you is that your friend is talking nonsense, and that if you are thinking of getting to pack up and leave you, or has already done so you should go and discuss the matter with a competent lawyer.

Or you can go to a social service organization and ask them to advise you on any means it would be wise for you to take. There is an excellent social service organization very near you which I can find by looking in your local telephone book.

It is very foolish to accept as fact what any acquaintance person tells you on any subject important to you. The wise person goes directly to the proper source of information and does not waste time, or confuse themselves, by asking questions of those not in a position to have the correct answers.

Don't Underestimate the Value of a Good Friend

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 16 years old and I live with my widowed mother who has very little time to talk over my problems with me, as she is busy working.

I go steady with a boy the same age as myself, but he does not go to school, as he has to work to support his family. He says he loves me and I am very fond of him, yet there is one thing that worries me. This is, that a boy I met a year ago is still in my thoughts, and I think I am really in love with him. I was the first girl he ever went with, but I don't know how he feels about me because he spends all his time with the boys.

I feel that the boy I am now going with is just a companion to me, who makes me feel wanted. I don't want to hurt him, because he really cares for me, but I don't know whether I should keep going with him or try to win back the boy I am so crazy about. — S.M.

Dear S.M.: It seems to me you would be a very foolish girl indeed to break up with a boy who is a congenial companion and makes you "feel wanted," in order to try to get attention from one who apparently takes no real interest in you. What most people in the world are looking for more than anything else is someone who makes them "feel wanted," and I think if you would be wise to give up your friendship with this boy you would soon regret it. Perhaps one day some other boy may come along who interests you more, but I would advise you for the time being to be satisfied with your good luck in having such a fine friend.

Strawberry Festival Week

By Mary Moore

Apologies are in order for overlooking the strawberry theme this week, but your wishes are my commands, friends. After that polite talk I'm so many methods or using the lovely berries to delight the palates of your precious families that I can't hold myself in check.

It's Strawberry Festival season and it won't be my fault if you do not serve them in every known guise. I gave you Strawberry Shortcake earlier, so here's my chance to feature.

Emma's Glazed Strawberry Pie

Line a deep pie plate with your best pastry. (1 1-4 cups rifted all-purpose flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons boiling water, 1 teaspoon milk and 3 tablespoons shortening make a lovely tender crust.) Flute the edges and build them up. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 12 minutes. You will need a little more than 1 quart strawberries. Pick out those that are not good choice, cut them in halves and measure 1 cup. Mix together 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch (or better still arrowroot for it makes a clearer glaze) and stir into them the 1 cup strawberries and 1-4 cup boiling water. Cook stirring until thick then cook 15 minutes in double boiler, covered, stirring occasionally. Strain and cool a little.

Into baked shell put remaining berries, sliced in halves Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon icing sugar. Pour warm glaze over them, being sure it trickles down between all the little crevices. Cool pie. This is delicious just as it is but if you want to gild the lily and gain weight in the bargain, pipe whipped cream around the edge. Or if you want to go still further as my American friends do, serve it with ice cream. In Devonshire they would -pass Devonshire cream, but that's too close to Paradise for common mortals.

Strawberry Meringue Pie

This has a cream filling with strawberry meringue topping.

Cream Filling—Heat together 1 cup evaporated milk and 1-2 cup water. Beat 3 eggs yolks with 1-2 cup sugar and 1-4 teaspoon salt and stir the hot milk into them. Cook in double boiler, stirring until thick. Remove from heat. Add 1 tablespoon gelatin which has been soaked for five minutes in 2 tablespoons water, and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Cool. When this just begins to set, beat it until foamy, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into baked pie shell and chill. Just before serving cover with Strawberry Meringue— Crush 2-4 cup strawberries and to them add 1-3 cup sugar, 1-8 teaspoon cream of tartar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice and 1 egg white. Beat in a deep bowl until foamy. Now add 1-3 teaspoon sugar gradually and beat until stiff. Spread on filled pie. It needs no baking. This is a good way of introducing strawberries to a meal when you have to make them stretch.

Frozen Strawberries

Wash perfect berries in ice water before freezing them in sieve or colander shaking gently for 30 seconds, then lifting them out and draining them on caper towelling. Do not squeeze top of berries with finger tips to remove hulls, but carefully lift it off with tip of knife without puncturing fruit (this is important). Place hulled fruit on tray covered with 2 thicknesses of paper towelling and chill in refrigerator for 30 minutes. Berries must not be warm when they are put to freeze. Measure berries. Measure 1-4 as much sugar. In cartons made for freezing fruits and vegetables, start putting berries. When 1-4 full, add 1-4 of the sugar and so on until carton is full. Seal and freeze.

Strawberry Jam (with pectin)

Strawberry jam without pectin is too sweet for most palates.

Three and 3-4 cups prepared crushed berries (you will need 2 quarts perfect ripe berries.) 1-4 cup strained lemon juice, 7 cups sugar, 1-3 bottle liquid pectin. Measure berries into large saucepan. Add lemon juice. Add sugar and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat at once and stir in liquid pectin at once. Stir and skim off any air bubbles for 5 minutes to cool a little and prevent floating fruit. Pour into sterile jelly glasses to within half inch of top and cover with hot new paraffin at once adding second coating when cold.

BEAUTY

Frozen to enhance your figure

Whatever the fashion of the moment, basic principles of color and line and their effect upon the face and the figure remain the same. Many a well-dressed woman owes her reputation for sartorial perfection to the use of colors that are flattering. She knows her type. If she is inclined to be weighty, she never wears shiny or stiff textures that add to bulk. She sticks pretty much to dark tones. She avoids dress designs that emphasize the hips. She centres the attention elsewhere. She selects the type of hat that forms a pleasing frame for the face, yet creates good proportions between face and figure.

To dress inconspicuously and in the mode does not necessarily entail excessive cost, but it does call for attention to details. By the time a smart woman is thirty, she should not only know the kind of attire she should know the sort of clothes in which she is most herself.

There are some women who, by temperament, require dashing effects. Other women who might, as for a physical characteristics go, wear the same models, would be utterly miserable in them because they are not temperamentally suited to extravagance of line and color. A woman must feel at ease, in her costume; it must be a part of herself, as if it had been especially designed for her.

Remember that the individual features of your own structure are not necessarily flaws. We weren't all made to look alike, and different types of feminine shapes can be perfect of their kind.

The short-waisted woman can lower her belt slightly, give her figure better proportions; the long waisted one can lift hers. Don't hesitate to spend money for alterations when buying a frock, because a single error of fit or line can mail the entire effect.

While the heavy woman cannot wear an extremely full skirt, neither can she wear one that fits snugly, because it is the revealing of the extra inches below the waistline.

Emphasis Shifting to Catholic Union Locals in Quebec

By RICHARD BARNABLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The silvery spires that dominate the cities and villages of Quebec province still symbolize the importance of the parish in Quebec's every-day life.

But in the cities, where the mass of Roman Catholic workers have lost intimate contact with parish priests, the emphasis is shifting to Catholic union locals.

This changing pattern of life in Quebec is in good measure willed by the church itself. Its chief lieutenant of communication with the workers is the powerful Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor.

Big Labor Movement

Founded in 1921 to unify Catholic labor activities, the CCCL has become Quebec's largest organization controlling labor in many of Quebec's key industries. It is independent of the church in its union activities such, but proclaims its adherence to Roman Catholic social doctrine.

Thus, although the church has no say in the election of CCCL officers or its internal administration, Quebec's archbishops and bishops appoint union chaplains who attend meetings, hear personal grievances of members, provide moral support during times of stress, and instruct workers in social doctrine.

CCCL unions have their study clubs, meeting at regular intervals where a collective pastoral letter of Quebec's archbishops and bishops on labor problems is examined and discussed.

The letter, a 73-page booklet issued in 1950, is packed with references to papal pronouncements and encyclicals dealing with labor questions.

The CCCL well-organized education services have made the union study club a place where a working discusses church doctrine, something he has never been able to do at church.

Inspired By Church

In a booklet recently distributed to lay members, the CCCL writes: "A Catholic-inspired labor movement more than any other must shape leaders capable of surmounting all trials who will lead the fight of the working class for its liberation and for true peace in society.

"It will make possible the defeat of capitalist dictatorship without, however, replacing it by a dictatorship of the proletariat. . . . Our labor movement must play the role of making demands for the labor class but to educate and to give parsimonious directives. It has become a 'symbol for the world to see of the possibilities of putting into practice the social doctrine of the Church.'"

The CCCL's close link with the church doctrine has made it, in a way, a sort of senior Catholic action movement to which have graduated leaders of youthful church groups such as La Jeunesse Ouvriere Catholique and La Ligue Ouvriere Catholique.

So far, there has been no official link between various social action movements.

Last month, Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal established a Catholic action secretariat as a first step toward co-ordinating social activities in a wide variety of fields.

LONDON (CP)—Wool consumption in Britain during April was the largest since 1938. This was despite strong competition from rayon, nylon, and other manufactured fabrics.

Will you please . . .

"Will you please tell me what to buy" or . . . "I have some money to invest and am wondering if I should buy bonds or shares . . . at the present time I hold . . . will you please advise me . . ." So many letters come in to us starting out just this way. Often we are asked what type of security we would recommend for a particular purpose. Some ask for information about an industry . . . or a company . . . while others say "Here is my list of securities. Will you please review them and tell me what you recommend? . . ."

Most of these letters are from people who do business with us regularly, but many are from people who do not.

Helping people with their investments and providing information on which they may base their decisions is part of our business. What's the fee? . . . there is no fee, and no obligation.

You see, over the years we have found that if we are helpful to investors, they will think of us as the people they want to do business with. You will be welcome in any of our offices either personally or by mail . . . whether you now are a client or not.

Trade Minister Says Boom Year Is in Progress

WARKWORTH (CP) — Trade Minister Howe said Tuesday night that another boom year for investment in Canada is in progress, giving promise of continued prosperity.

He told a Liberal nomination convention for Northumberland riding in this village 20 miles southeast of Peterborough that investment during the first quarter of 1953 was "17 per cent higher than we thought it would be."

He predicted investment this year would be near the $6,000,000,000 mark. "Next year, when the fruits of that investment are pumped into the economy, will be another good year."

Dr. Fred Robertson of Cobourg, sitting member for Northumberland, was nominated as Liberal candidate in the Aug. 10 general election. He has held the seat since 1949.

British Labor Party Heads Outline Proposed New Program To Alter Economy of Country

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Britain's opposition Labor party Tuesday night outlined a comprehensive new policy aimed broadly at reshaping the country's industrial and economic life to meet the challenge of a changing world.

In a 20,000-word statement, covering virtually every phase of domestic activity, the party's national executive committee forecasts some new nationalization, promises a vigorous attack on dollar markets, "particularly" those of Canada, and bluntly says recovery plans may involve sacrifices of material benefits and cherished traditions.

Must Pass Parley

The policy statement, entitled "Challenge to Britain," is subject to approval by the Labor party's annual conference this fall. It is designed primarily as a program in event a Labor government being elected, although there is no clear sign that Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative administration plans to go to the country in the near future.

On the controversial question of nationalization, the statement says emphatically that although "the general rule for nationalization is compelling, we advocate nationalization here only for those industries where the immediate national need makes the case overwhelming."

Specifically, the manifesto says, Labor would take over "key" machine tool companies, water supplies, some sections of the engineering industry, aircraft factories deemed inefficient, the beet sugar industry and, if necessary, some farm land. Steel would be renationalized and road haulage brought back into public ownership.

Throughout, the theme is not necessarily nationalization, but rather the statement affirms that a "substantial degree" of public control is necessary in the chemical industry, but final decisions as to the "boundaries" of control would depend on technical and administrative considerations.

Stresses Change

In a section on Britain's economic problems, the party document stresses the change in Britain's position in the world and the need to recast "the whole emphasis of our production and export effort" to concentrate on dollar-saving and dollar-earning. One sentence reads:

"We must also make a more vigorous attack on dollar markets outside the United States—particularly in Canada, where a new age of expansion offers excellent opportunities for our capital equipment."

The statement forecasts a 10-year program for British agriculture, designed to increase production by one-third in the first five years.

Two-by-Two Club Annual Meeting Held at Rawdon

MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

Rawdon— Mount Pleasant United Church on the Rawdon circuit was filled with guests from West Huntingdon United and Presbyterian Church, Carmel, Bethel, Wallman's, Hoards and Stirling on the occasion of the second annual church service of Mount Pleasant Two-by-Two Club.

Frankford male quartet, composed of Messrs. Arthur Southworth, Harry Slingerland, A. C. Bates and Ernie Wallace, contributed four selections.

Rev. and Mrs. T. F. Townsend sang "The Good Shepherd," and Mrs. Townsend rendered a vocal solo.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, church organist, accompanied the congregational hymns.

Mr. Harry McAdam presided over the service, extending a gracious welcome to all visitors and later voiced thanks on behalf of club members to Rev. and Mrs. Townsend. The club was organized during the pastorate of Rev. Townsend on the Rawdon circuit.

Mr. Herbert Smith read the Bible lesson found in John 10: 1-16.

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker, Rev. T. F. Townsend, spoke on the theme: "How Can We Have Religion in the Family Circle."

He spoke of the value of a good home with children and said they are the most important thing under the sun. The speaker gave graphic instances of families who have not been successful in marriage and have had difficulties, and he said "our precious Christian heritage is threatened today as never before."

The speaker referred to the days of the older generations when they had time for family prayer in order to build up proper home foundations but today the world is slipping and many consider religion a dull topic. As a man thinketh so is he, and religion is the richest form of life and is needed in the everyday living of each individual.

Rev. Townsend closed with a descriptive picture of God at the Good Shepherd.

After the service Rev. and Mrs. Townsend and the quartet were served light refreshments at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McConnell.

The pastor, Rev. R. R. Bonsteel, arrived back from his service at Redeerville for the social part of the evening.

The club officers are: Past presidents, Malcolm and Muriel Sharp; presidents, Harry and Gladys McAdam; vice-presidents, James and Mary Hoard; secretaries, Burton and Marion Sharpe; treasurers, Herbert and Nellie Smith; pianist, Una Spencer.

He told the board of education some students had been used as "victims" in the large-scale civil-defence operation at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

WANT ARTS DEPT.

NEW YORK (AP)—The possibility of a United States department of the arts at cabinet level was discussed here Tuesday by managers of six symphony orchestras and James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians. Petrillo, an initial advocate of such a department, said the opinion of directing boards of 30 symphony orchestras and other interested groups would be sought.

Paul Mercier's Jewelry Store Modern, Colorful in Design

As colorful as his own personality, the new jewelry store of Paul Mercier, which opens its doors at 207 Front street tomorrow morning, is a distinct asset to the downtown business section of the city.

Mr. Mercier has spared no effort nor expense to convert his new place of business into one of the most attractive stores of its kind in the district.

His choice of decor not only gives a soft colorful background to the gleaming brilliance of merchandise, but reflects excellent taste that should meet with the approval of the most fastidious patron.

The store proper is done in a delicate Wedgwood blue supplemented with shades of silver grey and lemon. The blue predominates in the small motif while the whole suffused by an ingenious lighting system that casts a soft glow through a trellis-patterned ceiling.

Modernized Store

Mr. Mercier has modernized his store with a view to customer ease and the utmost in display of the many attractive lines of jewelry that are carried.

He has installed a special watch repair department and, separated, a feature of which is a perforated ventilation unit. The panel serves a special purpose in that clocks and watches under the repair can be located at a moment's notice. Greater facilitation of the inspection of watches is another feature of this department. Mr. Mercier is the official watch inspector in the city for the Canadian National Railway.

Incidentally, railroad men who desire watch inspection are requested to bring their timepieces to the new premises, starting tomorrow morning.

The Watch Repair and Sales department is in charge of Mr. Andre Mercier, brother of the proprietor, who has been an expert repairman for the past twenty-two years. His assistant is Harry Glen. The Mercier store will have its own engraving facilities. An electronic "watchmaster" speeds repair assignments.

Private Diamond Room

Another feature of the new store is the private diamond room. This is done in Wedgwood blue. Overhead a blanketed design, handpainted and etched, shines down from concealed lighting in the ceiling. Wrought iron chairs and table give the room an unique touch.

In the store proper recessed panels reflect the glow of merchandise from disguised lighting. Show cases are tastefully and carefully located.

The color design and "layout" of the new store was done by Mr. Mercier without benefit of architectural or other professional assistance.

The manager of the store is Mr. Jerry O'Connor, who has been with Mr. Mercier for a number of years. He is a graduate of the Bulova New York School of Store Management. Other members of the staff are Miss Jennette MacDonald and Miss Evelyn Wood.

Mr. Mercier will celebrate the opening of his new premises with attractive gifts to the general public. The first 1,000 people to enter the store will receive, on hand, some Bulova cooking guide. Five hundred will receive silver spoons the value of which can be applied on a future purchase of silver cutlery.

Four expensive prizes will be given to the people who hold the missing piece in a jig-saw puzzle while another will be given to the person guessing the correct number of diamonds in the "Edward Crown," made by Mr. Mercier in commemoration of the Queen's Coronation. The new store opens at ten o'clock.

Will be No Mud Slinging By PC's Declares Foote

Progressive Conservatives will not be led into a mud-slinging campaign during the forthcoming election despite indications by the Liberal Party that it will try to make the campaign personal one between Prime Minister St. Laurent and Opposition Leader George Drew.

This was stated Wednesday by Hon. John W. Foote, V.C., M.L.A. for Durham county, and Minister of Reform Institutions for Ontario as he spoke to a Conservative nomination meeting at Madoc. The meeting unanimously chose George S. White, of Madoc, as the candidate for Hastings-Frontenac riding.

As a member of the provincial legislature, Mr. Foote noted that many people might say he had no right to enter the federal election campaign, but he had no desire to fall down in what he termed "an important fight for Canada."

Quoting ranking Liberal leaders who, he said, had indicated they would try to make the election campaign a personal issue, Mr. Foote said this was an insult to the intelligence of the people of Canada. "Conservatives will not go into the election with the sole purpose of vilifying a man, whose position and personal character demands respect," he assured.

On the other hand he praised Conservative leader George Drew and said he was a "strong leader" both for the party and for Canada.

Mr. Foote attacked the Liberal administration for permitting what he termed "wholesale" thefts at army camps. "There must be some moral weakness in a government which permits such things to happen," he said.

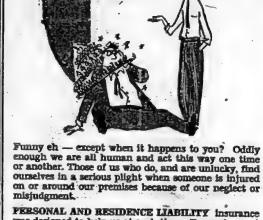
Critical of Waste

He said the people of Canada would not condone the robbery, thievery, extravagance and supineness of people in government responsibility. "They are not there to fool the public but to serve the public," he said. "Their record is rotten."

He said that serious than the waste of money was the breakdown of responsible government. Quoting a high Liberal official with saying: "If we want to get away with it, who is going to stop us," Mr. Foote said that the people of Canada objected to this form of dictatorship.

He said it was a "vicious dictatorship which could destroy the country of your children."

Membership in the British Commonwealth of Nations was Canada's greatest heritage, according to Mr. Foote. In this there are our roots and background. Our common denominator is our Sovereign.



The speaker referred to the French Canadian people of the Province of Quebec, stating that their minority rights had been protected. "Why should they seek a change when they know their rights are protected!" he asked.

Strong leadership was necessary for unity among all the peoples of Canada — leadership which called for knowledge, ability and vision. It was this type of leadership which Conservative leader George Drew and Conservative riding candidate George S. White could give, concluded Mr. Foote.

Beginning his address Mr. Foote recalled his early days in the village of Madoc, where he attended public and high school, and also opening of Madoc Fairgrounds back in 1914. The speaker was introduced by W. E. Sandercock, M.L.A., for Hastings West.

SPOTS BOY, SAVES LIFE

HAMILTON (CP) — Cecile Williamson, 8, was walking along Hamilton Beach Wednesday when she saw 16-month-old Peter Cassa floating apparently lifeless in the water offshore. She called for help and Mrs. Edna Tomlinson waded out to bring the baby boy to shore. Volunteer firemen revived Peter after working 30 minutes with an inhalator.

Funny eh — except when it happens to you? Oddly enough we are all human and act this way one time or another. Those of us who do, and are unlucky, find ourselves in a serious plight when someone is injured on or around our premises because of our neglect or misjudgment.

PERSONAL AND RESIDENCE LIABILITY insurance was designed to help us at such times. Remember, not only does this policy indemnify against legal judgments against us—it also takes care of legal expenses, win or lose.

GEORGE S. WHITE

The speaker criticized the Liberal government for calling an August election, declaring that this meant tens of thousands of Canadians would be disenfranchised because they were either away on vacations, or were too busy on the farm to go to the polls. "This," he said, "was the responsibility of the Liberal government."

He declared that the main issue in the forthcoming elections would be the heavy taxation and the extravagance of the Liberal government. "No one can deny the Liberals have been in power too long," he said. "When a party is in power that long it assumes a divine state of mind." Grace Trails.

"Without a doubt the Liberals will launch their gravy train with long promises but that type of scheme is long outdated because a government can give to you only what it takes from you."

The speaker went on to point out there was no one hiding one's head beneath a bushel in the belief that taxes did not affect everyone. Taxes do affect everyone, much of them in the way of hidden sales tax.

Declaring that the Liberals are guilty of waste and extravagance, Mr. White said the opposition had been denied a full examination of government expenditures. "The government has refused the information the people are entitled to have," he said.

"Why has the government refused this information? What is there to hide?" he asked. "Only the Liberal government knows."

He said that the Liberal government had been on a "spending spree" and that the Canadian people were paying dearly. The only way to stop the spending spree was to vote the Liberals out of office.

In contrast to the government action he said the Conservative party would ask for and see that Canada received a dollar's worth of defence for every dollar spent. Elimination of waste would mean a reduction in taxation.

The Conservative party believed that Canada's trade and prosperity depended upon trade and would see that Empire trade was resumed. It also believed that the ten per cent sales tax and other hidden taxes should be reduced.

Other Speakers

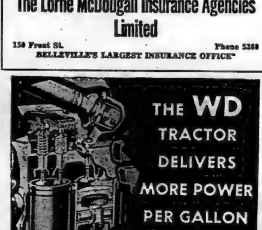
Other speakers at the meeting included Dr. A. Blair Hair, M.P. for Lanark County, who, as a member of the federal re-distribution committee declared that the government was trying to win an election on the basis of the distribution of ridings. He assured the Conservatives on the committee had tried hard to retain the Frontenac-Addington riding but had been voted down by the Liberals.

He also referred to what he termed "reckless expenditures" on the part of the Liberal government and warned listeners of the type of propaganda which the Liberal were likely to use in the forthcoming campaign.

"The pledge of the Conservatives would be to reduce taxation," he said.

George Tustin, M.P. for Prince Edward-Lennox; John Pringle, M.L.A. for Frontenac-Addington, and Lee Grills, Conservative candidate for Hastings East, also spoke briefly.

Damon King, 90-year-old ridding resident, called for increased pensions for the needy old people who, he said, "could not exist on the $40 per month paid."



Approximately 400 people crowded into the Madoc Armouries for the nomination meeting which was presided over by David Rankin, president of the former Frontenac-Addington riding.

Wilfred Spencer of R.R. 1, Campbellford, Rawdon township, was named president of the new Hastings-Frontenac riding. Vice-presidents are Mrs. Weatherhead, Sharbot Lake; Robb Webb, Norwood; Howard Chevalier, Actinolite; Arnold Gachel, Madoc; Noble Truesdale, Sydenham, and Malcom Martin, St. Ola.

Secretary is Charles H. Bostard, of Deloro, with J. E. Lewis as assistant secretary. Treasurer is George Ost of Madoc.

Young Canada Conservative Club members are: Madoc, Carl H. Gaebel; Peterborough, Robt. J. Hill, of Havelock; Addington, John Haggerty, of Tamworth, and Frontenac, Lionel Shellington, of Harrowsmith.

Extensive research by Allis-Chalmers engineers resulted in a new combustion chamber design. Spark plugs are located so that ignition occurs right in the center of the chamber. Manifold design, valve location and ignition timing are all carefully coordinated. As a result, the fuel mixture fires smoothly and expands out evenly . . . like ripples from the center of a pond.

Going Same Way, Trains Collide

This CPR locomotive held Engineer Ernest Murphy, of London, Ont., prisoner for 15 minutes after it was nudged off the track at Hamilton, Ont., by a CNR train travelling in the same direction. Hundreds of persons saw the accident from the highway. The CNR train was a freight, travelling slowly, and spectators were surprised to see the passenger locomotive topple over. Engineer Murphy was rescued with slight injuries. — Central Press Canadian.

Canadian Doctors Assail Use of Penicillin Lozenges But Govt. Refuses Ban blast at the use of penicillin lozenges and the news that Trans-Canada Medical Plans now offers medical services anywhere in Canada marked the end of the sessions in camera of the general council of the Canadian Medical Association Tuesday.

The association's five-day 86th annual convention ends Friday. Today the more than 1,000 delegates move into scientific sessions.

The annual general meeting of the association is scheduled tonight. Five visiting American physicians are to speak and fraternal delegates and senior members will be introduced.

The council, in its final session, received a reply to its request that the federal government prohibit sale of penicillin in any form without a prescription.

Dr. C. D. W. Cameron, deputy minister of health and welfare, said since cures can be effected by the lozenges of certain minor throat and mouth ailments without harm to most persons, the government would not prohibit the open sale. As a compromise, advertising of the lozenges in any form is prohibited after June 1.

Develop Allergy

Dr. Brian Rose of Montreal said the lozenges develop a sensitivity which amounts to an allergy in some people. This can be very

The CMA-sponsored Trans-Canada Medical Plans can now provide Canadians with medical services in any part of Canada, the council learned in an earlier session. A report presented by Dr. Roy W. Richardson of Winnipeg, chairman of the committee on economics, said the addition of two new plans to the group brings the total number to 19 and makes complete coverage available.

The two new plans are Blue Cross Medical Service in Quebec and Maritime Medical Services. These include about 900,000 members and bring estimated coverage to 1,300,000.

Dr. Richardson said that while coverage is not entirely uniform from province to province at the moment, the TCMP allows a person to transfer from one province to another without losing coverage entirely.

The plan is not designed to forestall a government plan, said the doctor, but will operate on a cheaper basis and at less administrative cost.

Endorse Enriched Bread

The council endorsed the current program of enriching bread flour and warned against adding fluorine to a community water supply and forgetting about it. This can cause mottling of tooth enamel and more obscure effects on tissues.

The council also endorsed the Canadian commission to standardize and accredit hospitals, which works as part of the joint commission on the accreditation of hospitals operating for United States and Canada.

A report from the committee on medical education showed the 12 Canadian medical colleges are graduating between 800 and 900 doctors each year. This figure is expected to rise to 1,000 by 1957.

Canada's output of doctors is at an all-time high and compares favorably with the best in the world, the council was told.

A youth psychologist described experiments with hallucination-producing drugs to the Canadian Psychiatric Association. Ben Shaganiuk of Regina told of patients who experienced illusions such as a companion's face changing into that of an animal, of having the sensation of dying and seeing buildings disappear.

U.S. Ambassador To Canada Meets Reporters

By DOUGLAS ROW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A 67-year-old diplomatic novice who once worked in a Canadian factory for 17½ cents an hour is coming back to Canada to work as American ambassador, a job which pays somewhat more than that. And work, says Robert Douglas Stuart, is just what he intends to do in this country where his father was born and his grandfather was shipwrecked.

He met the press Tuesday during a brief visit to prepare for his arrival to stay in July and he impressed them, not so much by what he said but by his plain and pleasant manner and his absence of facade.

The reporters tried hard to draw him out on such contentious matters as the St. Lawrence seaway and the possibility of an upsurge of tariffs under a Republican administration he actively helped elect as party treasurer. They didn't get far.

On the seaway, Mr. Stuart said "all I can say is that generally I believe in the development of waterways all over this continent."

No Time For Talking

On the tariff question, he found them coming at him from the front and both flanks. As a Republican or as an ambassador or as a business man—president of Quaker Oats Co.—what did he think of the tariff situation? This, said Mr. Stuart, is no time for him to start talking about that.

His connections with Canada are lifelong and intimate. His grandfather, a Scot, was shipwrecked on the coast of Newfoundland years ago and made his way eventually to Renfrew, Ont., near Woodstock. Douglas Stuart's father was born there and migrated from there to Glencoe, Ill., where the ambassador was born.

When he started out with Quaker Oats in 1906 they sent him to Canada to work in the Peterborough plant for 17½ cents an hour. After six months he got a raise and then went to Saskatoon.

Daring Gamble to Enter U.S. Wrecked by a Coincidence

MONTREAL (CP) — The Star said today in a long story about a Czech, who falsified his daring gamble to get into the United States with forged papers and by wearing a U. S. Army sergeant's uniform "was wrecked by an improbable 184,000,000-to-1 coincidence," has escaped custody and is being hunted in Montreal.

The Star said U. S. authorities Tuesday were questioning the Czech, identified as Adolf Tlamicha, alias John Graham Davis, in order to learn how he obtained false papers, when he complained of being violently ill. He was allowed to go to a bathroom and has not been seen since.

American authorities here are said to feel that Tlamicha's papers were so good and his training for illegal entry so exhaustive, he may be the product of a gang making a business of getting persons into the U. S. illegally.

The Star said it has verified these circumstances:

Tlamicha, who speaks fluent English, got his forged papers and sergeant's uniform in Paris. For four months he drilled himself in U. S. Army terminology and procedure. Last week-end he boarded a plane in Paris for Montreal. His destination was Texas.

Colonel Read-Mads

His seat-mate during the flight was a U. S. Army colonel. The two chatted, exchanging service anecdotes and recalling war-time incidents.

At Gander, Nfld., Tlamicha's papers passed immigration scrutiny easily. At Montreal he was told he could spend his stay here in the U. S. by passing through the American immigration requirements at the Montreal airport, the official port of entry for the U. S.

When Tlamicha stepped up to an immigration officer's desk, the officer looked up, stared for a second and then asked "What are you doing wearing that uniform?"

The U. S. officer was the one person among North America's 184,000,000 people who had ever met Tlamicha before. The officer said he met Tlamicha several years ago in Germany, where Tlamicha had worked for him as interpreter.

Tlamicha made his escape about 4:30 p. m. Tuesday after nearly seven hours of questioning.

2. Immediate national health insurance.

3. A social security program including sickness benefits, old age pensions and "adequate" family allowances.

4. A housing program to build 100,000 new homes a year, with lower interest rates and down payments to encourage home ownership and subsidized low-rental housing for those who can't afford to buy.

5. Marketing agencies for farm and fish products in inter-provincial and export trade.

6. Guaranteed advance prices for primary producers based on parity.

7. Co-operative trade planning with Commonwealth and other sterling area countries to regain and expand overseas markets.

8. A complete revision of freight rates "to eliminate discrimination."

9. Extension of unemployment insurance to provide higher benefits and sickness coverage, and a national labor code guaranteeing union and job security.

Seaway Revenue Would be Double Annual Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives public works committee was told Wednesday that estimated toll revenues from the proposed St. Lawrence seaway would be almost double annual costs.

N. E. Dandelian, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Association, said that on that basis the long-disputed project is "safely self-liquidating."

Dandelian, testifying in support of legislation that would authorize the United States to join with Canada in building the 27-foot-deep waterway, said annual costs for a 50-year period of amortization would amount to $15,540,642.

He said his figure was based on

Veteran Cuban Consul Has Resigned from Post

MONTREAL (CP)—William Expinoza y Dominiguez, who for 19 years served under six Cuban governments and held posts in the United States and Canada, has handed in his resignation as Cuban consul-general in Montreal.

Mr. Expinoza, reinstated more than a week ago after being fired, re-hired and fired again for "extending courtesy to an ex-president of Cuba," announced his resignation Wednesday night.

Just what he will do now was not known, but the last time he was fired he said he would not return to Cuba, but would remain in Montreal and look for a job.

Political Parties Will Not Use TV in Campaign

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's four major political parties have agreed not to use television in the current election campaign, A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, announced Wednesday.

He said the CBC had offered free television time for campaign broadcasting, but the parties decided among themselves not to use the new medium in this election.

The announcement said the CBC has divided a total of 18 hours, 18 minutes of free-time political broadcasts on English-language networks among the four parties after they were unable to agree on the proportions of time for each.

The division will give the Liberal party 33 per cent of the time, the Progressive Conservatives 30 per cent, CCF 29 per cent and Social Credit 17 per cent.

Mr. Dunton said the broadcasts, worked out with the political parties Tuesday, will run from June 22 to Aug. 7. They will open June 22 with a half-hour of Liberal time on the Trans-Canada network and a half-hour of Progressive Conservative time on the Dominion network.

Boxer Requests Quick Execution In Murder Case

VANCOUVER (CP) — Boxer Charles Matthews, said by witnesses to have made three attempts to take his own life before his murder trial, has been sentenced to death.

Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne Wednesday night sentenced Matthews to be hanged Sept. 29 after an assize court jury, deliberating just 18 minutes, convicted the 20-year-old Negro of murder in the death of Mrs. Lou Angeles Smith, 44.

The Negro woman was bludgeoned to death in her home March 4 and the prosecution charged that Matthews killed her because she had "interfered in and frustrated" the playfighter's love affair with the girl he planned to marry.

The defence didn't dispute the Crown contention that Matthews had killed Mrs. Smith and had brutally beaten another woman who lived in the same house, Mrs. Jovelyn Warberg, but sought acquittal of the boxer on grounds of insanity.

The Maryland-born Matthews came here from New York about a year ago and fought as a middleweight under the name of Young Sonny Jones.

Asks Quick Execution

Before Mr. Justice Clyne pronounced sentence, Matthews asked that if death was to be the penalty the execution be carried out within 30 days.

"I could not say that I did not kill Mrs. Smith and I cannot deny the evidence given in this court by police officers to prove I was the man that did it," he said, ending his statement with these words:

"If it is by the penal code that I must give up my life for being insane, all I ask if you cannot reduce the sentence is that I will be hung within 30 days."

BLAST BALTIC REDS

LONDON (AP) — The Kremlin has sternly rebuked the top Red leaders in Lithuania and ordered drastic shake-ups in the party and government in that captive Baltic state, Moscow radio said Wednesday night.

The broadcast said the central committee of the Lithuanian Communist party has decided to correct "serious shortcomings in the political work and control of the state."

2 Army Depots Burn in Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Wind-blown flames which started in surrounding timber destroyed two huge multi-million dollar military warehouses at Whittier, 72 miles southeast of here, Wednesday night and were burning uncontrolled.

Alaska defence command officials said the flames were raging through the port's dock and had reached the vicinity of the Alaska railroad depot.

Damage was estimated by the railroad officials as "at least several million dollars" in the destruction of the warehouses alone. They were bulging with military supplies when the blaze started.

English Driving Scots Away From Tiny Island of Soay

Two said Jeanie Geddes and their three-year-old son Duncan sheerly well leave the island all to themselves. All 87 Scots will have left for the Isle of Mull, 30 miles to the south, where they will be resettled with government aid.

The feud has been going on since the Geddes family bought the Island for £300 a year ago from the Duke of Hamilton and became the Scots' landlords.

To start things off, the English family picknicked on Sunday. They did other "English" things, minor in themselves, but extremely irritating to the Scots.

One day, the Geddes' private pew in Soay's tiny church was pulled out. Nobody knew who did it, but the Scots seemed happy about it.

In the Scots' cottages at the end of the day, the talk was always about the Geddes' "transgressions."

Begins to Fall

Lobster catches, the island's chief industry, began to fall. Farmers suffered crop failures. The superstitious Scots decided whose fault it all was: The "Evil Eye" had placed a jinx on the isle.

Soay's only school was closed for lack of enough children to keep it going. The islanders suddenly became alarmed that the nearest doctor was on the isle of Skye, a few miles across the sea.

They took their troubles to James Stewart, secretary of state for Scotland. He gave them permission to resettle in state-owned cottages on Mull. Next, the Scots asked compensation from the Geddes for "forcing" them to leave their homes.

Stewart promised to look into the claim, based on an act of 1886. One scot asked $2,500 damages.

Jean Geddes the "queen of Soay," said they couldn't pay any claims.

"We haven't a bean left," she said. "We spent our savings on buying the island."

She said she doesn't mind the islanders leaving because some of her English friends would be glad to settle here. So far, she claims to have 100 applications from would-be islanders.

Can Support 120 People

Tod, a wartime commando and experienced shark hunter, said Soay could support 120 people through fishing and farming.

It will have nine empty cottages worth $11,000 when the Scots leave. But there are no cars, telephones or stores. The only link with the outside world is a steamer which calls once a week.

The Geddes claim these shortages are nothing compared to the bracing ocean winds which sweep across the island, the magnificent sunsets and the lavish outline of hills on the Isle of Skye in the far distance.

Brewtown Braves Start Winning Streak With 'Club-'Em-To-Death' Policy

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Carl (Bobo) Olson, who meets Paddy Young tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden for the right to meet Ristey Randy Turpin for the world's middleweight championship is a young man who is short on hair and long on eye.

The sparsely-thatched product of Hawaii, he's the son of a Portuguese-Hawaiian mother and a Swedish-American father, has a great opinion of his own ability.

In fact, Bobo, for the life of him, cannot see why he has to pause for refreshment at the hands of Young. He figures he is the best contender on this side of the pond and should meet Turpin for the title. He hasn't the slightest doubt that he will not be swung by those who have established him as a 3½-1 favorite over Patrick, mebbey.

But after all, you can't blame the guy for having a little touch of conscious infallism. He is only 24 years of age, has engaged in 57 fights and won 52 of them. That fact gives rise to his opinion that he and Randy are the two best middleweights in the world.

If fact Bobo was so impressed by that thought that he pollited half the local bus-and fraternity moguls to go take the well known jump in the lake as far as a lengthy tournament goes, and got himself a "bye" until the wheat emerged from the tare in the person of Young. Then Bobo showed interest, but not too much.

At that Bobo may have over-rated himself. There is a feeling among boxing men that Master Young may prove much stiffer competition than was felt at first. He has been training furiously for the fight and has shown plenty of color, aggressiveness and spirit. It is felt that if Bobo gets past Young his chances, as far as the boys in the backroom are concerned, against Turpin will be rated considerably higher than if he took on the Briton without benefit of the bout with Young.

But then there are those staunch patriots, who whenever a foreign face dares to cross sports swords with an American, do a reasonable facsimile of "The Spirit of '76", croak "The Star-Spangled Banner" with flag accompaniment and burp loudly that the Bobo can whip the Leamington Larruper from over 'onc come what may.

The Olson record is a good one. The last time he was defeated happened in March, 1952, when he dropped a 15-round decision to Sonny Ray Thompson. Since then Bobo has made Jimmy Bess, Walter Cartier, Robert Villemain, Eugene Hairston and Lee Sala say 'uncle.' The Yankee had a fine record, too, until they bumped into the St. Louis Browns.

Hawaiian-born Bobo loves the good things of life. He has a yen for fine clothes, good food and snappy automobiles. His father was an army sergeant. Bobo could ride before he learned father was an army sergeant. Bobo could ride before he learned father was an army sergeant.

When he was 15, Bobo was working on a dairy farm when a half-jazzed miller gaily wandered why the hey, strapping youngster was not in uniform and accompanied the remark with a whipping "sock". Bobo swung, and was unofficially credited with his first knockout.

Seven years ago he celebrated his 17th birthday by marrying a high-wire performer in a circus. They have three children, two expensive cars and plenty of dreams. But Bobo must face two things before any of those dreams come true. He must first dispose of Paddy Young and then the long-awaited bout with Randy.

The odds say that Bobo will do just that. So does Bobo.

Incidentally Bryson Reid informs us that the scheduled game between the Regents and Prince Edward Combines set for Friday night here has been postponed. The PEC crew claim the date was wrong and according to Bryson, refused to put in an appearance.

Scalp Phillies Three in Row Back in Own Hunting Grounds; Yanks Avenge Browns' Defeat

By Ken Trelegar
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe those hit-happy Milwaukee Braves have found a secret or caution to Yankee Stadium on their best trip east.

Somewhere along the line they certainly stole a copy of the New Yorkers' private book on how to win pennants.

Applying the techniques described in the chapter "club 'em to death," the Braves mopped up under new stadium with Philadelphia Phillies 9-6 Wednesday night and pushed their lead in the loop to four on the rest of the National League.

The Braves won one Tuesday night only a half game off Brooklyn's pace after a 22-game road trip. They recorded their 15th victory in 17 from the Phils Tuesday night while the Dodgers bowed to St. Louis.

Wednesday night's victory came as the Cards again obliged by thumping Brooklyn 8-3.

The Braves got all of their next 21 games at home where they have a spectacular 9-1 record. With second-place Brooklyn on the road and the third-place Cardinals still playing away from home, the Braves' big chance to blow the race open.

League Game

Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 5-4 in 16 innings—longest game of the season in the league—Wednesday. New York Giants beat Cincinnati 4-3.

New York Yankees hit their winning stride again at the expense of St. Louis Browns, who broke the New Yorkers' 15-game winning streak Tuesday night. The Yankees won 10-3 Wednesday with Allie Reynolds back on the starting line after a siege of bullpen duty.

Cleveland Indians outlasted Philadelphia Athletics 6-5 to end a six-game losing run. The Athletics had won seven straight. Bob Avila drove in four runs with a home run and a double.

Boston pounded Detroit Tigers 17-1 and Walt Masterson threw a sparkling two-hitter for Chicago White Sox de give Washington a 4-1 decision.

The Braves jumped to a 2-0 lead over the Phils in the first three innings with an attack which included home runs by Joe Adcock and Del Crandall in the third, but the Phils got within striking distance at 7-6, then pulled it out with a final two runs in the eighth.

The Cardinals, aided by a pair of doubles by Stan Musial and Steve Bilko's eighth homer, scored all their runs after two were out. The Cards pushed five runs across in the seventh.

The marathon at Chicago ended when Randy Jackson singled with the bases loaded in the 16th off Johnny Hetki.

Rookie Ruben Gomez, with help from Hoyt Wilhelm, won his second game in a starting role for the Giants. He gave up five hits in eight innings. Thokie Gilbert received the loss.

Billy Martin sparked the Yankee game in a starting role for Mantle with a perfect day at bat—three singles in three times up, driving in a pair of runs.

Willard Nixon celebrated his 25th birthday by using his style at Boston where he gave up only five hits and contributed a pair of his own to the Red Sox attack against four Detroit pitchers. Dick Gernert homered twice for the Red Sox, driving in three runs.

Ottawa Drops Montreal 11-0; Cubs Trim Chiefs

By The Canadian Press

Ottawa's Robert Lee Trice, a product of the class C Provincial Baseball League, is proving himself one of the best rookies to graduate this season into triple A ball.

Trice, a righthander who played a big part in leading St. Hyacinthe Athletics to the Provincial League pennant last year, currently is leading the International League roster at 9-three.

The 21-year-old hurler from Georgia practically won his own game Wednesday night as the Ottawa Athletics dumped the Royals 11-0.

A happy Ottawa crowd saw Trice stun the Royals with a brilliant four-hitter, besides batting in five runs. It was his eighth victory against three defeats.

The last-placed Springfield Cubs defeated the seventh-place Syracuse Chiefs 3-1 at Springfield for their fifth straight win, behind John Prychs's five-hit performance. This win moved the Cubs into fifth place.

Rochester Red Wings, who now trail Montreal by five games, went to Baltimore Orioles 4-3 in the opener of a doubleheader, but bounced back to spray 18 hits all over Baltimore's Memorial Stadium in taking the Orioles 10-6 in the nightcap.

Rochester split Baltimore to six hits in the Rochester victory, aiding his cause with two safeties and two runs batted in. Tom Burgess rapped an inside-the-park home run for Baltimore.

Jocko Thompson and Ron Mrozinski were the hurlers for the Baltimore Orioles in the first game, Thompson getting the nod.

Toronto and Buffalo were not scheduled.

How to Play Winning Baseball

By ARTHUR MANN

Pinioned spots on the catcher are feasible but not necessary for him to be a good target. Holding a "still glove" is important, but so are his knees, protected by the top of his shinguards.

CATCHING — PART I

Ray Campanella, hailed as great from the moment he caught his first big league game as a Brooklyn Dodger rookie in 1948, was a model in more ways than one, but particularly in making a target. Campanella of times he was asked about "the most important thing in catching."

"Make a target," he replied unfailingly. "It helps your pitcher's confidence if you give him someone ways make a good target."

And Campanella practices his preaching. He has shown as much elasticity as a statue, crouching motionless with his glove pocket et indicating the spot most likely to give the batter trouble; but after the pitch is delivered, he becomes action-plus.

I first learned the importance of the catcher's target from Roger Bresnahan, an old Oriole, during spring training with the New York Giants in 1926. Bresnahan was telling of the catcher's shinguards 19 years after he had worn them for the first time.

"Protecting my shins wasn't the only good thing about wearing them," Bresnahan said. "Leos Ames condensed that my new shinguards helped his control. He said that on low pitches, aimed at the bulge of the shinguard that covered my knees, outside or inside depending on where the pitch was to go."

At one time the inventive Branch Rickey considered making the catcher an even better target than the pioneering Bresnahan. A big league catcher in his own right, Rickey discussed having each knee-covering of the modern shinguard painted red as a Dodger experiment, with additional red dots on the upper corners of the chest protector. When the catcher came to a squatting position after giving his signs, the four bright spots would come fairly close to indicate to the old-timer the strike zone. Signs aside, the catcher is more liable than fact. Big leaguers who boast they can steal signs most often explain defeats or bum ball jobs. The catcher should devise the simplest of signs, learn to hide them from coaches or batters, and, next, more important, practice giving them opposite meanings. Any runner on second can count a catcher's extended fingers.

If a catcher or manager change signs every three innings, all claims of stealing the signals would disappear. A two-finger sign for a fast ball, three for a fast-ball change-up, when the catcher puts his hand on his knee. It's that simple. And this should not be hard for the pitcher to remember. The less complicated signs produce the best results.

Joe McCarthy had a harrowing experience in his first year as manager of the Chicago Cubs in 1926 on account of signs. The subject of his clubhouse meeting was Rabbit Maranville, who had been traded to Brooklyn. Suddenly a distinguished absentee, Grover Cleveland Alexander, suddenly into the clubhouse, slumped into a chair and continued an interrupted nap.

"As I was saying," the freshman big-leaguer manager continued, "we've got to be careful about signs with Maranville on second base. He's pretty good at picking up signs ..."

"I wouldn't worry none, Joe," the great pitcher growled sleepily. "From what I saw of the Rabbit last night, he won't even get to first base in this series."

As Milner Hoggins once said, a good catcher is the quarterback, the carburetor, the lead dog, the pulse taker, the traffic cop and sometimes a lot of unprintable things, but no team gets very far without one. With the whole play in front of him the catcher's alertness is best used for dribblers and sacrifice bunts. He should move out with the batter, picking up a nationwide ball with his bare hand, and scooping a moving ball into his hand with his mitt.

If the pitchey or one of the basemen fields the ball, the catcher should shout simple directions, clearly and without nervousness. On fielding plays to first or third, he should be behind or down near either base ready to recover a bad throw or a muffed ball.

He may block the plate against the runner only when he has the ball. To block the plate or base like without ball is illegal interference an, entitles the runner to advance to next base.

Always catch with both hands. The one-handed catcher is a show-off and will always do his showing off in the low minor leagues. If he gets that far.

The bare hand should be held like a ball-closed fist, so that a foul tip, hitting the fingers, will strike a loose and relaxed finger.

Don't be too brave about the use of sponge in the mitt. If the pitches sting, give you not more padding in the glove, or more sponge.

Follow the direction of the pop fly before throwing off the mask, and try to throw the mask in the other direction.

"I only stepped on my mask once in twenty years of big league catching," the great Jimmy Dykes once confessed. "And it cost the Giants the 1924 World Series!"

Win as Many Games as Can Says Stengel

NEW YORK (AP)—Will the bulging New York Yankee lead hurt baseball? Will turnstiles rust in The American League? Is the race all over with 100 games to go? Or will the Yankees crack?

The Associated Press asked these questions of several baseball men Wednesday with varying reactions.

Bill Veeck, St. Louis Browns owner who feuded with the Yanks all winter about television money, said:

"The way they're going, I'd favor a split season."

Charlie Gehringer, Detroit general manager whose club is a distant last, was most disturbed.

"The big least" he said. "It's not only hurting baseball. It's killing it. Will the Yanks crack? It's doubtful, with the free team they have. Maybe they'll. It hasn't that is."

Casey Stengel, after a record-breaking fifth straight pennant as Yankee manager, finds the view enchanting.

"If they (the other clubs) can't stand the pressure, we'll have just too bad. Let them build up to us. I would like the Yankees to win the pennant by as many games as we can."

Wins Feature At Woodstock

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—Queen the Great captured the 2.30 trot or race Wednesday at a sulky card of the Woodstock Harness Racing Club.

Queen the Great, owned and driven by Ellis Dell of Becher, captured the first heat in 2.1 3-5 and repeated in the second heat in 2.11 3-5. Charlie Chips owned by Neil McEnan of Candeboye, finished first in each heat.

Moving Van, a trotter owned by Harry Dunlop of Tillsonburg, was the first division 2.30 trot or pace; Captain Hanover, owned and driven by Scott Kerr of Clinton, was best in the 2.25 trot or pace, and Sylvia Lee, owned and driven by Bill Gardiner of Goderich, took the second division of the 2.30 trot or pace.

Hamilton Signs Eleven Yankee Grid Imports

HAMILTON (CP)—Coach Carl Voyles of Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football Union announced Wednesday his tentative lineup of Americans imports this season.

Voyles said at a press conference that he has signed three quarterbacks, five halfbacks, three ends and two linemen.

Heading the quarterbacks is Bob Celeri, who played with Dallas, Texas, last year. The Dallas franchise has been taken over by Baltimore Colts who have agreed to play with the Tiger-Cats.

Top man in the end department is Vito Ragazzo, a newcomer, who established a record at William and Mary College by catching 13 touchdown passes in 19 games. He can also alternate as defensive back.

The two linemen signed played with Hamilton last season. They are Vince Mazza and centre Quincy Armstrong.

United States halfbacks signed to contracts are Jimmy Cariddi, who wore a Tiger-Cat uniform last season, and newcomers Tom Koller, Charlie Nivens, Harvey (Sinal) Johnson and Royal Bailey.

Tigers Charge Big Four With Discrimination

HAMILTON (CP)—Frank Bliss, president of the Hamilton Tiger-Cat Football Club, charged Wednesday that the Big Four Football Union is discriminating against the Tiger-Cats in favor of Toronto Argonauts and might be permitting Ottawa Rough Riders "to back into the Big Four playoffs."

Bliss said Tiger-Cats must play Argos six times while Montreal and Ottawa meet Toronto only four times. He said that while Hamilton and Toronto were "beating each other's brains out" Ottawa could back into the playoffs through six games with Montreal.

He objected to the classification by the Big Four of Argos' Billy Dass as a Canadian.

Castellani Wins Over Langlois

CLEVELAND (AP) — Granitejawed Rocky Castellani, rifling the air with counter punching lefts, avenged a February defeat by Pierre Langlois in winning a close, split decision over the hard-to-hit Frenchman Wednesday night.

Castellani weighed 136 and Langlois 139 for a bout that drew loud boos when the decision was announced.

Referee Jackie Davis scored it six for Castellani, and four for Langlois. Judge Herb Williams had it four for Castellani, five for Langlois and one even and judge Charlie Bill called it six, three, one in favor of Castellani.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE . . . .
By SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

You can break your pick digging into a slam. Even though you learn of 12 tricks in your pair there is no assurance that you can cash them in time. Or that they are absolutely safe.

In a team of four match, came the deal shown here: - s

	♠ 10 7 5
	♥ 8 6
	♦ K J 8
	♣ K 8 6 4 3
WEST		EAST
♠ K		♠ 8 6
♥ 10 9 7 4		♥ A Q J 3 2
♦ Q 9 3		♦ 5 10 7
♣ 7 9 5 2		♣ Q 10 3
	SOUTH
	♠ A Q J 9 4 3 2
	♥ K 5
	♦ A 6 4
	♣ A K 8

This is how the bidding should go:

South	North
1 S	2 D
2 S	4 S
4 NT	5 H
6 S	Pass

Ordinarily, north should rebid diamonds before assisting spades. But the south jump to three spades shows a hand with eight tricks, in north is a count of four tricks. The pair totals 12 tricks.

A slam is probable from where north sits. To reach a slam, south may want to learn if they have enough aces and kings between them. If this is so, south will want to use the four no-trump to rebidding diamonds.

Five hearts is answer to four no-trump is the signal for showing one ace and one king. Thus does south find out the opponents have an ace and a king. If so there is danger of losing two tricks.

This is why south was willing to stop at five spades. However, at other tables they decided to try for a slam of six spades. With a heart lead from west it is a problem.

Before south tries for a slam he will need to know which suit is trump. There will not be time enough to show the spade support if the south hand rebids diamonds. He must choose what to do here.

A sacrifice of some information is necessary. It is more important for south to learn of spade support. So, north should be willing to show it in preference

"Elizabeth is Queen" is Gorgeous Color Acclaimed Worthy of The Royal Coronation Occasion

Large audiences at the Bell Theatre yesterday were able to see what those thousands who flocked to England could not see the complete and full story of the Coronation. The visible spectators in England could only see one part of the greatest spectacle of our time Belle Theatre patrons were able to see the whole pageant through the magic of motion picture screen and in natural color.

The golden coach of Queen Elizabeth photographed from the moment when the eight Windsor greys are harnessed to the moment when the procession moves off through the gates of the palace.

The Coronation ceremonies in Westminster Abbey are featured in full detail —showing the actual crowning —of Her Majesty. After that the color camera's pick up the homeward route and record in all its glittering pageantry the procession to the very gates of Buckingham Palace where finally the Queen acknowledges the tributes of her subjects.

The documentary for this full-length record of an epic moment in our history was written by the famous poet, John Pudney and narrated by the renowned British star, Leon Gentz.

The film was made entirely in color by the same process used to record "The Royal Journey", the story of Her Majesty's visit to Canada.

In addition to the music of hundreds of military bands there will be a stirring musical score recorded by the London Philharmonic Orchestra.

"Elizabeth Is Queen" will be accompanied by a fine British production, "Raiders — In the Sky."

AT THE DRIVE-IN THEATRE
"The African Queen"

During World War I German troops fire a Congo village and drive off the natives. The shock kills British missionary Robert Morley, leaving his prim, old-maid sister, Katharine Hepburn, alone. She is taken aboard the "African Queen," a broken-down river boat, by its disabele skipper, Humphrey Bogart, who promises to sit out the war in quiet backwaters. Hepburn, however, fired with patriotism, insists on a daring plan to take the boat down an unnavigated river to destroy a German warship guarding the only invasion route open to the British. Believing it an impossible undertaking, Bogart nevertheless allows himself to be cajoled into its attempt. Surmounting tremendous handicaps, they fulfill their mission, falling in love en route.

"The San Francisco Story"

Joel McCrea a one-time vigilante who helped clean up corrupt San Francisco, is called back in 1856 by his friend, Onslow Stevens, a newspaper editor, because the city is again running wide open. Sidney Blackmer, unscrupulous political boss of California, assigns Yvonne DeCarlo to sound out McCrea on his plan, but Joel is aware of the deception from the first. Next he offers his services to Blackmer. Who double-crosses him, and McCrea is wounded in an ambush. Blackmer, in an effort to trap Blackmer, reports in his paper that McCrea is dead. Yvonne, revealing she really loved Joel, supplies Stevens with data that will defeat Blackmer at the polls, and McCrea challenges Blackmer to a duel. Yvonne informs Joel that Blackmer plans another double-cross and Joel, thus forwarned, disposes of the crook.

A total of 16 Technicolor cameras representing one of the most ambitious cinematography undertakings in the history of films, were employed for the filming of J. Arthur Rank's full-length feature, "A Queen is Crowned," now showing at the Odeon McCarthy theatre.

The cameras were located at six strategic sites along the 27-mile procession route and one was allowed inside the Westminster Abbey where the actual Coronation ceremonies were, conducted.

Trade Minister Says PC Policy Entirely Wrong

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—Trade Minister C. D. Howe said Wednesday night that Progressive Conservative insistence on Canada's natural resources being processed before export "shows a lack of judgment and lack of knowledge of what makes the economy of Canada strong."

Canada's prosperity is based on exchange with other countries, he told a meeting of the Oxford Liberal Association which nominated Clark Murry, MP, as its candidate for the Aug. 10 election. The Dominion was rich in many things but deficient in others. The aluminum industry, for instance, depended on bauxite, all imported.

"I wonder how long the aluminum industry would last if Canada adopted a policy, as the opposition would have it of . . . exporting . . . nickel, say, unless it was processed first," Mr. Howe said.

CHOSEN CCF CANDIDATE

OTTAWA (CP)—Ernest Cousins, an auto dealer of Ottawa, Wednesday night was named CCF candidate for Russell constituency in the Aug. 10 federal election. He received the support of a nomination meeting in Metcalfe, Eastview.

17 DIE IN PLANE CRASH

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Panair do Brasil Airline announced that its London-to-Buenos Aires Constellation crashed Wednesday night near the Sao Paulo airport, killing all 17 persons—10 passengers and seven crew—aboard.

Aid. Threatens To Bring Suit For Damages

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Alderman John H. Charlton Wednesday threatened to bring a damage suit against a heated city council debate during which council decided to buy fire department uniforms from a firm which submitted a lower tender rather than demand union-made uniforms.

Mr. Charlton said he would bring the suit against Controller W. Ernest Atkinson unless the latter retracted "irresponsible, false and untrue" statements made during the discussion.

In awarding the contract to the lower bidder, council reversed its earlier attitude, lined up with the police commission, defied a board of control recommendation and ignored a plea from union officials. Board of control had twice recommended the city buy the uniforms from Tip Top Tailors, Ltd., which employs union help and which submitted a higher tender than Bond Clothes Shops, Ltd. But council decided to give the contract to the Bond firm.

How the Big Show Transports It's Giraffes

TOWERING TRIO of the world's tallest giraffes exhibited by the big Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus.

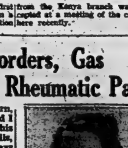
gazed at the giraffes in the mammoth menagerie of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus and wondered how the Big Show has managed to transport these towering creatures from city to city without breaking their long necks.

The circus' giraffes, including Boston, tallest ever exhibited, travel in specially constructed wagons with undersides of floors barely clearing the ground and rounded roofs as high as railroad underpasses will permit. The interior are heavily padded. The giraffes are able to stand in them, with their necks almost horizontal. Feed boxes are built in high so that the lofty animals can eat in this position.

They can sit and lie down at will, with head erect in the wagons, which are carried on the circus' long, steel flat cars.



Barnum & Bailey organization, has the world's largest land-travelling menagerie, including the famous young gorillas, Gargantua, the Second and Mike. Tops and countless other rare zoological attractions, is coming to Belleville, Wednesday, July 1st.

A multitude of sensational new acts and features from Europe, together with four magnificent new extravaganzas, including a $300,000 musical super-spectacle and hundreds of internationally-renowned artists appear on the gigantic 1953 program of the great Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus.

Performances in the world's largest tent, now comfortably air-conditioned, will commence at 2.15 and 8.15 p.m. Doors to the mammoth menagerie will open at 1 and 7.

Military Clique Tightens Hold On Egypt

Proclaims Republic With Gen. Naguib President, Premier

148-Year-Old Dynasty Of Farouk, Forebears Ends

CAIRO (CP)—Egypt's ruling military clique tightened its hold on the Nile land today. It proclaimed a republic, installed Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib as president as well as premier, and publicly took over the major cabinet portfolios.

The proclamation of the republic ended the 148-year-old dynasty of former King Farouk and his forebears.

At the same time the army revolutionary council, which deposed Farouk last July and has been the power behind Naguib ever since, announced the six ministers were taking over key cabinet posts.

Those who was Lt.-Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, Naguib's closest aide and acting army chief, who became vice-premier and interior minister.

Three Year Term

The council's proclamation said Naguib will remain president and premier until the end of the three-year "transitional period" set up early this year. After that, the proclamation continued, "the people will have the last word in choosing the shape of the republic, designating a new president when a plebiscite on the constitution takes place."

Formal proclamation of the republic had been expected since a strong tide of nationalist feeling broke into the open with the departure of Farouk. The change was recommended almost unanimously by a 50-man constituent commission which for several months has been working on the draft of a new constitution.

Stripped at Title

The proclamation stripped Fuad II, the 17-month-old son of Farouk, of his title as king and all his royal privileges of their heirs. A regency had exercised the baby's nominal authority here since he was proclaimed monarch on his father's forced abdication.

He took out the policy shortly after his 23-year-old wife became pregnant, Thursday, in Santa Monica hospital, she gave birth to two girls and a boy by cesarean section. The babies, a few weeks premature, were placed in incubators.

All Globemasters On Korean Airlift Are Grounded

TOKYO (Reuters) — All C-124 Globemasters on the Korean airlift were grounded temporarily today following the crash near here Thursday of one of the giant aircraft with the loss of 129 American—the world's worst air crash.

All victims were United States Air Force men or army personnel attached to the air force. Seven were crew members and the remainder were returning to Korea after leave in Tokyo.

An air force announcement on the grounding said preliminary investigation had shown no connection between the crash and engine trouble which grounded Globemasters temporarily six days ago.

The air force said that one engine of the four-engined transport failed shortly after take-off, but a check on the engine showed it to be in good condition.

NUMBER OF FREED KOREANS CLIMBS IN BLOODY BREAKS

Fugitives Total 26,000; 40 Die Fighting Marines

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

SEOUL (AP)—New and bloody mass breaks from fortified stockades today swelled to nearly 26,000 the legion of anti-Communist war prisoners illegally freed in North Korea's bold defiance of the United Nations command.

More than 1,800 bolted from five prison camps and a hospital Thursday night and early today on the heels of those ordered released Wednesday by President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea.

The UN command announced in Tokyo it counted at 25,952 the total Koreans escaping in the last two days, and at 9,236 those anti-Red Koreans remaining in custody. The latter figure included escapees from those released by the UN pioneer-of-war command, which said its totals were "rough."

Those making the break early today included two who battled United States Marines at Ascom City camp, near Seoul's far port of Inchon on the west coast. The UN command said the marines had detained South Korean guards at the camp before the South Koreans made their escapes to freedom.

Whether the mass releases and breaks for freedom would wreck the two-year truce negotiations—now in their 11th hour—was unclear.

At Communist request, a full-dress meeting of the armistice delegations was set for Saturday morning.

There was no quick official Communist reaction to Rhee's defiant move.

Secretary Comment

In Moscow, the Soviet press agency Tass story under the banner ing "provocative actions of the Syngman Rhee clique" was promptly published there implied collusion between some U.S. authorities and the South Koreans.

Epstein Has Received Royal Society Medal

LONDON (AP)—Sculptor Jacob Epstein disclosed today he has turned down—because of his age, 72, cold a request he refused the medal because "these years are when I was proposed for election to the society by two of its members." He added:

"It seems to me to be a very belated offer of the medal anyway."

U.S. Jets Down Six Red MIGs

SEOUL (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets destroyed six communist MIGs and damaged three in a big battle high over northwest Korea today.

On the ground, communist infantry battled in South Korean positions along the central front. More than 1,000 anti-Communists had rolled back Allied lines as much as two miles early this week in a pre-armistice drive toward the 38th parallel.

The air force, meanwhile, boosted from five to six the number of MIGs shot down in aerial battles Thursday. Four other Red jets were damaged.

Fighting on the central front, ground action was light. On the western end of the battle line the 8th army reported only two small patrol contacts in the night.

Rushing to Rescue 'Kid' in Wall Police Invade Boudoir to Save Cat

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A Windsor police car sped through downtown Windsor Thursday on an errand of mercy: to rescue a kitten.

It all happened when the police car did not know it. They thought they were to rescue a human being.

It all happened this way. On Wednesday, "Tippy", a three-month-old kitten belonging to Lorraine Swinboe, 7, could not be found. It was still missing late that night. Loraine was heartbroken.

Early Thursday Mrs. John Sullivan, a neighbor, told the Swinboes that the kitten was trapped when the cries came from behind the brick wall over her front door, she said.

No one could figure how to get it out.

The police, usually hopeful in such matters, were called. But the policeman at the station misunderstood the kitten for a child and dispatched a cruiser.

Arriving at the apparent urgency of the case, the two policemen did not ask any of the usual questions. As a result they got the wrong entrance to the attached dwelling and crashed through a door held by two bolts and a latch and landed in the bedroom of Mrs. Joseph Jenkins.

Several police apologies later, the kitten was released when the cries came from behind the brick in the brick wall.

Reds Have Vital Subject To Discuss at Truce Meet

MUNSAN (AP)—The Communists said late tonight they have "an important subject to discuss" when Red and Allied truce negotiators meet in a few hours in a full-dress crisis session that may determine the fate of a Korean armistice.

This was the only hint of the reason behind the Communist call a meeting at 11 a. m. Saturday (10 p. m. EDT Friday) at Panmunjom.

There has been speculation the negotiators might approve final truce details or that the Reds may protest President Syngman Rhee's release of about 26,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners.

The Red announcement came in a Chinese language broadcast by the official Peiping radio heard in Tokyo. It said Gen. Nam Il, chief Red delegate, called the meeting because "the Communist side has an important subject to discuss."

The Red radio earlier accused the U. S. and South Korea of collaborating to free prisoners.

The armistice draft appears ready for signature as soon as Communists agree on final translations are approved.

Observers predicted Rhee's arbitrary action probably would not block signing of the truce, but they feared trouble from Rhee's allies must account for and hand over Red prisoners.

There is the possibly Rhee could expand this if it's not given revival against the United Nations command, upsetting the whole agreement.

Few Recaptured

The UN command has assured the Reds it is doing everything to recapture the escaped prisoners, but it has found only a handful. The task appeared almost hopeless as the prisoners melted into the countryside, hiding in homes with the blessing of the South Korean government.

Meanwhile, Rhee made public a letter he wrote President Eisenhower Wednesday in which he appealed for President Eisenhower's relief of economic and military aid and a promise to negotiate a security pact if South Korea would accept a truce.

Rhee pleaded with Eisenhower to find some other answer than a "death warrant" armistice.

"The UN is now putting pressure on us . . ," he said, "and is joining with it seems, with the enemy in this matter of armistice terms."

He accused the U.S. and the UN of backing down on early war objectives of a united, independent and democratic Korea and the withdrawal of Communist forces.

He said "the counsels of appeasement" have caused America to "an open confession of weakness . . . that it had never been in history, even in the last war."

Other Developments

As the critical full-dress session approached, there were these other developments:

1. The Reds called off today's meeting of interpreters believed working on the armistice draft at Panmunjom.

2. The official Red Peiping radio accused Rhee of releasing the prisoners in order to impress them into the South Korean Army and charged "American aggressors" are connived" by lifting no measure

Use Bludgeons and Bayonets On Revolting Czech Workers

BRUSSELS (AP) — Communist rulers of Czechoslovakia now are resorting to "bludgeons and bayonets" to put down the spreading revolt of enslaved Czech workers, the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions asserted today.

J. H. Oldenbrock, ICFTU general secretary, today issued a message of support to fellow workers behind the Iron Curtain, hailing the brave fight for freedom and social justice."

Czech newspapers received in Vienna have admitted rioting workers murdered a Red official on June 1, tore down the Soviet flag and trampled it in the Starn and Stripes. The city was under martial law for five days. Uncontrolled looting and arson and murder rioting by laborers angered at the recent drastic currency reform situation and high production demands.

"Strikes and demonstrations have broken out spontaneously in the more industrial and commercial parts of the country," Oldenbrock said, "during the so-called 'workers governments' to defend themselves from the just claims of the workers with bludgeons and bayonets."

Situation Disastrous

"Hundreds of thousands are threatened with famine as the result of a monetary reform depriving the entire population of its savings. Old-age pensions, cut by four-fifths, can no longer keep the aged in food. The cost of living has been thrust up by 130 per cent."

Oldenbrock said the last vestige of Czech democratic freedom has now been abolished with the introduction of forced labor—"every Czechoslovak between 14 and 65 can now be ordered to accept any work anywhere."

"Another order puts an end to the 48-hour week, and is flagrant violation of the International conventions permits managements to engage workers by administrative order. Workers thus deprived of their political rights are subjected to a system of medieval slavery."

Russell Tongay Facing Charge Of Manslaughter

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Russell Tongay, 24-year-old swimming instructor, today faced manslaughter charges in the drowning of his five-year-old swim-star daughter, Kathy.

The manslaughter warrant was issued after justice of the peace Judge Lee Knauer examined the red-degree murder charge Thursday and ordered Tongay held on bond of $1,000.

The maximum penalty upon conviction of manslaughter is 20 years in jail.

Mason said after more than three hours of a combined coroner's inquest and preliminary hearing that there was no evidence to show any beating by Tongay with his hands or fists, but he added:

"Kathy Tongay came to her death on May 5 from a result of injuries received when she attempted to execute a jump dive from the 33-foot tower at the Mayfair-Deauville pool in Miami Beach, and that she did so in an improper manner, rupturing her intestine which caused peritonitis and death."

Mason said in his opinion this dive and others were executed through Tongay's competition and "encouragement" by the defendant to the welfare and safety of Kathy Tongay.

Tongay, a former coast guardsman and now nearly deaf, sat impassively through the hearing, holding hands with his wife, a blonde.

Kathy and her brother Bubba, 8, performed many swimming feats and appeared in motion pictures as the "Aquatots." They planned to tour Europe this summer for British and French audiences in television.

REDS ARE TRYING TO GET GERMANS BACK TO WORK

See Pleas as Evidence Resistance Continuing

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP) — East Berlin's Russian-protected Communist government launched a frantic back-to-work propaganda campaign today in tacit admission that Soviet tanks, troops and a summary execution had not ended major resistance to their puppet government.

Soon after the court ruling was announced here, U. S. Marshal William A. Carroll said in New York that it is an EDT knight had been tentatively set for carrying out the death sentences.

The lawyers who have battled for the Rosenbergs were still mancuvering, however, to save them.

They filed motions with the full Supreme Court for a stay of executions for reconsideration of the decision which upheld the stay Douglas issued on Tuesday.

They have pending, too, a new petition last February. He said the Rosenbergs, convicted of conspiracy to betray atomic secrets to Russia, could be responsible for the deaths of many innocent Americans.

Today's court decision rejected the Douglas argument that there is substantial reason to question whether the Rosenbergs were tried under the Espionage Act of 1917, but Douglas said the courts ought to rule on the question on the merits. The couple were convicted and sentenced under the 1946 Atomic Secrets Act.

The six-man majority overruling the Douglas stay was made up of Chief Justice Fred Vinson and Justices Stanley Reed, Robert Jackson, Harold Burton, Tom Clark and Sherman Minton.

The decision on the Rosenbergs came as demonstrations in their behalf were going on at the White House.

In front of the White House, there was a swelling demonstration by partisans of the Rosenbergs. A corporal was arrested shortly after noon through the night had swelled by mid-morning to 140.

Police reserves were summoned to keep the curious moving and to direct traffic.

The pickets were themselves picketed by a lone woman in white. She had a placard which read:

"Send the spies to the chair. Give them the best we have."

At New York's Sing Sing prison, the husband and wife were permitted to see each other briefly. They chatted through a wire screen in the death house.

Eighteen Persons Hurt In Fire at Alaska Port

WHITTIER, Alaska (AP)—The toss from a devastating fire which closed this key military supply port Wednesday night is estimated at $10,000,000.

Property losses were insured for $10,000,000.

Fourteen persons were injured and the main 1,200-foot dock and three 800-foot warehouses filled with vast quantities of supplies were destroyed by the rampaging flames. Four civilians on the 700-huge pier were also lost.

A military board was named to determine the cause of the fire and arrangements were being made to ship the bulk of supplies cargo to Seward, on the southern shores of the Kenai peninsula.

Death Sentences May Be Carried Out at 11 Tonight

WASHINGTON (CP)—By a vote of 6 to 2, the U. S. Supreme Court today overruled the action of one of its own members and threw out a stay of execution granted to atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg Wednesday by Justice William Douglas.

The decision could be the climactic one for the husband and wife who have waited on death row in New York's Sing Sing prison for two years while their fate was a key issue in the courts of the U. S. and public opinion the world over.

Set For Tonight

Blonde Wife and Bronzed Husband Adam and Eve of Mediterranean Isle

JONDON (AP)—Discovery of a secret island somewhere in the Mediterranean where a beautiful blonde and her tall, bronzed husband live as "Adam and Eve" was reported today by a young schoolmaster.

Teacher Violet reported coming across the island during a 5,000-mile cruise in his 20-foot ketch, Nova Espero, in Corsica he heard about a modern Roman treasure ship. Investigating, he reported landing on "Paradise Island."

Violet said the exact location of the island will remain a secret for a short time. He promised, however, to welcome him, he said, was the handsome young couple "living in delightful state of near nature."

The girl spoke English well. They told him they were Belgians and had been dropped on the island by a fishing boat at their request.

Violet said when he first approached the island he saw the couple and thought they were not human beings.

"As I drew nearer," he went on, "they disappeared into a cave and reappeared in bathing suits. Why they wore clothing at all I don't know. Perhaps it was a precaution against a visitor but they did not resent my arrival."

The couple lived almost entirely on fish and mulberries. They said a boat dropped supplies at a prearranged spot.

Rosenbergs' Hope Of Escaping Chair Appears Dim

His Sweet Tooth Must be Filled

BRISTOL, England (AP)—Norman Beake, 18-year-old soldier, was said at a court hearing Thursday to have broken into a candy shop and eaten:

Ten four-ounce boxes of chocolate almonds,

Five four-ounce boxes of chocolates,

One four-ounce box of licorice,

One four-ounce bar of chocolate.

Prosecutor T. J. Parr said the youth washed down the sweet stuff with two bottles of lemonade which he went to sleep in a nearby woods.

The court ordered Beake held on a charge of breaking and entering.

World Council Of Churches Said Anti-Christian

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Carl McIntyre of New Jersey said Thursday the World Council of Churches is destroying the basic concepts of Christianity.

If the policies of the council are allowed to gain power, the world can close its churches and revert to paganism, he said.

He was speaking at the five-day Canada-wide conference of the International Council of Christian Churches, of which he is president. The object of the conference, Dr. McIntyre said, is to combat the Canadian Council of Evangelical Protestant Churches.

Dr. McIntyre also said the WCC fosters socialistic dogma, has a neutralist attitude towards the economic philosophy of communism and plans to "hold one-world church."

Rev. Duncan MacGregor of the First Baptist Church, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was elected president of the conference.

PLAN PLANT ADDITION

Directors Hold Final Meeting Before Holidays

Discussion on their plan to forward a resolution to the city council for a long-term policy on parking in downtown Belleville, and consideration of representation at the National Chamber of Commerce meeting in Edmonton in September, featured the final directors' meeting of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce before the summer recess held Thursday noon at the Shrine Club.

The secretary reported that 125 letters had been received from members of the C. of C. backing the Chamber's resolution to the city on the parking problem. This was decided to continue pronto. Of the resolution during the summer months and to present the resolution to council in the fall.

Support for the nomination of C. T. Freeman as National Director of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce was received from the Brighton C. of C. and the Port Hope Board of Trade. The directors also voted their support to the candidacy of L. T. Sylvester of Port Hope, for provincial director.

It was also decided that representation of the Belleville Chamber at the Edmonton meeting in September would consist of the candidate, and one other member of the Chamber with the secretary, Don Kingdon, being named as alternate.

Three new memberships were accepted by the executive. They are Eye of Foundry and Machine Company, Dr. L. B. Cronk, and the Telephone Answering Service. This brings to 27 the number of new members joining the Chamber since the beginning of the year.

The secretary was voted his expenses to attend the Secretarial Conference of C. of C. executives being held at McMaster University next week.

Malcolm Robb made a motion that the Industrial Committee be invited to submit a report to the Chamber at one of the early meetings in the fall following the summer recess.

The secretary reported that the folder designed by the Chamber for tourist and industrial promotion had been printed and that generous advertising revenue would make the project a paying one.

Bloomfield Beats Regent Jrs. 8-4 In Six Innings

In a long, drawn out affair at Bloomfield that night the Bloomfield Silver Ribbons downed the Regent Juniors 8-4 in six innings.

The Regents took the lead in the first inning 3-1. They added one in the second and that is where the score remained, as far as the Regents were concerned, because in the fourth the Silver Ribbons made five runs on three hits and three errors. In the fifth two more tallies came across.

Wardhaugh led the winners at the plate with two singles. Perry smashed out a double and Burton and Hayden each hit singles. For the losers, Goyer had two singles while Barclay and Jones singled.

In the fourth inning with one out, Perry hit a ground ball to the second baseman. Goyer picked it up and tagged it to close who then fired the ball to Stevens on first. Perry was called out on his interference and was called safe. "Red" Carson, the Regent coach, argued profusely, but to no avail. The umpire prevailed.

Tait, for the "Ribbons" struck out three, walked one, balked once and threw one pitch which caused a runner to one and two-thirds innings. Burton went the rest of the route striking out seven and walking two to gain credit for the win.

For the Regents, Dall gave up six walks and struck out none in one and one-third innings. Mitts went the rest of the way striking out four and issuing three walks.

Teachers Will Not Take Advantage Of Dept. Action

Belleville public school teachers holding interim certificates will not take advantage of the recent Department of Education action in what they feel is a step down in the qualifications necessary for a teacher to obtain permanent first class certificates.

At a recent meeting of Belleville public school teachers interim first class certificates it was unanimously agreed to voluntarily continue studies to reach a higher standard before applying to the department for permanent first class certificates. Chairman of the meeting was Bruce H. Ellis, member of the teaching staff. 1

Under a recent ruling of the Department of Education, effective July 1953, elementary school teachers with interim first class certificate and a statement of two years' successful teaching may apply for permanent certificates without further qualifications.

The higher goal which local teachers have set is a minimum as much the same as the qualifications in effect previously, where a teacher was required to have one full year at Normal, plus a year at any university, or the special teaching courses at summer school and a qualifying educational course.

The objective of Belleville teachers is to qualify themselves in five special teaching or university courses and obtain the first class certificate; they individually received at teachers' training college.

The aim is to promote better qualified teachers in the Belleville community, in order that the road will be paved for efficient-ary education received by students in the classroom. The decision is no way brings financial reward to the 23 teachers involved.

"It is the hope of Belleville teachers that eventually their course of action may succeed in bringing about a similar move on the part of other teachers in other communities throughout the province," Mr. Correll stated.

Air Show Disturbs Tranquility Of Homes in Middleton Park

In and around Middleton Park is very peaceful—one can hear the birds twittering in the trees —momentarily.

Then at this Thursday evening follows on the heels of an all-out effort by Middleton Park dwellers and their friends to appeal to demonstrate their equipment to the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association.

All week long, the attention of children and housewives has been diverted by jets screaming overhead, by four-engined aircraft taking-off and by fighters practising their rocket-firing. Middleton Park-ites are by no means, not the noise, but the excitement of it all. Service families get as excited about seeing a mass demonstration of aerobatics as their friends living out in the country and away from it all. The excuse from the Park to choice seats along 6-RD road is to claim a coveted spot—comfortable to the crowd that gathers when the circus comes to town.

Two hours before the air display started automobiles parked in the side roads and on the lot before the start of the show. Lack of space was a minimum as the enthusiastic crowd. They parked out in the hot sun and in the shade, and waited for the one-hour show to commence.

It was a long wait. But as the show got underway, there was some pretty good flying. Aircraft passing a few hundred feet overhead, they a Harvard, the small aircraft whining as it flew low, screaming on a hot summer night, when all you want to do is go to sleep, a Mustang, a Mitchell with noise that resembled a number of engines, an Expeditor, a Lancaster (it could have been Canadian Pacific for it was clearly had the word of a father down the road who is one of eleven junior lessons in aircraft recognition) and, finally, the roar and deafening crash of a North Star.

Chats is Dropped

A small parachute dropped from an aircraft over the middle of the field to the delight of five-year old shouted, "Look, mommy, look mommy, look mommy, look mommy couldn't see anything until several minutes later a half dozen large chutes appeared out of the back of an aeroplane which someone described as a "flying Boxcar." Breathless the 6RD road audience waited for the parachutists come tumbling down. It looked at one point as if they'd land right in the top of one of the hangars, but perfect calculations as to Gerry Dent brought them in front of their CIPA audience.

Next came the jets, the names of which seemed to confuse the most ardent of aeroplane fans. Some of the show-goers had names for a few of the types, but to most of the housewives gathered they seemed to all look very much alike. The sound of the crowd, they looked beautiful and, sleek, travelling noiselessly through the air. Then there was you of their presence and then, suddenly, as they passed overhead there was an ear-splitting deafening thunderous sound. One young CIHs was heard by disillusioned by what he termed a "—ordie bet", in the next breath. The latter followed with great screams and cupping of small hands over tiny sensitive ears.

Middleton Park is coming to life again. One can hear the Harvards warming-up and ready-ing themselves for night flying practice. It would be a very dull park indeed without the noise of aircraft overhead. Service families have learned to live with it and like it.

The 4th. RCAF Trenton Girl Guide Company concluded their week-end camp at Middleton with an evening of field games. Pat Blanford Patrol, under Patrol Leader Joan Shaney, gathered enough points to give them a weiner roast. Banner-bearer was the Canary Patrol under Patrol Leader Sharon Shilton.

Mrs. V. L. Berg, captain of the local company, presented badges to the following members: Aside Berg, Betty Sharp, Joan Shaney, Gail Dolan, Shirley Rhaney and Adele Duhart were all Bluebird Patrol, under Leader Carol Leader Joan Shaney, gathered enough points to give them a weiner roast. Banner-bear-er was the Canary Patrol under Patrol Leader Sharon Shilton.

The second class badges went to Donna McMurchy, Linda Bonisteel and Roche; the Minstrel Badge to Donna McMurchy, and Religion in Life badges were awarded to Joan Rhaney, Betty Sharp, Kathleen Williams and Leslie Cunningham.

Point Anne Pilot Breaks Sound Barrier at Air Show

TRENTON. — (Special) — At 5.25 p.m., yesterday afternoon a young man from Point Anne, peaked ahead the controls of a F-86 Sabre jet 45,000 feet above the Trenton Air Station. Some 50 seconds later within range of his own hometown Flying Officer Jim MacKay, 22, broke through the sonic barrier, travelling at speeds upwards of 700 m.p.h.

There were two muffled thuds as the plane crashed the sound wall at 20,000 feet, while an intense audience strained their vision to record the superb event. It was the second time the barrier had been pierced this week, once in practice Wednesday and again yesterday before 100 of Canada's top businessmen representing the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association.

MacKay was so high up that it was nearly impossible to see him with the human eye. You got glimpses of his silver colored aircraft by following the white vapor trails contrasting sharply against the cloudless blue sky.

Later another pilot from the district Flt. Lieutenant Hal Knight of Cobourg, presented precision aerobatics in a T-33 Silver Star trainer, also owned by the U.S. Shooting Star. At 5.30 p.m., Knight made his spectacular jet act of sight. He awed the large crowd with thrilling manoeuvres, including a slow roll, with ease. Also demonstrated were a number of pieces of fire-fighting and medical apparatus. The morning show was brought to a close, when a converted Mustang aircraft was set on fire and the fire fighting crews fought their way through a curtain of smoke and flame to demonstrate the reace of an improved pilot.

The flying portion of the morning show featured nine mustangs fighters in a rocket firing display.

Apart from these active demonstrations four separate static displays gave the visiting industrialists an insight to the variety of activity other than flying, that forms an important part of a modern airforce.

India Is Still Ready to Act On Truce Body

NEW DELHI (AP)—An authoritative Indian source said today the New Delhi government still is prepared to carry out its understanding to participate in a Korean truce commission, despite South Korea's release of anti-Communist North Korean prisoners.

This was made known a day after Foreign Minister Max Petitpierre of Switzerland said the release may lead his government to reconsider his willingness to serve.

Indian Embassy officials in Stockholm announced today that the country's representatives on the truce commission would leave for Korea next Tuesday. This indicated that Sweden is not pulling out from the arrangements.

There has been no official reaction from Czechoslovakia and Poland—the other members named to the commission.

The Indian source said the New Delhi government "greatly regrets the latest developments in South Korea but earnestly hopes they will not delay the signing of an armistice agreement.

"There is no change in the Indian government's attitude. They were prepared to carry out their agreement," he added.

30 U.S. Editors Guests Of Cheese Producers' Assoc.

Memories of Canadian hospitality and the tangy taste of mighty old Canadian cheddar cheese will be taken back to the United States by 30 American newspaper editors, presently touring Ontario as guests of the Publicity Department of Travel and Publicity.

The newspaper editors, representing newspapers that have states in Central and northeastern United States, stopped off in Belleville Wednesday and had luncheon as guests of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board at the Hotel Quinte, later were taken on inspection of the cheese warehouse and as a parting gesture were presented with five pound boxes of top grade Canadian cheddar.

It was the tenth annual U.S. Editors' goodwill tour of Ontario and the visiting newspapermen were high in their praise of Canadian hospitality and the beauty of interest visited during their six day-tour of the province.

Full Day in Ottawa

After a full day in Ottawa on Wednesday the party stayed overnight at Brockville and visited Old Fort Henry at Kingston Thursday morning before coming on to Belleville. The party left here for Toronto late in the afternoon.

Ontario Cheese Producers' President W. C. Coon, presided over the luncheon meeting here and told the American editors that Canada has plans for important regulations for cheese going into the United States easier to allow shipment of special top grade cheese from this country.

He noted that Canada was on a quota basis for shipment of cheese into the United States last year's quota being five-sevenths of the previous year's exports. The quota for this year was considerably less than that of last year.

Wants Freer Trade

Mr. Coon said Ontario was not interested in selling its current make of cheese to the United States but wanted a freer trade regulations that would permit shipment of special cheese that would encourage repeat orders.

Roscoe Robson, M.I.A. for Hastings East, spoke on vegetable oils and how the use of such products was decreasing the demand for dairy products.

Charles E. Hyde, ag acting manager, welcomed the American visitors to the city.

Following the luncheon the party was taken on a tour of the producers' cheese warehouse where they saw cheese being brought in from district factories, saw it checked, graded and waxed and trundled into refrigerated storage.

And the Americans showed a keen interest in the whole process.

"Those fellows can ask more questions than a whole school could answer," commented one cheese official after the party had left for Toronto. Then, then, asking questions is their job."

Clint Melville, director of the photographic branch for the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity, acted as manager.

THE FRONT LINE OF FREEDOM

Dwight D. Eisenhower may go down in history as one of the great presidents of the United States.

We will risk a prediction. If he does it will not be because he directed elaborate defence preparations against the Communist menace to the West, but because he had the vision and the courage to speak out against a growing challenge to freedom, masking itself as virile opposition to totalitarianism.

This does not mean that the defence preparations of the U.S. are unimportant. The War between the States was important, too—but Lincoln is best remembered for his Gettysburg Address.

One of Eisenhower's speeches which may gain fame is that at Dartmouth College on Sunday, in which he denounced "book-burning."

It is, therefore, extremely disappointing to find a Canadian writer, H. L. McPherson, of the Windsor Star, agreeing to go along with the president solely because McPherson considers Communist propaganda ineffective. "It could be," says McPherson, "that the president is right in depriving crackdowns on Communist publications, and will be right in the long run if they are written in the old, deadpan, stilted Commie style." The implication is plain that if the Communists get more clever, if they cease being "dull, repetitious, transparently ignorant, and blatantly untruthful," then Eisenhower should consider revising his liberal views.

This is to miss the entire point at issue.

As clear a definition of the real issue as we have seen for some time is provided by Patrick Murphy Malin, as quoted with approval by Fred Hill in an article in the Christian Science Monitor. Malin is head of the American Civil Liberties Union, or ACLU. He says:

"The vital thing today . . . is to keep remembering that in our democratic society we must take the risk of ideas that to many of us may seem false. —We can combat these ideas with argument . . . ACLU will champion the civil liberties of people whom other citizens and their daily dislikes. To me that is the essence of democratic justice.

"We are caught today between the traditions of our freedom and the great need for security. Great pressures are being brought on our mass media of communication and on the public-school system with a constant tendency to keep anything nonconformist. . . . It is an unfortunate and dangerous trend. In our educational institutions particularly the hope lies with variety, rather than conformity. Unless we come to grips with the facts of our controversial existence we are misspreparing our youngsters."

A WEAPON IN THE COLD WAR

It would be a foolish man who would see in the anti-Communist riots in East Berlin any hope of a successful uprising by the masses of the satellite countries against their Russian oppressors.

No unarmed mob is going to overthrow the Red Army. If it were the kind of an army which could be defeated by a popular uprising, we should have no need to fear it.

At the same time that man would be equally foolish who would regard the demonstrations by the Germans as "full of meaning" or "signifying nothing."

These riots signify much—and nobody knows it better than the Russians. They are evidences of discontent which all the world can understand. They place in the hands of the West a weapon which, if properly wielded, can win battles in the cold war.

A POSSIBLE ELECTION ISSUE

The forthcoming federal election, for reasons which escape us, is being labelled on all sides as a routine procedure with no real issues at stake. This does not permit us to list issues, but it does provide an opportunity for a suggestion.

About two years ago, with cries from the public to reduce government spending and subsequently, taxes, the government responded by its interference with the near-perfect political system with one-party elections. In the process it irritated everyone in the country without any real saving in its four billion dollar a year budget. As one can imagine, the hue and cry for fiscal reformation ceased once the ratings for chafing economy.

It is now election time again and if the contesting parties can find nothing to differ about, perhaps they will agree unanimously to restore the old time postal system.

TIMING OF RAINS IS IMPORTANT

If any safe conclusion can be drawn from crop and weather statistics in Western Canada it is this: More important than the total supply of moisture is the timing of that moisture. A good rain in May and June when the crop is growing is worth a dozen downpours at other seasons. Early this spring most of the soil in Western Canada was bone dry. Now there is almost enough moisture on hand to carry the crop right through.—(Financial Post.)

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE DATES

20 YEARS AGO

June 19, 1933

At a meeting of the Board of Education, J. W. Barlow, chairman of the sites, buildings and grounds committee gave a notice of motion that he would, at the next meeting of the board in September, move that the Board be reduced from 21 members to 11 members, 10 to be elected by the ratepayers and one appointed by the Separate School Board. The motion was seconded by L. E. McLean. There was no discussion on the matter.

Early tea will be held on Saturday this year and local merchants have decided to remain open that day and to celebrate the holiday on Monday, July 3rd.

Unemployment in the St. John's, Newfoundland, is the guest of Mr. Blagrave and the Rev. R. C. Biagrave.

Mr. F. W. Davies of the Toronto post office staff, accompanied by his wife and son are spending a vacation as the guests of Mrs Davies' mother, Mrs. S. J. Stratton, Yeomans Street.

Miss Suzie Wiggins, Donald Street, entertained a number of her young friends on Saturday last evening.

Mr. Frank Eaton of Brooklyn, N.Y., formerly of Belleville, is here on a short visit and many friends are glad to welcome him. He has kindly consented to sing in Bridge Street Methodist Church on Sunday evening.

Mrs. John A. Kerr and Charles Steward, both of this city, and Mr. Morden Bird of Stirling, are in Montreal on business in connection with the cheese industry.

It seems from reports we hear that Belleville is the only place in this part of Ontario which is going to let the holidays go by without some sort of a celebration. Something should be done about this.

Time for Giving Advice

(New York Times)

This is a season for the giving of advice to the young. Wherever gather seniors in caps and gowns —in chapels, halls or out under the trees, on hard chairs—persons will have found who are willing and, in surprisingly large numbers of instances, able to offer advice. The theory behind this annual outpouring is sound; why should not an older statesman, a successful figure in business, a wise educator, a writer or lecturer, a distinguished layman be asked to speak to youth on the threshold of new adventures? Why should they not be given an opportunity to offer, in capsule form, what they have learned of life, what they know of failure and success, of dreams and toil? The commencement speech is but another means of communicating knowledge, of handing the distillate of experience from one generation to another.

* * *

He who has the courage (and, it goes without saying, wisdom) to offer advice to youth on such occasions, does not lack for platitudes common to the time and the season. Like final examinations, fatiguing to its participants; the weather by which the academic gowns evidently were designed for glacial ages; graduates may have a moment's fear that their minds not relate directly to the subject matter, but the speakers go back across their academic years with fine assurance, and with the knowledge that much that was done could have been done better; and they have mastered the job already awaiting them, even without the extra assignment over the jobs desired but not yet found; either that or worrying about getting married, and still others may merely be hoping that the commencement exercises will be over with soon.

* * *

And so when advice or expressions of faith are offered the young under such circumstance it is difficult to know where a seed falls or when it will sprout; the speakers may be pardoned if they feel that their remarks in general terms, advice, hope, prayer, better now attractively packaged is taken seriously by the young who do not ask specifically for it. If any advice sticks with youth it is likely to be that asked for and received, well before diploma is in hand, in some informal talk with professor, father or sympathetic expert in the graduating student's chosen field.

* * *

Each of these may be flattered, even surprised, to have been sought out for advice and none can be unaware of the responsibility that goes with offering counsel. Here is a student with his whole life ahead of him, embarking in a big city. He has been told by someone that the best way to prepare himself is for a career interest in a smaller enterprise in a small town, and he wants to know whether or not that is a sound approach. What to tell him? If he goes straight to the big city, he may get lost somewhere on the way to his goal—(who can tell) he may be a smashing success. If he starts in the small town he may never get to the big city, since he will be working toward may be grasped by the man who is in the spot at the right time. He may sit in his small town until, suddenly he knows it is time to go, and he has a career and he may grow embittered; or he may, like Paul Gallico's lament where he is, setting his dream aside and becoming free of it.

* * *

Here is the graduating student who wants to marry but who can't afford to; there is the graduate whose father wants him to become a lawyer but who has other and talents lie with one of arts. All would like to hear advice that would help them decide what is ready have made or are in the process of making. Here is a reluctant to follow the coldly practical advice of one who has come on side of a piece of paper the advantages of a plan of action and on the other the birth and opposing list of disadvantages. Psychologically, coached by an intimate knowledge of the ability and responsibility of the speaker and on a broad acquaintance with the general field in question, collided with emotional entanglibes that weigh heavily in the decision as to what advice will be used. Those who, these days, are asked for advice and feel it can only hope that their efforts will do more good—or at least that they will, in the end, do no serious harm.

Says Third Bridge Would Solve Problem

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Considering for some time the possibility of a third bridge across the south end of the river, everybody is tax conscious and would not like to have them go any further than possible.

But in any event if the city does build a bridge, I suggest that the powers that be look into the possibility of using the present piers that are now spanning the river, instead of building more piers and causing more blockage to the ice flow in the spring. In fact, I am sure they are using to prevent. I would suggest that the city engineer, Lionel Bridge on the present piers and thus save the cost of building a new bridge.

The present bridge is a menace to navigation, the council, the Yacht Club, and the public at large. The Yacht Club goes extra credit for they have done much to improve the situated money. They have put in many long hard hours themselves to maintain their club house and attributed heavily from their own pockets, and on Sunday they arranged entertainment that not only pleases the participants but pleased the entrants. Their well planned entertainment of participants from other clubs and always places will benefit every one.

There is a great deal more work to be done by the yacht club to improve its previous perfection. The additional work will require the support those working on this project in order to help get the job done quickly.

Dignity Restored

(London Free Press)

Sometime ago sedate British legislators were shocked to hear themselves addressed by wailnesses in the House of Commons restaurant as "Dear," "Love," "Guvnor," or "Duckie." Now word's near that has restored the ancient tradition but this was going too far—by jove.

However, Caterers' Association of Great Britain 'rectified things for dignity.

Mr. L. B. Pearson, the minister for external affairs, says that Canada is a top minor league country in foreign affairs, but is not in the big leagues. However, with Senator McCarthy pitching occasionally for the United States, and with the French premier sent to the showers, Canada may make the grade yet.

Glad to See Victoria Park in Use Again

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Perhaps one of the finest sights to be seen in Belleville during the years, and certainly one of the most thrilling, was Victoria Park on Saturday last when hundreds of talkee of the past beauty of Belleville's only real park. They have complained and agitated but nothing has been done about ending now. Suddenly there are thousands of people swarming over the park like locusts and the city fathers wake. This is what so many of us have asked for. We are very proud, not of ourselves, but of the few public-minded persons who are responsible for this change.

The credit must be given to the parks board, the city council, education, the council, the Yacht Club, the Lions Club and the Kinsmen Club goes extra credit for they have done much to improve the situated money. They have put in many long hard hours themselves to maintain their club house and attributed heavily from their own pockets, and on Sunday they arranged entertainment that not only pleases the participants but pleased the entrants. Their well planned entertainment of participants from other clubs and always places will benefit every one.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the five o'clock homing traffic, a car pulled past me going a little faster than the general flow of traffic. It was one of those square-built, prosperous gentleman of the aggressive type. Even at first glance, because a very small boy, who was a passenger in my jalopy, called it to my attention.

Being one of the inside or slow-lane type of driver, I pulled over with the herd until we came to a stop light. And before the light changed, I had drawn alongside the pushing, square-built gent. He glanced at me, and glanced away, bored by my continued presence. He thought he had left me behind, I thought.

As someone was turning left, and since he was in the centre or faster-moving lane of traffic, I got away well ahead of him on the lights. And it was about three blocks before he overtook me, snorting fully along at five or ten miles an hour faster than us sleepers. My small boy passenger obliged by giving him a hit. He glanced and saw us again, a little of annoyance was in his quickly-averted face.

The next stop light, though you must take my word for it I did not consciously attempt to get level with the hustler, and the recollection of my passenger's face, the care ahead of him were slow on the breakaway, while my lane was similar. And again it was three or four blocks before the efficient square-built driver, in a hurry to himself to be, overtook and passed me. This time I did not race with a little coaching, gave the proper boot. Our adversary stepped on the gas and speeded up to fifteen miles an hour faster than the procession of all us dopes.

It was fight blocks to the next stop light. When we reached it, there was a mighty line of those square-built executive was drawn to the curb, and a policeman was standing at his open door, taking down various particulars.

"Hi!" yelled my small passenger, heartily and shrill.

I felt like pulling up and going back to apologize for the gentleman. After all it was the fault of all us dopes that he was in trouble. If he hadn't looked upon us as dopes, he wouldn't have been going so fast.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

WHAT IS MODERATE AND WHAT IS EXCESSIVE?

A man of sterling character smokes ten cigars a day, one after noontime lunch, the other after evening dinner. If I could have a notion as to cigars or cigarettes he smoking. I'd quit smoking but this man feels the same way about a pipe.

DR. Brady

As nearly as I can judge he derives the utmost enjoyment from his two cigars.

Physicians generally agree that excessive smoking is injurious to health.

Even moderate smoking lowers an athlete's physical efficiency. Smoking noticeably impairs the "wind." Breathlessness comes on earlier in the smoker and lasts longer. The heart pumps less blood after smoking. Half as many smokers as non-smokers in colleges are successful in tryouts for football. Physiological tests shown with instruments or precision that muscular efficiency is lowered after a single cigarette.

After a single smoke, particularly a cigaret, mental efficiency lowered an average of 19 per cent, and this is most manifest in imagery, perception and association—the chief essentials of thinking.

Various Investigators have found that the immediate effect of a smoke is temporary acceleration and lowered co-ordination of fine reactions. A single smoke, for instance, lowered accuracy in rifle shooting and had the same effect on baseball batting.

In short it is the consensus of educators, physicians, physiologists, physical therapists, coaches and real athletes themselves that the highest muscular efficiency, endurance, skill and ability to meet physical strain are incompatible with smoking.

These are the effects —of moderate or just occasional smoking. Among the well recognized effects of excessive smoking are chronic pharyngitis (smoker's sore throat); according to some physicians cancer of the bronchial tubes or lungs; tobacco heart characterized by short breathlessness on slightest exertion' palpitation and distress or pain felt in the area of the heart or under the breastbone; peptic ulcer complex (all the symptoms of ulcer but negative X-ray picture); thromboangiitis obliterans—Buerger's disease—which leads to amputation of feet or legs in some instances; amblyopia (partial blindness); insomnia; headaches; tremor.

Some good physicians allow patients with arteriosclerosis, coronary trouble, or angina pectoris to smoke moderately during convalescing. It is a personal question, that is the answer depends on the individual patient's reaction to smoking. In 150 patients with coronary occlusion 45 were heavy smokers; while in 150 patients after a similar attack and sex ratio, 45 were heavy smokers , and about the same number of both groups were moderate smokers.

To sorry the evidence is so inconclusive. It gives the addict or the tobacco hog an excuse to indulge to excess.

Just where can we draw the line between moderate and excessive smoking? As a smoker I regard as a tolerable hog one who smokes in a room or a car where it may be offensive or sickening to the non-smoker; one who smokes while at breakfast, lunch or dinner; one who annoys the smoker who inhales; one who smokes while at work; or one who smokes in bed.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ARDE YOUR TIME

All my life I have wondered why so many people are in a hurry. You can't save time. Time keeps going on, in the same manner today or this minute as ever. It is individuals, should be the ones to save,ourselves.

Time turn to a little book that is full of wise sayings. It is by Gracian, the Spanish philosopher, and was first published in 1832. Here is one sentence: "The best remedy for disturbances is to let them run their course, for so they quiet down."

The wise physician frequently gives no medicine at all. Just urges his patient quiet and in hospital need. I have seen nurses in a hospital take the hand of their patient and this has seemed to do more good than the taking of a pill, about which that patient knows nothing. But the doctor does know what the press of a hand means. It gives immediate calm.

Careful preparation is essential for anything that is worth while. heart.

Time thus spent is never begrudged, especially in later life when the hurry and worry and bustle begin to bear in an abundance. We never lose by patiently abiding our time. Impatience is fatal.

The reading of biographies is very instructive. There are told the stories of those who took their time, and thought of things ahead. The mere abiding of one's time is there is one sentence: "The best repentance, maturity, and fullness of experience."

Nothing of permanence is ever done in a hurry. The spectator, who goes to the theatre may in poor times and sells in good times. Such people abide their time, and don't worry about the delay in becoming affluent.

There is a world of value, as well as philosophy, in that small book called I Plan. Think things over. It's the matured judgment of the lawyer for which clients pay most. Abide your time and face each new day with a confident

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL DOUGLASS

SOME DISEASES

Many people believe that their lives are frustrated and progress impeded by their handicaps and that happiness shattered because of overwhelming problems which they must confront. Yet all the time the greatest problem is themselves. They have problems. They are mistaken; they are a problem and a big one—the problem of the members of their families, to the people with whom they work, and to God who made them.

Everyone should ask himself the question, "Am I a problem or a solution? Am I creating my problems or am I honestly making an attempt to solve them?"

Every doctor knows that he has patients whose only trouble is that they become such a burden to themselves that something physical is wrong with them. Some of them in a hospital bed. A large percentage of those in hospital have a mental cause. Every good doctor has to be a psychiatrist, or at least a psychologist, in order to be successful. Many of his patients, he is far from being a success. This does not mean that such disease and suffering are imaginary. It only means that much disease is self-caused, spiritual in its origin, and utterly unnecessary.

Disease and suffering exist in spite of faith. But the does not alter the fact that if we had more and better religion we would undoubtedly have less illness.

Circus Girls Are Dainty But Durable

Jean Sissler, beautiful young aerialist and Lou Jacobs, famous clown with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus.

"Frailty, thy name is woman," said William Shakespeare but that was three centuries ago, before The Greatest Show on Earth came into being.

If the Bard of Avon were alive today, he'd blush to pen so base an innuendo, especially where circus girls are concerned. For there are none so fair and none so sturdy as the lovely lasses of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, coming to Belleville on Wednesday, July 1.

The belles of the big top are the first to admit that circus life is no picnic in the park. When the roar of the crowd dies down each day, there are miles of travel and all the vagaries of weather ahead. Searing winds and heavy rains play hob with that schoolgirl complexion, and when you launder your hose and undies in a bucket on a dusty lot, there's little time to pose, prance or glance through fashion magazines.

Despite the grind, circus girls manage to look beautiful and fresh. From all corners of the earth they come, some of them from circus families that have trouped for generations; others who have dreamed of the tanbark in teeming cities are determined to make the Big Show their inheritance.

This year, there are four magnificent extravaganzas in which the dainty demoiselles of the circus prove their versatility, among them the indescribably stunning new aerial ballet and stupendous musical super-spectacle, a flamboyant phantasmagoria of sound and color that cost $300,000 to produce.

Performances in the world's largest tent, comfortably air-conditioned, begin at 2:15 and 8:15 p.m.

For public inspection of the mammouth menagerie, featuring the famous young gorillas, Gargantua the Second and Mlle. Toto, and all the vagaries of weather ahead. Searing winds and heavy rains play hob with that schoolgirl complexion, and when you launder your hose and undies in a bucket on a dusty lot, there's little time to pose, prance or glance through fashion magazines.

J. H. Cranston Tells Story Of His Life

TORONTO (CP)—James Herbert Cranston first got ink on his fingers as a printer's devil with the old Galt Reformer in 1880 when he was 15. The stains remained until his death in 1952 after a notable career which included 39 years with the Toronto Star and 18 as owner and publisher of the weekly Midland Free Press.

He tells the story of his life in "Ink on My Fingers" (Ryerson), a fascinating autobiography larded with anecdotes about many well-known newspaper writers, editors and owners.

Mr. Cranston, son of a Galt bookstore owner, lived to complete the vivid record of a busy and useful life although he died before his last work got into print.

Start in Woodstock

He worked as a reporter for the Woodstock Sentinel-Review and the old Hamilton Morning Post before he interrupted his newspaper career to take an arts degree at McMaster University where his classmates included such figures as Rev. J. R. McLaurin, who became a Baptist missionary in India and later secretary of the foreign mission board of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, and Cyrus Eaton, the Cleveland industrialist and financier.

After his third year at university, he got a summer job with the Toronto Star, and in 1905 became a full-time member of the reporting staff of the fast-growing newspaper.

He became secretary to the late Joseph E. Atkinson, publisher of the Star, and then served a term for the paper in the Press Gallery at Ottawa before his appointment as editor of the Toronto Star Weekly in 1911.

When he resigned the position in February, 1933, circulation had grown from 15,000 to 250,000 and the paper was making profits of half a million dollars a year. He received a year's salary when he resigned and two years later he bought the Midland Free Press, which he developed into one of Canada's best-edited weeklies before selling it to his son, Bill, in 1947.

Student of History

Retirement did not dim his instinct for news. He turned his attention to historical research in the Midland area, the Huronia of the Jesuit missionaries and Champlain. He published two books, "Etienne Brule: Immortal Scoundrel," the story of one of the adventurous French explorers, and "Huronia: Cradle of Ontario's Civilization." He founded Huronia House Museum at Midland to house relics of the early days of the district.

He summed up his life in the closing words of his book:

"Through the years I have worked with hundreds of interesting and worthwhile people. And now in my autumn years I have the joy of living in Ontario's loveliest and most romantic country, and saying with words to keep me out of mischief.

Justice Cameron Reserves Judgment On Damage Action

OTTAWA (CP) — Mr. Justice J. C. A. Cameron Thursday reserved judgment in a damage action by a Toronto television company against a Montreal firm which picked up copyrighted television programs and distributed them by wire to subscribers.

The action in Exchequer Court of Canada was launched by Canadian Admiral Corporation which sought $600 damages from Rediffusion Inc. Admiral claimed its copyright on television broadcasts of Montreal Alouettes football games was infringed by Rediffusion last fall.

Admiral also sought an injunction which would restrain Rediffusion from making similar use of any future broadcasts. The company abandoned a claim that Rediffusion contravened the Unfair Competition Act.

Rediffusion claimed that no copyright existed on live television broadcasts, that its method of operation did not infringe copyright on filmed broadcasts and that Admiral was not entitled to an injunction.

GLIDER SALES UP

THE WD TRACTOR DELIVERS MORE POWER PER GALLON

Extensive research by Allis-Chalmers engineers resulted in a new combustion chamber design. Spark plugs are located so that ignition occurs right in the center of the chamber. Manifold design, valve location and ignition timing are all carefully coordinated. As a result, the fuel mixture fires smoothly and expands out evenly . . . like ripples from the center of a pond.

McPHERSON—EATON

Tall white standards of pink and white peonies interspersed with ferns adorned the chancel of Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, on Saturday, June 13th at 3 p.m., for a lovely double-ring wedding ceremony, when Reverend Harris Eaton, of Belleville, graduate nurse of Trenton Memorial Hospital, and only daughter of Mr. W. M. Eaton and the late Mr. Eaton, became the bride of Al. Samuel Norman Duncan McPherson, of the R.C.N. Stadacona, Halifax, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McPherson, of Ottawa. The Rev. Duncan McVicar, brother of the bride, officiated.

Mr. S. Alec Gordon, church organist, rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. T. W. Hackett, of Bethesda, aunt of the bride, who sang before the ceremony, "O Promise Me", and during the signing of the register, "I'll Walk Beside You".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Donald Eaton, looked lovely in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace and net. The fitted bodice, featuring a molded, strapless bodice with matching lace jacket having a tiny Peter Pan collar, long sheath-like sleeves ending in lily-pointed wrists, was fully buttoned with self buttons. The floor-length waistline skirt, of nylon net and scalloped Chantilly lace over satin, was revealed as a front panel of knife pleating, fell in graceful folds. A matching lace headpiece of satin held her fingertip veil of nylon net in place and she carried an arm bouquet of dark red Better'ur roses and white Sephanotis. White slippers and a single strand of pearls, the bride's only ornament, completed her ensemble.

Miss Audrey Johnson, Trenton, was maid of honor, gowned in shell pink nylon net over taffeta, fashioned with strapless bodice bro

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Her Husband Won't Let Her Wear Short Shorts—She Wants a Divorce

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 23 years old, and have been married for 3½ years. I have three children 12, 11 and 10 years old.

My trouble is that my husband has always been so jealous that I can't stand it any longer. I have had enough. He won't let me wear shorts or sundresses, and he won't even let our daughter wear them. He won't take us out anywhere except to the movies.

I am sick and tired of my life with him and I am planning to divorce him, so what shall I do?

Sick of It.

Dear S. G.:

If you have already made up your mind to divorce your husband, then I don't think there is any point in asking anyone what you should do, unless your question means that you want to know how to go about it. Obviously, the first step would be to consult a good lawyer.

On the other hand, if what you mean to say is that you are not sure there is anything you can do to make him more lenient, so that as an alternative to divorce, then I would say you might try other steps first.

For example, does wearing shorts or sundresses have anything in your life that not to wear them is more than you can stand? Has it ever occurred to you that most women 30 years old are far beyond the age where they look well in shorts? Personally, I don't blame your husband for not wanting you to wear them. As for the sundresses, most of them today dress with low necklines, so you should think the two of you might compromise on that style.

Of course I realize that this matter of what you and your daughter are and are not allowed to wear is not the real issue at all between yourself and your husband, but it stands out in your mind as a symbol of an unreasonable attitude on his part all around.

Have you ever thought of trying to use what affection and patience and a sense of humor can do, or have you spent most of your 14 years with your husband—in constant bickering? If you are, I can only say in disagreeable that it is hopeless to try and change them, but on the other hand, a tactful, loving and cheerful wife can often change a husband's attitude.

Think this over and see if you might try a different approach to your problem before breaking up your marriage. You might also turn over in your mind the possibility of discussing things with your local family service organization. Since you have three young children, it would seem too sad to break up your home without first trying every possible way of holding it together.

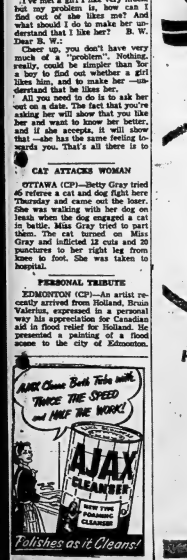
How to Find Out if a Girl Likes You!—Ask Her For a Date!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've met a girl I like very much, but my problem is, how can I find out if she likes me? And what should I do to make her understand that I like her? B. W.

Dear B. W.:

Cheer up, you don't have very much of a "problem". Nothing, really, could be simpler than for a boy to find out whether a girl likes him, and to make her understand that he likes her.



All you need to do is to ask her out on a date. The fact that you're asking her will show that you like her and want to know her better, and if she accepts, it will show that—she has the same feeling towards you. That's all there is to it.

Question:

Would you please send me some information on how to decorate and what to use for a 25th wedding anniversary cake. . . Mrs. Lloyd H.

Answer:

Rich fruit cakes are usually used for wedding anniversary cakes. Since yours is a silver wedding anniversary use a rich fruit cake, frost it with almond paste and white icing, then decorate in with silver dragees (little silver candy balls to be bought at grocery stores for that purpose), outlining "25th" on the cake with them, and making a silver border of them in a double tight row. If you would like recipe for rich fruit cake write to me again.

Question:

. . I have recently been appointed Social Convener for our H. & S. meeting. Could you give me ideas how to prepare lunches to be served for the larger groups? Have you any quick cookie recipes.—Mrs. D. H.

Answer:

Since the funds for H. & S. groups are limited I think moist cut sandwiches and cookies and tea are quite sufficient. When making sandwiches allow a minimum of three small sandwiches and two cookies per person. My definition of a small sandwich is this: a 2-slice sandwich without crusts cut into four or all the most three dainty sandwiches.

Uncooked Cookies

One .cup marshmallows, 1-2 cup chopped dates, 1-4 cup chopped walnuts. Cut up marshmallows, add dates and nuts and pour over them 1-4 cup thick cream and allow to stand, covered, overnight. Roll nine graham wafers. Drop the cream mixture from end of a small spoon into the graham wafercrumbs and roll them around shaping into little round balls. Place on oiled paper to set.

Frying-Pan Cookies or Perculpas

One-half cup finely cut dates, 3 cup white sugar, 2 eggs. Stir the above ingredients together over low heat in heavy frying pan for 3 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in 1 teaspoon vanilla. Stir in 2 or 3 cups rice krispies—the amount is optional. Put fine cocoanut on wax paper and drop mixture by small spoon—a canner—any kettle deep enough fats in it and roll around to form balls covered with cocoanut.

Note—Chopped nuts or glace cherries may be added if desired.

Question:

Please come to my rescue once more. Often recipes in American publications call for lemon etc. flavoured gelatin. Now, in spite of reading shopping I've never found flavored gelatin, labelled as such. May one use Jello powder, and if so are any changes in the recipe necessary. I've also had packages of dessert mix. Could one use that for the called-for flavored gelatin? The big difficulty there seems to be the smaller variety of flavors.

My stove is a gas range with the broiler underneath the oven, with a common heating element. When recipes simply say "preheat broiler" I would give no temperature how hot should the oven be. Will these recipes turn out satisfactorily in this type of broiler?

My recipe for strawberry preserves is somewhat too sweet to suit me. I have never tried one with as little sugar as possible. Since I work I can scarcely use any method that takes much fussing. Also I have no canner. With all these provisos in mind, have you any suggestions as to how I can preserve strawberries that won't verge on the jam stage? . . the lemon squares were really special. . . they are logs of my list for next baking day.—Mildred Z.

Answer:

The so-called lemon-flavored gelatin is lemon jelly powder. That is the method cookery writers have to use to avoid mentioning the commercial advertised name of products. The last-named dessert mix would not do at all. Preheat a gas broiler for five minutes to warm up the air the broiler rack itself. Certainly your broiler is satisfactory for all broiling.

There is no reason why you cannot preserve strawberries without any sugar at all if you wish—the only condition being that they are thoroughly sterilized. Mrs. Rorabeck advises using a medium syrup—1 cup sugar to three cups boiling water —pour boiling hot over well-washed, then hulled and drained strawberries. Stir strawberries in sterile jars, pour over boiling syrup to overflowing, put on rubber, top, then seal to within 1-8 turn of tight. Process hot water bath (this does not have to be boiling) in canner—any kettle deep enough

Hints On Thank-You Note For Money-Present

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have already received several gifts of money as wedding presents. I know that when I write thank-you notes I'm supposed to mention the gift. But the word "money" doesn't rather harsh, and I am wondering how I would go about wording the thank-you notes.

S.

If you don't want to use the word "money" in your thank-you notes, you may more gracefully say "your generous present." The important point about a thank-you note for a gift of money is: to tell the giver either (1) what you are planning to buy with the money-gift, or (2), if you haven't decided what your plans are for spending the money, say this, and say too that when you do decide, you will let the friend know what you have bought, or have decided to buy. Don't just thank for the money, and let it go at that. Obviously, the generous giver would want to know what your plans are, now or later. For example:

Dear Aunt Kate,

How very kind you and Uncle Jim were to send me such a wonderful wedding present! Bill and I thank you both, with very special thanks, for your dear messages of good wishes and for your generous present. We have dreamed of having a mirror over the fireplace in the living room of our new home—and now, thanks to your goodness to us, our dream can come true. Very soon we are going to step forth together to choose this treasure, and when we return from our wedding trip, we want to have you two dears come very, very soon to see us and to "meet" the lovely wedding present we've got.

Our dearest love to you both, and many thanks, and our happy happy anticipation of seeing you on "the" fourteenth.

Lovingly,

Centennial Services Continue At St. Paul's Church, Rawdon

RAWDON.— Last Sunday was the first quarter day in the centennial year of St. Paul's United Church, and the pastor, Rev. A. E. Baker and church officials invited all to join in taking communion.

The organist, Mrs. A. E. Baker, played three selections. The Royal Junior choir sang "Trust and Obey" and the Senior Choir sang "Believe It God So Loved Us".

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, of Carmel, sang by special request.

The pastor had his communion message on the words found in 1st Timothy, "This is a true saying and worthy of all men that Christ Jesus come into the world to save sinners."

The communion service was taken from the approved program of the Coronation of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth.

There was also the exhortation, general confession, absolution, prayer of humble access, prayer of consecration and readings from the New Testament.

John Oxenham's famous poem, "Where'er I Be, Lord", and a famous painting of "The Last Supper" was used as a cover for the day's program.

Evening Service

The special preaching mission conducted by Rev. Gordon Cromey Hunter, B.A., B.D., of Schomberg, opened at St. Paul's United Church, Sunday evening June 14, and will continue to nightly.

The speaker gave a splendid message the theme "The Revival that is Never Finished". The gospel message directs the people everywhere, whether at home or abroad be told the message of Jesus Christ and that it has to offer.

Mr. Gerald Taylor led the sing-song with Mrs. A. E. Baker as accompanist. The Senior Choir rendered "Lord for Thy Tender Mercies Sake", and "I Surrender All."

Miss Marlene Carlisle sang "Fairest Lord Jesus", Mrs. Cecil Macklin sang "The Old Rugged Cross", and the processional was "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken".

Mr. Wm. Aylsworth, Madoc, sang "Have Thine Own Way Lord" and Mr. Jack Gordon rendered "Jesus is Mine."

Annual Service

On Sunday morning June 21st the annual Masonic service will be held and that evening the Hunter Mission will close with a grand rally of young people.

Rev. Hunter spoke on the theme "The Love That Never Lets Go" and in his opening remarks he quoted Dr. Stephen Neal who said the main truth in that God's "kindal men."

The speaker said we in this day and age seem to have the subtle idea that God loves respectable people" but we have forgotten that God's love is infinite and that He died for sinners.

Rev. Hunter presented numerous parables which portrayed God's love for sinful people, and quoted the poem "The Love of God is broader than the measure of man's mind."

Have Confidence

Everything in this world is in God's hands and we must have confidence in ourselves and not be victims of bad habits, nor should we reduce life today into just personalities.

The speaker spoke of the anchor of God which keeps the soul and said, "And God can't be the most important question that will ever come into one's life."

Rev. Hunter closed his message with a graphic story from Scotland based on "The Communion Service" when the old Scotch elder said "Take the tormarent Lassie, its for the likes of ye." The speaker mingled with the audience in the vestibule following his sermon.

India Is Trying To Cut Amount Of Food Imports

OTTAWA (CP)—A speaker told the Canadian Dietetic Association's conference Wednesday that India's most urgent problem is to find enough food to keep her people alive.

Miss Kizhakepat Rukmini, a second secretary of the Indian high commission, told closing sessions of the conference of the enormous efforts being made in her native country to reduce the necessity to import food.

She said that in India where the staple food is cereal grain, soy beans are used to compensate for meat and eggs, and dark and sword-fish oils to provide vitamins A and D. Some of the lack of calcium was made up by chewing betel leaves smeared with slaked lime. Year-round fruit and vegetables were beyond the reach of poorer families.

India however, was tackling her food problem with such vigor that despite a loss through natural calamities amounting to 6,000,000 tons of grain in one year alone, the grain import level which stood at 4,500,000 tons in 1947 was expected to be reduced next year to 2,500,000.

This had been achieved largely through better agricultural methods and irrigation, and some seeds of rice cultivation had been adopted.

Sunday School Lesson:

What Is Religious Freedom?

By ROY L. SMITH

... We have indulged in much oratory of late on the subject of the four freedoms; freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of thought, etc. Much of it has been the easy kind which greeted of freedom as though it were a release from restraint.

We Mean Is Free

Even a hurried look about us will make plain the fact that no man is free. The business man who is making a success of his business is bound to it and by it. The athlete who is coming out with fists is a bond-slave to his success. He does not even dare rest to suit himself. The man who is really in love is far from free; he is in bondage to his beloved.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for June 21: "The Prince of Christian Liberty," Galatians 5—6.

On the other hand, the libertine is not free; he is chained to his lusts. The drunkard is not free; he is handcuffed to his habit. The thief is not free; he never walks a hundred yards without being overtaken by fears.

All of which means, of course, that each of us is the slave of one his master. We can accept the tyranny of a great ideal, or we can surrender to the bondage of a cruel and vicious state of mind. The choice depends upon us, but we have no choice in the matter of liberty.

Slavery of The Great

Winston Churchill, one of the most vivid personalities the British have ever produced, is in the most powerful seat in the Empire but he is not free. The humblest man in the land is probably able to make more independent choices than the Prime Minister can.

Albert Schweitzer, one of the greatest and most famous personalities of the world—a world master in half a dozen fields, such as Bach music, theology, philosophy, medicine—is bound hand and foot, mind and heart to his hospital in the midst of the African jungle and to the ignorant and backward blacks who come to him for healing.

Mahatma Gandhi, the little man of India, known as the world's greatest independent, was bound irrevocably to certain ideals he had set up for himself.

They say that Josef Stalin ruled the Kremlin and dominated half the population of the world, but the truth is, the powerful Russian was enslaved to the Frankenstein he raised up in Russia. Suppose he ever doubted the wisdom of his own scheme, and tried to escape. Imagine what would have happened to him. The trapper is trapped; the tyrant is tyrannized; the dictator is dictated to.

The Christian Answer

The Christian solution of the dilemma is simple, but it is also exacting. It offers a way out, but it demands that we work our way out as whole men.

Paul had achieved true liberty, by what he called being "a bond-slave to Jesus Christ." He had fallen so completely in love with the Son of God, with His way of life, with the spirit of love which possessed Him that he had thrown all his life in on that side, holding nothing in reserve.

It was said of one of the pitchers in the World series that "he threw every pitch as though it represented all he ever hoped to be as a pitcher. He held nothing back for the next pitch. Every time he delivered the ball he intended that throw to be his masterpiece."

That's the kind of liberty that pays off. It is the only kind that produces true freedom. It is the kind that makes a man independent of everything except the thing he is expected by God and man to do.

Rosenberg defence attorneys John Finerty, left, of New York City and Malcolm Sharp, of Chicago, Illinois, confer in the lawyers' lounge of the U.S. Supreme Court building after making a last-ditch effort to save the lives of convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. Secret papers submitted to Supreme Court Justice Douglas are believed to have caused Douglas to grant the stay of execution repeatedly refused by the full bench. THE THOMAS C. THOMPSON FUNERAL ESTABLISHMENT COMPLETELY REMODELLED

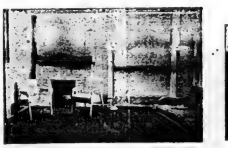
During the many years we have been in business we have originated in Belleville new ideas. The late William Thompson the founder of the business was the first to embalm as it is known today. In 1916 we were the first to have a funeral parlor and now the first to have a funeral chapel. We were also the first to use motor funeral cars in Belleville.

"Belleville's Only Funeral Chapel"



After inspecting chapels in many Cities we designed our chapel to enable us to conduct funerals in an efficient quiet and dignified manner. Our establishment has ample room to take care of funerals without crowding. Funerals in this fine funeral chapel cost no more, in fact we have always been known for our moderate funeral costs.

"Actual Photograph of Chapel"

Completely air conditioned for summer and winter. Equipped with lime oak church pews to match interior of chapel. New electric Hammond organ. Seating capacity 175.

"Slumber - Room"

Completely remodelled with large addition added. Centrally located away from the business and congested area with ample parking space.

Our Motor equipment includes late model Cadillac, funeral coach, 8 passenger limousine for the family. Sedans for clergymen and bearers. Service car. Our sedans are available to the family and friends to convey them to and from the funeral chapel as well as for the funeral.

Our display room is arranged to give seclusion. Here, the family can quietly make a selection in privacy and choose a funeral at a price they wish to pay.

THIRD GENERATION ENTERS BUSINESS

REDS ARE TRYING

(Cutimued from Page 1.)

West Berlin newspapers headlines screamed "murder" over their accounts of the Soviet execution of the alleged riot leader, Willi Goettling. His widow, in the Red-occupied half of the city, said her husband had to cross the Soviet area by elevated railway to reach the office, in the U. S. sector, where he drew the $8.58 weekly relief cheque on which the couple and their two small daughters subsisted.

"That must have been how he was accidentally drawn into the workers' demonstration," she said. "He had no special interest in politics."

In a note to East Berlin's Soviet control chief Sergei Dengin, Britain, the U. S., and France through their commandants in West Berlin condemned the Russians' "irresponsible recourse to military force" which they blamed for the bloodshed in the revolt against Red rule.

Toll Not Known

There was no accurate estimate of how many lives had been lost since the Russians took over military control and shoved their hand-picked East German government back on the shelf.

In addition to the 16 known dead in Berlin—and one executed—at least seven were reported slain in Magdeburg. The wounded were in the hundreds. More than 1,000 East Berliners were in jail.

A Communist party broadcast Thursday night admitted that the workers' rebellion was widespread. The party promised to "be more just" in the future.

But the party statement blamed the riots on "western provocateurs who tried to incite shooting and in some cases succeeded."

This was the crime laid to Goettling.

REDS HAVE PROCLAIMS

to prevent the breakouts. It also said the sincerity of the U.S. is "indeed put to an acid test."

3. Communist army engineers abruptly stopped construction of a building at Panmunjom which some observers thought might be used for the truce signing ceremony. There was no explanation.

Could Be Trouble

Should the Reds make the most of the prisoner release, a truce might be threatened seriously.

The actual prisoner agreement makes no mention of numbers, but says all prisoners opposing return to their homeland will be turned over to a repatriation commission within 60 days.

The UN command has told the Reds about 47,000 anti-Red prisoners would go to the commission.

Two members of the five-s'untry repatriation commission to handle Red PoWs who refuse to go home will be neutrals, but the announcement said Farouk "surpassed them all with his tyranny, his sins and his lack of faith in the destiny of the country."

Fuad II, who never saw his homeland while he was king, was the 11th nominal ruler in the dynasty founded by Mohammed Ali, an Albanian soldier of fortune.

It was through a speechlirit grandson of Mohammed Ali, the Khedive Ismail, that Britain got such a big say in controlling the Suez canal. Ismail, who had run up a huge debt to build elaborate and mostly useless public projects, found himself in desperate need of cash in 1875. He offered his shares in the French-built canal to Britain, and Prime Minister Disraeli obliged them up for Queen Victoria. She got a bargain and he new Indian empire.

The Mohammed Ali line continued with Fuad to his son, Farouk I, who mounted the throne under a regency. He is slim, handsome boy of 16 in 1936, after the death of his father. He ruled 16 years until—by now pudgy, aged beyond his 32 years and accused of corrupt practices—he was forced by Naguib to abdicate.

NUMBER OF FREED

Additionally, Russian newspapers published U.S. State Secretary Dulles' comment that Rhee "violated authority of the United Nations command;" and Prime Minister Churchill's statement deploring the prisoners' release.

A Rhee aide said "anyone who understands our position will understand" the presidential order freeing the prisoners. "It has turned vigorous opposition to any armistice leaving Korea divided."

Prisoners were held at UN camps in Yongchon, south-central Korea; Kwangju, south, and Taegu.

At Ascom City, 13 prisoners were killed by gunfire and 17 were trampled to death as 494 other PoWs poured through a barbed wire fence to freedom. Ten more PoWs died later of injuries to force the death toll to 40.

A marine spokesman said the gunfire came from a rice paddy outside the prison compound, evidently from Reds who helped them break. Two marines were wounded. AP correspondent Milo Farneti reported the blockade was literally blood soaked.

Reception 180

At Yongchon, about 770 PoWs crashed through, under and over a nine-foot barbed wire fence to freedom despite tear gas shells fired by South Korean guards. There about 287 stayed behind. The UN prisoner command reported earlier that 927 had escaped.

At Pusan, about 170 patients fled into the pre-dawn darkness from a PoW hospital. The prisoner command said 87 were recaptured, leaving 2,830 Korean and Chinese prisoners still in custody there.

At Camp 8, on the outskirts of Pusan—huge port on Korea's southeast tip—all 34 North Korean turncoats disappeared from their jobs in the officers' mess and in the check room of the officers' club.

Only one camp of the seven containing anti-Communist North Koreans still retained anything like its original numbers. That was at

Feuding Begins Within Ranks Of Biggest Union

OTTAWA (CP) — Feuding has broken out again within the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway employees (CCL), Canada's biggest railway union.

J. E. McGuire of Ottawa, former national secretary-treasurer of the 30,000-member union, said Thursday national president Harry Chappell had made an unsuccessful attempt to have him expelled from the CCL. He said the issue is little more than a year.

Mr. McGuire, a top-flight figure in Canadian labor until he was squeezed out of the CBRE for "insubordination," said president Chappell made the eviction bid at a meeting Wednesday night in Toronto of the 200-member division 76 there. He said the division turned down the Chappell move with only two members supporting the president.

Mr. Chappell was not available for comment. Officers of division 76—which took Mr. McGuire back into the CBRE after the union's national convention voted him out last fall—would not talk.

Political Succession

Until early last year, the stormy McGuire had been secretary-treasurer of the CBRE for 17 years and evident successor to 71-year-old president A. R. Mosher, with whom he was on the outs.

Mr. Mosher long running feud came out into the open, the Mosher-led executive of the CBRE ordered McGuire out of his office's job and out of the union altogether. He was confirmed by the union's triennial convention here last fall.

At the same time, president Mosher stepped out to be succeeded by Mr. Chappell. However, Mr. Mosher retained his presidency of the 200,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor, which meanwhile had dealt Mr. McGuire out by its summary ouster from office.

Later, Mr. McGuire—a CNR employee—moved to Toronto and on the expiration of his first two year term was given membership by division 76. Previously, he had belonged to an Ottawa local.

Horse Put on Relief

TIMMINS (CP)—Homer, a 21-year-old horse which died Wednesday, is believed to be the only horse in the area ever to get civic relief.

Homer went on relief four years ago because his owner, a father of 10 children, didn't have the money to buy hay for the beast. The owner asked town council to look after it.

Town council argued for most of an evening before deciding to put Homer on relief. One member said the horse should be destroyed, but that was voted down because the owner depended on him for his living.

From then on, town dogcatcher Hector Bourgeois regularly carried hay to Homer's barn.

Taegu where only five PoWs fled. Some 942 prisoners remain there. The main releases early Thursday were at Masan, Sang-Mudai, Nanam and Pusan.

The UN command assured the Communists via courier that it was making "every effort" to round up the prisoners—but it appeared an almost impossible task.

Greedy Doctors Do Most to Aid State Medicine

WINNIPEG (CP) — Dr. E. P. Scarlett of Calgary said Thursday doctors can charge all the traffic will bear are doing more than any other group to bring about the introduction of state medicine.

Dr. Scarlett, chancellor of the University of Alberta, said at the Canadian Medical Association's annual convention which ends today that even a few such doctors in the medical profession can ruin the reputation of all.

"We must impose a discipline on ourselves rather than expect one from without," he said. "You tell me that our professional life has a sordid side, that we have moral weaklings in our ranks. Granted . . . But there is an infinite difference between maintaining a standard which is occasionally abandoned and affirming that there is no standard to maintain."

Speaks on Cancer

Dr. Douglas Quick of New York City's Roosevelt Hospital, after delivering the Gordon Richards memorial lecture, said that in the treatment of cancer you win or lose on one toss.

Speaking on the influence of radium on cancer therapy, he said if surgery is not successful, the patient is lost, but if radiation is used there is some chance of decreasing long-term control of the disease or giving more short-term relief.

The aim is not simply to prolong life, he said. Prolonging life is only worth while if comfort is provided as well.

Dr. Quick said the incidence of lung cancer is unfortunately increasing. Surgery is faced with diagnostic difficulties in lung cancer. He recommended a constructive surgical attitude and the use of radiation in more cases at an earlier stage.

Dr. Quick said the quality of therapeutic radiology in Canada—the treatment of malignant disease with x-rays, radium or other radioactive material—is second to none. Check failed Killer

Dr. J. F. McCreary of Van-

Plenty of TV Talent in Canada

WINNIPEG (CP)—A television panel discussion Thursday agreed the only stumbling block to developing Canadian talent is the Canadian people.

courer said a deadly infant-killer of a few years ago has been reduced to the role of a minor ailment. Childhood Diarrhoea, which used to kill hundreds of infants, is being defeated by improved sanitation, more physiological knowledge and the use of penicillin and sulfa drugs.

Dr. McCreary said the disease still causes some infant deaths in the first year and epidemics in nurseries for the new-born are increasing. Safeguards include careful boiling of the child's milk and sterilization of whatever goes into its mouth.

Dr. S. Mirsky of Ottawa said there is hope of an immunization for epidemic jaundice. In a paper prepared for delivery at the convention, he said the combination of virus of the disease with gamma globulin may produce the antitoxin.

Gamma globulin, a preparation from treated blood, is effective in treatment of poliomyelitis. At present there is no known immunization for jaundice.

Cobalt Is Installing Silver-Lined Sidewalk

COBALT (CP)—A strip of pure silver leaf, six inches wide and 100 yards long, is being laid down on Silver street today, it's worth about $500.

Workmen tore up the sidewalk and recemented it with the silver. Surrounding the strip are samples of high grade cobalt ore.

The expensive strip commemorates the famous silver sidewalk found in the Lawson mine during the city's early days. It will be one of the attractions when Cobalt celebrates its 50th anniversary July 5-11.

The panel was held at the annual meeting of the National Council of Women. It included Ronald Fraser, CBC chief of press and publicity, P. J. Allard, general manager of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters and Moray Sinclair, Winnipeg public relations man.

Mr. Allard said there is plenty of Canadian talent for television but Canadians won't listen to them and won't look at them. He said the amount of talent exported to the United States is shocking. Canadian songs must be published in the United States before Canadians will listen to them.

Mr. Allard was not concerned with the negative impact of television. He said people have a remarkable habit of surviving and adapting new inventions to their needs.

The problems of old age dominated council meetings earlier in the day.

Dr. Wallace Wilson of Vancouver, director of geriatrics for the department of veterans affairs, said discrimination in the employment of older persons and compulsory retirement should be abandoned at once.

Will Not Destroy Doctors' Liberty Martin Pledges

WINNIPEG (CP)—Health Minister Martin today assured the medical profession the present federal government will do nothing to stifle or destroy the liberty of the individual doctor.

Speaking at the 85th annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association, Mr. Martin said the only proper limitations on professional freedom are ethical considerations imposed by a man's conscience.

There are four challenges to Canadian medicine, said Mr. Martin. It must maintain standards, provide facilities and services to physicians, maintain professional freedom and ensure that no barrier comes between doctor and patient.

The first is up o the profession, he said. Government health grants have aided the people with nearly $200,000,000 since the plan was begun.

Cost is Barrier

Doctors were quite right is not wanting to see changes in the pattern of health care to disturb the patient-doctor relationship. But a barrier already exists, he said, is the rising cost of medical care, a problem he listed first for both government and profession.

Canada had done more in the last five years than at any other time in its history to bring health services to an adequate level. In this program he listed money spent for hospital construction, support of research and special services for such afflictions as cancer, tuberculosis and mental illness.

The whole purpose of the grant system is to enable the doctor to serve the patient better, he said. The personal relations of doctor and patient have been and will be maintained.

Troops Welfare Report Shows Veterans Want More Variety

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Ottawa has been asked for a little more of everything — including Canadian girls—in a troop welfare report now on its way.

The report, prepared for Brig. Jean Allard, Canadian commander here, says soldiers in Korea need more reading matter, beer, films, phonograph records and says thought should be given to assigning an army band permanently to the theatre.

It was prepared after a three-week survey of welfare facilities by Maj. Anthony Cosby of Springhill, N.S., senior Canadian welfare officer in Korea and Japan.

Variety of Suggestions

Highlights of its recommendations:

Beer—A limited variety of Japanese beers is available at reasonable prices. "We need exists for Canadian beer in the Far East, particularly for the officers' messes clubs and canteens." It suggests that the problem of getting Canadian beer to Korea for resale, and the probable cost of shipping, be studied.

Bands—"The posting of a Canadian military band to the theatre should be investigated. (The band of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry is in Korea now as a five-week tour. It is the third Canadian Army band to visit the theatre on such a tour.)

Books—The supply of pocket-sized books is adequate in English, non-existent in French. "But hardcover books are needed for the mobile library" in both languages. The mobile library is one being set up by Allard to tour units and facilitate the exchange of books.

Magazines — "Shipments could easily be doubled and still not be over the amount required." It said French-language magazines were available in limited quantities only.

More Newspapers

Newspapers—"We require both English and French newspapers." Present shipments go principally to hospitals. Troops are few of them. "We also require the comic sections of French newspapers."

Concert parties — They should come out more frequently and be bilingual. (Canada sends one out every two to four months.) "They should be limited to six artistes, with at least two of them females." Larger groups are difficult to accommodate and it is not possible for them to tour in forward areas.

Films — No French films are available. "We are trying to see if French films could be obtained from Montreal and shipped on a regular basis." National film board films of Canadian life and Canadian newsreels would be most welcome."

Condy's report said a minimum of five more Canadian Red Cross girls were needed.

Serves at Tokchong

The one girl in Korea is at the 25th Canadian field dressing station at Tokchong. The report suggested that three of the requested five be posted to Korea and the other two to Kure, Japan.

Allard asked Ottawa to study the possibility of arranging cheaper telegram rates for the soldiers.

Canadian soldiers in the line must pay the stiff commercial charges. Those able to get to United States Army post offices in Seoul can use the cheaper services provided for U.S. soldiers. Troops in Japan also use commercial routes.

All other Commonwealth soldiers in the division have a 35-cent cable service enabling them to send expeditionary force messages home to any part of the Commonwealth except Canada. Their relatives also can communicate that way with them.

Naval Officers To See Launching In Kingston Yard

OTTAWA (CP) — Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, chief of the naval staff, will head a six-man group of navy officers at the launching Saturday of the coastal minesweeper Resolute at Kingston.

The 152-foot vessel is one of a new class of 14 minesweepers being built in shipyards across Canada, and the first of them to be built on the Great Lakes.

Rear Resolute, named after Resolute Bay on Cornwallis Island in the Canadian Arctic, is built by Canadian Shipbuilding and Engineering Co. of Kingston.

CO-OP FARMS

REGINA (CP)—Total income of 25 co-operative farms in Saskatchewan was $719,485 in 1952. The provincial co-operatives department reports the farms now have total assets of $1,525,500, showing an increase in each of the last four years.

YOUNG TRAVELLER

Bruce Hinke won a 2,135-mile plane trip from Alaska to visit his grandparents here. That was the prize his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hinke, gave him for passing grade two after a late November start in school.

Vancouver Car Sales Greatest In Canada

VANCOUVER (CP)—This city's continuing boom in motor-car sales is making even dealers wonder.

"In this community, money being spent on new and used cars and trucks exceeds that on food or clothing," said Clarke Simpkins, president of the Motor Dealers Association of B.C.

A spring power survey by Sales Management of New York indicates Vancouver's sales are the biggest in Canada. Twenty-eight per cent of all retail sales in this area are automotive, not including gasoline. The national average is 20 per cent.

"What we want to know now," says Simpkins, "is why? What's making Vancouver higher than the rest? Forced sales? Something else?"

Against Trend

MDA's new full-time manager, Ed Orr, in a review of the automobile business throughout Canada, said additional light on the stature of the industry.

There is nearly $450,000,000 worth of vehicles registered in the province now—almost the price of the big aluminum development at Kitimat.

Demand remains high and there is no sign of skittishness on the part of finance companies, Orr said.

All things indicate that "people want the latest and the best," he said.

But one "fly in the ointment" mentioned by Mr. Simpkins was federal taxes.

Car No Luxury

"We contend that the federal government has taken $14,000,000 in sales and excise taxes on new cars sold in B.C." he said. "But it has contributed only $3,000,000 toward the Trans-Canada Highway.

"The government taxes a car as if it were a joke box," he said, adding that British Columbians pay $400 taxes and $300 freight on a car, $400 duty.

"It should realize that a car is no longer a luxury item."

Production Manager

PORT COLBORNE (CP)—W.J.R. Paton has been appointed production manager for Robin Hood Flour Mills Limited, in charge of production in the company's five mills across Canada. He has been general manager of the company's nearby Rumbertone mill for the last two years.

A native of Port William, he worked for Robin Hood company in St. Thomas for seven years. He came here from Buffalo.

West Germans To Double Guards Along Frontier

BONN (AP)—Spurred by arguments that the bloody anti-Communist riots in Berlin had emphasized German insecurity, the West German Parliament today voted to double the size of federal frontier guards. This force faces the Russian-backed East German People's Police on the Soviet side of the Iron Curtain.

Interior Minister Robert Lehr told Parliament his lightly-armed frontier police were no match for the East German police, who have tanks and heavier guns.

Proponents of the increase reported that since May 15 there have been approximately 30 clashes along the border with the Soviet zone and in more than 30 cases the Western forces were undermanned. The East German militarized police are estimated to have upwards of 120,000 men.

The West German border police do frontier control work but are backed up by Allied occupation forces. The French have been opposing increases in the German forces and also giving them heavier arms.

Deputy Premier Of East Germany Released by U.S.

BERLIN (AP)—U. S. authorities today released Otto Nuschke, East German deputy premier minister, after two days of questioning and sent him back to the strife-torn Russian sector.

The 70-year-old Red leader who holds one of the top spots in the Communist-controlled government was picked up in West Berlin at the height of the rioting Wednesday afternoon.

Nuschke was kicked across the border by the anti-Communist rebels, rescued by West Berlin police and then interrogated by U. S. intelligence officers.

Vladimir Semyonov, Russian high commissioner, protested to the Americans and demanded Nuschke's immediate release. The note arrived at Allied headquarters this morning.

U.S. officials disclosed Nuschke's release shortly before 1 p. m. (8 a. m. EST) and a few minutes later the Communist ADN news agency announced that he had come back to be greeted "warmly by members of the political committee" of his party.

MYSTERY SOLVED

OSOYOOS, B.C. (CP)—It looked like an arson case when a container of kerosene and a lantern with broken glass were found on a freight car here. Police discovered two strangers in the yards were escapees from the boys' industrial school at Port Coquitlam, who had used the lamp to keep warm in the box-car.

Uranium City Developing Into Big Mining Town

URANIUM CITY, Sask. (CP)—Uranium gave birth to this town 450 airmiles northwest of Prince Albert and the much-sought-after mineral is developing it into one of the largest mining towns in Western Canada.

Goldfields, supply and distribution hub for the gold rushes of the 1930s, has given way to this new centre a few miles to the north. The old town has been moved lock, stock and barrel to the new uranium centre about 10 miles away.

A 13-mile highway, kept open all year round, is in a sense the main street of the northwestern Saskatchewan uranium field and Uranium City is the centre of activity. New Lake Port

Bushell is the southern terminus for the road built by the federal and provincial governments and mining companies. Bushell is the port for the area. The landing spot for barges that come across Lake Athabaska with supplies from the end of the railway at Waterways, Alta.

For six miles the road swings through semi-mountainous country to Uranium City, then it skirts Martin lake and finally the wide Beaverlodge lake to the north. At the corner of the site of the Eldorado operations, the Crown-owned corporation which is the most advanced property in the field. An airstrip has been built at the Eldorado operations.

Three hundred people live in Uranium City—called "Uranium" by the post office. Buildings, most of which are prefabricated houses, are laid out on a gentle slope between rocky hills.

The buildings are poor by contrast with the ultra-modern housing development at the Eldorado property. There are few modern homes and by the end of the summer the population is expected to reach 1,000.

"Interesting" Rocks

Gus Nyman, a Finnish trapper, was responsible for the gold rush to northwestern Saskatchewan in the 1930s. "Interesting" rocks found near his home in what became Goldfields were given to a prospector friend for examination.

The trapper heard no more until he found the area of his find at Goldfield. Goldfields boomed and mines opened up, but by the end of 1942 all had stopped operating because of financing difficulties concentrated activity elsewhere and the high cost of working the low-grade ore in the area.

Then before the Nicholson Mine folded in 1940 radioactive minerals had been found. Prospectors returned years later and found the uranium that has made the Beaverlodge area a mecca for mining men.

Gus Nyman, 70 and partly paralyzed, is a watchman at the old Nicholson Mine. He has not profited by the find that led to exploitation of the region, but the bay in which his Goldfields home is named after him.

$100,000 Fire Loss

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — Fire early today destroyed a large canning factory on the northwestern outskirts of this city. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Flames raced through the 400-foot long wooden building fed by thousands of cases of crates which were to be used in the spring pea canning season.

The North Raleigh and North Harwich fire departments answered the call but were powerless to check the spread of the flames.

At the peak of the canning season the factory employs about 80 workers, canning tomatoes, beets and pears.

The plant is operated by Resume brothers with S. Resume as plant manager.

How to Play Winning Baseball

By ARTHUR MANN

CATCHING — PART II

During June, 1947, Branch Rickey Squirmed uneasily in a box seat down the Brooklyn Dodger bench at Wrigley Field, Chicago. Struggling to draw somebody's attention to the dugout, he finally attracted the glance of Clyde Sukeforth, coach and former big league catcher, beckoned to him, and said:

"Can't you move Hodges up about four or five inches? Then those low curves won't hit the dirt."

The information was relayed to Hodges, then a second-string catcher to injured Bruce Edwards. The foot position was changed and thereafter the catcher's mitt barely touched the ground as he caught the low ones.

"All big catchers have the same trouble at first," Rickey explained. "Some are afraid of tipping balls with their long arms. Some may be afraid of getting tipped on the head with the bats. But show me the catcher who doesn't get up close enough, and I'll show you the one with the most passed balls and wild pitches charged against his battery."

In the old baseball days, the catcher stood far behind the plate, well out of harm's way and caught the pitch on the bounce when or if it passed the batter. First to "move in for the kill" during close is credited to Nathaniel Woodhull Hicks, a Brooklyn boy born in 1841, began his catching career with the New York Mutuals in 1872. He played six seasons, winding up with the Cincinnati Red Stockings in 1877. Somewhere in that period Hicks, who died in April 1907, caught up close.

The position was first made mandatory as part of President Ban Johnson's American League Bulletin, dated May 8, 1901, and said in part: "The catchers here after will play up behind the bat throughout the game. This is a standing order."

The importance of Hick's move increased with each generation of catchers, but it remained for Ray Campanella to demonstrate the maximum value of getting up close. It is a calculated risk, but one thoroughly justified with runners on base. Twice in one season Campanella was hit on the head by a swinging bat, and both times with runners on base. Instead of complaining, Campanella took the blame. The many unsuccessful steals make up for any whacks on the head he might get.

Despite the physical hazards, playing close gives the catcher a decided advantage over base-runners, especially if he knows the batter isn't swinging. Not only is the steal prevented; the catcher can come up quickly for a pick-off throw to first or second. Throwing to third against a right-handed batter is both dangerous and difficult. It calls for a looping throw over the batters' shoulder, usually at the expense of accuracy.

A catcher must learn to block throws low or into the dirt by dropping to his knees, and never by reaching. Mickey Owen missed a third strike that would have ended the ball game in a 4-3 victory to even the World Series for the Dodgers in 1941, had he thrown himself at Hugh Casey's sharp breaking curve, instead of reaching to his bare-hand side.

The ball rolled to the dugout. Tommy Henrich, the "last out", ran to first. The Yankees went on to win the game 7-4, and the Series one game later. Dropping to the ground may make you look clumsy, but not nearly as clumsy as when you race back for a ball you should have stopped.

All catchers should have a secret sign, easily detectable, with each infielder so that you may trap runners off base, or just to "keep them honest." The sign should be acknowledged, or the throw might sail into the outfield.

To break up a double steal: Use only the shortstop or second baseman, whichever is to cover. As the runner on first breaks with the pitch, anticipate catching the ball and move to throw to second. Just just as the ball reaches the glove, look at the runner on third, if he's far off and doesn't stop, fake a throw. If he still comes on, throw to your third baseman. If the bluff throw stops him, go through with your throw to second. The infielder at second will know whether to play for the tag, or quickly relay the ball to you to catch the runner coming in from third.

Never concede half of a double steal with a hope of getting the other runner. To do so is a losing percentage. Practise the split-second method described above. It pays biggest dividends.

Take your tip on a forthcoming play from the batter, not from the pitcher. Watch the batter's pitchout, try to have a play set up with the third baseman. If there is no squeeze, the opposition will think the play routine and the squeeze on the succeeding pitch.

The most reliable cut-off on a hit-and-run play comes from the base runner. His eye must be on the batter until he gets the sign. Bobby Brown, of the Yankees had the simplest sign. If he stepped into the batter's box left foot first, it was on. Watch the runner on first. As soon as he gets the sign, his gaze will turn to the pitcher. If you think you have the tip-off, don't call for the pitchout immediately. Start giving your signs to the pitcher and, if possible for eagerness and confirmation. Look also for the "wipe-off" while doing it, watch the runner of the hit-and-run sign. That happens, too.

A good, accurate throw will always beat the fastest runner, travelling 90 feet from a standing start. Only slow throws or lack of alertness can lose such a race for the catcher. And the best medicine for a pitcher's wildness is to slow him down. Go out and talk to your pitcher once in a while. He may be lonesome.

Pt. Anne Tames Bobcats 6-2, Hold 2nd Place

Point Anne Cementmen took a firmer grip on second place in the Belleville District Softball League, with a 6-3 win over the Bobcats in a scheduled contest played last night at the Alemite Field. The win was their sixth in seven starts.

The Cats, showing steady improvement, gave the Point Anne squad an exciting tussle and served notice on the rest of the league that they will be a potent machine from now on.

Frank Baldwin and Bob Rumber hooked up in a pitchers' battle with the Pointers pounding out two hits for two runs in the first frame and four hits, including two doubles and a home run in the fifth for three runs. Hunter scattered five safeties over the first five frames and then blanked the Cats to the finish.

The Ox Pointers rammed over two runs in the top of the first inning on a walk to Mulholland, a single to right by Elliott, a fielder's choice and Strahan's single to right and a two base error to the right fielder.

The Cats came back to score a single tally in the first on a walk to Nolan, an infield single by Temple, a stolen base and a fielder's choice.

Hall Homers

Point Anne started swinging away in the fifth and with two men out Doug Holl homered to left centre field. Gilmour doubled and Strahan was safe at first on a throwing error by the third baseman. John Green singled, and Genereaux doubled to centre to score Strahan with the third run. Hunter went out third to first to end the inning.

An error and two singles were good for the Bobcats' final run in the fifth.

Point Ange scored their final tally in the sixth on a walk, a sacrifice and a dropped fly ball in centrefield.

Hunter picked up the win on the hill for Point Anne, walking five, striking out four, and giving up five hits for two runs.

Baldwin went the route in a losing effort, walking four, striking out none, and giving up 7 hits.

Best at bat for both squads was Bill Nolan with two hits in three trips.

Both third basemen played outstanding ball with Gilmour of Point Anne, making six put-outs and registering five assists. Peters had one putout and seven assists, making some fantastic bare-handed stops of hot grounders as he plunged on the left side of the Bobcat infield.

Line-up:

Point Anne — Mulholland cf; Elliott lf; Holl ss; Gilmour 3b; R. Strahan 2b, replaced by L. Maracle in 7th.; J. Green c; Genereaux rf, replaced by Bill Strahan in 5th; Hunter p, Buchanan 1b.

Bobcats—Nolan cf; Temple c; Burley ss; McBride 1b; Peters 3b; Massey 2b, replaced by Powers in 9th; Young rf, replaced by Rogers in 6th; Bland lf; Baldwin p.

Score by innings:

	R	H	E
Point Anne 200 031 000—6	7	1
Bobcats . . . 100 010 000—2	5	4

Baldwin went the route in a losing effort, walking four, striking out none, and giving up 7 hits.

Best at bat for both squads was Bill Nolan with two hits in three trips.

Both third basemen played outstanding ball with Gilmour of Point Anne, making six put-outs and registering five assists. Peters had one putout and seven assists, making some fantastic bare-handed stops of hot grounders as he plunged on the left side of the Bobcat infield.

Line-up:

Red Sox Score 17 Runs In One Inning To Break Eight Modern Records

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

TAKE YOUR CHOICE!!

The late Will Rogers used to say that all he knew was that which he read in the newspapers. Lariat-loasing Wil. Hum, had he been alive today, might have suffered mental high jinx had he read the somewhat confused reports in Western Ontario newspapers regarding the sports situation down thataway.

Fr'instance, the suggestion that the London (Ont.) Majors, current leaders in the Intercounty Baseball League, should apply for a berth in the International League, met with wry smiles from Jack Park, Free Press sports editor.

Park remarks that the Majors have been on or near the top of their loop since the season started and yet they drew barely 1,500 fans in game to a city of 100,000 people. He says that Pittsburgh once put a Pony Pro league in his home town, installing a fine floodlight system but had to pull out leaving a bundle of cash and the lights.

But Listen to this. This is another "picture" of sport in the western part of the province. A writer in the St. Catharines Standard writes: "OHA president Tory Gregg, who also heads the softball series in the Wingham area, reports that good inclement weather on Monday, March 30 (a week, while rain-of-the-mill players pick up take anywhere from $60 to $85 for every seven-day stretch. Needless to say, all of Canada's top players are flocking to that area and latched to the list of harlots drawing down these fabulous amounts are Ross Johnston, Norm Bagnell, Bill Take, etc. This guy to on top of a regular job which most players hold down. Several of the parks are already sold out for the season and fans turn out up to 6,000 for nearly every game under the lights. If the bubble ever breaks, the resounding explosion will be heard until into the Niagara district."

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT, M'LUDS!

Those peerless peers, Lord Layton and Lord Blears, will meet Bobo Brazil, the Negro ha-ha bumper, and...Doc Leo Jonathan, the popular young giant from Salt Lake City, in tonight's wrestling feature at the Memorial Arena.

Those opposing teams have some similarities and some differences. Both are aggressive teams, but in different ways. Brazil and Jonathan are sporting and scientific. Layton and Blears are sporting, and clever too. Their sportsmanship is not quite the same, but it's there—they never kick an opponent when their down, if clean. They will only resort an eye if their fingers are sterilized. Layton only uses his judo chops to put a rival out of misery.

Plenty of action is anticipated from the other matches, in which Timmy Geohagen will meet Hassen Bey and Pat Flanagan will wrestle Steve Stanley.

BIG NIGHT!

Monday, June 29, will be a great night in Toronto, according to "Spit" Evans, demon publicity man of the Maple Leaf baseball team. "Spit" says that Rocky Marciano, world's heavyweight champion, will be on hand at the stadium when the feature baseball attraction will be a bout between the Leafs and the Rochester Red Wings.

Then there will be lucky prizes, an entertaining stage show and other attractions, all of which will benefit Variety Village where crippled children have an opportunity to learn trades and business work, which enable them to lead a happier and richer life.

Variety Baseball Night last year was a huge success and Variety members are going all-out to ensure the fans at another great event which will help the cause of crippled children in all parts of the province. Remember the date, June 29.

WEEK-END DOINGS!

Let's see. Weather giving him a smile, Dick Burrows will send a dozen "claimers" over the route at his Shannonville Speedway tomorrow night and hopes to have at least a half dozen daredevil motorbike racers on hand to provide additional thrills. Then there's the regular field of stox drivers to round out an evening of excitement and fun . . . Northern Electrics' softballers take on Point Anne at Ox Point tomorrow evening, while here the unbeaten Glen Roy juniors battle with the CNR Diesels at the CNR Recreation Park . . . Tonight in the South Hastings Baseball League, Melrose tackles Latta on the "Latta's" diamond and Cannifton battles it out with Read, at Read . . . In bantam baseball Schwab's entertain Wellington here tonight at Pine Street, while Picton plays the CNR at the Fair Grounds. The Legion kids visit Napanee . . . Boyce's peewee softballers tackle Rotary this evening at the West Moira Street fireball . . . On Monday the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club stages a club race starting at 2 p.m. off Zwick's Island . . . Lawn bowlers go to Campbellford tomorrow to play men's doubles starting at 1 o'clock.

Blast Bengals for 23-3 Win To Notch 40 Runs in 2 Games; Yanks Take Two from Browns

By REN FELEGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers are doing their best to insure the 1953 National League pennant for the upstart Milwaukee Braves.

The two would-be contenders have met nine times this spring. The Dodgers won the four games played in Brooklyn and the Cardinals have just finished sweeping their second series—a total of five games—from Brooklyn in St. Louis.

Milwaukee gained three full games during Brooklyn's decline and fall in St. Louis. Because the Braves, too, have been winning, the only progress the Cardinals have made towards first place is the half game they picked up Tuesday when Milwaukee was rained out.

Loss Three in Row

The Cardinals beat the Dodgers for the third straight time 13-6. Chicago Cubs moved within two percentage points of getting out of the cellar as they whipped Pittsburgh 8-4 and New York defeated Cincinnati 6-2. New York Yankees subdued the Philadelphia Athletics 5-4 and 3-2, stretching their American League lead to 11 games over Cleveland. The Indians beat Boston 12-2 in 11 innings to beat Philadelphia 6-4.

Boston broke eight modern records for single inning scoring by pushing across 17 runs in the second game against Detroit. The Red Sox went on to win 23-3, making a total of 40 runs scored off Tiger pitching in two games.

Chicago defeated Washington 8-4 with six runs in the ninth inning.

Carl Erskine lasted only four innings against St. Louis and gave up six runs—three on a bases-loaded double by Stan Musial. Harvey Haddix picked up his eighth victory.

Eddie Lopat is in the first game to and Jim McDonald and Tom Gorman in the second game battled the Browns as the Yankees made it three in a row and 31 out of their last 36 games.

Lopat, who allowed eight hits, collected his eighth straight victory this season.

During the runfest at Boston, the Red Sox collected 14 hits and six walks to score their 17 runs. One of the hits was a home run by Dick Gernert with two on. Gene Stephens singled twice and doubled in the inning to get a perfect record.

Forced into extra innings when Joe Astroth homered for the Athletics in the ninth, the Indians picked up two runs in the 12th on an error and three scratch hits.

Syracuse Halts Cubs Win Streak At Six-Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The tail-end Springfield Cubs finally were stopped Thursday night, but not before posting their sixth straight victory—longest Cub winning streak of the season.

Syracuse Chiefs put an end to the string by taking the second game of a double bill 4-3. Springfield won the opener 2-1, featured by some fine hurling.

The cellar-dwellers now are only 1½ games behind the seventh-place Chiefs and appear more confident than earlier in the season.

Rochester Red Wings advanced to within three games of the league-leading Montreal Royals by winning a 9-6 decision from Baltimore Orioles in the only other scheduled game.

Lynn Lovenguth put an end to Springfield's streak, stopping the Cubs for his third victory, but needing help from Ace Dyck to do it when the hustling Cubs rallied for two runs in the ninth.

The opener was a pitching duel between Army Landeck of Syracuse and Springfield's George Long and Tony Jacobs. Long and Jacobs together were touched for only three safeties, with Long taking the win. Landeck gave up only four hits.

A four-run sixth inning and a three-run seventh, featuring a mental lapse by Baltimore first-baseman Jack Mayo, enabled Rochester to down the Orioles.

The four-run splurge saw the Wings tie up the contest at 6-6, after Baltimore had taken a 5-0 lead in the first.

London Edges Guelph Leafs; Sox, Elgins Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors, leaders in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League, kept their grip on first place Thursday night with a 1-0 win over Guelph Maple Leafs.

In other league games, the third place Brantford Red Sox edged the runner-up Kitchener Panthers 4-3 and St. Thomas Elgins defeated the fourth-place Waterloo Tigers 10-9 in a ragged game.

London's only run came in the first inning on a walk to Gordon McMahon and a double by Gerry Wilson. The bases were loaded in the seventh and ninth, but the Leafs pulled through with good fielding.

Bill Best for the Majors and Guelph's southpaw Eddie Drapeau hooked up in a tight pitching duel allowing five hits. The loss was Drapeau's first of the season.

First baseman-a Roy Lefevre paced Brantford's attack at the plate and driving in three as he got three of the five hits the Sox managed off southpaw Bill Allan. In the last six innings, Allan allowed only one hit and struck out seven. Lipka, who started for Brantford, was credited with the win.

At Waterloo eight pitchers saw action. Curt Artis of the Tigers was charged with the loss. Elgins' Jim Summers, who got credit for the winner, took over in the seventh inning with two out and the bases loaded and struck out pitching manager Hank Biasatti, the clean-up hitter. He also drove in the winning run for St. Thomas in the eighth.

Chatham Merchants seem to have a monopoly on the league's top batter list. The International's weekly statistical review shows Ted O'Connor, who has been at the top since the season started with the exception of one day, is still batting .438.

Teammate Butch Lawing is second with .431. Lawing, however, has the edge in the RBI department with 31 to 30. Pete Hoffman of Kitchener's Dick Welker is third with 15.

Lawing, Chuck Aleno, also of Oshawa, and Brantford's Bob Thurman each have three homers. Thurman leads in doubles with eight. Welker leads in stolen bases with six and Ace of Kitchener in sacrifices with five.

'Stan, the Man' Has Worries

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A worried Stan Musial, predicting he will climb above the .300 mark before the season ends, said Thursday he has no private problems to blame for the worst batting slump of his baseball career.

The $80,000-a-year St. Louis Cardinal star admitted he doesn't know the answer to his prolonged slump. He's batting only .259 for the first third of the season, nearly 100 points under his lifetime average. Has Musial lost his reflexes, a sign that the end is near in baseball? He doesn't think so, and neither do his manager, teammates and other baseball people questioned here.

"Sure, I'm worried," the 32-year-old outfielder said. "I'm worried because I'm not helping the ball club. But not private affairs. Gosh, I have no financial worries, no outside problems."

Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cards said he has never considered benching Musial and counts on him valuable because of his knowledge, versatility and fielding ability as well as his batting. "He won two games for us on the last trip by his running alone," Stanky said.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting: Gene Stephens, Boston Red Sox, set a modern major league record as he singled twice and doubled in the seventh inning against Detroit when the Red Sox scored 17 runs.

Pitching: Billie Lopat, New York Yankees, allowed eight hits in winning his 13th straight game over two seasons, against St. Louis 5-4.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mayfield, Ky.—Wes Bascom, 174, St. Louis, outpointed Eddie Smith, 173, Omaha, 10.

Detroit — Allie Gronik, 148, Lincoln Park, Mich., knocked out Russ Jeffries, 145, Cleveland, 2.

Top Colts Steal Harness Show

DRESDEN, Ont. (CP)—Three of last year's top colts stole the show Thursday at the annual June harness races staged by the Dresden Turf Club. Hy Lee Baldwin, owned by Late Morgan of Chatham, won the heat event in copping the first trip paced the fastest time of the day—a 2.18 1-5 mile.

The Morgan speedster had to be good to take the nod from two of last year's top colts, Bobby Hendell star from Herbert Stoble of London and Richard Hal, now owned by Evans and Fraser of Ridgetown. This pair each had a two-three record.

Argyle Gratton, last season's "horse of the year" ran into tough luck in the first heat of the 2.17 pace but came back to take the second whirl in 2.16 3-5. The Campbell star from Aulss Craig was bumped in a scramble during the first mile and the wheel of his sulky was broken. Despite this he gamely went on to place fourth behind Hal Hendell, owned by Cecil Stone of Petrolia.

Frankford Sport

FRANKFORD — Paul Spurrell won the big heat for the Legion softball team Tuesday night, as he powered a long home run to centre field with teammate Ron Mitts aboard in the top of the eighth to give the Legionnaires a 5-3 victory over the heretofore unbeaten Frankford Juvenile nine.

The Legion jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first inning, as they connected for three solid blows, plus a Juvenile mis-play. The score remained that way until the sixth, when the Juveniles tied it up on four hits.

Then Wherry went all the way for the Juveniles, with Bob Clifford behind the plate. Centre started for the Legion, but had to be relieved by Manigerre in the fifth, when he injured his shoulder sliding home. Hearns caught for the Legion.

The game was tied at the end of the scheduled seven innings, and went into the extra eighth, when the Legionnaires wrapped it up.

Legion	300	000	03—3
Juveniles	000	003	00—3

In Glen Miller, Ron Wannamaker pitched Stockdale to a 4-0 victory over the home towners, Frank Terry working behind the plate. Mclarky started for Glen Miller, but gave way to Scott, Wickens receiving.

Ron Wannamaker powered a home run for the winners, and Keith Stockdale had the ill fortune to miss first base on a hit that was labelled homer all the way. Glen Miller Legionals are still having trouble finding their stride, with their very youthful crew, but they have the makings of a fine team once they start to click.

Stockdale	010	220	6—12
Glen Miller	000	000	0—0

Over in Centenary, the home club eked out a 7-6 win over Cobalt victory over the league's games in years. Centenary thus remains the only undefeated team in the league.

Standing:

Frankford J.	2	1	.667

Carnoustie Course Presents Problem For Ben Hogan in British Golf Open

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — As Ben Hogan expects to fly to Scotland some time this week for the British practice for his climactic assault on the British Open golf championship, the time seems right to start conditioning Ben's millions of admirers for a defeat.

They're going to wake up July 4, the day of the first qualifying round at Carnoustie, and discover that their hero, for the first time in his career, doesn't have a par score to shoot at. That's right, there are no par figures for Carnoustie.

It have tried to put this simple statement of fact over before, from both sides of the Atlantic, but have never seen the slightest indication that anyone paid any attention.

Apparently it is unthinkable that a golf layout does not have a par, yet they have and they get along without the gadget in Scotland and England for a couple of hundred years. They don't want any part of it. The secretary of some of their clubs never looks at you so blankly as when you propound the question: "What is your par?"

Best "Cal. Regrs"

The closest the originators of the game have come to placing a stroke value on their championship links is to play against a mythical "Colonel Bogey." The Colonel's score is figured by the best ted upon to shoot around 75 or 76.

There is a reason why such an effort was ever made to post an official "perfect" score for the seaside links, as opposed to inland courses, over which the British championship is played. The reason is that playing conditions fluctuate wildly from day to day, even in mid-summer, depending upon the wind.

Carnoustie, laid out over a desolate stretch of seashore where a gopher would have trouble scratching up a living, still reaches out more than 7,100 yards.

A player, Hogan for example, might go out on a calm, warm day and hit all his shots extremely well and tour Carnoustie in 70 strokes, the competitive record. He might go out the next day, when the wind is cutting to the bone and the rain slashing, and have to

New Record Made

TORONTO (CP)—More than 250,000 United States tourist cars entered Ontario in the first five months of 1953—112,634 of them in May—to shoot provincial travel records to new highs both for the month and year, Travel Minister Louis P. Cecile announced Thursday.

Travel, he said, is better than last year's records by about four per cent for May and so far this year is running almost 10 per cent ahead of 1952's all-time high marks.

Elizabeth Is Queen, Present Actual Crowning in Westminster Abbey, and Stirring Parade of Her Majesty's Gold Coach in Color

Now you can see the whole dazzling spectacle of the world's greatest pageant...the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth...in gorgeous color in Associated British Pathe's "Elizabeth Is Queen", showing today and Saturday at the Belle Theatre with continuous showing on Saturday from 1.00 p.m.

The pomp and pageantry of the royal parade through London's streets—the tramp of every country—of the Commonwealth...Her Majesty's royal gold coach, the many military bands. The actual ceremony—in historic Westminster Abbey when Our Queen is Crowned, the many thrilling sidelights that only the motion picture-color cameras can bring you—every scene in glowing, natural Warner color.

The commentary for this full-length record of an epic moment in our history was written by the famous poet, John Pudney, and narrated by the renowned British star, Leo Genn.

Elizabeth Is Queen, showing today and Saturday at the Belle Theatre, matinee daily, was made entirely in color by the same process used to record, "The Royal Journey", the story of Her Majesty's visit to Canada. Regular popular prices prevail.

AT THE ODEON McCARTHY

Secrecy Guarded Queen's Robes

Complete secrecy guarded the design of Queen Elizabeth's robes prior to the Coronation ceremonies which are now brought to the screen in the spectacular presentation of J. Arthur Rank's full-length Technicolor film, "A Queen Is Crowned," now showing at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

The actual Coronation, however, revealed that the Queen's train was about eight yards long, and the mantle to be edged with 500 skins of ermine dappled with 650 tails.

"A Queen Is Crowned" marks the first time that a Coronation ceremony has ever been filmed in Technicolor.

TURKISH SWEETS

Prince Edward County Taxes 19½ Mills, Down Half Mill

PICTON — Tax rate for Prince Edward County was reduced one-half mill and will be 19.5 mills. The June session of County Council also set a record for brevity, a single day, from 10 a.m. until 3.30, but 'in' that time as much business was transacted as is usually done in three days. Discussion was brief.

"We farmers are busy, the hay crop season is here, we want to make it snappy," said Warden Clinton Green, of Athol township, and valedictorians responded to his suggestion.

The warden performed a pleasant task when he presented a cheque for $15,000 from the Federal government (Department of National Defence) to be used to improve the road to Camp Petawawa, where the RCSA camp is located. The heavy trucks and other equipment have greatly damaged this road.

Reduction in the tax rate was possible though grants of $18,775 were made.

The 19.5 rate will raise $234,000 while estimated revenue is $135,798.90 for a total of $360,798.50, to equal estimated expenditures.

Spend Less on Roads

The county will spend $19,000 less on roads due to province refusing to approve of the first appropriation. The sum of $174,400 will be spent for roads and bridges. A five thousand dollar reduction in hospitalization bills is also forecast. Increased expenditures included $1800 more for administration of justice and $600 more for the Home for the Aged, where improvements are planned.

Estimated expenditures include: administration of justice $35,000; general grants $18,775; agricultural grants $2350; child welfare $23,500; hospitalization $15,500; health unit $12,000; home for the aged $31,000; industrial schools $2,000; debenture interest $952.58; debenture principal $4,908.93; auditor $650; council indemnity $3,800; bank interest $6,000; maintenance of county offices $1,500; printing, postage and stationery $1,900; salaries $5,000; roads and bridges $178,000; fair grounds $2,000; miscellaneous $3,057.81; weed inspection $1,300; registry office $1,000; rest room $900; Legion debenture grant $2,315.81; deficit of 1951, $3,178.57.

Grants Made

Grants made at this session included: Federation of Agriculture $1300; Hunter Farmers' $300; Milford Fair $50; Sophiasburgh Fair $50; Crop Improvement Association $50; statistory meeting, Agricultural office $500; agricultural council $50; these grants being for agricultural purposes.

General grants included $2000 for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, for a building to be erected at Kingston; Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment for publication of regimental history $1,000; Picton library $250; Bloomfield, Wellington and Milford libraries $250 each, Salvation Army $1500; St. John Ambulance $200; Huff's Island bridge, $500; Women's Institute $200; Canadian National Institute for the Blind, $400; Red Cross Society $400; Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce $75; tourist folders $500; Prince Edward County Hospital, operational expenses, $10,000.

Runaway Lived Nine Days On Pop, Peanuts

VANCOUVER (CP) — "Skippy," a seven-year-old runaway, told Thursday how he lived for nine days on nothing but peanuts and pop.

The boy, Billie McRae, ran away from home last Tuesday.

When found by police, Skippy was serving as bat boy at a neighborhood ball park. The pigtailed son of his foster parents helped with a load of peanuts.

"That's all I have been eating," he said proudly.

"Once in a while when I picked up some empty pop bottles and sold them I bought a bottle of pop — but I ate mostly peanuts — that's good for you."

Skippy said he spent the nights in an abandoned truck near his home.

A welfare society is looking after him now.

Canadian Troops Will Not Fight After Armistice

ORONO, Ont. (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson indicated Thursday night Canadian troops in Korea will not be used in any fighting that may break out between the South Koreans and the North Koreans after an armistice.

Mr. Pearson, president of the United Nations general assembly, spoke at a Durham riding nominating meeting which chose John James, the sitting member, as the Liberal candidate for the riding in the Aug. 10 federal election.

Mr. Pearson did not mention Canadian troops but observers said he made plain that Canada would honor only those commitments made as a member of the UN and would not go beyond that sphere of action.

"We are under no obligation to support or participate in any operation brought on by the governments of infected premises to St. Dr. Thomas Childs, veterinary director-general, said the pigs in the outbreak reported Thursday "apparently had been sick for some time, but had not been reported."

He said the facts in the current outbreak are being "thoroughly investigated," but he declined to say whether any charges will be laid re-against the farmer involved.

New Outbreak Of Hog Cholera At Burlington

OTTAWA (CP)—The agriculture department Thursday reported a new outbreak of hog cholera involving 343 pigs—the biggest single case since the epidemic first began in mid-May.

The new case was uncovered near Burlington, in Halton county, increasing the number of southwestern counties infected to 11 from 12.

The number of fatally stricken or slaughtered hogs now has climbed to 2,833 and the number ment of the Republic of South Korea and not by decision of the United Nations," said Mr. Pearson.

He declined comment on the question of whether Canadian troops will be used in any roundup of escaping prisoners of war. Only United States troops now are being used for that purpose.

Drew Hopes Election Will Be Clean One

GUELPH (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said he might be blamed for the present election campaign will be "dirty" but delivering to Soviet Russia the secrets of the atomic bomb.

His remarks were made in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening of his campaign here.

"I trust it is not too much to hope," he said, "that . . . never will be able, during the course of this election, to conduct our political discussions in a spirit of friendly disagreement. . . .

"When I disagree with the prime minister of Canada it is my duty to express that disagreement, but may I say with deep sincerity that he is worthy of respect as a man who has sought to serve his country according to his own political opinions."

U.S. East Coast Shipping Strike Brought to End

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Merchant Marine Institute, representing the shipping companies, Friday signed a new contract with the CIO National Maritime Union, ending a four-day tieup of U.S. shipping on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

The contract provided for a six-per-cent wage increase for top-rated crew men, four per cent on middle ratings and two per cent for the lowest rated group.

The average wage for able bodied seamen under the previous contract was $301.51 per month, with overtime pay at $1.87 per hour.

Joe Curran, president of the NMU, stated, "the ships will be ready to move as soon as they can."

Filter Centre Opened

BROCKVILLE (CP)—The third of Canada's seven ground observer corps filter centres was officially opened Friday by Air Vice-Marshal J. G. Sim, chief of personnel and training command.

Sabre jets from Uplands airport flew over the town at less than 500 feet to mark the occasion.

The centre is the operating hub of a 18,000 square-mile area.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: The week-end weather will be sunny, hot and humid, scientists forecast. Good crop growing temperatures are forecast for the eastern provinces with maximums in the 90s and the low 44 night about 78.

A change in Nebraska this morning is moving slowly northeastward toward the Great Lakes and has thunderstorms will prevail in northern regions tonight and Sunday and continue through Sunday. Widely scattered thunderstorms are expected in southern Ontario Sunday by Sunday evening. Somewhat cooler and drier air will follow the storm across the province.

Cooler air pushed into the James Bay region during the night dropping temperatures to 41 degrees. It recorded Friday afternoon down to 45 by early this morning. By Sunday this cooler air mass will retreat to the north, and the afternoon temperatures will reach 75.

Release Movie of The Assassination, the murder of a fellow sitting story, was an official witness at the executions of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

By REIMAN MORIN

OSSINING, N. Y. (AP)—Julius Rosenberg and his wife, Ethel, walked quietly to the electric chair Friday night and were executed for their crime of delivering to Soviet Russia the secrets of the atomic bomb.

Neither of the condemned spies talked, or attempted to talk, as the last act opened.

Both entered the death chamber in Sing Sing prison—only a few moments apart—with a firm step and a stony face. They were executed shortly before sunset, so that the grim task would be finished before the beginning of the Jewish Sabbath.

It was the day after their 14th wedding anniversary.

They were the first non-military convicts in the history of the United States to be executed for espionage.

At the hour of retribution, crowds gathered, demonstrating, in New York, London and Paris.

Hysterical sympathizers, screaming and crying, milled around a speaker's stand in New York's Union Square. Street fights broke out in Paris, and several policemen were reported wounded. In London, thousands rowed the streets, waving copies of the Communist newspaper, Daily Worker, which carried a single word in giant type—"murder."

Kruschev Thrown

In Dublin, two bottles of beer were thrown through the window of the United States information office. Police did not explain.

But in Ossining, where the prison stands, the night was quiet. Heavy details of police and state troopers, guarding temporary barricades, met no demonstrators.

As the hour approached, two television lines were set up—between the office of Warden Wilfred L. Denno and Washington—presumably to be used by the White House and the office of Attorney-General Herbert Brownell.

The Rosenbergs spent most of the day with their lawyer, Emanuel Denno said they talked from about noon to 7:20 p.m. EDT in the woman's room of the prison. They were separated by a wire screen.

Heavy With Silence

The party of official witnesses entered the death chamber a few minutes before 8 p.m. Then the electric chair was a white, wheeled table. In front were four rows of benches.

RHEE'S STOCK IS ON DECLINE IN CONGRESS

Doubt Mutual Security Pact Would be Passed

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Syngman Rhee's stock has sunk swiftly among U. S. legislators and Congress said Friday that Congress would approve any mutual security pact with his South Korean government despite the outcome of truce negotiations.

Senator Warren Magnuson (Dem. Wash.), just back from a Far East-ern inspection trip, joined today in mounting Congressional criticism of Rhee for freeing some 25,000 prisoners from United Nations custody. Magnuson's interest was critical, but Rhee had defenders also in Congress.

Previously, Senator Walter George (Dem., Ga.), Senate foreign relations committee member, talked of the possibility of ousting Rhee, saying he had "certainly scuttled" truce hopes unless the Communists want a cease-fire.

At Panmunjom, the Communists asked for an indefinite recess in the armistice negotiations, dealing a blow in hopes for a prompt truce. They also demanded recovery of the freed North Koreans and Chinese. They asked whether the UN was "able to control the South Korean government and army."

South South Korean

The Communist commander was not invited Friday when State Secretary Dulles called a meeting of representatives of United Nations countries having forces in Korea. The secretary and the diplomats conferred about 25 minutes. It was understood they discussed the truce situation and Korea's action, but there was no comment afterward.

It was learned, however, the ambassadors were told that Walter S. Robertson, assistant state secretary for the Far East, will fly to Korea soon at Rhee's invitation to confer with him.

Meeting on TV

GUELPH (CP)—Television cameras will be used to record an election campaign meeting for the first time in Canada when George Drew addressed his keynote speech for the Progressive Conservatives.

Frank Peers, manager in charge of the CBC's TV news at Toronto, said the films will be shown on the CBC's television news at 7 p.m. Saturday night.

He said plans have been made for televising key meetings of public parties in the series. Prime Minister St. Laurent will be caught by cameras on Monday when he carried Tuesday, and CCF and Social Credit leaders also will be covered.

None of the parties themselves is using television to get its candidates across.

Drew in Keynote PC Speech Promises Half Billion Tax Cut

GUELPH (CP)—George Drew promises tax cuts of at least $500,000,000 a year—about one ninth of the $4½ billion bill—if his Progressive Conservatives are elected Aug. 10.

The chief opposition party's leader, giving its keynote speech of the election campaign in his native town Friday night, pledged a special fall session of Parliament to make "immediate" tax cuts and start off a long series of other measures.

These platform points, embodied in a party manifesto delivered by Mr. Drew, include a compulsory health insurance program, easier terms on home-building, a better tax deal for municipalities, a 25-minion-provincial tax conference, elimination of government "waste," repeal of the government's emergency powers, expansion of markets for Canadian products and reform of the Senate, No. 1 Plan.

The Progressive Conservative leader's tax-reduction plan will be a point in a 16-point formal declaration of the party's program, which had been drawn up before the wraps until Mr. Drew gave it to an audience in his city where he was mayor.

"We will reduce federal taxes," he said, "by at least $500,000,000 a year. This can be done without reducing any pensions, family allowances, other social security payments, or in any way impairing the efficiency of our armed forces."

Another promise of Mr. Drew—and the one that gained about the heaviest volume of applause from his audience—was that about 2,000—will to amend the Criminal Code to provide penalties for communistic or other subversive activities. By coincidence, he spoke at almost the same time that Julius and Ethel Rosenbergs, convicted atom spies for Russia in the United States, were being put to death.

Mr. Drew gave the party's policy speech in Guelph in a Western Ontario riding—Wellington South—that has returned Liberals to Parliament since 1935.

Gives Civic Reception

He got a civic reception on the steps of the city hall before his meeting, and then marched to the auditorium to the accelerated band of the Red Chevron boys.

Mr. Drew, whose speech was broadcast by the CBC's television and radio networks, said he must be recorded for the CBC's television history and said there must be a change now to make government responsible to the people.

SOUTH KOREANS DEMAND RELEASE OF MORE CAPTIVES

Gen. Mark Clark Sends Scathing Letter to Rhee

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea's acting prime minister has demanded that Gen. Mark Clark immediately release another 8,000 anti-Communist Korean prisoners still in Allied stockades because "we must live with them all."

And the UN commander today released a scathing letter scoring South Korea's fiery President Syngman Rhee for breaking a "personal commitment" not to take unilateral action with RoK forces in the Korean armistice.

Clark called the release of almost 27,000 anti-Red prisoners on Rhee's orders this week "precipitous and shocking."

Rhee and the cabinet met this morning to study a stinging rebuke from President Eisenhower and government sources said the cabinet might discuss Rhee's answer. Eisenhower accused Rhee of violating UN command authority in releasing the prisoners freed.

45 More Flee

Forty-five more anti-Communist Koreans fled from three UN prison camps Friday night and early today. The prisoners previously said nine were recaptured.

One South Korean was killed and one United States soldier was wounded at a camp near Pusan. South Korea's acting prime minister, Yong Tai Pyun, in a letter to Clark Friday, demanded that Clark turn over all anti-Red prisoners still in Allied hands.

"We must liberate them all, preferably . . . in a manner least likely to cause trouble," he said.

And Pyun warned:

Says Newspaper Is Big Bargain

MONTREAL (CP)—One of the public's biggest bargains today is the reading content of the daily newspaper, Arthur Welch, president of the Institute of Newspaper Principles and Finance Officers, said Friday at the institute's closing meeting.

"Most newspapers, despite rising costs that have increased the price of almost every consumer commodity in the last few years, still sell for the proverbial nickel," he said.

Newspaper profits generally were not high and "most publishers were so public-service conscious that they operated at a loss to serve their readers.

"Self-preservation demands publishers keep their papers on a healthy financial basis, he said. Newspapers must be more conscious of costs and sources of revenue if they are to stay in business.

TOP GERMAN TAXES

BONN (Reuters)—The Bundestag (West German upper house) Friday approved the highest income and income taxes by an average of 25 per cent. The bill, already passed by the Bundestag (lower house), now becomes law. It also provides for additional tax relief for the professional men, married couples and families.

GIRL, 10, HAS BABY

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—The superintendent of a home for unwed mothers said Friday a 10-year-old girl gave birth last January to a baby girl. Miss Esther Stahlfire, superintendent of the Florence Crittenton home, said the young mother came to the home in February and declared that had lived with foster parents in the Youngstown area.

CHOSEN BY LIBERALS

OTTAWA (CP)—John H. McDonald, a lawyer, Friday night was nominated Liberal candidate to oppose Conservative Leader Drew in the riding of Carleton in the Aug. 10 general election. Mr. McDonald was defeated Mr. Drew in the 1949 election.

Despite Tenton Armistice Not Ruled Out by Reds

Split Between South Korea, U.N. Is Growing Deeper

MUNSAN (AP)—The Reds today angrily told the Allies if the United Nations wants a truce it must control South Korea's rebellious government and President Rhee. The Red war prisoners freed by President Syngman Rhee.

Although the communists professed amazement at Rhee's arbitrary action, they did not rule out an armistice.

But their terms appeared near impossible—the Korean prisoners have melted into the countryside with Rhee's blessing and the split between South Korea and the UN command apparently was growing deeper.

South Korea's acting prime minister, Y. T. Pyun, made public a letter to Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander, demanding freedom for 8,000 anti-Red prisoners in Rhee's orders this week "precipitous and shocking."

Rhee and the cabinet met this morning to study a stinging rebuke from President Eisenhower and government sources said the cabinet might discuss Rhee's answer. Eisenhower accused Rhee of violating UN command authority in releasing the prisoners freed.

Committed for Trial

BROCKVILLE (CP)—Leo Cahill, 25, an unemployed factory hand of Smiths Falls, was committed for trial on a charge of highway robbery on an armed robbery charge laid in connection with the daylight hold-up of Portland, June 15.

Cahill's pretty with Charlotte, 21, who also faces charges as an accomplice in connection with the holdup, appeared briefly from custody when the Crown declined to present evidence.

Witnesses described the holdup in which a masked man walked into the Royal Bank of Canada in Portland just before the 3 p.m. closing time and escaped back with cash and a paper bag he was carrying.

Police said earlier that $4,325 of the loot and a German Mauser pistol were found in the Cahill's Smiths Falls home.

Britain's Welfare State Doctors Become Alarmed

By IAN McEWEN

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's welfare state doctors have become alarmed at a new and unforeseen danger—the socialized medicine, a much greater risk of becoming a drug habit.

Since nationalization of medical services, in July 1948, legal actions for negligence against doctors have increased by more than 100 per cent. The health department had to pay out £100,000 in damages during the year ended March, compared with about £23,000 in the first year of the program. The figures do not include huge sums paid out by insurance companies.

Chief cause is not the health service itself but another branch of the welfare state, the Legal Aid and Advice Act of 1949, which gives free legal advice to citizens to sue the government at the government's expense. Many of the clients are apparently more ready to sue an impersonal government than a private citizen or to pursue a private hospital or practitioner.

The British Medical Journal discusses the subject in its current issue.

"The citizen of the welfare state is in a position to have his rights. The doctor and the nurse may have a duty to care for him, but the process the patient may accidentally sustain a burn from the hot water bottle subsequently wins an action for damages.

"Even a minor slip in notes may seem tinged with ingratitude," the journal says.

The journal maintains that the situation is ruining the morale of doctors as well as the reputation of the medical profession.

As a consequence of the growing fear of court suits, doctors tend to avoid experimental work and "overcaution" tends to keep patients in hospital longer than necessary.

Film on Luther, Church-Backed, Is Sensation

NEW YORK (AP)—A new big-time motion picture is working up to sensational religious success in the United States.

Although the film — "Martin Luther" so far has been unveiled only in three cities and at special showings to church leaders, it already has become something of a sensation.

Owned by six Lutheran church bodies, the $500,000 picture is said to be the first church-backed movie ever distributed commercially.

Various Protestant churchmen say it eventually could spark fresh revivals in their faiths.

"I believe it will become both a religious and historical experience for American people," said Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Philadelphia Baptist minister and editor of the Christian Herald.

Dr. H. Conrad Hoffman, dean of Hamma Divinity School, Springfield, Ohio, said: "I can almost visualize a new reformation in the making from this film. Its far-reaching influence can never be estimated."

Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the National Council of Churches, called it the "most interesting and absorbing" religious film he has seen and urges pastors to tell their congregations about it.

Up to now—in Minneapolis and in Hickory, N. C.—it has drawn a packed house for weeks. Even Hollywood offerings, including Cecil B. DeMille's, are outdrawn.

The movie opened Friday in its third city—Houston, Texas.

Gordon Kerr, president of Louisville Rochemont Associates, hired by the Lutheran Film Associates to distribute the film, said distribution gradually will be increased by next fall.

The picture tells the history-making story of Luther, a 16th-century Roman Catholic priest who sought reforms in the church practices and was excommunicated by Pope Leo X, thus kindling the Reformation and rift in the church.

SLAP KILLED BABY

BUFFALO, N.Y. (CP) — Ernest Pearson, 24, was sentenced Friday to 15 years in prison for slapping a 14-month-old baby girl so hard that she died. The child had been left in his car by her mother. The judge told Pearson that had lived with foster parents in the Youngstown area.

HONEST YOUNGSTER

TORONTO (CP)—Kenneth Manning, 13, was described by Police Inspector George Elliott Friday as the most honest boy in Parkdale. The boy found a wallet containing $250 while he was at a circus. He took the wallet to the wallet straight to police officers.

Britain to Explode Record A-Bomb At Australian Test Range Next Year

LONDON (Reuters) — Londoners on the Monte Bello islands, off the west coast of Australia.

The paper said Sir William Penney, Britain's leading atomic expert knighted after conducting the October test, will also conduct the next series.

It said Premier had been working on two types of atomic weapons both designed to be carried by Britain's latest jet-powered bombers—the Valiant, the Vulcan and the Victor.

Executions Bring Cries of 'Shame' From Picket Line

TORONTO (CP)—An announcement that atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg had been executed brought cries of "shame!" and "murderers!" Friday night from 400 sympathizers gathered outside the United States consulate here.

For several days members of the Save the Rosenbergs committee had been picketing the consulate.

After the announcement, the sympathizers, who had carried banners urging clemency, switched them to placards pledging care for the Rosenbergs' young sons and marched away.

In Winnipeg, sympathizers outside the U.S. consulate dispersed quietly after they were told the spies were dead.

Police in the women in an Ottawa gathering of about 100 sympathizers wept at the news. The group soon broke up.

28,000 Children Under Protection Of Children's Aid

At the recent meeting of the Board of the Children's Aid Society, the president, Mr. J. F. Wilson, welcomed the members, making special mention of Mrs. J. Kincaid, warden of the County of Hastings.

Among the matters of the last regular meeting, and of the finance committee were read and adopted. Mr. Wilson announced the appointment of Mr. J. Miles, of Madoc, as social worker, to bring the staff of the C.A.S. up to full strength.

New Appointments

Owing to the resignation of two members of the staff, Miss Mary Reid, of Plainfield, will now be the receptionist at the office and Mrs. Gilham the bookkeeper.

Mr. Wilson spoke of the annual conference of the C.A.S. in Toronto in May at which there had been the largest attendance so far. Miss Agnes Mrs. C. W. Holmes, who gave a most comprehensive and instructive report of the meeting, stating that there was 600 people registered at the conference which was opened by Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Public Welfare for Ontario.

28,000 Children

"The C.A.S.," Mrs. Holmes said, "is the largest agency in being 63 years old with 28,000 children getting protection. Our work is being transferred to the trustees to the community for social welfare and child welfare during throughout the conference," Mrs. Holmes said, "and this is a service to the underprivileged children."

Miss E. Nurse thanked Mrs. Holmes for her excellent report. Mr. W. J. Hamilton, Inspector-in-tendent of the C.A.S. for the city of Toronto, Children of Trent and County of Hastings, reported on the work being done in that district. Mr. Hamilton also made to keep a family together when the necessity of the child and other protective work there are 325 children in supervised homes other than their own. Four cases have been closed out this month where the conditions had been satisfactorily adjusted.

Though this was the last meeting of the board before autumn and holidays were coming, Mr. Hamilton stated the work of the C.A.S. will be carried on for "community problems don't go on vacation."

It was announced that the tag day in Trenton brought in $335, and appreciation was expressed for the donations given by the people of Trenton.

County Council To Hold Meeting On Road Question

A special meeting of Hastings county council will be held Thursday, June 25th, at 10 a.m. for roads and bridge committee recommendation for the county to take over and assume the maintenance cost of the Foxboro-Madoc section of No. 14 highway.

If the recommendation is approved by county council, the Ontario Department of highways will take over the Foxboro-Madoc county trend and work of rebuilding the road will start this fall.

Last week a special citizens' committee waited on Hon. George Doucett, highways minister, with the request that the Foxboro-Madoc road be taken over by the province. The minister promised that if one of the two existing provincial roads between No. 2 and No. 7 highways was taken over by the county, the province would take over and rebuild the Madoc road.

It was stated that if the offer was accepted the province was prepared to go ahead with the work about a million dollars on the Madoc road.

Bicycle Riders Must Conform To Regulations

Bicycle riders who persist in giving a friend a "lift" on the handlebars of their bikes are to come in for some strict attention in the future by officers of the law.

"This practice of giving a friend a lift on bicycles is an extremely dangerous one and must cease," stated Police Department Hayes.

In fact operation of bicycles is to come in for more general attention by police.

Inspector Hayes referred particularly to the operation of bicycles at night without the required lights. He noted that the bicycles were as much to blame as the youngsters in allowing bicycles to be operated without lights.

Riding of bicycles on sidewalks is also frowned on by police and they noted summons would be issued to riders persisting in this practice.

BANCROFT
Lions Club Has Busy Year

BANCROFT — At the last meeting of the Lions Club held on Monday night at Hotel Bancroft, retiring president, Mike Burns, thanked all members for their co-operation during his year of office.

After the installation of new officers, committee chairmen gave a review of the clubs various activities. Jack Hattis reported that the blood typing clinic had proved highly successful, over 1300 people in the area having attended and the local doctors and hospital now held a complete alphabetical register.

Busy Year

Health and Welfare chairman Llon Alex. Smith told of a busy year and mentioned some of the cases the committee had dealt with. A wheel chair was supplied to a crippled girl, glasses had been provided for three children and free eye examinations for a further seven.

In numerous cases free transportation had been provided for sick people and blankets and other necessities for burned out families. A survey of crippled children in the North Hastings area was well under way and a donation had been made to the European relief fund.

Llon Reg Wallis reported that maintenance of the swimming pool and provision of an instructor had cost the club around $500 last year and that 70 swimmers had received Red Cross proficiency certificates. Last year's Christmas parade was the biggest ever and 2,000 pounds of candy and fruit were distributed to children of the district, whilst 11 needy families received Christmas parcels.

Fiscal chairman, Llon Jack Follis, reported that a minimum of $2,000 had to be raised each year to carry out the Clubs various projects.

The T.B. seals campaign continues to be well supported and Llon Ernie Thomas reported a gratifying bank balance, a mass relay campaign had been successful and grants were made to T.B. sanitariums.

Although the meetings of the club are held in July and August, members are active during this period with the regatta and field day.

London to Johannesburg By Comet Jet Airliner

By Lavonia Stockelbash

One realizes the effect the British Overseas Airways has on the present day air travel institution when some Americans, to order to enjoy the great speed and comfort of the Comet jet planes, will buy a return trip from London to Johannesburg (spending only two days there), for the sheer excitement of the flight.

It is well worth it if you have the money to spare.

In London there were the usual preparations and weighing of luggage at the B.O.A.C. terminal. The overweight tax was stupendous, but most of one's possessions could be sent on by cargo plane, and reach one only a few days later. The keys were attached to the valises for the benefit of the customs, and everything arrived intact.

It is all very well to advise people to travel light but when you are to visit four different climates, from the heat of the lowlands of the tropics to the chilling winds of the high hills, or even of tropical nights, when you must have four different types of clothes from flimsy lace to Donegal overcoats and fur cape in addition to the orthodox suits, and when along with that you carry notebooks, plaiting materials and binoculars, light-ness has to give way to comfort.

Certain Seats Favored

A young friend had said to me that a few of the chairs on the Comet were not so comfortable as the others, a little too straight up and down, so it was arranged to have a certain window seat allotted, that flight done three months before the flight. As the journey was a distance of 5,611 miles in the one plane it could make a difference to have all the seats looked the same to me.

It did not seem possible that anything could be amazing when one realized the romance of the distances, the height, the speed, over the English Channel, France, the Alps, the Mediterranean, Egypt, the Sudan, Uganda, Tanganyika, Northern Rhodesia and stopping for another plane from Livingstone to Bulawayo in Southern Rhodesia.

One sometimes hears that one gets bored when travelling by air. Actually, the only way to see anything thoroughly is by walking, but that does not take you far. You see birds and trees and flowers, but that is what you are looking for, but if you are in a hurry to meet your friends and family, go by plane.

Happy Send-off

As we started, a nice little speech of welcome was made by one of the staff and we all felt happy. We were given anti-malaria tablets to be taken at our own discretion, though we were warned that there was no danger of contracting malaria while in flight as all B.O.A.C. aircraft are frequently and thoroughly treated with D.D.T. and other insecticides to keep them free from mosquitoes. But we were warned that we might be exposed to infection at airports in Egypt, Sudan and throughout Central, East and West Africa. We were advised to take one tablet daily at tea or dinner so that the drug should circulate in the blood during the night when mosquitoes usually bite.

We were warned that we could be unaware of having been bitten and that we could be infected even from one bite.

Furthermore we were warned that after dark we should wear clothing covering as much of the body as possible. And at Khartoum we sweltered in 90° F. It was all so deeply impressive that I also keeping my package of tablets as a souvenir and may use them in the Congo.

Beautiful Plane

The beauty, inside and out, of the Comet must really be seen to be appreciated. One felt a great admiration for all the brains of men that had gone into its construction and humbly aware of one's own ignorance in regard to its manifold mechanical perfections. The quiet and the absence of vibration gave one a chance to catch up with one's correspondence.

The flight from London to Rome — 864 miles — was two and a quarter hours. From the airport one saw only the distant dome of St. Peter's and later a beautiful sunset. The next hop was to Cairo across the Mediterranean — 1,350 miles. It was beautiful to view the earth from these great heights, 38,000 feet above sea level. It was a perfectly clear day and one viewed the majesty of the Alps, of Mt. Blanc with unforgettable awe. Sometimes could see a town here and there.

It was dark soon after we left Rome, but a full moon gave us a glorious feeling of light and space. We were to arrive at Cairo about midnight and it did seem a great pity that we could not have a longer time in that turbulent land, but after the cold of April in England it was a comfort to feel thoroughly warm. By then I had lost count of the number of times we were served tea, coffee, other drinks, delicious foods, and cigarets for those who smoked.

Attractive Dressing Room

The dressing rooms provided on the long-distance flights are every woman to look her best. An array of the cosmetics of well-known make, creams, lotions, toilet waters, powder, were set out for one to use in exquisite tastefully effect room. One could easily make oneself utterly glamorous — or utterly hideous. The Comet provided almost everything except a shower bath.

Our next stop was to be Khartoum — 962 miles, where we were to arrive about 2 a.m. Lights were turned off and those of us, who were so minded, slept. There was an unexpected delay in the very uncomfortable heat of Khartoum. We were given our choice of remaining in the plane or getting out at the airport, as soon as we arrived. It was either one thing or the other and no going back and forth. Most of the passengers decided on some exercise, but it was too sultry for that and one could only breathe and went back to the days before the arrival of the English when Khartoum was the centre of the slave trade.

After coffee and a glance at the usual souvenirs we walked outside to the airport terminal which the few electric lights did little to disperse.

Here General Gordon had been killed and his severed head also when the Mohammedan sect, known as the Mahdis, besieged the place and were, in only to keep it again thirteen years later to Kitchener. There was much to think about.

It was good to get back to our places for the next lap of 1,099 miles to Entebbe in Uganda. Here we had a good breakfast at the airport and were glad that the ship at Nairobi was eliminated, Kenya not being the pleasantest place in the world at this moment, so we set out for Livingstone — 1,316 miles.

Trip Delayed

We had been an accident a few days before in India and all of the passengers were killed by the plane exploding and we had to stay in Livingstone until the next day. Everything was done for our comfort and we were taken in a beautiful hotel, within sight and sound of one of the wonders of the world, the Victoria Falls, 355 feet high.

It makes our own Niagara seem almost insignificant. For miles before our landing we could see the mist rising into the air.

Early the next morning we were by launch up the Zambesi River above the falls and landed at the island of Baudabar. A notice was posted that 'all wild animals are dangerous,' but it was too late in the season for crocodiles and hippotami. The little black-faced monkeys were beautiful and it was interesting to watch the society ways of the little creatures.

We had a delicious luncheon and could not resist the temptation to hand out an occasional piece of cake to the animals. We walked a bit into the woods and saw the most heavenly birds and rare flowers. In the afternoon there was time for a long drive and a rest above the falls, after having been drenched in the rain forest, and then viewed the enormous baobab tree and seen still more beautiful birds.

About six we were found a jolly little plane to take us to Bulawayo. Here we were flown over the falls to see them from the air and this explained to us the necessity of the very steep banks of the plane to take care of the up current of air from the falls. It was indeed a steep banking.

In a little over an hour we saw the outskirts of the big city of Bulawayo and in a very short time we saw the most welcome of all sights, the friendly happy faces of a welcoming family.

Couple of Canadian Bachelor Girls Share Odd Apartment

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A staircase that goes nowhere, an out-size entrance hall and old-fashioned bathroom are among the hazards of housekeeping in Britain for a couple of Canadian bachelor girls, Sarah Lawson's Shirley Douglas and Marian Grimmer of Dalhousie, N.B.

Sarah, Premier Hugh Lawson's daughter of Saskatchewan Premier T. C. Douglas, and Miss Grimmer, a 29-year-old economic research student, share a basement apartment in central London, near Westminster Abbey. As with many other London lodgings, its characteristics are dark, antique furniture, shabby curtains and peeling wall paint.

For all that, the two Canadians are convinced that their rent of £5 a week is reasonable for a roomy flat in central London.

"Many Canadians we know pay more for less comfortable surroundings," said curvaceous, cornblonde Miss Douglas, student at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

Gone Kitchen Quarters

The flat, once part of the kitchen quarters in an old London town house—hence the out-of-date kitchen—is half-way to Victoria station from the abbey. It's down one side of Westminster Cathedral.

With expenses shared, the two Canadians figure they get more for their money than if they lived alone—they've got what they wanted. They arrived in London in September, 1952, and after five months in the same student hostel decided to team up and find something more homey, with plenty of space for personal belongings.

They have several big cupboards, a long dining room, bedroom, kitchen, wash room, lounge, dining room and bedroom. But every apartment has its drawbacks. "There's just one small wardrobe for three people," Miss Douglas and Shirley ruefully. The apartment has three wardrobes, two cut in halves by drawers.

Research at Home

Consequently Miss Grimmer spends more time in the flat. This is because much of her work is research done at home with books borrowed from the library of the London School of Economics. A graduate of Acadia University at Wolfville, N.S., already holding an M.A. degree, Miss Grimmer attends only lectures and classes special in order to tend her research work. Her two-year scholarship to the London School of Economics is specially for research.

For her part, Miss Douglas leaves daily for studies at the dramatic academy — except on Easter week spent rehearsing a lead television role in the comedy play, "Half Hour Theatre." The night television show has since been followed by a week's repertory production of the same play at a London theatre.

At the Coronation she was reunited with her family. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas were among those the Canadian delegation. Shirley and her 13-year-old sister, Joan, had seats on the route.

Six-Week Tour

Miss Grimmer also had a seat on the route next to a teacher friend, Marjorie Boran of Springfield, N.S. The pair planned a six-week tour of England and the continent.

Asked how they spend their time in the big flat, with its old-fashioned electric cooker, electric fireplace and lovely view of centre bestling, the girls shrugged and said: "The same things you do yourself." They attend to the chores and the laundry, make beds, cook meals, do talk about their studies and letters from home, relax and listen to musical radio programs.

$600,000 FOR DOG

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An Irishman wants $600,000 damages for the death of his mutt dog in a railroad baggage car. Bernard Mitchell filed suit in federal court Thursday against the Union Pacific and Chicago Northwestern railroads. His complaint says the trained fox terrier Pudsy, described as "the wonder dog of Europe," was sealed in a baggage car en route to California last June and died because it could not be fed.

BAN FLAMMABLE GOODS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress Thursday completed action and sent to the President a bill barring the movement in interstate commerce of highly flammable wearing apparel and fabrics. It bans such articles as flammable children's cowboy suits, and the socalled torch sweaters or jackets which have caused injuries or death to a number of persons in recent years.

DUG UP GRAVES

HONG KONG (AP)—Two Italian Roman Catholic missionaries who reached freedom Wednesday said today that the Chinese Reds dug up the graves of other missionaries dead for more than 20 years in a search for contraband, which they said was hidden with the bodies. The missionaries are fathers Brevi Sazzo, 60, and Cinto Carmelo.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

Eternal Father, Strong to Save

Eternal Father! Strong to save,
Whose arm doth bind the restless wave,
Who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep
Its own appointed limits keep;
O hear us when we cry to Thee
For those in peril on the sea!

O Savior, whose almighty word
The winds and waves submissive heard;
Who walkest on the foaming deep,
And calm amid its rage didst sleep;
O, hear us when we cry to Thee
For those in peril on the sea!

O Sacred Spirit, who didst brood
Upon the chaos dark and rude;
Who badest its angry tumult cease,
And gavest life, and light, and peace;
O, hear us when we cry to Thee
For those in peril on the sea!

O Trinity of love and power,
Our brethren shield in danger's hour;
From rock and tempest, fire and foe,
Protect them wheresoe'er they go;
And ever let there rise to Thee
Glad hymns of praise from land and sea.

"Then He arose and rebuked the wind and the sea; and there was a great calm". St. Matthew 8:26.

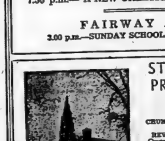
One of the most beautiful religious art windows in America is that above the altar in the chapel of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland.

Placed by members of the naval class of 1869 as a memorial to Admiral David D. Porter, it portrays the Saviour walking upon the water. At every religious service it reminds worshippers that Jesus is still the Ruler of the winds and the sea.

It is a tradition at the Naval Academy to close chapel services with the singing of the hymn cited above. Every naval graduate at Annapolis has sang it scores of times and will remember it always.

And for navy men and officers serving on ships throughout the world there is something satisfying in the knowledge that they are being "remembered" regularly by hundreds of congregations in the navy's mother church.



The hymn was written in 1860 by William Whiting, a clergyman of the Church of England, for publication in a volume of "Hymns Ancient and Modern."

FREEDOM OF CONSCIENCE ISSUE

An interesting controversy is shaping up in Britain.

Sir Winston Churchill's Government has received the approval of the House of Commons on the principle of licensing commercial television. The Labor Party of course, favors the principle of nationalization.

Now, however, many Conservatives are having misgivings. The London Times has come out flatly with the declaration that "it would be as unthinkable to hand it (television) over to sponsoring as it would be to give the northern 4 decisive say in the school curricula." The Daily Express says that a survey by government Whips shows one out of eight Conservative MP's opposed to commercial television.

Some of these Conservative members are asking for freedom to vote according to their consciences. This should be granted—and the Labor Party, of course, should grant similar freedom to its members to vote in favor of licensing commercial stations if they see fit.

This is obviously a wide difference between TV and, for instance, the steel industry in their importance to the nation's economic life. The convictions of the two parties, which should be reflected by their members in a vote on the nationalization of steel, need not necessarily be followed with respect to TV—because other important considerations enter the picture besides the question of free enterprise or socialism.

Of much greater importance than the decision on the future of TV, no matter what that may eventually be, is the responsibility and recognition of the principle that a member of Parliament is the representative of the people who elected him, that it is not merely his privilege but his duty to vote in what he believes the best interests of the nation, and not the slave of his party — but the servant of his country.

NO DIVIDENDS FROM TV CAMPAIGNING

The decision of the four larger Canadian political parties not to use free TV time in the forthcoming Federal election will probably surprise many.

One Ottawa correspondent advances two possible factors in the joint decision of the Liberals, Progressive-Conservatives, C.C.F. and Social Creditors. Firstly, he says, TV doesn't cover much territory yet. We doubt whether that reason carried much weight. It covers some territory. The time was offered free of charge. Secondly, he continues, use of free time might have started a costly competition for paid time. That seems like a weightier reason.

We can, however, think of a third factor which may have influenced them. None of them could hope to reap much of an edge over their rivals by the aid of TV. Under some circumstances the eye might powerfully influence the brain. But it just so happens that the leaders of these four Canadian political parties are all pleasant-faced, personable men whose appearance inspires trust in their sincerity and integrity, if not necessarily in the validity of their arguments. Prime Minister St. Laurent is the benevolent type of gentleman. George Drew is generally regarded as one of the finest appearing men in politics. M. J. Coldwell is the kindly grandfather from his pictures. Solon Low, the Social Credit leader, appears to be able to match the good looks his political rivals.

THEY STOOD THE TEST

If anyone should for a moment have imagined that courage is less common now than in days of yore, three dispatches on the same day must have quickly dispelled the thought.

One told of an RCAF physician and his assistant parachuting into Coppermine, on the Arctic coast about 1,000 miles north of Edmonton, to give emergency treatment to a stricken RCMP officer.

Another, from Bristol, England, related how a test pilot had lost his undercarriage in his crash land a new jet fighter in a cricket field full of terrified schoolboys.

The third came from Inglewood, British, Columbia, where a logger had grappled, bare-handed, with a starving cougar, in order to save an Indian woman from its attack. He succeeded in tearing it away from her and it was later captured and shot.

Such bare references cannot do justice to these deeds, but they may serve as heartening reminders that courage still lives in our midst.—(Edmonton Journal).

COINCIDENCE?

August 10 is the festival of St. Lawrence, martyred in Rome in 258 A.D. by being burned alive on a griddle.

On August 10, 1535, on his second voyage to Canada, Jacques Cartier entered a bay on the north shore of a then nameless gulf and called it, in the language of his time, Baye Sainct Laurens. (The name gradually spread to the whole gulf and then the river, but Cartier himself always wrote of it as the River of Canada.)

In modern French, Saint Lawrence is St. Laurent.

This year the feast of St. Laurent will be the first August federal election day in Canadian history.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Like her mother, years ago,
Oft I prayed that she would grow.
And I fancy so today
Fathers for their daughters pray.
One day old, and this the plea:
"Like her mother may she be."

Tall of love's enduring snare,
Father-daughter, there's a pair!
Once she climbs upon his knee,
Ask her mother, this she knows!
Soft of heart he'll surely be.
All she asks for he bestows.

Like her mother. This allowed,
Love repeating cherished charms,
Round his neck the same soft arms.
"When you look at her," says he,
"It's her mother you will see."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A lady of more than fifty years of age told me with the greatest enthusiasm about a bird she had seen in an apple tree. It was indescribably beautiful. She went into ecstasies over it.

It was an oriole. In her fifty years, hundreds of orioles, maybe thousands, have undoubtedly passed within sight and sound of her. There are among the most vocal of all birds, their clear and ringing songs carrying for miles. The note is one of anybody but a deaf person. Their colors are brilliant and eye-catching. Even more self-advertising bird hardly exists. Yet this woman had gone more than half through her life without even having noted one of them.

It is, of course, simply a matter of awareness. An extraordinary number of people are going through life all around us in a state of almost incredible unawareness. A bird crossing their vision is no more important than a dead leaf flying in the wind, a wild flower or an unparalleled beauty right by their feet is as meaningless to them as a little, to be noticed, as a bit of colored tinsel off a candy bar thrown away by a child. They will see a sunset, the finest one ever composed of a real black thunder cloud; if the matter is brought to their attention, they will admire it in the landscape of trees and water. But of the beauties of the lives of wild life and elements around them they are simply unaware.

There is nothing to be done about these underprivileged souls around us. We can direct the attention of a bird: we might as well call the cat's attention to the existence of the wall. Nobody is so bored as a man or woman without the awareness of nature, when subjected to the conversation of those who have it. These unaware people are far from unaware of other and larger matters. Distinguished mathematicians I know literally recoils from birds, or any mention of them. The idea of a steel corporation who trades old books with me would rather bankrupt than go for a walk in the fields or woods. If I succeeded in showing him an ivory billed woodpecker he would say: "So what?" But feel is as meaningless to them as little, to be noticed, as a bit of colored tinsel off a candy bar thrown away by a child. They will see a sunset, the finest one ever composed of a real black thunder cloud; if the matter is brought to their attention, they will admire it in the landscape of trees and water. Much to be Preferred

(Niagara Falls Review)

Somehow or other we are not entoused over the idea that in the future homes will be in huge, twenty-storey buildings, housing a thousand to two thousand families. Such housing might have some advantages, but we suspect most of us may prefer smaller homes in their own ground, with a fair measure of privacy.

Need Many Extras

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

Sunday baseball apparently wasn't enough for the Toronto Interna t i o n a l League baseball club which, having given away cars, radios and various other things until getting into trouble over lottery charges, is now using stage stars, bands, majorettes and other extra spectacular attractions to draw the crowds.

Elizabethan Relics Shown

(Royal Ontario Museum)

A great deal has been said during the past year comparing the eras of Elizabeth I and Elizabeth II. In celebration of the coronation the Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology is presenting during the further months an opportunity for museum visitors to do some comparing on their own, with an exhibition of furniture, pottery, silver, textiles, arms and other objects of the period of Elizabeth I in the museum galleries.

A quick look around this exhibition and the visitor is immediately reminded of familiar things at home. Take chairs, for instance. A chair was a very rare item in the household of those days. There might be one for the master of the house, but the rest of the family sat on stools or benches. All the seats were of wood and far from comfortable even with cushions (or quishions as they were called). Then, upholstered furniture and spring seats were things of the future then.

The gardener can also consider himself lucky that there is a pottery watering can in the show which is very decorative, but it does not look as though it is very heavy. An illustration shows an experienced gardener made use of pipes through which water pumped to water a garden all in one go, so saving much labour and pared with turning on a hose.

Such a display as this is everyone thankful for the comforts and labor-saving devices of today and to take a look at some of the things and see how artistry and craftsmanship have improved through the years. Tudor type half-timbered houses look neat in every town and are very convenient inside, but they are usually a poor echo of the original Elizabethan houses. The delicate, velvets and laces were of a high quality to match today, and also rarely seen now is a lady sitting at her embroidery frame as in the "fair maidens" for her home or a jacket for herself.

Retirement Is Problem

(Oshawa Times-Gazette)

Cornell University has embarked upon a seven-year nation-wide survey in the United States to determine whether or not there is any truth in the belief that retirement is detrimental to age speeds up symptoms of disease and even death.

"Why all this concern about old people?" asks Dr. Clarence Flinn Tibbitts in "Occupational Health," published by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "Probably because we see more old people than ever before. Although the population of the United States has doubled in the past 50 years, the number of middle aged—45 to 65— has tripled. The number of persons over 65 has quadrupled. One in every 12 persons today is 65 or over."

There are many pros and cons on the question of compulsory retirement at 65. Many feel that it suffices goes on. In its favor are ease of pensioning, better job opportunity, and advance financial and psychological planning for all parties. Against are the pre-retirement fears and variations in aging and ability, continued interest in job, participation, possible money savings by reduced pensioning, and the satisfaction and well-being of the man who can and wants to work.

The latest word which industry has to grapple therefore are (1) how to avoid compulsory retirement or else shoulder the cost of supporting them directly by pensions or indirectly by increased benefits and welfare services, and (2) how to maintain the skill of the future, when the job is over, so they can find the time to live in the community and, last but not least, the company.

Firms with successful pre-retirement plans not only have contented workers and pensioners but have netted profits by using skills which less resourceful management have overlooked," notes Mr. Hadimer.

Red Discovers Mars Is Blue

(Christian Science Monitor)

Soviet astronomer Samuel Tikhov, according to the Moscow radio, has found evidence of vegetation on Mars and has made the further startling discovery that it is not green but is blue and violet.

The American radio this announcement doubtless would be followed by a sequence about "Reds" and the Purple Sage. But in the U.S.S.R. even natural science is supposed to be brought with social significance. If there are communists on Mars they had better look for blue-skinned ones.

So it is well to be prepared for interpretations of this discovery. Perhaps soon we shall hear that the reason Martian vegetation is blue and violet is that Mars was not set up for exploitation by the Yankee American capitalist chlorophyll monopoly."

Or possibly this supplies a hint as to what those little men in the "flying saucers" were after. Maybe they were trying to find the Earthian secret of chlorophyll.

What surprises us most, though, is that Comrade Tikhov did not perceive immediately that Mars is merely violet and blue, in his own words, "at first sight." Any amateur astronomer can tell you that, because the sun, red or orange vegetation may be found.

Volga Tour Is Just Fun

(Sudbury Star)

Western newspapermen have been invited to take part in a guided tour inside Russia and to sail along the Volga river. Good.

The item is newsworthy for the reason it is the first time since 1947 that Western correspondents have been invited to move around Russia outside Moscow.

At this point it can be written off as another spoke in the Communist propaganda wheel. Nevertheless the newspapermen, obviously, are not going to be permitted to talk to Russian hosts want them to see. There is no suggestion that newspapermen will be permitted to tour the industrial plants behind the Iron Curtain. Again, that they will be given a chance to move at will among the people in the streets to report on the Soviet police.

A sail down the Volga, singing the Volga Boat Song and sampling Russian vodka, may be a pleasant way to visit behind the Iron Curtain, but scarcely productive of the knowledge of what goes on inside Russia.

English View Of Cowboys

(The Times Of London, England)

Suspicion that cowboys are not what they were has long amounted almost to certainty. When we see them on the films we see them sweating in a saloon bar or regallon hats or hear them roaring out choruses over the air, we wonder for the last time if we should undertake a journey to Texas than Tinpan Alley. But the boy in us still nourished the hope that the genuine article had not entirely disappeared from the open spaces of the west. Now there comes, calling all cowboys, the office of the Commissioner of Built-in radio set, covered in tooled leather, with a pair of Colt guns in the pockets, and loop antennae sewn under the saddle blanket.

"Long horns" were the only antennae known to the cowboy of old. Nothing, it seemed, that he could, unless memory is getting dim, have wished for with the greatest of ease, while in full gallop on his Mexican mustang.

Well, there is no end to fancy. He would have stampeded had he known that the Lone Ranger was coming out from his pommel.

"It is not common among the poor, particularly washerwomen, day-laborers, and those whose occupation exposes them to cold and damp."

For all their impressive habitat about local infection, metabolic disturbance, hypertrophic or atrophic arthritis, most of the leading physicians or medical authorities today harbor the same obsessions as those of Dr. Osler in regard to the nature and cause of winter cough, pleurisy, pneumonia and chronic rheumatiz.

The foul weather medicine is a mildly sedative expectorant, that is, it soothes the irritated lining of the breathing passages and softens, liquefies and hastens the sputum of secretion so that coughing is easier and more productive. Perhaps that explains why so many readers find the medicine good for winter cough, but remember, all I say is that the medicine can do no harm in any circumstance —not even if the baby gets hold of it and drinks it.

Here, if there is room and nobody is mad at us today, I'd like to remind all of you that winter cough in the spring that medicines don't everything. One which any and all chronic cough (except pulmonary tuberculosis) should practise the most breathing exercise three times a day. These simple exercises will be too difficult, even if you lay back your long ears and bray that you don't understand the words, but you will concede that these monkeyshines are harmless and will do you no harm at any rate.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TENSION

There is nothing the human body so hates as it does tension. Its freedom is challenged, and fears and worries start to creep and gnaw. An inward revolution takes place, for there is nothing natural about tension.

On the other hand, where there is attraction and ease, the approach to the affairs of life, every organ of the body, every nerve centre, responds with a will. Mind and will co-operates to give health and a happy way of life.

I have just read one of the best books I have ever come across, called "Relax and Live," by Joseph A. Kennedy, retired Chief Petty Officer for the U.S. Navy. Step by step, in simple words, he tells how to relax and begin the refreshing sleep, how to banish fears and worry, and how to live happier lives. Said Kennedy: "It is your enthusiasm, your faith, your love for life that your will to live that make you appear either young or old to the other person." The book is full of gospel sense.

Tension tightens the mind, the body, and the soul. There can be no efficiency so long as this tension exists. Tension is a self-starter. His whole being is relaxed and there is rhythm to the sweep of the mind. The player who has mentioned his whole body finds his fingers relaxed and there can be no such a condition that he throws away his clubs, curses himself—and forfeits the game.

People like Edison and Justice Holmes lived to a ripe old age, advanced age, and every year a useful one. They knew the value of relaxation. President Franklin Roosevelt, calling one day upon Chief Justice Holmes at Washington Creek. Asked why he did it, he replied: "To exercise my relaxation."

One's vacation is a good time to begin to rid the mind and body of all tension, and to return to work, relaxed, renewed, and endowed anew with the will to live and to live usefully without tension.

HERE IS SECURITY

"Fear not; I am the first and the last . . . " (Rev. 1:17).

Here is a most significant statement concerning the subject of fear and the way to clear it.

What we fear most is uncertainty. The modern term for this is insecurity. We are afraid that we may contract some incurable disease, or that we will lose our job, or that our income will cease. We are afraid of the future with the result that we are afraid something will happen to our loved ones. Then, always, there is the fear of death which is the whole matter turned inside out and beginning to swallow its tail.

Fox Clan Holds First Reunion

The first reunion of the Fox clan was held along Lake Ontario —in the beautiful community park at Cobourg on Sunday.

An appetizing picnic dinner and supper was served with over 100 persons in attendance, all of whom were descendants of the late William and Sarah Fox of Eldorado.

Mrs. William Biker, Frankford, and Mrs. Sam Kerkey, Rawdon, were instrumental in arranging this gala picnic to commemorate the Fox ancestry.

The young folks —enjoyed a few games of softball and went swimming during the afternoon while the older folk reminisced together and enjoyed a delightful visit.

Fox History

A few years prior to the union of the different branches of Methodism in 1884, a Bible Christian Church was built one half mile north of Eldorado by the late William Fox and his brother Charles. Then in 1907 the present brick church was built by the late William Fox and his son, Edgar Fox. The wives of these two men donated two stained glass windows in the front of the church. This church is now known as Fox United Church of Eldorado.

The old Fox homestead is located across the road from this church, and a portion of the farm is used for the original Fox cemetery, Eldorado Grange hall No. 517 is also situated on this property.

Original Family

The original Fox family resided in this district practically all their lifetime, and all of the ten children were born in this district. Seven members are deceased, namely: Thomas Bloomfield Fox, Frankford; Manley Fox, Madoc; Robert Fox, Madoc; Mrs. Mary Mrs. David Wiley, Benton Harbour, Michigan, U.S.; Emma, Mrs. Thomas Perry, Frankford; Mabel, Mrs. Thomas Elliott, Wooler.

The surviving members are Mr. Edgar Fox, Oshawa, and Mr. Simon Fox, Belleville, who were in attendance at the picnic and Mr. John Fox, Bloomfield, who is 88 years of age, was unable to attend —because of ill health.

English-Irish Descent

These early Fox settlers were of English descent, Irish descent and both William and his wife Sarah was of Fox origin and to relation, one being English and the other Irish.

The reunion was most successful with several relatives meeting for the first time. Plans are now underway for another gathering of the clan in 1954 at the same location and it is hoped that several more of the descendants will plan to be in attendance.

Frankford Sport

FRANKFORD — Two games were played in the Sidney Rotary ball League Thursday night, and as a result, a three-way tie has developed for first place. In Stockdale, the home towners handed the Centenary Eagles their first defeat of the season, by a 16-9 count.

Centenary looked as if they were going to keep right on the victory train, as they jumped on to Bill Stacey for five runs in the first inning. From that time on, Stacey settled down and was very tough with his bits. Brooks worked behind the plate for the winners.

Ted Aiken started for Centenary, and was tagged for five runs in his three-innings stay, four Edmundson ook over, but Stockdale batters had little trouble in winning his start. Ross Marshall was the Centenary receiver.

Over in Johnstown, Frankford Juveniles took a 9-7 game from the three-time league winners in a real thriller. Bob Lott gained the victory for Frankford, but tired in the final frames and required help from Whitney. Jack O'Brien caught.

Johnstown got an unearned run in the first inning and Frankford came back in the second with an unearned tally. Johnstown went ahead in their half of the third. They added another in the fourth.

Frankford's big break came in the fifth inning, when Frankford loaded the bases on a walk and two hits. A sure double play was muffed, and another hit plated three runs for Frankford. From then on, they were never headed.

In the sixth, Frankford kept right on the ball, scoring five runs through timely hits. In the seventh, with two away, and two strikes on the next batter, it looked like the game was in the town, however, had other ideas, and Tony Bird singled, scoring four runs, and leaving another stranded on third. This is typical of the season's play with Johnstown always plays the type of ball which has carried them to their league championships.

CIVIL DEFENCE
Bomb Shelters
By JACK BEETT

What with all the tirmades which have been shooting across this continent in past weeks, now seems to be as good a time as any to begin talking of shelters. Usually discussed in terms of raid shelters and designed for protection of that type, it stands to reason they might also be an excellent place to go during a visit from a twister. Possibly it might be to the individual's advantage to have one built to stand up out of an emergency.

There are several forms of shelters which may be constructed. They are shown elsewhere. In large, community constructions to a hole in the ground of the household variety. There is no shelter which may be constructed that is going to be 100 per cent previous to a direct hit. In other words, it is a big, big and explodes on your shelter — that's all brother!

For Maximum Protection

Actually shelters are designed to afford the maximum protection possible, particularly from falling debris and bomb fragments. The construction, as far as this so far as the householder is concerned, does need to be elaborate. It may be an addition to the garage, a portion of reinforced cellar or, as said before, a hole in the back yard.

If you were to build a shelter beneath the earth's surface there are a number of things which must be taken into consideration, and for most, the site should be picked carefully, paying particular attention to the water and height of land. Select a dry site. A shelter should not be constructed in areas where the ground water might rise as high as the floor, or where the bottom of the excavation would be in clay or other impervious soil.

In selecting a site, advantage should be taken of protection afforded by adjacent buildings or farm baffle walls to entrances. However, caution should be taken to see that the site is at least six feet from any building.

This kind of shelter is called the "trench type" and may be constructed of wood, concrete or corrugated iron sheets. If there is a tendency to flood, the shelter must be drained to prevent the water from it. A drain set in a bed of gravel or cinders, and at the bottom of the trench excavation ditched to receive the drain.

The depth of cover of 18 inches of soil should be provided around and over the portion of the shelter above ground to resist radiation. It is important that this cover be installed before the vent the soil being carried away from the site. The soil should be placed in layers and well consolidated by ramming and compacting of their layer. The finished surface should be an even grade to allow rainfall to run off and not pond. Sod will have an angle or repose of 45 degrees above ground to encouraged to grow in order to bind the surface.

The best method to adopt in waterlogged soils is to make provision for waterproofing the shelter when it is completed. This is a more difficult and costly method the shelter of reinforced concrete, making the waterproofed in the first instance.

Recommended Articles

The following recommended articles which could be kept in the shelter at all times include: a supply of drinking water, a flashlight, portable radio, tinned foods, first-aid supplies, a change of clothing change, detergents and sanitary supplies, such as a wrecking bar and hammer, water and axe, and a fire extinguisher.

The entrances are considered extremely important and must be carefully designed. Figure 1 shows a typical entrance to a shelter earth or sandbags. The important feature of the construction of the entrance is illustrated by the results of a sample survey of shelters attacked by flying bombs in the last war. It was found that properly protected entrance reduced the casualty rate by 54 per cent as that in shelters with unprotected entrances.

Next week's column will deal with the methods of fighting fire or incendiary origin.

SOUTH KOREANS

"I should like to call your attention to the mutual need of refraining from anyone or doing anything that might likely provoke passions of the Korean masses, which once let loose may easily go out of control. If there is any talk to be heard it had better be managed quietly, we believe."

About 28,000 anti-Red prisoners fled from seven UN camps Thursday, Thursday night and Friday night. South Korean guards, acting on orders of President Rhee, turned their backs as the prisoners escaped.

Clark told Rhee in his letter, released in Tokyo, that he could "not at this time estimate the ultimate consequences" of Rhee's action in releasing the prisoners.

The UN command said he was "profoundly shocked by this unilateral abrogation of your personal authority, which was so freely and voluntarily given . . . that you would release the General Prison with reference to RoK forces under my control until after full and frank discussion with me."

Clark said he could not estimate the "effect on the common cause for which we have sacrificed so much during the past several years."

Four marching throngs of Koreans paraded through Seoul's downtown streets, celebrating release of the prisoners.

Allied soldiers were conducting detailed searches for escaped prisoners, who have melted into South Korea's teeming millions.

"We are getting very few of them back," the army reported.

South Korean government leaders were highly critical of American soldiers and reporters for allowing escaping prisoners—but the leaders refused to be quoted by name.

"At this moment, we have to keep our feelings under restraints," one explained.

Sources close to Gen. Won Yong Duk, South Korean marshal who gave the actual order for releasing the prisoners, said Rhee's action "is very seriously." They speculated that he might be planning "some drastic actions such as fighting Indian troops if they try to come into Korea."

India is to send troops to guard prisoners in a neutral zone, Clark said, and when an armistice is signed, the black helmet was placed on Rozenberg's head. Then the black straps were fixed around his chest, and the other electrode was set against his right leg. The switch had been slit, so that the leg was bare from the knee down.

Rozenberg stepped away. A signal was given to the executioner, in an alcove to the left of the room.

A metallic rattle sounded—like marbles rolling down a metal washboard. Then it stopped. The room was filled with a humming noise.

Rosenberg's chest bulged, straining against the straps. His face clenched in tight knots. His neck and shoulders turned crimson.

There were three massive charges of electricity. The first lasted three seconds, the second and third 37 seconds each. He was dead in 2½ minutes.

The humming stopped. It was 8:06 and three quarters.

Two guards walked to the chair and swiftly unbuckled the straps. Two physicians approached with stethoscopes.

Pronounced Dead

They announced for a long moment and one said; "I pronounce this man dead."

The body was lifted onto the white table and wheeled out of the room.

About three minutes later, Rabbi Koslowe's voice again came from beyond the door. He read both the 15th and 31st Psalms, "who shall sojourn in Thy tabernacle. . . ."

Ethel Rosenberg, 37, walked behim him.

She wore a shapeless short-sleeved green dress with a small white pattern. It had a belt. She also wore slipper-type shoes.

She looked straight ahead. Her eyes flickered from face to face, across the row of witnesses and down the line of guards.

She stopped in front of the electric chair.

Two women had followed her into the chamber. One was Mrs. Helen Evans, prison matron, and the other Mrs. Lucy Moay, former matron and now a telephone operator.

Ethel Rosenberg whirled back from the chair and extended her arm toward Mrs. Evans.

Wants Matron

Mrs. Evans took her hand between both of hers. Mrs. Rosenberg pulled the matron's whiteshirted matron toward her, and the two embraced.

Each murmured, but the words were unintelligible to the witnesses. Then Mrs. Evans walked she only recalled saying "Goodbye."

Again, the executioner's straps and leg contacts were set in place. Mrs. Rosenberg had stretched on her head and face, Mrs. Rosenberg closed her eyes.

Switch Thrown

Then the switch was thrown and the metallic rattle sounded again. Mrs. Rosenberg had stretched her arms along the arms of the chair, the straps fastened her wrists. Now, her hands clenched.

Her body strained against the straps. Then it slumped after the first three-second charge. The two 37-second charges followed.

Then, as before, the straps were taken from her chest and the electrodes examined her. This time, the decision was not immediate. They shone the stethoscopes several times, and there was a brief consultation between them.

Measured in Warden

They motioned to Warden Thomas and the warden signalled the guards to replace the straps. Twice more, the switch was thrown and a buzzing hum filled the chamber.

Then it was finished. With the second examination, she was pronounced dead.

The second execution had begun at 8:11½ and ended at 8:16.

The Rosenberg's children, Michael, 10, and Robert, 6, were being cared for at a Union, New Jersey, N.J.

Ethel Rosenberg which began more than three years ago with the arrest of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, German-born atomic scientist, who was working in an atomic laboratory in Britain.

That was in February, 1950.

DESPITE TENSION

In their letter, the Reds warned ominously, "your side must understand the serious responsibility for this incident," and asked a series of blunt questions:

"Is the United Nations command able to control the South Korean [illegible] and army?

"If not, does the armistice in Korea include the Syngman Rhee clique?

"If it is not included, what assurance is there for the implementation of the armistice agreement on the part of South Korea?

"If it is included, then your side must be responsible for recovering immediately all the 25,952 prisoners of war who are at liberty—and must give concrete assurance that similar incidents will not recur in the future."

The Red total did not include 36 who escaped Friday night and Saturday.

Red Repeat Charge

The Reds repeated their charges that the Allies must have known beforehand of the release and therefore "connived" in the escapes.

They said the prisoners were "forced" to leave the camps and charged that South Korea openly violated the armistice agreement by their coercive agreement. That pact provided that the screened prisoners and 21,600 other Reds who refused to go home be put by a neutral repatriation commission after an armistice for Red explanations.

The letter was signed by Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier, and Red Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-Huai.

Later, Dr. Karl Heog Ki, a South Korean government spokesman, denounced the letter as "a false accusation directed at the United States to cause a split between the U.S. and the Republic of Korea."

Clark's letter to Rhee was short and direct. He wrote that he could "not at this time estimate the ultimate consequences" of Rhee's "precipitous and shocking" act.

He said Rhee had assigned over-all responsibility for the prisoners to the UN when the war began in June, 1950.

And, he said, there has been no indication "I should consider otherwise."

Profoundly Shocked

He added:

"I must inform you with all the sincerity which I possess that I am profoundly shocked by this unilateral abrogation of your personal authority which was so freely and voluntarily given."

Pyun wrote Clark that Rhee's action was "inevitable" as POWs without consultation was "too obvious to need any explanation."

Pyun wrote that "it is clear" to Rhee that "no matter how you feel to maintain the stand this government has been taking on the POW question, you are duty-bound to abide by the (POW exchange) agreement terms which are clear and equally binding on us."

Pyun said Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., chief UN negotiator, proposed to the Reds on May 13 at Panmunjom that all Korean prisoners who wouldn't return to their Red homelands be freed as civilians immediately after an armistice.

In Washington, Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, flew off to Korea for conferences at Rhee's invitation. He is expected to leave Sunday.

The government, he said, was running things in such a way that Parliament was being sidetracked by Cabinet. He said party would initiate only a special parliamentary session starting not later than October 15 to consider, particularly the following:

Coal Problem

1. The tax cuts.

2. Exemption for municipal bodies from federal sales and excise taxes on their purchases, and allowing the federal government to be taxed on its property in the same way as ordinary municipal taxpayers.

3. A Dominion-provincial conference to "revise our whole system of taxation" so that taxes on homes and farms would be substantially reduced.

4. Reorganization of the department of national defence, specifically to act on findings of the Currie and McNab reports alleging maladministration in some branches of the department.

5. Repeal of the "Undemocratic" Emergency Powers Act which gives the cabinet wide powers to "control the Canadian economy by order-in-council.

6. Reduction of the Senate, particularly regarding the method of appointment, tenure of office (now life) and other legislative functions of the upper chamber.

7. Barring communist activities.

Expand World Markets

8. Expansion of world markets for Canada's farm and other primary products. This would include trade and commercial policies to break the dollar-pound barrier and regain our British and Commonwealth markets.

9. Appointment of a "national agricultural council" to establish "fair" farm floor prices related to farm production costs. This proposed to indicate some type of so-called parity prices, though the Drew did not mention the term.

10. Extension of unemployment insurance benefits to cover unemployment due to crippling sickness or accident. Benefits would be paid only to persons unemployed and "genuinely looking for work" and specially named statute—not yet proclaimed—as the law applying to those who become disabled after being laid off work for other reasons.

11. A housing program to make it possible for low-income and middle-incomes to get new homes, through improvement in the purchase terms. This would be co-operative with the provinces and municipal governments.

Housing Program

12. A contributory health insurance plan, in co-operation with the provinces, to provide all Canadians with diagnostic, medical and hospital services. It would be "recognize" existing medical insurance plans and would not touch medicine.

13. With provincial co-operation, there would be a national policy for the development of resources. This would include a [illegible] dealing with the South Saskatchewan River project, Columbia River project, the St. Lawrence seaway and hydro projects in the Maritimes.

Mr. Drew said that a redevelopment program calls for a lessening in the tariff on coal from the United States, Canadian family by at least $170 a year, not counting what local taxrelief might be given by easing the burden on municipalities.

"Our opponents," he said, "will be said, 'we will reduce the hidden taxes on food, clothing and all the essentials.'"

RHEE'S STOCK

Dulles is reported to have given the assurances personally to the U. S. government and UN command were good enough to keep the pact, and as soon as possible despite Rhee's action.

Magnuson, who conferred with Rhee in Korea, said he thinks the South Korean president has come to "gives the Communists a perfect out if they want to take it."

He added, however, that "if the Communists have any desire for peace at all, they thought they would be "suckers" not to accept the truce terms of the United Nations.

But he said he feels there is "a real danger" that they will start the fighting again later.

Senator Knowland, Senate republican leader, said Rhee's action "will not help the cause of peace" and "could result in serious consequences."

Representative Charles Kersten (Rep., Wis.) said Rhee's statement will be the last to complain about the freeing of the prisoners. Kersten said Rhee is a realistic statistics.

"During the course of the war, by their own admission, the Reds themselves released between 40 and 50 thousand otherwise unaccounted for South Korean prisoners," Kersten said in a statement.

"They claimed, of course, that they had conscripted these people in North Korea. But all the evidence shows that this vast number of prisoners released voluntarily by the Reds were either forcibly recruited into the Communist ranks or the Red armed forces, or they were murdered."

President Eisenhower, reported to have notified Rhee Friday by cable that he was holding him personally responsible for the safety of prisoners previously had offered to propose a mutual defence pact with Korea if a truce be came effective.

ROSENBERGS

The room was heavy with silence. Occasionally, the lights beamed on the electric chair.

A moment later, a guard was heard in the corridor leading in from the death chamber. It was his footsteps distinct.

Then Rabbi Irving Koslowe entered, holding the words of the 23rd Psalm . . . "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want."

Rosenberg's arm crept behind him. It was about 8:02 p.m.

Well Arranged

The executions were so arranged that husband and wife would not know when the other went down the corridor. Had Ethel Rosenberg gone first, she would have passed her husband's cell.

Rosenberg, 35, wore dark brown trousers, a white undershirt with short sleeves, and low slippers without socks.

His moustache had been shaved off. His glasses were removed.

His face was a blank. His eyes appeared not to see any of the persons in the room nor any of the details.

But he turned, without guidance, to the electric chair and sat down quietly.

Rabbi Koslowe kept his eyes on the prayer book. He prayed steadily, and twice kissed the book.

Garden Notes

Propagating the Hardy 'Mum

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

The biggest and best mums grown for the trade each year are started annually from rooted cuttings of the hardy chrysanthemums have made unusually heavy top growth. One or two inches should have been nipped off when the plants reached six inches in height, but they got left as and are now about two feet high. This is a good chance to increase our supply of plants. We have the pinched-off tops in a pot of vermiculite, or sand and place them in a shady place until they form roots an inch or more long, when they may be potted on the border.

There is still time to divide large clumps of 'mums, if you did it before the end of June. Dig up the old stools and separate them according to the size into three or four pieces, discarding the old weaker pieces and keeping the newer and stronger. Set the new plants out in well-prepared soil, where they will receive plenty of sun. Water them well and do not let drain readily work in some fine gravel in the soil and also mix some with the hole before setting the plant. Do not set too deep or plant in water, or liquid manure into the hole before setting the plant. This is the time for transplanting on a dull or showery day, or in the evening, so the weakened plants will have a cool damp atmosphere for some hours to help them over the shock. Extremes of heat, or cold, and broken roots cause plant cells to collapse. The cells are the plant's veins and arteries, so the fewer the broken or collapsed cells, the quicker the plant will recover and make new growth. Some plants are quite susceptible to shock and do not transplant well, but hardy chrysanthemums respond quickly.

Buy Pots for Cuttings

Back to the cuttings again; do not use the small pots of cuttings which are offered by the florists everywhere in spring. They will give better results than two, or three year old clumps

Queen Victoria School Kindergarten Classes Hold Health Parties

Yesterday the two kindergarten classes of Queen Victoria School, numbering 80 little ones, held their health parties on the school lawn, under the auspices of the Junior Red Cross.

The ice cream treat was purchased, prepared and served by these tiny tots some of whom were over six years of age, and consisted of cones, serviettes, chairs, figs, raisins, bananas, celery, carrots, whole unshelled nuts, milk, cheese and nuts, all health giving foods.

They also made the place mats, cards and paper weights from pretty wallpaper designs, and crepe paper. For the paper weights they used glucose covered in rainbow hues of crepe and wallpapers. Special hats were made for the occasion, adding to the colorful display of the children.

Stage Supervisor Is Bride With New Directing Chores

Middleton Parks' female stage director is returning to Trenton this weekend, from a honeymoon in Florida to take up a new type of directing.

Mrs. Reginald Anslow, the former Della Louise Wilkes, will direct housekeeping operations in her own home, since embarking upon her new career of a service wife. If a heavy chesterfield needs moving, F/L Reginald Anslow of Training Command Headquarters, will bear the brunt of the heavy task as his wife stands back and gives directions to place it "an inch, no over there, I'll on that side of the room' and so it goes when one is confronted with the task of setting up a home. With transfers every two years there will be lots of chesterfield moving ahead for the Anslows.

One of the Air Force's newest service wives, Mrs. Anslow will not find the life too strange, because already she has taken part in important affair at Middleton Park — the home of homeless of service families. Prior to her marriage on June 6, the then Miss Della Wilkes, spent two months directing several amateur actresses and actors from the park in two plays in which were presented to a large audience the week of her marriage.

The lovely afternoon wedding in the Protestant chapel of RCAF Station, Trenton, was attended by many service friends who welcomed the bride in true Air Force style into what could be termed an "RCAF Sorority."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wilkes, of Redvers, Sask., looked beautiful in her white chantilly lace and net over slipper satin, floor length gown with long o'mutton sleeves. A trim of lace appears set off the neckline of the gown, and a matching headdress and full length veil completed the ensemble. The shimmering satin was enhanced by a cascade bouquet of Talisman roses.

Similar gowns of pale green and pink brocaded taffeta covered with full length net skirts, were worn by the two attendants, bridesmaid, Miss Mary I. Sikey. The bridal attendants' headdresses were coronet bands of matching ruffled net and each carried nosegays of white and pink roses and carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by F/C K. R. Johnston in the chapel decorated with spring flowers for the ceremony, performed by S/L K. W. Hoare, Station Protestant Chaplain.

F/L A. F. Rawlinson was the groomsman for F/L Anslow, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anslow, of Surrey, England. Ushers were F/S W. Cumberland and F/Sgt. G. Chisholm.

Mrs. R. A. Wilkes, the bride's mother, wore an afternoon dress of pink lace with white accessories and full length veil over roses and white carnations.

Following a reception in the lower lounge of the RCAF Station Officers' Mess, where the newlyweds attended to the cutting of a three-tier wedding cake for their numerous guests, the bride donned her travelling costume for a motor trip to Florida.

A corsage of deep pink carnations was worn by the bride at the impromptu boudle sail and with which she carried white accessories.

Think You Have A Problem That's "Unique"? You Haven't

Most of us want to believe that our problems are unique; that no one in all the world has ever had such trouble as we have.

As they grow older, some people do see enough strife to understand that there are just so many kinds of trouble human beings can experience; that problems invariably fall into certain general categories and that no matter what Fate deals out to us, we always have plenty of company in the same misery.

If it were possible to learn this lesson early, young folks would save themselves many a heartache. Perhaps the reason why they do not listen to anyone who tries to spell it out for them is because it takes them feel interesting and important if they can think nobody else ever had an experience like theirs.

For example, here's a teen-ager who starts her letter by asserting that she supposes it isn't unusual for a girl to find it hard to recover from breaking up with a chap whom she has "gone steady", but that "What is unusual, is that I can't forget him. I have tried to think him, but nothing seems to work."

Her story is that the young man with whom she had "gone steady" suddenly stopped coming around.

"Naturally I wondered what had happened," she writes, "so I called his home and asked for him. When I saw him and asked what was wrong his answer was like a slap in the face. He told me he had stopped seeing me because we were of different faiths, and that if we continued to see each other it would lead to marriage, which couldn't work out for this reason. Somehow I felt that in saying this he was only trying to be polite, and that what he really meant was that he had lost interest in me.

"Without any hesitation, I told him I, was sorry things had to end this way but that I was only interested in his happiness and if breaking up would make him happy, that was all that mattered, no matter how much it hurt me. I told him I would always think he was swell and would always love him."

For a time she saw no more of the young man and she went out with others. "But no matter who I go out with, I can't seem to forget him," she repeats.

Asked For Dates

Now the young man has turned up again and from time to time has called and asked for a date. Each time, however, she already had a date, so has not been out with him. She says that he has come to her house several times, "just to talk," and that he has told a friend of hers that he would like to take her out again but that any time he calls, she is always dated.

And then comes the inevitable question:

"What I would like to know is, how can I win him back? Do you think there might still be a spark left burning in his heart? I hope I'll never love anyone else, so can't you please help me?"

So there it is—that firm belief that her plight is "unusual" in that she can "never forget" and "never love anyone else," when every girl who ever grew up has had at least once such experience, and often more.

The most valuable thing I can possibly say to this girl is that her situation is by no means unusual; that while she will not, of course, "forget" this or any other young man to whom she may become temporarily attached before finding her "fate," he will certainly fade into the background of her mind in time; and that indubitably she will one day find someone else. If she can bring herself to accept these facts, she will do herself a great service. For whether or not her friendship with this particular young man is revived, they are the truths which, for the development of her own maturity, she should make an effort to understand.

In the meantime, what is she worrying about if the young man is not calling? Is she afraid to go out with others? Is she sitting at home waiting for him to call? If so, she is making a mistake. She should be out having a good time with her friends, and if the young man is really interested in her, he will find her.

Question:

I have tried out many of your recipes and they turned out well and have been complimented on my nice recipes for dainties. As I am one of a committee appointed to convene a buffet for 80 people, your menus in May 22nd and May 28th editions just seem to fit in so well. I see you would like to send the recipe of ice cream and Raspberry Mousse to Mrs. John Doe. I have another and occasion to write you but would appreciate very much if you would send me the above recipes.—Anna M. G.

Answer:

Welcome to our folds Anna.

Raspberry Mousse (for 50)

Three cups sugar, 7 1-2 cups canned red raspberries with some juice, 6 tablespoons lemon juice, 3 cups heavy cream. Boil the 3 cups sugar with 6 cups water for 5 minutes. Press raspberry pulp and juice through fine sieve and add to sugar syrup and lemon juice and mix well. Freeze, stirring every 30 minutes until it is somewhat firm mush. Remove to cold bowl, whip for 30 seconds to break crystals which has been whipped until stiff. Return to freezing trays and freeze firm. Strawberries may be used instead of raspberries, and frozen berries may be used instead of canned.

Vanilla Ice Cream (for 12)

Three cups rich milk or top milk, 4 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 2 tables spoons cornstarch, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons vanilla, 2 cups heavy cream. Scald milk in top of double boiler. Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Beat yolks and add sugar and cornstarch until very thick and stir this into the hot milk, until thick, over boiling water for 20 minutes —stirring only occasionally when it starts to cook. It should be covered. Beat whites until stiff. When cooked mixture is cool, fold in beaten whites with the salt. Add vanilla. Pour into freezing trays and chill to a heavy mush. Remove to cold bowl and beat until fluffy. Whip cream stiffly and fold in. Return to tray to freeze firmly.

Question:

You came to my assistance before and I would appreciate it if you would help me out again.

I would like to put berries down in a freezer this year and can't seem to find any of my books with that information. Is plan on doing raspberries and strawberries. Can they be frozen in sealers or is it best to buy the berries for this purpose? Are there any other fruits that can be done this way.—Betty R.

Answer:

The fruits that are listed excellent and very good for freezing are—blueberries (E), sour cherries (E), cranberries (E), gooseberries (E), yellow and white plums and prunes (V.G.), raspberries (E), rhubarb (E), strawberries (E).

Frozen Strawberries

Wash strawberries in water chilled to 40 deg. Fahr. with ice. Wash only a few at a time, and they should remain in water not longer than 30 seconds. Best method is to prepare berries, put in colander, lower colander into ice water, gently shake.— Lift from water and drain. Do not pinch off hull with fingertips, but clip sharp paring knife under it, taking care not to cut the fruit. Place fruit on several thicknesses of absorbent toweling. Chill in refrigerator 30 minutes. Put berries in carton made for the purpose. Now using 1 part sugar to each 4 parts berries (1 cup sugar to 4 cups berries), fill carton 1-4 full, sprinkle over 1-4 of the sugar, continue until carton is filled. Seal and freeze at once.

Frozen Raspberries

Raspberries are frozen same as strawberries (above) but must be handled with great care for they are so fragile.

I printed recipe for frozen strawberry pie Thursday last issue but repeated it for you and others who may have missed it.

Meaning Of "Florentine" As Applied To Food

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Does the word "Florentine" after the name of a dish on a restaurant menu always have a certain meaning? If so, what is it? (This questions is to settle a bet!)

Yes . . . "Florentine" means that spinach is combined with spinach, usually creamed spinach, and very often cheese also. Example: Eggs Florentine is a boon you wish!)

Bride And Groom At The Bride's Table

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I say that, at my "bride's table" at our wedding reception at my home, the bride and groom should sit side by side at one end of the table. But my sister says that at several wedding receptions she has been to lately, the bride and groom sat together in the center of one side of the table. Which is correct?

Florence B.

Either seating is correct . . . but at today's weddings it is more often the plan to have the bride and groom sit together in the centre of one side of the table. For me this seems much more attractive, more intimate, more very practical too, because wedding cake can be placed directly in front of the bride and groom, very convenient for the cutting ceremony.

Invitations To Small Home Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My niece is to be married soon. Just a small, quite wedding at home, with only about 40 guests to be invited, relatives and four or five close friends. Would it be correct to have the invitations handwritten, or should they be engraved? Should they be "sent to" even the closest relatives, who may be contacted by telephone or in person? If you suggest notes, please tell us how they should read.

G.

Invitations to such a small, informal wedding are correctly and customarily given verbally or by telephone. The bride's mother (or someone), in her name may telephone the invitations to the relatives and friends, or go to call on them to extend the invitation. If more convenient, notes may be written:

Dear Frances:

Roberta and Arthur are to be married here in our home on Friday, July 17th, at four o'clock, and it will make us all very happy if you and Tom will be with us, for the ceremony at four and to stay afterward to drink a toast to them and to wish them godspeed. Do tell us that you'll both be here. Dearest love to you both, from all of us,

Affectionately,

A Dessert-Bridge Shower

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In our group a hostess very often gives a dessert-bridge; that is, we all have our luncheon, except dessert, at home, then go to the hostess' house, have dessert, coffee, and then play bridge. I am planning such a party for a dear friend of mine, must give it on a very limited budget, and since all the girls I'm inviting like to play bridge, I'm wondering if it would be proper to give a dessert-and-coffee party, followed by the shower, and then, if there is time, by bridge. — Fran

Yes, this would be proper, and a leisurely, friendly kind of shower this is. Or, if you prefer, you can give an afternoon shower followed by a simple menu (tea and coffee, small sandwiches, cookies or cakes) for a minimum of expense. Generally, at a shower there is more chatting than bridge-playing!

COMMODORES' ORCHESTRA OF BELLEVILLE

Two Original Members Of Orchestra Still Active In This Noted Organization

If you remember; when devotees of the light fantastic were still stepping fancy free and thoroughly fantastic to the Charleston and the Black Bottom; when the hit tunes of the day were being introduced by the new medium of entertainment described as the "talkies"; when Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadians were still Canadians, you are very much older than the present generation.

But in Belleville you will remember when Tommy Mason and His Commodores made their debut to play for the opening of the Gay of Quinte Country Club on May 24, 1928. That gala event will be recalled by many, but by today's members of the Commodores it is remembered as the beginning of a notable 25-year career as a band organization — one which is equalled by few dance bands on the continent.

Proudest among these celebrating this anniversary are two of the original members, Manager Basil Haines and Frank Howard, trumpeter, who have been with it consistently throughout these years. Today it is a considerably expanded group of musicians and its personnel has changed many times but the quarter century that the Commodores have entertained this community and seen their reputation as a dance band vieing with the "name bands" of international repute.

Many Devoted Fans

In this year of anniversary the Commodores will be saluted by several generations of Belleville dancing enthusiasts, and will be noted in many other Ontario centres where they have played to devoted fans for many years.

The Commodores orchestra of today consists of eleven musicians, a manager, and a vocalist. The orchestra is currently appearing at Club Commodore in Belleville and plays for many other engagements in this area.

This group of musicians has long been acclaimed as the best dance orchestra between Toronto and Ottawa. During their many years of successful operation the orchestra has supplied music at many well-known dances in Eastern Ontario.

They were shown a great honor during the month of April when the orchestra was chosen to play for the Kingston Charity Ball where the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, the Honorable Louis Orsinger and Mrs. Breithaupt were the distinguished guests. Many compliments were paid that evening on the stability of music the band provided and many new friends were made.

As stated before it will be noted that in all the changes which have occurred in the orchestra since its inception, there are two original members still with the organization. They are manager, Basil Haines, and trumpeter, Frank Howard—both as much a vital part of the orchestra today as they were back in 1928, and they cherish the many friends made and good memories of these past 25 years.

Orchestra's Personnel

The present orchestra includes: Jim Elliott, Stan Wiggins, and Frank Howard, trumpet; Jim Rose, Larry Brown, John Mitchell, Jim Belair, saxes: Reg Scriven, drums; Max Caldwell, bass; Phil Hoddlestone, piano, Jimmy Calvert, and Bud Haines, manager.

These men are proud of having had the opportunity in the past to provide a high calibre of dance music for their many friends and look forward to playing for this district's dancers for many more years which lie ahead.

They are happy to have been of service in aiding various service clubs and benevolent societies in raising funds for worthy causes and they look forward to an even greater and friendlier relationship with the people of Belleville and its surrounding district.

TO FIGHT TV PROPOSAL

LONDON (AP)—The National Television Council, made up of some of Britain's top political and cultural figures, was organized today to fight efforts to introduce commercial TV in the country. The government is considering allowing commercial TV.

THE PRESENT COMMODORES' ORCHESTRA

1947-1953

The year 1947 brought further changes in the personnel of the Commodores. Still having growing pains they conceived the idea of renovating and winterizing the old Park Pavilion and as a result came up with the Club Commodore.

This change-over included—many extensive alterations. A heating system was added — the dance floor enlarged — cedar plywood was added to the walls — a spacious rotunda and entrance was included, and fluorescent lights flung throughout, tiled floors on each side of the dance floor and tables and chairs replaced the old benches that adorned the Park Pavilion.

Ceremonies Broadcast

This club was officially opened on May 23 of that year by Frank Falwell, then mayor of Belleville and now M.P. for Hastings South. Cleo Colling then chairman of the Parks Board, wished the orchestra every success in its undertaking. The opening ceremonies were broadcast over radio CJBQ and station manager, Bill Slavin, acted as master of ceremonies for the large crowd in attendance.

Having a year round place of their own, the Commodores were able to feature out-of-town orchestras for the enjoyment of the district's many dancers.

During this period they presented such orchestras as Bert Niosi (now with the Happy Gang) Boyd Valleau, Art Hallman with vocalist Terry Dale (now in Korea entertaining troops); Mart Kenny with vocalist Norma Locke, Roy Roberts and Wally Koster; and Ellis McClintock with vocalist Fran Murray.

Assisted in Activities

The Commodores also assisted in the summer activities of the Y's dance was held in the evening. men sponsored "Teen-Age Club" by providing music and the Club Commodore at rates in keeping with teen-agers pocket books. Dances were held during the summers of '47, '48, and '49, admission of 35 cents was charged, and the hours of dancing were from 8.30 to 11.

All of these events were supervised by the Y's Men's Club under the leadership of "Newt" Thompson.

The orchestra also had the privilege and honor of playing for many Queen's University year dances and formals, also at the Medical Formal, Levana Society Formal, and Color Night, where all the faculties attended and distributed athletic awards won by various students throughout the year.

The first New Year's Eve Party staged by the Commodores at Club Commodore was a colorful affair and featured Jimmy Moore as master of ceremonies from Montreal, and Miss Arlene Humphries of New York City, beautiful songstress of many Broadway musicals and cafe society.

Gave Sunday Concert

When the Kinsmen Club took upon themselves the project of raising funds for a community swimming pool, the Commodores were again co-operative in this public effort. They assisted in the staging of the first community drive which took the form of a Sunday evening concert in the McCarthy Theatre.

M.C. for this show was C.B.C. announcer Barry Wood and a sum of money in excess of $1,000 was raised. They further assisted this project that summer by donating their services for the Kinsmen Club's Civic Holiday program where a benefit baseball game was staged in the afternoon and a

COMMODORES' ORCHESTRA 1936

Times were still pretty tough and it was very difficult to get steady work. Although the famed "Johnstone's Dancing Academy" provided good winter quarters, and Oak Lake Pavilion good summer quarters, in order for the Commodores to hold together it was essential that they procure more work.

The following list would recall a few of the many places played: Cobourg Golf Club; Bay of Quinte Country Club; The Belleville Club; Gananoque Canoe Club; Collins' Bay Pavilion; Tweed Pavilion; St. Michael's Academy Spring Festival; Marmora; Lakeland in Prince Edward County (where there were many engagements that paid off only in terms of chicken sandwiches); Cobourg Anglican Parish Hall; Masonic Hall, Trenton; and the Hume Arena, Belleville.

Rehearsals in those days were held at the Aajama Club, the Yacht Club, and the Y.M.C.A.

It is worthy of mention to say that during these years extensive work was carried on at the then new R.C.A.F. Station at Trenton and the Commodores played for many social functions at the officers and sergeants' messes.

Some of the members of the Commodores during these years were: Frank Howard, trumpet; J. Large, sax; R. Jones, sax; Tommy Mason, piano; Phil Huddlestondel, piano; Reg Scriven, drums; Bud Haines, sax; George Aselstine, (deceased) sax; Roy Woodcock, trumpet; Ken Bray, bass; Jack Sills, bass; Ted Day, sax; Ted Mosscrop, trombone; Art Thompson, trombone; Harold Carruthers, trombone; Louis Yanover, sax; Art Kemp (deceased), sax, and Jim Elliott, trumpet.

Commodores Orchestra — 1928-1930

1928-1930

The original band was led by Tommy Mason and was known as "Tommy Mason and His Commodores". Their first performance was at the opening of the summer season on May 24 of the Bay of Quinte Country Club and many of the old dancers of the district might well remember them with their distinctive cream-colored flannels and double-breasted blue jackets with gold braid.

This first group consisted of Tommy Mason, piano; Clark Dickens, drums; Frank Howard, trumpet; Bud Haines, Bill Warham ,and "Dutch" Turney, saxaphones.

The summer of 1928 the Commodores played at Tweed Pavilion and the Oak Lake Pavilion as well as playing for other dances in the district.

The summer of 1929 was a repeat of many of the events of the previous summer and that winter they were hired by the late "Albie" Johnstone to play for regular dances at the "Johnstone's Dancing Academy" where the Royal Bank now stands. The old building was torn down two years or so ago.

During the years 1929-1930 there were many substitutions in the playing personnel of the band. Some of the men used were Joe Reynolds, bass; Howard Carbury, drums; Charlie Perkins, drums; Jack Tallentire, bass; Buster Moorce, trumpet; Bernie Lyons, bass, (now bandmaster of the Kingston Military Band); G. W. "Mac" McGregor, trumpet; former commanding officer of the 8th Anti Tank Regiment and; Bruce Frederick (deceased), trumpet.

Aided Flood Relief Fund

The Commodores also assisted in the mammoth concert held in the Arena in June of 1950 when the proceeds were sent to the Manitoba Relief Fund to aid the stricken victims of the Winnipeg Flood.

The Kiwanis Club's musical review "Pack Up Your Troubles" was another endeavor in which the Commodores engaged. As well as providing the background music for the featured numbers with its musicians and vocalists, the orchestra's musical director, Larry Brown, was appointed as musical director for the show. It was his duty to arrange many of the musical numbers, rehearse both the orchestra and the vocal chorus, and confer constantly with the producers.

He was consulted on the costuming, highlights, sound projection, and other technical points.

The orchestra was also in great demand throughout the district as well as in Belleville, and played many formal dances in Kingston, Trenton, Madoc, Peterborough, Picton, Napanee, Frankford, and Trenton air station.

Between the years 1947 to 1953, the orchestra realized the demand and need of a good vocalist and had such singers as Lorraine Marsh, Brennan Maxwell, Art Duby, Aldythe Arthur, Ken McMillan, and Sylvia Mosley as members of the organization.

The musicians who played for the Commodores during this period were: Frank Howard, Jim Elliott, Stan Wiggins, trumpets; John Mitchell, Larry Brown, Jim Calheart, Bud Haines, Jim Belair, Jim Rose, saxes; Phil Huddlestonel, piano; Max Caldwell, bass; Reg Scriven, drums; and Art Hilliard and Chris Lockyer, trombones.

Commodores Orchestra — 1930-1934

1930-1934

During this period, with the depression in full swing, the band had its ups and downs. There were many changes in the instrumental line up and the Commodores continued a great deal of territory playing one night stands — playing for parties which combined euchre or bridge and dancing with admission as low as 25 cents being charged.

It should also be mentioned that on more than one occasion that was no greater an amount than the members received for a night's work.

Some of the local night spots played during that period which would bring back memories to many of the readers are Kerr's Boat House on South Front Street approximately where Wills' Marina and the present stands, and at that time it wasn't unusual to see at least one dozen American yachts tied up in the harbour, and Victoria Park was in excellent condition.

Bayley's Pavilion, half way between Belleville and Trenton was also a popular spot. When playing Bayley's" the orchestra was confronted with a great problem in that transportation was not too convenient. To remedy this the Commodores would charter a bus to provide free transportation to those dancers wishing to attend.

The orchestra also played for the opening of the old "Quinte Inn" on the Redoreville Road.

Some of the members of the Commodores who played during this period were: Tommy Mason, piano; "Ab" Adams, piano; Charlie Allen, piano; Jerry Collins, bass; Jim Large, sax; Bob Elaind, bass; "Dekie" Turney, sax; Frank Sills, violin; Frank Howard, trumpet; Bud Haines, sax; Reg Scriven, drums; Roy Woodcock, trumpet; and George Aselstine, sax.

Early Man Discovered First Drum

The drum had its start in primitive times by man beating logs with clubs. Later man discovered that if a tightly stretched, dried skin was struck, it gave another kind of sound. He began to invent drums. First he covered hollow stumps with dried skins. Early drums were used for transmitting signals or alarms often seen in movies by jungle tribes. Drums were also used in tribal dances which were important events among primitive peoples.

Instead of offering prayers, many tribes performed sacred dances as offerings to their gods. Sun dances when they needed sunshine; rain dances when they required rain; war dances before going into battle; feast dances when they were thankful for plenty.

Ceremonial Dances

These dances were known as ceremonial dances and were performed to the rhythmic beat of the drum.

Thousands and thousands of years have passed since the time of the booming, hollow stump. Better drums have been made of many shapes and sizes. Yet among the old ones and the new ones, there are only three variations. They may have stretched skin over a hollow shell, like the kettle drums or tympani; they may have two skins, one stretched over each end of a hollow cylinder, like the bass and snare drums; or they may have one skin stretched over an open frame like the tambourine. These three types were invented long, long ago by men whose tribes have been forgotten and whose race cannot even now be traced.

CELEBRATES TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Unusual Circumstances Gave Commodores Orchestra Chance to Visit Ellington

Last November Duke Ellington celebrated his 25th anniversary as an orchestra leader and composer-arranger.

An unusual circumstance happened in January of 1943 when the Commodores orchestra journeyed by train, as a unit to Kingston to hear the Ellington orchestra which was appearing there.

It was one of those real winter, sub-zero nights and the trains were running greatly behind schedule. After hearing the Duke in the Kingston Armouries, the Commodores proceeded to the C.N.R. depot to return to Belleville, only to be told the train would be two hours late.

In about 15 minutes, the Ellington orchestra also arrived at the station to entrain for London, Ontario, where they were to appear the following evening.

The usual train of events followed. The Commodores could be seen obtaining autographs and conversing freely with members of the negro orchestra. Many tips and ideas were learned that night - some of which are still being used by the Commodores.

Duke Ellington himself, was quite the centre of attraction at that rendezvous and if one could read him closely, he could be seen carrying a very beautiful leather briefcase. He later explained the case contained the original musical scores for "Black, Brown and Beige" - the music for the first Duke Ellington Carnegie Hall concert, which he was then, still working on.

It seems quite a coincidence the Commodores who are now celebrating their 25th anniversary should have had such an opportunity as they had that night in the winter of 1943.

History of The Piano Goes Back to Tenth Century

The ancient piano got its start in the 10th century and before long, began a great phase of development. The comparatively modern piano took its place in the middle of the 18th century, having evolved from such early keyboards as the virginal, spinet, harpsichord, clavichord and clavicymbal.

The first man to make the keyboard stringed instrument, combining the best qualities of its precursors, was Bartolomeo Cristofori, an Italian. He exhibited an instrument at Padua in 1711, in which strings were struck from underneath by small hammers operated by the keys. This seemed to be what the musical world had been long awaiting for. On it the performer could obtain both soft and loud effects, and on it too, both legato and staccato playing were equally possible.

Soft Loud Instrument

Cristofori gave the name pianoforte to his instrument from the two Italian words, piano, meaning soft, and forte meaning loud, so that in its real significance, the piano is a soft loud instrument.

If a person compares the first piano with one of modern make, it will be discovered every part of the mechanism has undergone many changes and yet the principle remains the same — a keyboard, which when pressed causes hammers to strike against strings, tightly stretched and set in vibration. The average musician does not realize how great was the task of the first piano-maker in that far-off Italian town.

Now-a-days, the wood for a piano is chosen by a workman so expert at his job, he can tell by its sound the moment he strikes it whether or not it has qualities suitable for piano-working. Then after the wood is chosen, it is seasoned and weathered for a period of from three to ten years, and then dried by artificial means for many weeks. Before taking into the piano workman's shop, the wood must be cut into long thin strips. These strips are afterwards glued together to form what appears to be a solid block, or sheet of wood, just the shape of a piano case, whether the piano be square, upright or grand. In these days, the old-fashioned, square piano, is seldom seen.

For the last 100 years, the piano has remained practically unchanged, but manufacturers have striven to build them smaller in size, to suit persons who live in cramped quarters.

COMMODORES' ORCHESTRA 1942

1938-1942

As the change from depression to prosperity took place, and with the coming of World War II, the Commodores Orchestra found that dance dates came much easier and that the fees paid were more satisfactory.

Most of the summer dates during these years were split between Hume Arena, Belleville, and the Oak Lake Pavilion (later Oak Lake Casino).

All the winter dates were filled at the new "Trianon" formerly Johnstone's Dancing Academy.

Many high school formals were played and dances at R.C.A.F. Station, Trenton, Queen's University also started booking the orchestra during that period.

COMMODORES' ORCHESTRA 1946

1942-1947

In the spring of 1942 the Commodores embarked on an entirely new venture. Through permission of the Belleville Parks Board they renovated the Merchants' Building in the exhibition grounds into a summer dance pavilion known as the "Park Pavilion".

There were ten original members who started this undertaking in the persons of Bud Haines, Phil Huddlestonde, Art Kemp, Stan Wiggins, Frank Howard, Jim Elliott, Jim Large, Larry Brown, Reg Scriven and Tony Giosfitto.

This dance hall was opened May 22, 1942, and there were dances four nights a week on the old jitney dance plan.

During this period there were great crowds going to the Commodores; the war was in full swing and the many service personnel needed some place to go.

The orchestra also played many benefit dates during these years and helped raise funds for many organizations that were sending help to our boys overseas.

They played for the Kinsmen Milk for Britain and Fag Fund dances, donating their services four years in succession. They helped raise money for the I.O.D.E. and during the summer of 1946 cooperated with the Belleville Rotary Club in its annual speedboat regatta program by donating their services for a dance held the night of this eventful day. As a result of their efforts they were able to donate $100 for Crippled Children's Work.

In the summer of 1945 the Commodores journeyed to Peterborough to make some records at radio station CHEX and while there participated in a broadcast.

The Trianon Ballroom echoed the strains of the smooth rhythms of the orchestra during the winter months until the disastrous Coconut Grove fire of 1945.

Local fire authorities closed the Trianon until a fire escape was built and for the rest of that spring the orchestra played for dances held twice weekly in St. Michael's Academy auditorium.

The winter of 1945 was the last year that dancing was presented at the Trianon and the following winter the band played at Club Vanity Fair.

High school "At Homes" were played at Trenton, Picton, Napanee, and Belleville during this period as well as many formal functions in Belleville.

Trumpet Has Seen Many Innovations

In the days before man learned to make bowls of clay, he used an animal horn from which to drink. He rained the large end to his lips and drank the contents. It has been suggested that probably someone in some way broke the tip of this drinking horn and had by chance put the tip to his lips and blown into it. Then came a most surprising blast of sound.

Man eventually discovered that the larger and longer the horn, the better was the sound, so lengthened the tube by adding other pieces of horn. Eventually wood and metal were used and horns were made with very long tubes. Soon the post horn was developed - a long piece of brass tubing with a large bell and without valves. This post horn was used by the old stage coaches and would sound with a flourish as the coach drew up to the tavern door.

Shape Has Changed Early

The modern shape of the brass trumpet is claimed to have been created by a Frenchman named Maurin (1638-1515) But the transformation was really made much earlier, probably in the low countries of North Italy and this shape the instrument retained for more than 300 years.

Later crooks and slides were introduced, then keys, and finally in 1815, Stolzel, the first completely chromatic trumpet by the invention of the piston or valve. It has often been said that the trumpet and trombone are closer associated than the cornet and the trumpet. This statement may be borne out to some degree for if one were to uncoil the trumpet and trombone and place them side by side, they would be alike in shape and length, but, being larger around, the trombone has a deeper sounding tone.

Bass Viol Largest Of Violin Family

The largest member of the violin family and the lowest in pitch is the bass viol, commonly known as a bass.

The technique of the double bass presents certain difficulties inherent in an instrument of such large proportions.

The stretches for the fingers are very great, almost double those required for the violincello, and owing to the thickness of the strings, great force is required to press them against the fingerboard when they are vibrating.

The tonical capabilities of the double bass are necessarily somewhat limited, but it is the foundation of the whole orchestra and therefore of great importance.

Battle Developing For Second Place In American League; Teams Bunched

AGELESS ONES!

"Ole Satch" Paige, who likely will be tossing curves when Mickey Mantle applies for his old age pension, and who, Arthur Daley said celebrated the tenth anniversary of his 29th. birthday a la Jack Benny, the other day, is beaning evidence supporting the old turkey cliche that a bird lim. proves with age.

"Satch" bemoaned the fact that Manager Marty Marion of the St. Louis Browns, is using him in a relief capacity only and not as a starting pitcher.

"I'm the best pitcher he's got," sadly commented the age less one. "I know he wants to win . . . so why doesn't he start me?

"That old arm of mine feels 'em, but it shouldn't," "Satch" went on. "I guess Marty don't want to hurt me 'cause he's afraid I'll go nine leathers and show up the young kids on the staff. It don't look right, I guess, for an oldtimer like me doing things them young men can't do."

"All this cussin' and goin'," mortied Satch." "Rookies flirtin' up the road and oldtimers flirtin' down and nobody in between but me and ole Johnny Mize. And I ain't even sure of John. Maybe he's flirtin' too. If he is, I can always watch 'em go by myself. Time ain't gonna mean with me."

From all appearance, "time ain't meanin' much" with Mize either. He can pull up a deck chair between stints along with "Satch" and watch the "Whitey Fords" go by. Big Jawn produced his 2,000th. hit the other day and joined the "2,000" club tone Tyrus Cobb.

Last year Mize was short just 15 hits of the 2,000 mark when the season ended. He talked retirement, but those who know him smiled. You couldn't have pushed Mize into retirement with a battalion of bulldozers until that coveted mark was reached.

"Ole Case" Stengel has a possible explanation.

"It's this way," he grinned. "Big Jawn writes himself a book on 'How to Hit'. That gives him plenty of authorships. I know dang well he'll get a promo from the top of that book by not hittin' when I need him up to bat in the pinch. It's worked good, see?"

It "worked good" all right. Mize's 2,000th. hit was his eleventh in sixteen trips to the plate, not a bad average in any man's league.

One of the rare "trade boners" pulled by Branch Rickey and Leo Durocher was responsible for Mize's continued major league career. Rickey traded him from the Cardinals to the Giants for Ray Sanders who later fizzled out like a dud firecracker.

Mize clicked at the Polo Ground and went off to war, pudgy fellow in a tight-fitting navy uniform. He got hog-fat in the Pacific but as soon as peace rumors started the big fella went to work. He had a pronounced yen for keeping in condition while playing baseball.

The story goes that every day at high noon on a tropical atoll Mize started to sweat off the pounds. He entered a tin hut that had been cooking all day under a blazing sun. Just so no vagrant breezes could sneak in, he hung curtains over his private Turkish bath. By the time he reported to training camp he packed a solid 230 pounds.

He hit 51 homers in 1947 to tie Ralph Kiner for the championship. His record lies in with forty in 1948. But the "Lip" was after the "kinda players I like," so he began to get rid of the slow-footed boys, Mize included. The big fella was sold to the Yankees in August, 1949, and the rest is baseball history.

"WHO'S THAT LADY"?

They're rehashing the tag that Ty Cobb reared at. "Is that of the baseball player who tongue-lashed the official a power for striking him a hit in the last score. The scorer explained "It was a typographical error."

"Typographical error, me eye," snorted the B.P. "Nobody laid a glove on the ball."

Cleveland, Chicago, Red Sox In Close Race for Position; Dodgers Shave Braves' Margin

By BEN FELDGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The big question around the American League today is "who do you like for second?"

It's true that New York Yankees' tremendous first place lead has been shaved to 10 games, but if you look a little deeper into the standings you find that a real battle is developing for the runner-up slot.

Only three games separate second-place Cleveland from fourth-place Boston with Chicago White Sox sandwiched in between. Even Washington and Philadelphia can't be counted out of the race for second.

The Senators are five lengths behind the Indians and the Athletics, although now in the middle of a three-game losing streak, are only 7½.

Cleveland has won three in a row as has Boston. The White Sox have picked up three of their last four.

The Indians whipped Washington 4-3 Friday night and the Yankees bowed to Ted Gray and the lowly Athletics, 5-2.

The White Sox defeated Philadelphia 5-2 and the Red Sox trounced St. Louis Browns 4-1.

In the National League, the Braves absorbed their worst beating since moving to Milwaukee, New York Giants swamped them 15-1.

Break Streak

Brooklyn broke a four-game losing streak by taking the second half of a doubleheader from Chicago Cubs 7-1 after the Cubs had come from behind to win the freshening opener 11-8.

The third-place St. Louis Cardinals kept rolling with a 10-1 triumph over Pittsburgh. Philadelphia whipped Cincinnati 10-3.

The day's firing left the Braves

Grey held the Yankees to five hits in registering his first victory of the season against nine defeats. Gene Woodling's home run after a walk host by Joe Collins produced the only New York tallies. Jim Delsing blasted two home runs and Gray himself scored the winning run after slogging in the seventh.

Big Mike Garcia breezed in his eighth victory against the Senators who couldn't break into the scoring column until the last two innings.

The White Sox blasted the Athletics rookie Marion Fricano for 11 hits, including a two-run double by Bob Elliott in the ninth, to hand him his second loss against four victories.

Billy Goodman of the Red Sox ran his hitting stream to 13 games with a pair of singles and a steal against the Browns. Roy Sievers' first-inning home run was the first St. Louis run in 20 innings.

The Braves really blew one against the Giants. Three Milwaukee pitchers gave up 16 hits. Detroit Kuenn contributed two errors and some generally lax play, and the Braves were KO'd by Jim Maglie, who allowed only four safeties. The one damaging hit off Maglie in the home park was Walt Cole, last of the Milwaukee Hurlers. Bob Buhl drew the loss, his third.

Randy Jackson homered with the bases loaded to put Cincinnati ahead to stay in the first game of its doubleheader with the Phillies and his bases-empty blast was the only run the Cubs could get off Russ Meyer in the nightcap.

Robin Roberts won his 11th game in the Phils' second victory. Cincinnati. Tommy Glaviano, reserve infielder, hit two home runs and a single for the Phillies.

Hockey Figures Said Misleading

TORONTO (CP) — George Dudley, secretary - manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, Friday called attention to the "most misleading" figures given in statements issued at Montreal last week by the National Hockey League board of governors.

The statements dealt with the relationship between the professional organization and the CAHA.

Dudley said in a statement that a spokesman said one junior club played in 17 games in the playoffs and received only $325 a game, although the gate receipts exceeded $150,000, leaving the inference that the CAHA received the balance of this sum.

"It must be remembered," Dudley said, "that out of the gate receipts the arenas must have their share and the total amount received by the CAHA from the 17 games referred to was $69,215.36."

Transportation expenses, living allowances and bonuses left the CAHA with the net sum of $32,663.86, he said.

Bisons Nip Wings For Second Spot In International

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The league - leading Montreal Royals, after tripping through Springfield Cubs 8-3 Friday night, glanced behind to find another International Baseball League club on their trail.

Buffalo Bisons, who had a record of nine victories in their last 13 starts before game-time at Rochester, defeated the Red Wings 5-3 to climb over them into second place behind the Royals.

Paul Foytack, who needed help from Milt Jordan in the ninth, sewed up his third win for Buffalo, allowing six hits.

At Springfield, the Royals bombarded the last-place Cubs for 15 safeties, all off starter Vern Fear. Tom Lasorda allowed Springfield only four hits on his own record of 13 triumphs and only three setbacks against the Cubs.

Lasorda split a doubleheader with the Orioles at Baltimore, the Athletics winning the opener 8-3 and losing the nightcap 9-5.

Toronto Maple Leafs limited the Orioles to seven hits to win the first game. Baltimore erupted for 14 hits in the nightcap to the tune of 12 Maccklenzie, while Jack Sanford and Tom Herrin limited the A's to eight blows.

Syracuse Chiefs pleased home fans by edging Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2. Lefty Marvin Williams allowed all but two of the Leafs' hits, giving up seven hits and fanning seven.

Bird Watching With Solmar Tables

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Radio Naturalist, Author and Producer of Solmar Tables)

The other day I received a letter from the Rev. Lorne F. Shugart of St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto, Ontario. Dr. Bernett is an ardent outdoorsman, fisherman, naturalist, and ornithologist.

With his letter Dr. Barnett enclosed a copy of the talk he had given on April 21, 1953, before the Toronto Ornithological Club. His subject was "The Effects of Solunar Influences or Stimulus on Bird Behavior."

For a good many years Dr. Barnett has been using the Solunar Tables as an aid to his fishing. Recently he had widened their use and now he plans his bird-watching tours according to the Solunar Tables.

Rather than describe his observations, let me use his words of they are copy down in the copy of his talk. He says in part —

"Time after time I have been sitting quietly reading in utter stillness, with not a movement of any kind to be heard or seen. Suddenly there would be a sound or activity. They'd be more then its quota of warblers and vireos. The thrushes would come out of hiding and burst into song, accompanied by the over birds.

Good to be Alive

"The jays would scream and ravens croak overhead. The ruffed grouse would beat his brood, feeding time in my tree. Everything in nature manifested joy and it was good to be alive. I would go to get my binoculars, and at the same time check my Solunar Tables. I hardly needed to do so because invariably I was a thousand period.

"In my earlier years in the north I was interested in the Solunar Tables only as an aid to fishing. They proved so effective for me in this regard, that the Indian guides in the district, before going out a fishing party, would frequently come to me and ask when the Solunar Table would occur on that day, and then make sure to be in an advantageous fishing spot at those times, and later report to me the success of their undertaking. So much so that I brought with me each year various copies of the Solunar Tables which I gave to these Indian guides and which they used to great advantage.

"This interest in fishing made me gradually conscious of the application or the Tables to bird watching, so that I was able to plan my own activities and expeditions in observing the birds, to gain the best possible advantage by knowing beforehand when I could expect their greatest activity."

Later in his talk, Dr. Barnett spoke of feeding stations for birds in the wintertime. He says:

"At the foot of China Drive on the western boundary there is a small wooded gully, which on last a much more extensive growth. Between these are fields and meadows, an ideal location for observation. In the past three years, with not too experienced observers, the check list for the property records this year 89 Species Identified

"Making use of a Major Solunar Period on April 11, 1951, there were identified on the property in just over three hours 51 species; and on May 15th of the present year 99 species were observed throughout the day.

"In the little gully at the foot of China Drive there is erected a feeding station, and my own observations during this past winter indicate that while there might be an occasional visitor at other times, that during a Solunar Period, they are very conspicuously patronized by practically every species in the vicinity.

"This past winter also a Carolina Wren put in an appearance at my home. Sometimes I would not see it for ten days or longer, with consequent wondering as to whether it was surviving. On such occasions I would plan my trip to coincide with a Solunar Period, and there after time the wren would appear from hiding to give me assurance of its presence.

"Of course, I have known of the occurrence of birds to the stimulus of the Solunar Periods for a good many years. Originally this information came to me more or less accidentally.

"Because of ill-health, brought on by (don't smile) overwork, I was forced to serve my convalescence with The Guaranty Trust Company of New York, acting as my strict doctor's orders, the next six months were spent in the open and relaxation. Being too ill to go fishing that spring, I spent the time in the afternoons on the verandah of our home in Englewood, New Jersey.

"Near our house was a large vacant lot, part of an old estate. No care had been given the place for years and it was well overgrown with second-growth trees. As might be imagined, the place was alive with song birds.

"During my convalescence, I noticed that frequently the birds in this area would be silent. For some hours few birds would be seen, and there would be no bird-song.

"Then suddenly, as though at a given signal, the lot would come alive. The air would be filled with birdsong and there would be a great deal of fluttering and movement with birds.

"I checked these periods of activity with my Solunar Tables and to my great satisfaction, I found that they corresponded with the daily Solunar Periods, particularly the Major Periods.

"Having correspondents all over the United States and Canada I wrote to men in various parts of the country, asking them to check on this phenomenon. Their reports at the end of the summer bore out my findings completely.

"The next logical step was to check the behavior of game birds with relations to the Solunar Tables. As I had expected, these too fell right in line. Now, some 15 years later, thousands of persons are profiting from these observations each fall.

"Although the value of the Solunar Theory has been checked and confirmed and by the time has quite well established, it is a source of distinct satisfaction to read of the experiences of another naturalist who, although operating independently, corroborates my findings completely.

Funny eh — except when it happens to you? Oddly enough we are all human and act this way one time or another. Those of us who do, and are unlucky, find ourselves in a serious plight when someone is injured on or around our premises because of our neglect or misjudgment.

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Harry Jackson, president of St. Thomas Elgins of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League, announced Friday that the club will be strengthened with new players before the July 1 deadline closes for purchase or additional players.

Jackson said the club has no championship aspirations in the series this season, and is interested in building a strong foundation for a 1954 championship team.

He also announced the release of John Pollock, who joined the pitching staff in April.

Sport in Brief

ANNE SHARP WINS CROWN

TORONTO (CP)—Anne Sharp of Lookout Point Friday won the 38th Ontario ladies' golf championship, defeating Mrs. Mac Short of Toronto St. George's 7 and 6.

It was Miss Sharp's seventh attempt at the championship and she reached the semi-finals and once the final. It was the third time Miss Short reached the final.

In the 36-hole match, Miss Sharp was three up at the turn, the second and then moved ahead in the third and fourth. The 36-year-old physical education instructor was never seriously threatened after winning the fifth hole, and by taking the 13th of the second round.

She was five up on the outgoing nine in the morning and six up after 18 holes. She had to par-72 course in the afternoon. Miss Sharp won the first four holes and Mrs. Carter took the seventh, eighth and 10th. Miss Sharp won the 11th and took win Mrs. Carter would have had to win each of the remaining six, a task too much for her.

HOLDS BLIND GOLF TITLE

TORONTO (CP)—Nick Genovese of Toronto, runner-up last year to Hamilton Dendas Club, retained his Ontario blind golfers championship Friday. In a tournament at Summerlea Golf Club, he fired a 36-hole total of 161 better than Harold Mitchell of Hamilton Glendale who finished second with 87-98—185.

KEARNS ELECTED

KITCHENER (CP)—Bryson F. (Spike) Kearns has been elected vice-president of the newly-formed Kitchener-Waterloo Rugby Football Union that will operate a team in the Senior ORFU series this season. His election was announced Friday night at the weekly club executive. Drills will likely start May 25, first game is set for Brantford Aug. 13.

DURELLE KEEPS TITLE

STELLARTON, N. S. (CP)—Yvonne Durelle of Sale Ste. Anne, N. B., retained his Canadian middleweight boxing crown with a decision victory Friday night over challenger Harry Poulton of Charlottetown in a fifteen 3-minute round. Cautious Durelle was held at bay by equally cautious Poulton. Action was very slow in late rounds that referee Bobby Beaton warned the fighters repeatedly.

At the end of the bout, in which there were no knockdowns, Durelle was unmarked. Poulton had a slight cut under the nose. Durelle weighed 159 and poulton 158.

Bobo Bops Bunny With 'Bonk' Belted Blighters Win Brawl

By GEO. M. CARVER

No cheaha, m'deahs, for Layton, Bleahs

The bonnahs of the lealty, Hoi Alonny's cank not had the "bonk"

They would be "lauded gaudy."

Jackson said the club has no championship aspirations in the series this season, and is interested in building a strong foundation for a 1954 championship team.

He also announced the release of John Pollock, who joined the pitching staff in April.

"Use your head, Doc," some Petonia in the crowd shouted at Referee "Bunny" Dunlop in Memorial Arena last night as the hasty lorda of wrestledom Layton and Bleara fought a furious free-for-all third fall with those Adonises of Pachyderm, Don Jonathan and Bobo Brazil.

"Bugs" did just that. A black thunderbolt expressed itself his way in the form of the limby one's crete-like skull of the Bobo. Lord Bleara dunked Referee Mike, he crashed to the mat smiling as sweet birdlike music mosie his ears. Then he took the black one's old brawl as the foursome got together and it wasn't for half-an-hour.

Finally Bunny regained enough to his feet. He did an excellent imitation of Mrs. Sharp's governing ballyraving to locate the family front door keybole, then as a stunned hush fell over the arena, Bunny raised the hand of Lord Layton in victory.

"Come Home, Little Sheba" some wag in the crowd warbled. And a hearty laugh from Bun thought it was time to retire.

Black Lightning

Between black and white lightning in the form of Brazil and Jonathan had other ideas. So did the cameras of Bob Crosley Geohagen.

Bobo "Bonker" Bleara so hard he resembled a decapitated snapping turtle. Jonathan jumped, threw himself into reverse judo, and Lord Layton's chassis spun like a whirling Dervish as the flying heels of Jonathan caught him under the regal jaw.

Then a little Lord Fauntleyism injected itself into the fray. Shane and it was Timmy me bboy, a brish of a lad, challenging the fiercest Jonathan caught him under the regal jaw.

Timmy Holmes is a little fellow so far around he wondered how he come his spine had shifted to the front. Then the applause stamped a "sleeper" on the Laytonian jugular so hard, he began to whistle "The Wearin' of the Green."

Jonathan and Bobo covered the ring with confusion as the British as Referee Dunlop continued his "Lazy Daisy Razy" solo mimed in ring centre. Finally he recovered sufficiently to quell the argument and battle, and again presented the British arms in the victory signal.

Rematch, Egad

M'Lads robed —in ermine and silver —ayton, Layton in the former and Bleara —in the latter in step-in style, entered the ring accompanied by Captain John Holmes their gentlemen's gentleman. The three-pipper wore a lone binocular his starboard optic and carried a silver-headed walking stick. During the battle he retired to the dressing room where he "braved" every remote control pausing occasionally for a "good ol' boy."

M'Lads won the first fall in 30 minutes after a furious battle. They changed so often the boot was —by resemble a square dance. Bob subjected Jonathan to terrific punishment for six minutes before Bobo decided he had needed and got the green light. He was an ebony streak as he dived into the ring. The crowd nearly went wild —as he tore from one end to another coco-bonking until both were staggering about the ring in a daze. But Mr. Lad layton revened matters with his famous locks and the royal pair were crowned.

The black and white had the belier of the second fall and Jonathan won it when he piggy-backed Timmy Holmes to Layton fall ankle ships with a two-feet flying kick and pinned him before he could start the National Anthem.

The third fall developed into a near-Donnybrook when all four warriors piled in the ring and Benny saw more lights than a Broadway Theatre on a first night.

Timmy Geohagen won a popular victory in the second when he sleepered the huge —Hasan Bey right in the middle of a flying leg-lariat. Pat Flanagan defeated Stan Stanley, a strutting blonde, in one of the best preliminaries seen here in some time.

Olson Wins American Middle Title With Slashing Victory Over Young

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Calm, poker-faced Carl (Bobo) Olson believes he will beat Britain's Randy Turpin "on style" and win the world middleweight championship in August.

Shortly after he handed durable Paddy Young an artistic lacing in Madison Square Garden Friday night to capture the U.S. 160-pound crown, Bobo said "I've got the style to beat Turpin."

At first the 26-year-old Hawaiian-born San Francisco was reluctant to go on the limb and said only: "My style will give Turpin trouble."

But he grew more optimistic and said later he would beat him.

"He's awkward, strong, and pretty good," said Bobo of the one-time world champion, "but I believe my boxing and weaving style will do it.

"I saw the pictures of his second fight with (Ray) Robinson," said Bobo, "and I know my style will give him more trouble than anyone else has."

Both fought Robinson the return engagement twice. Turpin outpointed Sugar Ray the first time in one of boxing's greatest upsets and then was stopped by the Harlem dandy in 10 rounds. Olson was stopped by Robinson in 13 and later dropped a close 15-round decision to him.

Gerry Kesselring Fires Sparkling 68 To Retain Ontario Open Golf Crown

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Challenged by the stiffest competition in the 31-year history of the event, 36-year-old Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener Friday fired a sparkling 68 in the last round to retain the Ontario open golf championship.

And in so doing the young pro who has been stamped the most promising Canadian amateur of the decade, equalled the event's record by scoring a 68 at the Essex Golf and Country Club. He was seven strokes under par 72 for the three rounds.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The science of play in bridge has its basis in mathematics. It is a determined fact as to how often certain amounts of cards will divide so and so. This is known exactly.

All experts know the tables. But no one can argue about it until you are blue in the face and never convince anybody but yourself. You will be told that the cards cannot read these tables.

There was this tournament deal:

South players learned from the bidding that an ace and a king were missing in their pair. Fearing the loss of two tricks to these, none decided to be safe and ended at five spades.

Others refused to be scared off. Or figured they could work on some method of losing only one trick. These decided to take a chance on a small slam contract of six spades.

Opening lead from west was a heart. South ruffed and have preferred a diamond lead which might give him a chance to stuff both south hearts. But he must now consider what the heart lead does to him.

The first trick was grabbed by

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, JUNE 21, 1953.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Be natural if you would achieve the best things today. Aries natives usually are, but you may be tempted to some superficialities now.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—A good sense of humor can save the dead and the day. Others may have "nerves", be on edge. Not you, please! And start right at home.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Misjudging values, taking angry exception to things others say, are temptations to avoid most carefully. Have recourse to prayer.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—Do all you do in good faith, yes, but that does not excuse one from the obligation to determine what are the right things to do and say.

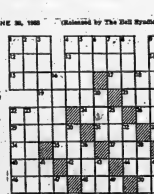
July 23 to August 22 (Leo)—A favor for another will return you untold benefits, and strengthen friendships, including those related to the recipient of your favor.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Slowness, generosity, artistry—high points of this Zodiacal Sign—are not alone enough. Though they are indeed wonderful starting posts. You must have strong faith. So pray.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—It's a better day than at first you may think. Don't start by doubting! Begin at church, strengthen your will and honest convictions.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Mistakes—are made by all, but we must profit rightly by them, then forget them, ours and others'. Worries are labs.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—"Where there's a will there's a way" and "a stitch in time..." are excellent mottos for this day and the coming week. Save yourself much by apt foresight.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Don't be so wrapped in your own affairs you cannot "see" another's point of view or methods. Don't be backward to try the new if it appeals intelligently.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Avail yourself of worthy opportunities, don't let outside or others problems stymie your advancement or initiative. Start—day at church.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Combine your best forces; seek to help others into the brighter side; attend to duties first and you will make a grand start for a progressive, happy week.

YOU BORN TODAY: Outstanding traits are general capability, sociability, originality. Sometimes you press your physical and mental powers too far for good health. Should practice constancy and remember a sharp answer can undo an otherwise happy situation. Don't be sorry for self. Birthdate of: Wm. Stubbs, Bishop of Oxford, historian.

STIRLING

St. Andrew's L. A. Hears Address On 'Building'

Stirling — The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Percy Craighead, last Thursday.

Mrs. Craighead presided over the devotional exercises with Mrs. R. Reid reading the Scriptures from I Corinthians, 13.

Guest Speaker

The theme of the program was: "Building." Mrs. Clifford Lanning was the guest speaker. She left many fine thoughts in the minds of her listeners. "Are we workers with a construction gang or a working crew? To be builders we must have a plan. God, the Master Architect, has given us a perfect plan, but the builders through the ages have not adhered to His plan.

"In the Old Testament, He sent His only Son to teach the people of His plan of life." Mrs. Vernon Matthews rendered a musical selection. Mrs. Craighead read a clipping stating that St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid was founded in 1905 with Mrs. (Dr.) Spry as president. Mrs. Beard read a lovely poem, composed by her niece, Rose Bateman McGie, entitled "Pass It On", and Miss Gena Spry conducted a contest. Mrs. Craighead served bountiful refreshments.

Mrs. R. Hamilton moved a vote of thanks to her for her generous hospitality.

3RD OF SIDNEY

Aikens W. A. Holds Strawberry Social

3rd SIDNEY — Approximately 200 people, friends and residents of the Aikens community, attended the ice cream and strawberry social held in the Aikens hall on Tuesday evening.

After the social, an enjoyable program was heard under the able chairmanship of Harleigh Hamilton.

Mr. Bart Hogle, 3rd line, has been sick for some time. All wish him a speedy recovery.

Congratulations are in order to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hubble, Pleasant View, Kingston, on the birth of their daughter, Marcia Ruth, Monday, Thursday, June 18th, at Kingston General Hospital. The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hubble and Mrs. Nellie Wallace, of Kingston.

Mailbag Improvement

At a meeting held recently, the Federation of Agriculture decided to co-operate with the work and intend doing most of the canvassing by mail. There will be circular letters sent out to the farmers and residents of rural Sidney who are to complete the questionnaire — mailbox improvement and send to the secretary. Glen Corporation, in this manner is much to be desired.

Dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. George McAlpine, 3rd line, were Mrs. Will Brown, Mrs. James Hobbs and daughter, Mrs. Bert Johnson, of Madoc and Mrs. Dick Seeley of Trenton.

Special Anniversary Services Continue at St. Paul's Church

By REV. PERCY MACMULLEN

RAWDON. — On Monday evening, June 15, the first of the week night series of special meetings was held at St. Paul's United Church, when Rev. Gerald Crocker Hunter, of Stromberg, gave a message on the theme "The Christ that Never Lets Go".

Rev. A. E. Baker, pastor of St. Paul's, Carmel, will preside each evening assisted by the special choir accompanied by Mrs. A. E. Baker at the organ and Mr. Gerald Taylor, Burnbrae, on the accordion.

There has been a large attendance from the surrounding district.

On Tuesday evening, Rev. G. C. Hunter gave a message on the theme "The Christ that Rewards Faith". The speaker opened with an old legend of a pilgrim, Tom Tim, and told too many people today feel they can get along without God.

Famous Words

He quoted Augustine's famous words of the gentleness of people until their faith is firmly anchored in God.

The speaker said the cities chosen for this series of services were planned to give a comprehensive picture of the faith, which the people of the church believe to be their salvation.

The speaker chose Rev. Gerald for synonym of his theme—"Justified, Reconciled and Redeemed". With apt illustrations, Bible quotations and colorful stories of real life, Rev. Hunter gave the audience a very clear understanding of the meaning of these three important words and made it clear that we all belong to Christ who made the eternal sacrifice.

On Wednesday evening Mr. Hunter spoke on the theme "The Church Christ Built" with this subject from three passages in Matt. "The church is not a building but a body of people". The church is the congregation but a communion —and lastly "The church is not composed of saints but of people composed of sinners who are united by faith.

Believe Attend

The speaker said many Protestant people do not know their own church and very seldom attend it. Very often people livide the church on the word unanimity of the congregation while the man outside the church who probably swears, smokes and drinks, would not stand up for the memories and love and low tactics or those who are inside.

The speaker gave a graphic picture of those people who belonged to the early church in Corinth and while a lot of them were reprobates of the worst kind, they needed to improve and become better citizens and they were firm believers in the Christ of fellowship together.

Mr. Hunter also pictured the church universal and all that it could mean towards better citizenship.

Last Service

At a special women's meeting Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Walter Wilson, president of St. Paul's Missionary Auxiliary, presided, assisted by her first vice, Mrs. George Carlisle and first vice of St. Paul's W.A., Mrs. Edwin Warren, seated on the platform with Rev. A. E. Baker presided at her small portable organ.

Mrs. Elliott quoted the hymn, "I Come to the Garden Alone," and spoke words of appreciation for the lovely flowers and welcomed the ladies. Later she extended thanks to Mr. Hunter for his message.

Mr. Hunter read the account of "the man with the withered hand" as found in St. John's gospel, and Mrs. Walter Warren sang a solo.

Mr. Baker offered a special prayer for the souls of the early church riders who brought the message of the gospel to the lonely and isolated settlers in pioneer days.

Faith and Health

Mr. Hunter chose as his theme for the afternoon, "The relationship between your faith and your health."

In his opening remarks he felt that no one could estimate the value of the memories of the past, and gave a graphic picture of their work in a missionary auxiliary, Women's Association and the Sunday School.

The speaker traced disease from the plagues of history, and smallpox in the Dark Ages, and paid tribute to medical science with its advanced miracles when today smallpox and diphtheria are almost obliterated. However, never in all history have so many people been sick. Medical experts have increased 300 per cent in 10 years and our hospitals have waiting lists. More people are listless, melancholy and drag out those days than ever before.

The speaker gave several vivid illustrations taken from doctors' records to show that functional illness in many cases is a direct result of the worship of the mind.

Faith Healing

The church down through the ages has neglected this side of spiritual healing but the disciples were sent out on a ministry of faith healing. Doctors say that 60 per cent of people who are ill cannot be cured by medicine, and Dr. Stanley Jones proclaims that the way to live is through the teachings of God.

The speaker urged that everyone live in harmony with one another and God, and advocated daily prayer. He felt peace of mind and strength of confidence was one way of having a healthy body.

Many women in the audience were busy farmers' wives with plenty to keep them busy, but there are women in towns and cities as well as rural places who are beset with ills and have no special anchor in life. To these women the speaker urged that they get busy and find a worth while life in the church.

Mr. Hunter gave real instances of people of great reserves of energy and who were always busy doing good to other people just think they are busy.

In closing, Mr. Hunter said, "Women everywhere have multitudes of opportunities to be a means of help to others and to carry on God's work in the churches.

Ronald Neil, 14, Trenton, Drowned In Consecon Lake

WELLINGTON (Special)—Step-ping into a twenty-foot drop-off on Consecon Lake on Saturday after-noon, Ronald Neil, 14, of Trenton, was drowned while hundreds of regatta spectators looked on.

Neil was wading in the water on the north shore of the lake, when he suddenly disappeared from view. Rex Huff, of this village who stood on the shore noticed the youth suddenly drop out of sight. Huff plunged into the "over-off" hole but failed to locate Neil. Neil is the deep water, after three attempts.

The tragedy occurred near the starting barge of the Consecon Outboard Motor Club, which was holding a regatta.

A few minutes previous to his disappearance, young Neil had boasted about having learned to swim by wading to the water he would not to his death.

It was reported that a number of swimmers dived for the body but were unable to locate it.

The body was recovered some two hours later with the use of boats near the scene of the drown-ing. Dr. W. A. L. MacDonald, Trenton police official respira-tion for over an hour but was un-able to revive the youth.

The drowning eliminates the seventh Neil family. The only brother of the dead youth was killed in ac-tion in World War II at the age of 18.

Pravda States Peace Possible

LONDON (Reuters)—Pravda, the Russian Communist party news-paper, said today that "peaceful co-existence" is possible between socialist and capitalist systems is fully possible."

As article marking the 12th an-niversary of the German attack on Russia, published by Moscow Radio, said Soviet foreign policy was based on the idea of co-operation between socialist and capitalist systems and that "peaceful co-existence" is a precise possibility "there is a desire for co-operation between two social-political systems, on not accepted obligations, maintaining the prin-ciple of equality and not interfer-ence in other nations' affairs."

This, said Pravda, "is a real and possible thing, proved during the second World War, when the coalition of the Soviet Union, the United States, Great Britain and France won victory over the ag-gressive Fascist bloc in spite of all differences in economic and political systems."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A few of somewhat cooler and much drier air from the north reached as far as Ontario Sunday. A few thunderstorms occurred along the boundary of the cool air mass. SCOTIADOC SUNK IN LAKE SUPERIOR, ONE MAN LOST

Rammed by Burlington In Heavy Fog Saturday

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—A collision near the fabled Sleeping Giant sent a grain-laden freighter to the bottom of Lake Superior Saturday night and cost the life of one member of her crew.

The Paterson Steamship Lines' Scotiadoc was rammed amidships by the Canada Steamship Lines' package freighter Burlington in heavy fog after both ships had been steaming due north there from heavy seas resulting from a storm on Lake Superior.

The Burlington's bow was stove in eight feet by the impact but she was able to make Fort Wil-liam, about 30 miles from the col-lision, where she landed 21 members of the Scotiadoc's crew of 30.

Lost was Wallace McDermid, 33, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., who was crushed by a heavy steel polo brace. He was pitched into the rough water when a lifeboat was smashed while being lowered. Mc-Dermid, a porter on the Scotiadoc, clung to the ship's long line for nearly half an hour but finally dis-appeared.

A veteran of the Second World War and a former business man in Sault Ste. Marie, McDermid was spending his second season on the lakes. He was married, leaving also to be with another Sault man, his widowed mother and a brother, aged 33.

Mr. McDermid, single, leaves three brothers and three sisters. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie McDermid, live in Sault Ste. Marie.

33 Drowning Fatalities In 43 Violent Deaths Reported

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ninety-degree temperatures in many parts of Eastern Canada during the week-end sent thousands of trippers to the shores of lakes and rivers and the number of drowning fatalities climbed to 33. A Canadian Press compilation showed that 43 violent deaths were reported during that period, 33 in-cluding seven traffic fatalities and three miscellaneous. Drownings were the highest for any week-end this year and separate figures for Ontario and Quebec were also rec-ords for 1953.

Ontario's total was 22 deaths, 16 of them drownings. Quebec had 19 with 15 drownings and Nova Scotia two drownings.

Wallace McDermid, 37, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., disappeared and is presumed drowned following a collision in fog Saturday night be-tween the Great Lakes freighter Scotiadoc and the Canada Steam-ship Lines package freighter Burlington, about 30 miles from Port Arthur.

Father Can Thank Two Young Girls For Saving Child

An unidentified father can thank two young girls for the saving of his fourteen-months old child from drowning in the Outlet, Point Edward county on Sunday afternoon.

The two girls were wading in a foot or two of water off the sandy shore when they noticed the body of a child lying on the bottom.

They pulled the baby out of the water, took it to the shore and forced water from its lungs. The child was revived.

It was stated that the father sat on the beach near the scene of the near-tragedy, totally unaware of what was going on.

22 Babies Are Baptized

With the seating capacity of the Methodist Street Union Church taxed to capacity on Sunday morning, when the minister, the Rev. Bishop, M. Conran, baptized 22 babies. The church was tastefully decorated with flowers with a number of canaries and budgy birds in cages, adding from the gallery and placed around the church. Junior choir and Junior choir, under the direction of Mr. Clifford Tempier, led in singing of hymns and, in particular, sang a selection of hymns, "Jesus Loves Me," which Clifford Tempier sang a delightful solo titled, "Consider the Lilies."

The names of the babies baptized in the church were: Sandra Alldire Purdy, Paula Lee Hubbs, Brian Blanco, Ian Dorsee, Brian Howard Hennessy Karen Warren, Elizabeth Ann Crossen, Lana Jean Elaine Wannamaker, David Edward Conley, Lynn Alan Purdy, Larry Joseph Carr, Bruce Patricia Blance Chambers, Roy Robert Killam, John William Heasman, Victoria Lynn Joblin, Jacqueline Gwen O'Neil, Helen Ruth Ackerman, Joan Arlene Gray, Elizabeth Christina Reid, Dianne Charlene and Catherine Ann Knowlton, Edward Rose Thompson, and Heather Anne Spurgeon.

In his charge to the parents the minister urged that parents regard the minister in particular and the church generally, not as merely emblematic figures at weddings, baptisms and funerals, but that there is a responsibility attached to the spiritual privileges. No child is safe unless sheltered in home, church and school, said the speaker, who also added that a child is a bundle of contradictions — speechless and yet so eloquent, helpless and yet so mighty, little and yet so hardly troublesome and yet so dear.

In closing the minister congratulated the parents upon their good fortune to have their children with them and charged that a fearful responsibility attended their rearing. To train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it. Instead of the fathers shall be thy children whom thou mayest make princes throughout the earth, concluded the speaker.

Native Fly Is Expected to End Caterpillar Nuisance in North

Cottage owners who returned to the city Sunday from their cottages in Northern Ontario found the fly infestation greater than any seen in their lifetime. The flies resembling house flies, but much larger, are plentiful in all districts ravaged by the jack caterpillars.

One fisherman out on a lake had to return to his cottage because of the swarms of the flies in the boat. They do not bite, but be said, it was almost impossible to keep them off his face with both hands. In other areas were clouds of them around cottage, home and store doors.

Several explanations for their source were heard, chief among these being that the flies were imported from foreign countries to counteract the caterpillars. These reports went on to say that the insects were released from planes over infested areas while others said they were brought in and distributed by trucks.

However, the Parasite Laboratory on Dundas Street, has a different explanation for the phenomenon. The observation stands today that the flies are native to Canada and appear in the greatest number after the caterpillars' numbers become widespread. This insect is known as the Sarcophaga aldrichi, and has the ability to deposit its eggs inside its own body, the resulting form of life being known as the maggot. The Sarcophaga deposits the pupa inside the caterpillar's body and the parasite, where it feeds on the caterpillar pupa and thus destroys it. The following year the Sarcophaga pupa develops into the fly which is now so plentiful in the north, and so the life cycle is repeated. When the epidemic stage has reached proportions, the parasite fly in turn also decreases in number as the balance of nature is re-established.

Leonard Welch Gave Life To Guide Brakeless Truck

PICTON — Police and officials here are paying tribute to Leonard Welch, 22, of Millbridge, who was fatally injured when he refused to jump to safety from an uncontrollable truck, which might otherwise have crashed into cars and pedestrians on Union Street here, late Friday afternoon. Welch died in hospital an hour later.

He was driving a truck loaded with bags logs down Bristah's hill, which ends in a series of grades before entering the lower part of the town. The brakes failed and the truck gained speed. He managed to avoid hitting several cars at the sides of the street and his blowing horn warned others. The truck finally crashed into large cement steps in front of William Breakenridge's machine shop. The sudden stop caused the load of logs to shift. The truck cab was sheared off and some logs punched holes in the building.

A hydro pole was sheared off before the truck hit the steps.

Truro was represented at Wednesday stated: "Welsh -deserved a medal for his action. He could have jumped to safety but stuck to the wheel and undoubtedly saved lives of others as a result, as the street is a busy one. The truck might have crashed any one of the homes close to the sidewalks."

Funeral on Sunday

The funeral took place Sunday afternoon from Griffin Funeral Home in Madoc to St. Ola cemetery, Rosseau, service was conducted by Rev. G. Wright. Interment was in St. Ola cemetery.

Millbridge L.O.L. No. 1070, attended the funeral in a body with members of the lodge acting as bearers and flower bearers.

He is survived by his parents, one sister (Welch deserved a medal for his action. Mrs. Ernest (Lillian) Wilkinson, of Cochrane, and Irene of Toronto, and one brother, Wilfred, Cochrane.

Storm Delays Ships Returning From Coronation

By DAVE McINTOSH

Canadian Press Staff Writer

ABOARD MAGNIFICENT (CP) It may have been the first day of summer in Canada, but the mercury Atlantic was acting up more like it does in March as the Canada's homeward bound Coronation squadron Sunday.

It was the third straight day of storm for the six ships beating through angry seas and slashing wind and spray toward Halifax.

The squadron is scheduled to reach Halifax Sunday, but unless the weather relents, it almost certainly will put into port a day or two late. The weather chart showed one storm following another in quick succession and the ships cut their speed to seven knots.

Sick Bay Busy

CPO. Alex Stevenson of Victoria forced a carrier pigeon on the upper deck of the destroyer Sioux two days out of Portsmouth. The bird was attached to Stevenson's sick bay one look at the weather and decided to remain aboard.

Quarters have been rigged up in Sioux's shipwright shop for the bird, which has been named "Walter Pidgeon."

Since sailors made much of the fact that the carrier pigeon ignored both this carrier and the one aboard an aircraft Sydney to land on the destroyer.

The Sydney will visit Halifax for five days before continuing home via the Panama canal.

Pirate Delayed

The frigate La Hulloise had considerable trouble Saturday when a gale broke down and she was forced to drop behind. The engine room crew managed to make repairs Saturday and Sunday night the storm-battered frigate was still trying to overtake the other ships.

Cooks have had a never-straining time trying to keep the food off galley decks. The Sioux is riding like a duck but even with a good part of her fuel gone. She must be refueled before the destroyer reaches Halifax or be taken in tow.

Protestant and Roman Catholic services were held on the Magnificent's quarter deck Sunday.

Rev. James Noonan of Toronto, Roman Catholic padre, said the service was necessary because mass because the ship was pitching so badly. However did, though some had to grab a mate occasionally to keep from sliding over on deck. Protestant padre, Rev. Horatio Todd of Halifax, conducted the service.

The thunder of water around the hull and an unusual combing spray from the waveoeaks almost drowned out the brief sermon of Rev. Horatio Todd of Halifax, Protestant padre, who was badly injured by enemy fire while serving with the navy in Korea in 1951.

But wind and waves failed to drown out the words of the hymn sung by the Magnificent's sailors: "O hear us when we cry to Thee for those in peril on the sea.".

The accident occurred on No. 2 Highway about two o'clock on Sunday morning when the McCabe auto ripped along the side of one transport, threw the driver into the ditch and then ran Hinard driver down the highway to crash into a second transport.

McCabe was picked up and taken to Belleville General Hospital where he is being held for observation although he suffered examination revealed no serious injury.

McCabe's new car was almost completely wrecked, while the wrecker of one transport was damaged to the extent of about $400, and the second transport suffered $1,000 damage. Neither transport driver was injured.

Fresh Communist Troops Massed On Korean Front

By MILO FARNETI

SEOUL (AP)—The Reds today massed some 16,000 fresh troops along the eastern front—scene of the past week of the greatest Communist offensive in two years.

The U. S. 8th army reported that Red buildup as the air force announced Allied air power suffered its heaviest losses of the war the last week, helping to stall the great Communist drive.

Two new Red divisions were reported moved into the Pukhan river line, the sector where perhaps 40,000 Communists pushed back Korean troops back a month as two miles Sunday and Monday. Fighting was light, however.

Lose 19 Planes

Nineteen planes including 12 MIG jet fighters went down behind Communist lines, the air force announced. Fourteen were lost in anti-aircraft guns and five to unexplained causes.

None was lost in dogfights, in which Sabre jets shot down 19 MIG jets.

Day and night, UN planes in record waves dumped bombs and jellied gasoline on communist troops to play a major role in stemming the greatest Red drive since 1951—a drive which dented South Korean lines up to two miles.

The worst previous Allied plane loss was 18 in the week of Feb. 5-11, 1952. Previous high Sabre toll for a week was four for the period ending April 19.

The week also saw destructive communist air raids on the base area.

Today, the Communist push had slackened to platoon and company-sized assaults, while the Reds apparently probed for weak spots in South Korean lines on the east-central front.

Revenue Minister Says Issue In Campaign Clear

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Revenue Minister Nowlan addressed a Central Ontario Liberal Association Saturday night that the issue at the Aug. 10 general election is clear.

He said the main issue is: "Are the people of this country to continue to have a government which has popular support across the nation or be saddled with a makeshift group drafted from the ranks?"

Referring to the election manifesto presented by Progressive Conservative leader John Bracken in Gulph Friday night, Dr. Mc-Cann said:

"He doesn't know what he's talking about. He said he would abolish the food tax. There is no tax on food. He said he would abolish the tax on building materials. There is only a few building materials now subject to tax." Association Lorne MacDonald of Kingston was elected president for the coming year. Ruth Gibson of Kingston was chosen secretary and P. D. Scollard of Peterborough treasurer.

As far as could be learned, she was last seen alive two or three weeks before last Christmas. She had left some laundry Dec. 23 and never collected it.

Heald said that five days later Christie sold a gold wedding ring and a woman's gold wrist watch. When the body was discovered, Mrs. Christie's wedding ring was missing.

Forged Signature

"In the interval since December, Christie had invented a whole series of untrue stories to account for his wife's absence in the neighborhood," Heald said. "Christie had even imitated her handwriting and actually forged her signature."

All this, he contended, pointed to the fact that Christie "deliberately killed his wife on the morning of Dec. 19."

He cited a letter Mrs. Christie had written to her sister Dec. 18. The date had been altered to Dec. 15, and he suggested Christie had deliberately back dated the letter and changed the date to give the impression his wife was alive.

Shortly before Christmas the sister received a letter from Christie saying Mrs. Christie could not write because of rheumatism in her fingers. He said he had examined 63; A small 67; grade B 67; C 62. Wholesale to retail: A large 69; A medium 67; A small 52; grade B 52; C 47.

Lightning Bolt Injures Two In Boat During Heavy Storm

TRENTON, (Special) — Thousands of volts from a lightning bolt passed through Don Brick, 29, and Bill Maybee, 29, during the violent electrical storm here Saturday afternoon but by a miracle both men escaped, suffering only shock and minor burns and injuries.

Dr. J. W. Farley examined the victims releasing Maybee and ordering Brick to bed until Sunday afternoon. The latter was treated for burns and a cut on the left shoulder.

The two Trenton men were taking shelter from the storm survived the full charge of a bolt of lightning although both were knocked unconscious and left helpless to sink with a leaking boat.

Don and Bill intended fishing from an open boat in the Trent river below No. 1 dam when the threatening downpour forced them to shore. Young Maybee sat in the stern with a canvas over his shoulders, while his friend crawled underneath the deck under the bow.

"Suddenly I saw a flash of lightning and the whole bottom of the boat seemed to be on fire," Maybee recalled, "I next remember waking up and seeing Don lying there motionless. I thought he was dead when I shook him and pounded his leg without response. Water was pouring around him through a hole in the bottom of the boat.

"As frightened and shaky as I was I knew I should help Don. I lifted him out of the boat and managed the canal road until I found two men. They came back with me and we put him in a car and took him to the local hospital."

Maybee escaped with a bad shaking but Brick suffered burns and a two-inch slash where the bolt broke out through his back and shattered the bottom of the boat. "I feel weak and all the bones in my body seem stiff,"

Will Close Trenton Plant Rather Than Permit Union

TRENTON—Krangle and Co. of Toronto has decided against allowing a union to organize its Trenton operators and within the next three weeks will be vacating a factory it has maintained here for the last 14 years.

Some 60 employees, mostly women, will be thrown out of work by the shutdown. The company has made arrangements to move its equipment to Toronto premises.

An annual payroll of nearly $100,000 went into the pockets of local people in the needlecraft trade, who in turn distributed it among their merchants and services.

Mayor R. E. Whitley's appeal to company officials to reconsider their decision failed to bear fruit. Mr. Arthur Krangle, speaking for the company, stated that experienced city help could not be employed for the same money the pay.

union planned for workers in the Trenton factory. He explained that the Trenton plant was considered a training and proving ground for supervising tradesmen. The older workers in the shop formed centers and talk in favor of continued non-union operation.

Commenting of the company's decision to move away Mayor Whitley said: "I am sorry (meaning the company) is going to leave."

Baby Dies After Falling From Bed in Home

Richard "Dennis" Brant, 6-weeks'-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brant, of the Mohawk Indian Reservation, near Shannonville, died Sunday after falling from bed in the parents' home. The baby had been fed and was placed on the bed and about time later fell to the floor and was fatally injured. Provincial Police in Belleville investigated and Coroner Dr. J. Russell Scott said there would be no inquest.

Brick said yesterday after he was allowed to leave his bed and start walking around again, "I must have been paralyzed by the force because I can remember hearing Bill shouting at me and not being able to move or answer him back. I wonder if I would be like that for the rest of my life. I'm beginning to realize I must be a very lucky person."

Both men were in the back of the boat two forks of lightning struck the boat, passed through the bodies of both men and spent themselves in the water after crashing through the bottom of the boat.

Sailboat Capsizes

During the afternoon Saturday a sailboat carrying four from the Trenton Air Station turned over off Crooks Island. The passengers two women and two men clung to the capsized hull for 45 minutes before three of them were rescued by Harold Bonter and his motorboat from Amelissburg. The other person was picked up by the launch towing boat from the air station.

A canoe also ran into difficulty during the rain and blow and the two people in it had a hasty trip to shore after capsizing. They were soaked on arrival at the Trenton Air Force seaplane hangar. Both craft were from the Aurquatic Club at the airport.

McCARTHY'S APPROVAL SLANDERS EISENHOWER

As recently as Friday we expressed approval of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's stand against "book-burning."

We should not return to the subject so quickly had not an important development occurred.

President Eisenhower has issued a statement clarifying his original speech at Dartmouth College on June 14. This statement has earned the doubtful honor of pleasing Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin. We just want to plead that those who dislike Senator McCarthy and his tactics should carefully avoid copying the Senator's style of thinking by immediately deciding that, if McCarthy likes Ike, they don't.

The President did not retreat one step from his original courageous stand in which he insisted that those with differing ideas "have a right to have them, a right to record them, and a right to have them in places where they are accessible to others."

What he did say, and what apparently Senator McCarthy found objectionable, was that United States Information Service libraries abroad should not contain books which propagandize for communism.

Even the most militant liberal can hardly quarrel with such a statement and the mere fact that Senator McCarthy chooses to view it with approval is no legitimate reason for others to react to it with alarm.

President Eisenhower maintains, and we applaud him for it, that these USIF libraries abroad should, in the words of Josephine Ripley in the Christian Science Monitor, "be free to select the finest, the controversy, and the conflict of ideas which are a part of the American democratic process." But, even if the President had insisted that the American taxpayers' money should be used to make available abroad books of which the majority U.S. citizens approve, even if he had decided that the only books in USIF libraries should be those passed by a Republican board of censors, he would have given no serious affront to the friends of freedom of speech and thought.

For the important point is not what type of books the United States shall distribute abroad, but what types of books the citizens of the United States shall be permitted to read in their own homes. And on that point President Eisenhower was quite clear.

Incidentally, we have noted two interesting points. One is a report that Eisenhower's Dartmouth speech was not a prepared address, but "one which welled up apparently out of the depth of the President's strong personal feeling on American liberties and freedoms and the way to protect them." The other is the suggestion that the speech was prompted by personal discussions on the subject at Dartmouth and a New York Times report that there was some talk of the "book-burning" issue between Hon. Lester Pearson, Canadian Secretary of State for External Affairs, and Joseph M. Proskauer, New York lawyer, who were on the platform with Eisenhower at the time. If anything Pearson said prompted Eisenhower to make his Dartmouth declaration of faith, Canadians have double reason to feel pride in this soul-warming call to liberty-loving peoples everywhere. It is reliably said that the Christian Science Monitor terms "bold confidence in freedom of thought."

PROOF THAT CANADIANS ARE TOLERANT

The Niagara Falls Review notes with approval a recent example of the tolerance of Canadians. At a meeting held in an Orange hall, Lt.-Col. David Croll, a Jew, was nominated as liberal candidate for Toronto Spadina by Leo McGarry, a Roman Catholic and Irish descent, and by the principal speaker was Hon. Paul Martin, a Roman Catholic, mainly of French extraction.

"They were chosen on many things but not on politics," observes the Review. Of course the Review is right. One of the most encouraging aspects of Canadian life is that, in almost every political party, we shall find men of every religious faith.

But we are disturbed lest some cynic should reply to the Review's example of the essential tolerance of Canadians towards their neighbors of different creed, race or color. Do we hear somebody growl "Politics make strange bed-fellows?"

There is a reply to that too, a reply with tragic overtones. A few weeks ago, near a small Ontario city, a carload of fishermen was returning home. The car skidded. Seven men were killed outright. One was a Roman Catholic. The other was the master of an Orange lodge.

If, in death, they provide for the rest of us an urge to copy the principle of tolerance which they followed in life, they will not have died in vain.

PLAN SCHOOL BY RADIO

Here in Belleville, and indeed throughout most of Canada, we take it for granted that our children will be given adequate opportunities to acquire an education.

All parts of the world are not so fortunate—for various reasons. It is therefore interesting to read in a press release from Unesco that Venezuelan authorities are studying a project for educational broadcasts for children who cannot attend school. Special courses in the use of radio are to be given to teachers who will participate in-this work.

Man's ingenuity has made it possible for him to solve, found him because, while he has made the tools, he does not found him because, while he has made the tools he does not yet always recognize the many uses to which they can be put.

The Horseman of The Lord

By
ERNEST MARSHALL HOWSE

In Wimbledon Free Press

Throughout the world "the people called Methodists" exist on June 17, the 250th. anniversary of the birth of John Wesley. That the Methodists themselves are "the least result of the Wesleyan revival" is the opinion of John Wesley is on the modern world.

Lord Macaulay ridiculed those writers of "books called Histories of England" who failed to see Wesley's importance. Macaulay seeing only what Southey, Lecky, Green, Trevelyan and host of others have said. In our own generation a great French historian, Elie Halevy, has pointed out that the passing of time makes Wesley's stature not smaller but larger, and that he now appears as the most significant Englishman of the 18th. Century.

The record of his labors is in itself phenomenal. His industry was half his genius." Gladstone's Midlothian campaign was regarded as the peak of his achievements, and it nearly exhausted him. But the combined record of travelling and speaking in the Grand Old Man's career did not equal the average which Wesley maintained for fifty years. For he, on the average, preached more than 800 sermons a year, travelling 5000 miles, and for the day normally beginning at 5.30 in the morning before the miners were down the pits. Following that service, Wesley took to the saddle and for the his half century campaign as "Horseman of the Lord" he rode more than a quarter of a million miles and in addition made 22 journeys to Scotland and 42 to Ireland.

His preaching was but an item in his toil. He mastered the art of publishing and found that reading was prodigious; but not more so than his writing. In the intervals of his travels he published 233 books, which included translations from Greek, Latin, Hebrew and German, editions of Shakespeare, Addison, Prior and Law, Biblical commentaries, abridgements of theological books, a grammar, a book of medicine and a dictionary. He made himself the author of more than 100 of these books, including the grammar and the dictionary. His greatest literary work was an original translation of the New Testament in contemporary language. He made 12,000 corrections, the basis of which has since been incorporated by later translators, and he anticipated the arrangement of the present Revised Standard Version.

Wesley was primarily a religious genius, and he was born in the 18th. century as St. Francis was in the 13th. century as Evangelical Christianity. Like St. Francis he began when organized religion was at its lowest ebb. Lord Bishop of his own church called him a fanatic, and the man drunk 'as a lord but not as a Methodist.' But the eighteenth century reformers Wesley was loyal to his own church, but found his opportunities in the Parish.

Indeed Wesley himself was virtually forced to leave the church, and to no charge; he was banned from the pulpits, except for that of the church where his father had been rector he was refused the churches of the towns where he was drunk at the service. He was, as he said, "thrust out into the highways and hedges to be persecuted and to be reviled by the estimates mad."

Moreover, during Wesley's ministry there was, says a high church historian, "a great slump in Bishop's charge without explicit attacks upon Wesley and the Methodists." And everywhere at times egged on the mobs by which he was so frequently assailed.

Yet at his death the number of Methodists in England approached 100,000; and they have kept on growing until now throughout the world they number more than 40,000,000.

Wesley founded that religious conversions have social consequences. He taught masses of people how to read, how to work, how to save, how to organize. Wesley discovered the penny. From pennies a week he collected thousands of pounds. With the pounds he fed and clothed the penniless; and provided them with food, medicine and tools. He set women to building among them, and started a Co-operative Society. He set up a Loan Association to save people from the hands of the pawnbrokers.

Above all Wesley organized his extraordinary system of 'Class Meetings' and made the Methodist in every five a class official. These classes were a new unit in society from which flowed all manner of influences. They taught men of thrift to read and to speak. They became the model for many forms of social organization and they provided the leaders. They were in large part the secret of Methodism's lasting to this day, between the character and course of human form in England on the Continent.

It is a commonplace among historians that what saved England from the kind of revolution that swept France, Italy and Russia, nothing else he might still have merited the judgment of August Comte as "the most selfish and such a life's work for England."

However, if you are curious about it you will find vite defined in the Ways of Health. Here subject to it means possessing some of the characteristics of youth.

The word was coined by analogy to vitamin. The vitamins are suggestions of readers who understood what it was meant by the press. Banker Likes Pessimists

(Arizona Progress, issued by Valley National Bank of Phoenix, Arizona.)

We haven't heard any optimist versus pessimist argument for some time. We miss them. They provided a little interesting human nature than all of the psychological novels perpetrated since the invention of paper.

Pessimism has become a term of opprobrium in recent years. It is regarded as a form of disloyalty not to 'keep a stiff upper lip,' to encourage spirit or the "glorious destiny" about which the optimist loves to talk. Actually, a pessimist is a realist. He expects the worst and is rarely disappointed. He is not given to impractical gambles or wishful thinking. He is not easily contented, he is the fellow responsible for most of the progress. He is the one who says, "That is a good deal as it is, let's leave it alone," and then does something about it.

We like pessimists who do most of the damage in the world. They are the ones who pound the table on our headsor our pocketbooks. In recent years, in our investments, in our business, we have learned a lot from those who operate on the theory that the goose hangs high. When politicians were plentiful they could give dying out fast. Every day large numbers of people try to beat the train to the crossing, fail to go slow when it says "Go slow" or fail to read the pulls their doctor prescribed.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

KEEP CURIOSITY ALIVE

We only grow old in the appointment of the years. They are only numbers. But if you keep curiosity alive you will constantly be living youthfully and supplementing it to your years.

There is a notion that efficiency ends in the middle years. This is all nonsense. If you choose to be efficient you can make it fit any age! Those three plots of grey matter that we call the brain can be made to create wonder. But they have to be kept stirred up and fully alive.

The more knowledge you gain the endless sources the more alert we become, and the more we desire to do whatever we do. The human mind has no limits marked upon it. It has no boundaries. It reaches out to grasp every bit of knowledge that comes its way—if the door to the mind remains open! No one ever lived who could not have had exhausted the ability to grasp something new.

It is sheer suicide to be an optimist in a world full of such hazards as flu, stop, bomb, communism, inflation, deflation, insects, viruses, bacteria, floods, motor cars, bathtubs, cigarets, taxes.

Optimists have the enthusiasm, but pessimists have the money.

Without pessimists, there would be no insurance—or banking.

We ought to keep adventure alive within us, having a curiosity for learning anything rewarded for, or that comes our way. I have an idea that the brain is capable of doing that. It has a new thrill. I know this is true in myself, I have a real horror about this curious formation that my brain is capable of. I still have that every day is a revelation.

Never should an of us cease to collect interests. Never should a new outboard motor for my boat. It is a wonderfully fine engine, intricately and skillfully constructed, but I have not yet found the time to get out and put into the water, for I have run it only a few times in the night before slumber.

I consider it a wonderful thing to do many things just for the fun they furnish. Doing things that are unnecessary always stimulates the mind and creates a greater desire to do the useful work of our days. People run faster on their low days, get there quicker. Keep curiosity alive and you will wonder at youth youth at ninety.

Brownies Helping to Beautify Diamond-Shaped Lot in Park

In the hands of 6th. RCAF Trenton Brownies, mother's old spoons, forks and knives are doubling for garden tools as the young gardeners dig and plant in an effort to beautify a diamond shaped lot at the corner of Rivers Drive and Godfrey Street in Middleton Park.

The area could be called "Coronation Corner" because the work being done by the Brownies is a tribute to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II on the occasion of her Coronation. The local project is typical of many Coronation tributes which Girl Guides and Brownies in Commonwealth countries are doing for the Queen. The activities are recorded on special cards and several select ones are sent from each country to the Imperial Girl Guide headquarters in London, England, where a few of them are chosen to be forwarded to Her Majesty.

The Middleton Park Brownie pack is helping to improve the appearance of their community. Where the grassy plot slopes down to a point at the corner of the two streets, a cluster of white half barrels have been placed to form a large letter E. Standing on the corner, one can read the words—Elizabeth Brownies — one letter on each barrel. The corner will have a patriotic air when the flowers blossom for in the centre of the white barrel are planted red and geraniums surrounded by blue lobelias.

"Elves" and "Little People", under their sirens Betsy-Ann Blair and Frances Bell, have been busy loosening the earth to give their plants plenty of air in a flower bed the shape of a half-moon. Bronze marigolds, pink, white and blue asters, calendula in a brilliant orange shade, and zinnias are thriving under their care and when they bloom will add gay colours to the corner.

Works on Flower Beds

Merle Knoblauch, sixer of the "imps" and Lorraine Dick, sixer of the "Fairies" have their sixes working on a flower bed in the shape of the Trefoil, the National Emblem of the Girl Guide Association. The border of the bed has been carefully dug in the shape of the emblem and its three well-rounded leaves are clearly visible. The outline will be more clearly visible when a border of white allyssm blooms. Within the border, the pools of pink, white and blue petunias have taken a firm hold in the ground and here and there a blossom is beginning to show.

The "Gnomes", under sixer Carol Vail, the "Sprites", under sixer Karen Richesteen, and the "Pixies," under sixer Manon Guinard have been busy working on flower beds shaped like the sapling planted recently by the service. Like the other sixes, this group has kept its beds free of weeds, watered and loosened the soil.

When the "Coronation Corner" is in full bloom, the 6th. Trenton Brownies will invite their mothers to a garden party to see the results of their gardening.

As a result of their work, the Brownies are entitled to wear a special Coronation symbol — an oblong crest with crown and tre- foil and the year 1953— on the right breast pocket of their uniform.

A new member of the 6th. Trenton Brownies, Ethel Galbraith, started work on her second Coronation tribute. As a member of the 6th. Moncton Brownies, she earned the right to wear the Coronation symbol for her participation in a Moncton project to grow...plants for hospital patients.

The forty 6th. Trenton Brownies have been working on their flower beds under the direction of Brown Owl Mrs. F. J. Hall and Tawny Olls Mrs. R. G. Stewart and Mrs. Vern Rutherford. The half barrels were made by Sgt. J. N. Guinard and the blue paint was donated by Kerr's Flower Shop. The remainder of the flowers were purchased with money from Brownie funds.

Farley Faulkner And His Group To Support Drew

TORONTO (CP)—Farley Faulkner announced Sunday that his Vigilance for Freedom movement will support the Progressive Conservative party in the Aug. 10 federal election campaign.

Mr. Faulkner, organizer of the movement and sponsor of an anti-Communist rally at Massey Hall last March 12, said in a statement he entered domestic politics reluctantly but did so because he interpreted recent speeches by External Affairs Minister Pearson as meaning Mr. Pearson favors admitting Communist China to the United Nations.

Mr. Faulkner said he and the leaders of seven ethnic groups supporting his movement "believe that a vote for George Drew is a vote against communism."

U.S. A-Bombs More Destructive Than Ones Used in Last War

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the Second World War Japan was hit by United States Air Force raids ranging up to 500 planes in strength. But single planes dropping single atomic bombs lurked the enemy into final surrender.

Today the United States has stockpiled atomic bombs far more destructive than the bombs that exploded over Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

President Eisenhower said recently security cannot be pegged to any given number of planes. As an example he noted that three aircraft with "modern weapons," the atomic bomb, "can practically duplicate the destructive power of all the 2,700 planes we used in the great breakout from the Normandy beachhead."

This being true, why shouldn't the United States Air Force trim down the size of its planned force in relations to the increased destructive power of the atom bomb, rather than insist on an immediate decision to build up to 43 wings?

There is strong evidence the Eisenhower administration had this same question in mind in calling for a review of United States Air Force needs.

Even the air force argues the number of planes needed cannot be related to the power of the atomic bomb in this fashion. In open revolt, the air force is urging congress to stick to its 143-wing goal rather than wait for the almost been halved.

Eisenhower administration to review the entire defence field.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, United States Air Force chief of staff, told senators: "Any relationship between the amount of payload that you can carry on a bomber today does not give you anything at all in relation to the number of planes you need."

Then he went on to argue that, roughly, the air force must use the same number of planes to get atom bombs on a target as it needs to deliver the old-type bombs on a target. He explained this is so because the bomber formations have interlocking fire to protect each other and ensure delivery of the bombs.

However, there are some who are skeptical of the Vandenberg argument. And part of this skepticism can be traced to past air force estimates of needs in manpower and planes.

The air force first advocated a goal of 155 wings in August, 951, and estimated it would have to have 22,700 planes to equip them. Two months later, it figured the number of planes to equip 143 wings would total 22,700. Thus while dropping 12 wings in the planning, only 30 planes were eliminated.

Also, at one time the air force estimated it would need 1,500,000 men, but before the cutting was done the manpower figure had

Glen Roy Jrs., Diesels Battle To 5-All Tie

BY GARRY ALEXANDER

The Glen Roy Juniors are still undefeated, but they were forced to settle for a tie with the CNR Diesels on Saturday evening. Vern Goyer got in his drive behind Barclay with two out and the bases empty in the fifth inning to knot the score at 5-all. The score stayed that way until the end of ten innings.

Glen Roy took the lead in the first frame on "Turk" Barclay's single, a walk to Carr and successive singles by Gerry Goyer and John Batchelor. Pete Green grounded out and Dave Jones struck out but was out when he tried to stretch it into a double.

The Diesels got one back that inning on singles by Doug Sword and Glen Young and an overthrow on the latter's hit. The Juniors got one run in the second on three singles, but the trainmen struck back fast for three runs on a walk, three singles and a fielder's choice. The score remained 5 to 4 for the Glen's until Goyer's blast.

Barclay made two fine catches of Texas leaguers, both times he ended up on the grass but hung onto the ball. Vern Goyer also picked one off the ground in the fourth on a low liner by Barclay. An argument developed in the fourth frame when Carr tagged Al Adams going to third. Al Adams toiled on the hill for the Trainmen and gave up five runs and 11 hits, while walking four and striking out the same number. All the Glen's hits were singles. Doug Radner hurled for the juniors and was touched for two runs of 11 hits, including a homer and two doubles. He walked four and struck out two in the full ten innings.

Jackie Warchaugh and Glen Young were best at the plate, with three hits apiece. Two of Young's hits were doubles. Gerry Goyer, Pete Green, Doug Radner and Doug Sword each had two hits, while big Vern Goyer's homer proved to be the important blow.

The line-ups:

Diesels — J. Wardhaugh 3b; Rowbotham 1b; Sword ss; Young c; V. Goyer cf; Whitley 2b; L. Goyer lf; Hunter rf; Al. Adams p.

Score	R	H	E
Glen Roy 410 000 000 0—5	11	2
Diesels. 130 010 000 0—5	11	1

SCOTIADOC SUNK

Both ships were reported equipped with radar. Officers of each are said to have known another ship was in the vicinity.

Mrs. Fred MacMurray Dies in California

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Lillian MacMurray, the wife of actor Fred MacMurray, died today, two days after their 17th wedding anniversary. She had been ill several years.

Mrs. MacMurray, 45, the former Lillian la Monte and at one time a model in New York, entered hospital recently suffering from a kidney infection and heart ailment.

The actor was at her bedside when she died.

They have two adopted children, Susan, 13, and Robert, 9.?

Out of the fog off Trowbridge Island near Thunder Cape, popular Larry known as the Sleeping Giant, the cargoless Burlington loomed, headed at the side of the Scotiadoc, which carried 253,000 bushels of wheat destined for eastern points.

Lookout man Leonard Letebvre, 17, of Perkinsfield, lookout man on the Burlington, said: "It was so foggy I couldn't even see the stack of our ship." He shouted a warning and grabbed a life jacket.

Third Mate J. Patterson, 25, also of Perkinsfield, on duty in the Burlington's engine room, said the engines were going full astern at the time of the impact.

Survivors, many still wearing life jackets, said on their arrival at Lakehead the vessels crashed a few minutes after 6 p. m. Saturday.

COMMANDER

"Hypothetically, the answer is yes. It could be obtained. Whether it is violated or not is another thing."

Still Commander

"Of course," Clark said, there was no doubt in his mind that he was still commander of South Korean forces.

He said he understood there was an order issued to passes to the South Korean provost marshal authority over "some security matters in the rear."

However, he added, there was no question but that General Korea Army is "under my command."

Asked whether he thinks the RoK troops are loyal, Clark replied, emphatically: "Yes."

Clark said he and Rhee agreed no individual should be allowed to make moves between RoK and Allied troops that would "bring them into violent conflict."

On the surface, it would appear that Clark got from Rhee a further commitment not to withdraw RoK troops from the UN command without prior consultation, or to make any move that would stir up more clashes between Allied troops and South Korean troops.

Could Not Pin Down

Newspaper reporters sought to pin down Clark on why he was more encouraged after his talk with Rhee the general said he could not reveal that.

Clark said he would stay in Korea until Tuesday at least.

The general said he did not object to Rhee's new American policy and that President Rhee would later go to Washington to negotiate a mutual security pact with South Korea after a truce had been withdrawn.

Asked about UN command efforts to recapture anti-Communist North Korean prisoners released by the RoKs from their prison camps, Clark answered that his command was taking "such measures as practicable" to recover them.

Clark said he had no comment concerning the estimated 9,000 North Korean anti-Reds still in the prison camps, and that "That did not ask that they be released.

Some 27,000 other anti-Reds were freed on Rhee's orders or escaped since Thursday.

He said the "truce timetable is more or less up to the Communists" and the document could be completed promptly if the Reds desire it.

DAMAGE

As reports flew that the Russians were about to throw out the satellite East German government of Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl, the party declaration attested to the still-continuing strikes with appeals to the 18,000,000 captive East Germans to go back to work.

The statement made clear the magnitude of the workers' rebellion—the most gigantic rebuff from a captive civilian population in the history of Moscow-directed communism.

The party promised something like a general amnesty to all strikers who would return to work. It ordered officials to differentiate between "honorable workers" and "Western agents who lilked them, into this grave error." But it also grimly warned "rens of thousands" of party men that they should have broken the strike and this had become suspect of playing more than passive roles.

The shaky regime continued to spread thick its promises to the workers.

Enormous Damage

Though 30 divisions of Russian soldiers still ringed and held the east zone, reports filtered through of hundreds of dead and enormous property damage. Such vast plants as the former I. G. Farben synthetic gasoline refinery at Halle, the Buna artificial rubber plant in the same area and a fuel briquette factory at Hachlerstedt were reported burned.

Economic experts in West Berlin said obviously plants that had been working exclusively on exports for the Soviet Union had been knocked out by the duress and that the flow of finished German goods to Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia had been cut off or seriously diminished.

Weddings

BROAD — HOLMES

Queensboro United Church, Queensboro, was the scene of a pretty early summer wedding on Saturday, June 20, at 2.30 p.m. when the Rev. J. F. Hall was assisted by Mr. Lewis, united in marriage, Mary Elizabeth Holmes, of Queensboro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Holmes to Ken. neth Newell Broad, of Madoc, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Broad. Pink and white daisies, snapdragon blossoms, roses and ferns adorned the chancel of the church, forming a lovely background for the ceremony.

Mrs. Fred Bailey, organist, provided the traditional wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Floyd Ray, who sang before the ceremony began, and during the signing of the register, "O Sweet Mystery."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of white net over taffeta with inserts of imported French lace, fashioned with strapless, molded bodice, a and long, tight-fitting sleeved jacket of matching French lace, and bouffant, floor-length skirt. Her fingertip, patterned veil held her net headdress, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of Esther Reed daisies, stephanotis and white feathered carnations.

Miss Beth Kitchen, of Toronto, cousin of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and Miss Barbara Sager, of Belleville, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. Both were gowned alike in green net over taffeta with fitted bodices having short sleeves and long matching gloves. They wore matching headdresses and carried Colonial nosegays of Goldilocks Sweetheart roses, mauve sweetpeas and yellow daisy 'mums.

Little Miss Sharon Cassidy, of Queensboro, also cousin of the bride, was flower girl, demure in her floor-length frock of yellow net over taffeta, with yellow bonnet, and carrying a miniature nosegay of Goldilocks Sweetheart roses and mauve sweetpeas.

Mrs. Leo Bradley, sister of the bride, was matron of honor in blue taffeta with net overskirt, basiery jacket and matching hat. She carried a nosegay of peach gladioli florets, carnations and purple iris.

Miss Marilyn Wood was bridesmaid in daffodil yellow crepe over taffeta with waltz length bouffant skirt, and wearing a matching hat. She carried a nosegay of red sweetpeas and yellow carnations.

Women's Missionary Society Holds Presbyterial at Picton

By MARGARET P. M. HENRY

The Kingston Presbyterian W.M.S. summer rally met in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Picton, on June 19, with a large attendance.

There was an executive meeting at 11 a.m., with the president, Mrs. C. A. Smart, Kingston, presiding.

After a discussion it was decided to have the executive meeting on November 16, in Belleville, and the annual meeting in Kingston, in January, the date to be announced later.

There was a discussion led by Miss Bessie Fleming, West Huntingdon, the children's department secretary, as to the awarding of the Mission Band banner, and it was decided that it should go to West Huntingdon for the coming year.

New Fraked

A new project, a Presbyterian training course, is to begin in the fall with 3 centres, 15 members, and the press secretary to be one of the committee; as a presbyterial the promotion work must be done through meetings, as well as through the press and radio; Miss Mary Whale, editor "Glad Tidings" will send press releases from time to time. Between the Presbyterial and the Presbytery this committee must work. Miss Ruby Walker, regional secretary of the W.M.S., is back of the board of Christian Education, who is to be a member of the training team of four members to work with the committee of 15, was present at the meeting and gave some valuable advice.

The centre chosen for the training course were—Kingston to have two meetings; Belleville to have two meetings; Stirling to have one meeting.

Thus the Kingston Presbyterial is to have this team from November 15, Kingston, 22, with five meetings in the Presbytery.

Two letters were read by Mrs. Smart, one from Mrs. Grace May, Picton, president of W.M.S. the other from Mrs. Wm. Shaw, Sr., of West Huntingdon, expressing regret of absence through illness.

Mrs. C. A. Smart opened the afternoon session and introduced the theme of the rally "Hold high the torch you did not light lest you glow, 'twas given by other hands before you."

"We have come from all parts of the Presbytery at the kind invitation of our Picton W.M.S. friends to have a happy day together. Have you ever taken time out to think what it would be like to live without faith or to think what we could substitute for our faith—no hope, no sense to life at all?

What Faith Can Do

"With faith we can help our missionaries by prayer; we can send needed literature to many places; through our money we can send new deaconesses and missionaries to needy places as well as help in our own community. "Mary emptied her box of spikenard to anoint the feet of our Lord."

Day devotions were taken by Mrs. R. Craig, of Belleville

Mrs. M. Gilmour brought greetings to the Presbyterial from the Picton ladies in the absence of their president, Mrs. Grace May, through illness.

Mrs. H. Rollins, Stirling, reported on the work of the roll call and the treasurer, Miss M. Nesbitt, gave a splendid report.

Mrs. A. Smart introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. A. S. Curr, president of West Hants Presbyterial, who told of the country of India, which has only two per cent of its vast population as Christians; and only one per cent of the 2,500 literate, which leaves 99 per cent outside the fold.

India, full of superstition, needs the preaching and healing influence of missionaries, but so many more of them are needed. The centres chosen for the training course were—Kingston to have two meetings; Belleville to have two meetings; Stirling to have one meeting.

Thus the Kingston Presbyterial is to have this team from November 15, Kingston, 22, with five meetings in the Presbytery.

GOOD MANNERS

Wants to give a party . . .but not shower

By Mrs. BEECKMAN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
My sister-in-law is to be married in June. I would like to give some kind of party in her honor—I am definitely not planning a shower —but as she and most of her friends are unable to attend a luncheon or an afternoon gathering, I am perplexed as to what would be proper. Would it be proper to have a evening party, or what would your suggestions be? What menu?—R.S.

How would you like to consider giving a Sunday morning 'brunch' . . . a leisurely late-breakfast or early-luncheon, the guests to arrive after church, or whatever hour you know is most convenient. This is very often the plan today in the circumstances you mention . . . and it can be a very gay and delightful occasion.

It may be an all-girl party, or girls and men. And the menu may be, usually is, a substantial breakfast-menu, or a luncheon menu, or a combination. Or, if more convenient for all concerned, it is entirely proper to give your party in the evening, perhaps a buffet supper party on either Saturday or Sunday evening.

Hints to best man about wedding toast

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
I am to be best man at the wedding of a friend whom I knew very well when we were both stationed in Australia. I have been stationed in this country only a few weeks, and am not very conversant with wedding etiquette here. I have been instructed in my duties with regard to the ceremony, but my problem is what should I, the best man, say when I propose the toast to the bride and bridegroom? Will you guide me, please?—Kenneth B.

Don't be a bit anxious . . . a few words said in your courtly manner will be just right. When the champagne . . . (or whatever-beverage) is served for the toasts, you rise, lift your glass, and when all—except of course, the bride and groom—have risen, you propose the toast "To the Bride and Bridegroom." Or: "A standing toast to ——— and ——— , to today's lovely bride and to her bridegroom. May they walk always with happiness! Or: "I propose that we drink to the Bride and Bridegroom . . . to their happiness and to their future welfare."

Belated Answers To Diabetics in Particular

By Mary Moore

My patient friends—the sufferers from diabetes—are watching for a recipe for sugarless strawberry jam.

Last week the busy jam maker's hat had linings. Now its the diabetics' turn. To you who are grateful for this kind of gift I want to assure you you are welcome. In fact, when I make this jam I chuckle for on my reducing diet I can have some of it, and I give it away to my reducing friends for good measure, so it serves a triple purpose.

Sugarless Strawberry Jam

Five well-packed cups strawberries, which are perfectly fresh and ripe, 4 tablespoons glycerin, 1 teaspoon certo crystals, 12 saccaryl tablets. Wash strawberries in sieve under running water. Hull them, place on paper towel to dry. Cut in quarters and measure 5 cups pressed down a little. Mash these with potato masher and boil gently 15 minutes. Add remaining ingredients and stir with sterile spoon over medium heat for 5 minutes. Pour into sterile jars and seal at once. Sugarless products depend on sterility to preserve them, so take no chances, by using utensils or spoons that have not been boiled in boiling water at least 20 minutes.

If in doubt store sugarless products in refrigerator.

Sugarless Strawberry and Rhubarb Jam

Two and one-half cups each quartered choice berries (see above for hulling) and one-half young tender red rhubarb cut in 1-2-inch pieces. Mash berries in kettle and add cut rhubarb and cook over low heat until rhubarb softens. Mash it with potato masher and let cook gently 10 minutes longer. Add (4 saccaryl tablets, 4 tablespoons glycerin and simmer, stirring for five minutes longer. Pour into sterile jars and seal with sterile rings and tops.

Chocolate Cups

(Contributed by Mrs. R. B.)
I am ashamed to say that I have forgotten the name of the girl who wanted the recipe for Chocolate Cups. I gave her one version and asked for ideas from readers and Mrs. R. B. has been kind enough to send this.

Barely warm semi-sweet chocolate over (not touching) bot water. Have enough to cover when melted. Spread chocolate inside pleated muffin-cups—(fats only (chocolate runs into bcse). Set upright. Refrigerate. Gently peel off paper by pulling very, very gently on the pleats. Heap with ice cream, top with cherry. Be sure to use full ounce of chocolate per cup.

Mrs. R.B. goes on to ask "Do you have a recipe for "Beef a la Mode" . . . It is many of cubed beef and salt pork. . "

Beef a la mode

The orthodox recipe calls for a 5-lb. piece of beef from the rump —larded with strips of salt pork. The butcher would have to do this for you unless you have a larding needle. (A fancy method is to add stuffed olives to the larded beef. Cut slits with sharp knife and push olives in. Use 15 olives to a 4-lb piece.) Simmer larded beef in a mix to half cover of boiling water and tomato juice or tomato pulp. Add 1-2 cup minced green pepper, 2 teaspoons salt, dash of pepper. Meat should first be sprinkled with 2 tablespoons flour and browned inch cup fat. Slits of garlic are inserted in the slits in the meat by some Europeans cooks and I like this version.

Mrs. R. B. you say "cubed beef". If you, want to cut the meat in 2-inch cubes, you could do the larding yourself by forcing the ice pick right through centre and pushing a 1-4-inch square strip of salt pork into this hole, before proceeding with the browning and braising. This method of browning, then simmering in small amount of water, is called braising.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMESON

POSTURE MUST BE BASED ON A GOOD FOOTING

Slumping—sending the shoulders forward and letting the chest fall in—will not do anything for your good looks, nor can you ever expect to put up the appearance of a lady of fashion. If the feminine framework is distorted, it will interfere with body mechanics and have a deplorable effect upon the general health, because often the internal organs will not function efficiently.

If there are teen-age readers with us, we hope that they will give heed to these words. If they are indulging in what is known as the debutante's slouch, they are suffering from what physicians call lumbar curve and abdominal protrusion. It will certainly keep them from cutting a pretty figure, and that is what all the sweet things want most of anything, except perhaps a pretty face.

Faults in walking and standing can often be traced to foot troubles. Recent surveys of school children show that the list of feet faults is increase in the upper grades, and along with them comes postural defects. The reason for that is not difficult to figure out. As girls get older they become style conscious. At thirteen and fourteen nowadays, girls are wearing fashion and of course must wear high heeled shoes. Spikes from the heels are worn at an angle since we can't walk around like the ballerina on Pier 6. The body compensates for the thrust of the heels by leaning back to offset the forward backward. That is particularly bad during growing years.

The sloppy shoes that some girls wear are just as harmful, as they give no support of any kind. Foot specialists frown upon an overindulgence in "flats." The average girl does not engage in the vigorous athletic existence that might develop the muscles necessary to enable her to wear such shoes at all times. Flats do not offer sufficient support to help the body to withstand the stresses and strains imposed upon it in these days of hard pavements.

Young women spend plenty of money for shoes, but their attention is too often directed to smart lines and pleasing colors instead of fit and comfort. It is said the average career girl has three pairs of shoes. That is not being overdramatic because she can have frequent changes that will give her feet a rest. All shoes should have flexible leather soles and uppers because these give freedom of movement.

FREE METHODIST W.M.S.

MARMORA — The June meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Marmora Free Methodist Church was recently held there. The subject of the program was "Stewardship." John Goodrich gave a talk on "The Stewardship of Praise."

A trio by three juniors, Beverly, Diane and Bryan Bonter, came next. Mrs. Russell Wells read a paper on "Stewardship and Evangelism" and Mrs. Orville Trumble read a poem, "Such as I Have". Another trio was sung by three junior girls.

Rev. G. H. Bonter, pastor, gave some interesting news flashes from various mission fields.

Mrs. Stewart Hardy followed with a chapter from the study book on Japan. The meeting closed with the benediction.

An important point in making this important toast is for you to bow a bit to the bride as you say "to the bride", and to the bridegroom as you say "to the bridegroom."

Free to organist, soloists

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
I am having a duet at my church wedding. What should I give the organist and the singers?
A.

If they are professionals, their fees should be on a professional basis. Consult with the organist and ask what these fees are, or with the minister, if they are not professionals, and have offered their services as friends, the usual procedure is to give them presents of an appropriate kind.

How to eat a tangerine

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
When you take a tangerine from the fruit bowl passed at table, what is the correct way to eat the tangerine?—C. L.

Strip off skin of the tangerine. . . divide it into the segments. . . and eat each segment in the fingers, preferably without cutting or breaking it.

Peace Will Bring Search for New Markets—Coldwell

MELFORT, Sask. (CP) — CCF leader M. J. Coldwell said Friday might peace in Korea will bring a new search for world markets and a period of unemployment.

Addressing an overflow crowd estimated at more than 300 in this northeastern Saskatchewan town, Mr. Coldwell ran the gamut of Canadian politics and stretched his two-hour address into the field of international affairs.

The CCF leader briefly mentioned the controversial Currie report, his first reference to the inquiry since starting his election campaign.

"We must make friends with the people who are in revolt," he said. "If democratic countries had had the sense, they would be leading those countries and not the communists."

The western world had to make peace with 400,000,000 Chinese and recognize their government. After an armistice in Korea, the governments of Southeast Asia could straighten out their own problems.

Mr. Coldwell said the Korean conflict could have been stopped and peace declared when United Nations forces pushed back communist forces in 1950. Negotiations should have been taken from the hands of the military and given to civilians.

"We will not overcome the threat of communism, fascism or nazism by force of arms. We must establish poverty and want."

Wants New Markets

Mr. Coldwell repeated demands that lost markets in the United Kingdom be renewed. Agricultural sales to the U.K. had dropped 30 per cent from 1949 to 1952. The federal government had done everything possible to increase trade with the United States—an unreliable market—and done nothing to reopen blocked trade channels with Britain.

Mr. Coldwell advocated a system of forward pricing—setting minimum prices in advance—and called for federal aid to education and a national health plan.

In his brief reference to the Currie report, Mr. Coldwell said there was evidence of waste and extravagance in the defence department but they were not the only issues in the election as the Progressive Conservatives made out.

Duke's Ranch In Commercial Cattle Business

PEKISKO, Alta. (CP)—The Duke of Windsor's EP ranch in the Alberta foothills, 65 miles southwest of Calgary, has gone back to commercial cattle raising.

For 21 years after the then Prince of Wales bought the 4,000-acre ranch in 1919, it was a purebred stock farm, specializing in Shorthorn cattle, Shropshire and Hampshire sheep, Clydesdale horses and thoroughbred running horses.

After the Duke visited the EP ranch in 1859 with the Duchess of Windsor, the property reverted to commercial cattle-raising, its functions before the Prince bought it from Frank Beddingfield.

For years the ranch was managed by Prof. W. L. Carlyle. After his resignation it was in charge of Pat Burns agencies and later Canadian Pacific Railway's land department.

When the Prince of Wales visited Canada in 1919, he asked to see something of every type of industry. It fell to Prof. Carlyle, manager of the adjoining Bar U ranch, to play host as the Bar U was considered a worthy example of large-scale, well-organized ranching.

A Beautiful Scene

During a long walk, there was much talk of stock raising and ranch methods. It was Sept. 12 and a perfect fall day. The Prince and professor topped a high hill which commanded a wonderful view of the present royal ranch.

"Well," said the Prince, "I have always considered Balmoral the prettiest spot on earth but I never hope to see anything better than this."

Further conversation led to the Prince's decision to buy the farm. Prof. Carlyle resigned from the Bar U to manage the EP.

The first few importations were Scotch Shorthorns from the royal farm in Cornwall. Mr. Carlyle started sheep breeding with a Shropshire foundation. These animals from the Duke of Westminster's farms did well and prove well adapted to the foothills and Hampshires were substituted. About 50 per cent of the Hampshire flocks in Alberta have been developed from EP stock.

The ranch proved a mecca for tourists. A large picnic area was built.

In the spring of 1958 the Duke and Duchess of Windsor visited the property and it was decided to embark on a commercial cattle venture rather than stock it again with purebred livestock.

The ranch now is partly stocked with cattle of Hereford breeding. Some purebred sheep and swine are also being raised.

WELLINGTON
W. I. Entertains Sister Institutes

Wellington — The town hall, Wellington, was gay with beautiful bouquets of flowers when the Women's Institute entertained the members of Bloomfield and Mountain View W. I. members. The girls of the "Jumping Jills" club, of the junior W. I.

About 85 were present. The president, Mrs. A. Walkey, opened the meeting. Two minutes' silence was observed for a late member, Mrs. Etta Humphreys.

Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Sprague, president of Bloomfield and Mountain View, were called to take positions along with the Wellington president and a hearty welcome was extended to the visitors.

Bills were presented. It was decided that Leslie McDonald be paid $3 for moving tables and chairs for the school banquet and that $5 be given to the Salvation Army. A letter received by Mrs. Walker that the W.I. attend a W.I. rally in Hillier on the afternoon of June 23 was read. After a letter, written by Mrs. Jackson, of Bloomfield, was read, concerning the box for Toronto on "Canada Day," August 25th. A discussion followed. It was decided to let Mrs. Jackson know as soon as possible how many are going in the bus.

A hat thanks was read from Miss Jean Faulkner for helping with the child clinics and also cards of thanks from Ida McPaul, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Bird, Miss Pettingill and Mrs. Goodmurphy for cards received by them. It was also decided that the W.I. present the Scouts and Cubs with half of the proceeds netted at the Scout and Cub banquet. The hospital project was brought up, but it will be discussed later.

Flea Preeration

A splendid program was put on by Mrs. Dick and Mrs. Yandt, hostesses for the evening, and included the Institute rally song, sung by all. Mrs. Preston read the poem of the month, "Baseball," most appropriate at this time of the season.

Current events by Mrs. Jackson; a lovely duet, "On Moonlight Bay," was sung by Mrs. Jim Gough and Mrs. John Mallory, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Cleave. Bloomfield W.I.

Mrs. Lyle Branscombe gave a little talk on the garden tour the Bloomfield W.I. has planned and invited the Wellington ladies to come along with them. Mrs. G. Stoneburg kindly offered her car for anyone wishing to go.

A fine reading was given by Mrs. Pyper of Bloomfield, "Training a Housewife," which was amusing and enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Gerald Kemp, leader of the Junior Homemaking club, "The Jumping Jills," gave a vivid picture of the girls' club activities. Their meetings consist of discussions and demonstrations of home-making, gardening, entertaining and various other things pertaining to the home and gardens.

"How to Push" Skit

A skit was put on by two of the girls, "Packing a Suitcase" Miss Barbara McDonald, a non-member of a club, was trying to pack a suitcase by tossing in everything every which way at all. She at last had to call for help from a member of the girls' club, Miss Barbara Dick, who knew just exactly what to do with everything and had the suit case packed in no time. She had learned at one of the club's meetings.

A demonstration of a table set for two by Carley Cleave and a description of the garden club by Joyce Dick, gave an idea of what the girls learn at their meetings.

Mrs. Kemp was thanked for her splendid work and was given a cheque by the W.I. to help with her work with the girls.

Next came a piano solo by Miss Barber, of Mountain View, and a reading "The British Monarchy," by Mrs. Sprague of Mountain View, which brought an excellent program to an end.

Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Sprague thanked the Wellington W.I. for such a splendid evening and so half of Bloomfield and Mountain View Institutes.

Refreshments and a social half hour were enjoyed.

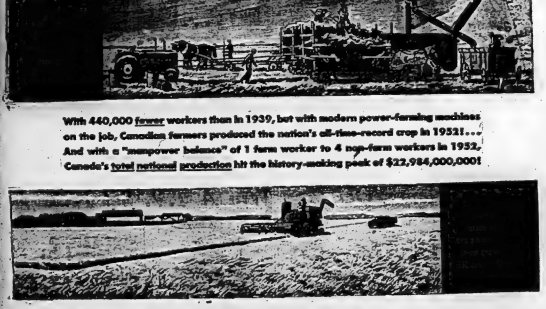
St. Andrew's Guild Tea

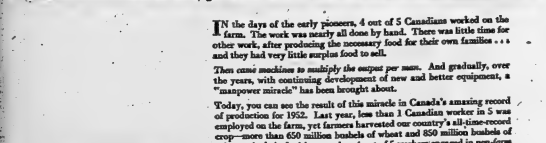
The ladies of St. Andrew's Guild held an afternoon tea and food sale on Wednesday afternoon. Beautiful flowers decorated the town hall. Mrs. Dayton Murphy and Mrs. Mildred Way poured tea. Mrs. Joe Lavender, Mrs. E. Bailey, Mrs. Tripp, Mrs. Colin Lane waited on the tables while Mrs. Chas. Carter and Miss Nash had charge of the domestic table where lots of good things were sold.

RACCOONS ARRIVE FIRST

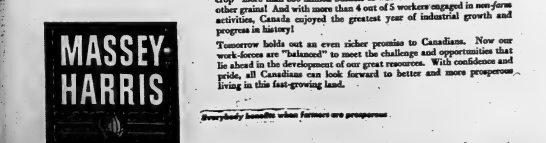
ST. THOMAS (CP)—First to arrive at Sunday school at the 130-year-old St. Thomas Anglican Church Sunday were three raccoons. Children and teachers found a mother raccoon and three or four lively young ones making use of a roof off the choir loft. The raccoons were not disturbed.

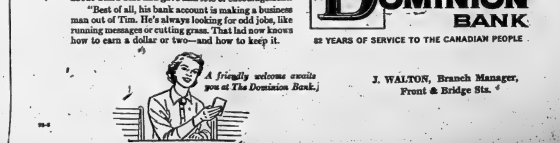


PICKETER FINED

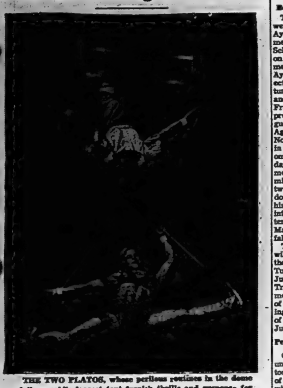


PRESTON (CP)—William Dankavitch, field representative for the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), was fined $10 and costs Thursday for watching and besetting during a strike June 11 at Savage Shoe Limited. Police testified that a company truck was prevented from entering the company's premises by a picket line. They said Dankavitch was in the front row of picketers.





IN the days of the early pioneers, 4 out of 5 Canadians worked on the farm. The work was nearly all done by hand. There was little time for other work, after producing the necessary food for their own families . . . and they had very little surplus food to sell.



Then came machines to multiply the output per man. And gradually, over the years, with continuing development of new and better equipment, a "manpower miracle" has been brought about.

Today, you can see the result of this miracle in Canada's amazing record of production for 1952. Last year, less than 1 Canadian worker in 4 was employed on the farm. Farmers harvested our country's all-time-record crop—more than 650 million bushels of wheat and 850 million bushels of other grains! And with more than 4 out of 5 workers engaged in non-farm activities, Canada enjoyed the greatest year of industrial growth and progress in history.

Tomorrow holds out an even richer promise to Canadians. Now our work-forces are "balanced" to meet the challenge and opportunities that lie ahead in the development of our great resources. With confidence and pride, all Canadians can look forward to better and more prosperous living in this fast-growing land.

Circus Roll of Drums Overture to Danger

THE TWO PLATOS, whose perilous routines in the dome of the world's largest tent furnish thrills and suspense for Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey spectators this season.

The roll of drum is the age-old circus overture to danger. Only those acts which are truly hazardous receive the vibrant volley which sets the heart to thumping and the throat to coping.

This year, the Greatest Show on Earth has a virtual cascade of "roll-o-drums" routines, among them the internationally renowned act of the Two Platos, an inbreeding family people brought to America to do their reckless, netless, perilous pirouettes in the big top dome of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, coming to Belleville, Wednesday, July 1st.

In the Big Show's 1953 congress of daredevils, pretty Lilli Plato and scores of other nerve-shattering beauties vie with the men and perform in the same terrific tempo as the male members of the various troupes.

With hundreds upon hundreds of world-renowned circus stars in a host of new and sensational-European attractions, the huge amusement organization will present the most magnificent super-spectacle in circus history.

This fabulous new musical extravaganza tops the sterling achievements of former years.

Costumed and accoutred at a cost of over $300,000 and employing nearly 2,000 people and animals, it was produced by John Ringling North, staged by Richard Barstow and designed by Myles White.

Performers in the world's largest tent, comfortably air-ventilated, will begin at 2.15 and 8.15 p.m., with doors opening at 1 and 7 for the public inspection of the mammoth menagerie, featuring the famous young gorillas, Gargantua the Second and Millie-Toto.

MAY SECEDE FROM COUNTY

ORILLIA (CP) — Town council Thursday unanimously decided to ask ratepayers at the December municipal elections for a mandate to secede from Simcoe county. If that fails, council will ask support to seek city status for Orillia. The proposal was made by reeve Hugh Johnston and deputy reeve John MacIsaac in retaliation against Simcoe county council's refusal to lower Orillia's $20,000 share of county road costs.

News of Interest to Hastings County Junior Farmers and 4-H Clubs by J. Allen Francis

Belleville 4-H Calf Club Meeting

The Belleville 4-H Calf Club were guests of the Central Ontario Ayrshire Breeders at a Twilight meeting held at the Ontario School for the Deaf, at Belleville, on Wednesday, June 17th. At the meeting, there were two classes of Ayrshires shown under the direction of W. N. T. Ashton, Agricultural Representative for Lennox and Addington Counties and J. A. Francis, Assistant Agricultural Representative for Hastings. The guest speaker, Mr. R. C. Banbury, Agricultural Representative for Northumberland County, outlined in his address some of the economic problems which farmers today have to contend with. He mentioned that we are now in the middle of a transitional period between an export market and a domestic market. In concluding his talk, Mr. Banbury gave some interesting information on the International and World Ploughing Match, to be held at Cobourg this fall.

Peterborough Club Final Tests

One of the largest projects yet undertaken by a 4-H Forestry Club took place in the adjoining county of Peterborough on May 4th, when members of the Lakefield 4-H Forestry Club planted 15,000 red pine seedlings. The property is owned by the Canadian General Electric Company, and has been in sod for many years. A similar number of trees will be planted each year until the objective of 150,000 is reached.

The planting took place under the direction of the Agricultural Representative for Peterborough, F. C. Patterson, and his assistant, Kenneth Best, in close co-operation with the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. Local farmers and machinery companies donated tractors and equipment for opening the trenches in contours and a number of civic officials and parents of club members were in attendance. The trees were planted eight feet apart and cover an area of fifteen acres. It is estimated that over 99 per cent will survive. Replacements will be made next spring.

Necktie Probably Slipping Out of Male Fashion Picture

MIAMI (AP) — Is the necktie slipping out of the male fashion picture?

Rev. Wilfred P. Harman thinks so. Maybe it's just the summer influence in this sports shirt capital. But at this time of year, sports shirts are universal, so the minister's views are interesting.

He's been a collector of cravats for years. And he thinks ties may be going the way of button shoes and detachable cuffs. The day may be coming, he believes, when ties will be worn only on dress occasions.

Harman, executive secretary of the Greater Miami Council of Churches, began collecting neckwear in 1936 when he was studying for his doctorate at the University of Chicago.

He didn't just drift into his hobby, with Mrs. Harma, he pored over hobby magazines and lists of hobbies before he deliberately chose tie collecting.

One of his prize acquisitions is the ties of former president Harry S. Truman, which he received in 1952.

In the music section division of the collection are tie formerly owned by Dr. Thomas Beecham, noted British conductor and David Rubinoff, renowned violinist.

The entertainment division includes Ralph Bellamy and the late Tom Mix, plus eye-dazzlers given him by his boyhood friends, Chester Lauke and Morris Goff, the Leon and Eddie radio team.

Harman says he has found, in his research, that ties undergo a definite change every 20 years.

"We may either expect a new necktie soon, or the disappearance of the necktie altogether, except, possibly for dress wear," he said. "Sports shirts have done more to cause them to be discarded than anything else."

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

STOUT FELLA!

"We have enjoyed every minute of our stay in Belleville and we hope to return some day to a splendid city and grand people."

Likeable Johnny Hayman, head of the commerce department at Albert College, and whose name is a byword in basketball circles both in this city and district as well as western Ontario, greeted this department on Saturday morning with the above statement.

Johnny Hayman, in the sports vernacular, "is a kind of a guy we would like to have on our side." A basketball star in his own right and one of the best coaches to display their basketball wares in this city, he never thrust himself into the spotlight of publicity. Johnny preferred to go his own quiet way doing a good job whether it was coaching the college classes or coaching his basketball squads. He was a retiring sort of chap almost at times to the point of modesty.

Basketball and Albert College will miss Johnny Hayman. He has been head of the college commerce department since 1946 and has enjoyed a most popular popularity with both the college faculty and the student body.

Now, Johnny, like all good athletes, wants to equip himself for the sterner battle of life. He is leaving Albert College for Toronto where he will attend the Ontario College of Education for a year with his specialties in commerce/ degree target for the semester. We haven't the slightest doubt that when graduation day rolls around, somewhere at the head of the class will be a chap answering to the name of "Johnny Hayman."

Johnny learned his basketball at high school and later starred on the University of Western Ontario cage team for a period of three years. He certainly had the ability to make his livelihood in either sport but that of being able to impart his knowledge to others.

He mentored the college court teams here for years and for the past two years starred on the Belleville Pepsi and Molsons. The latter squad (and this was the Spy of Quinte title two years in a row and were eliminated in the Ontario playdowns.

Johnny paid fine tribute to Bill Spafford, Johnny Batchelier, George Garrow and the rest of the Molson team. "They were a grand bunch of fellows and it was a distinct pleasure for me to be associated with them. I wish them all the luck in the world in the future and trust that the Ontario intermediate championship will come to Belleville next season.

He will be succeeded as head of his department by Mr. Jim MacKenzie, a graduate of the Ontario College of Education.

But Johnny has a tough summer's work ahead of him before his OCE classes start. For the past eight years he had been director of playgrounds for the city of London. Increased grounds and facilities this year will expand his sphere of activities and his sojourn in London will be far from being classified as a "vacation."

"We are going to miss Belleville, and the many fine people we have met during our stay here," Johnny said before that final handshake. We sincerely hope that it was not final, and that the fates that decree such things see fit to return him and his fine family some day in the not too distant future. Johnny and Mrs. Hayman have three lovely children.

So it was with reluctance and sincere regret that we bade adieu to a fine scholar, athlete and gentleman, and we join with sportdom and the many other circles in which Johnny moved, in wishing him the best that life has to offer in his future activities.

SOFTBALL!

Two softball games are scheduled for tonight. Herby Hemn's Northern Electrics entertain the Wooler nine at Alemlite Field while the up-and-coming Bobcats are guests of Frankford. The latter game starts at 8.15. Tomorrow night sees the unbeaten Glen Roy Juniors hosts to the powerful Point Anne team at the CNR Recreation Field. The Glens are the only squad to take a defeat on the Ox Pointers this season, so the game should be a thriller.

BASEBALL!

Bryson Reid's Regent Juniors baseballers play hosts to the Trenton RCAF Flyers at the CNR Recreation Field tonight in a scheduled District Baseball League fixture. The kids had a couple of close decisions to the fly-boys in their last two meetings, the final they were leading on one occasion 7-2 in the seventh inning. Tonight they hope to avenge one of the defeats. Bill Strahan will go to the mound for the youngsters, and the latter is expected to be at full strength in an effort to chalk up their second victory of the season.

LOTSA FUN!

Off the diamond they may be the best of friends, but on the field of softball battle, there's as much love lost as between them a starved bobcat and a fat juicy rabbit. Saturday night the Glen Roy juniors and the CNR Diamond battled in a five-all ten inning tie with the feast being livened by plenty of argument, with Umpires Shad Ethier and Harold Rawden threatening to call off the festivities, if the yakking wasn't halted.

Vern Goyer's tonsils never worked better. He took on all and sundry in verbal jousts, and wasn't backward in his own share of the Glen heckling. And the big lug topped it off with a smashing game-tying homer in the fifth that nearly bounced off the city hall clock.

"Cy" Young gave his own version of an Apache wardance on a couple of occasions while Don McKevin bearded the Diesel lions in their own den to get in on the argumentative fray. Even the "Old Clatcher", a mere spectator, cackled his piece from the safety of the stands. There were some "Zane" arguments in mid-diamond until finally "Shad" threatened to send the ball kit and kaboodle home to their television sets if they insisted on an unreasonable facsimile of a political convention.

That cooled the boys off and from then on they played airtight softball with Al Adams for the Diesels and Dougie Rednar coming through with some masterful hurling.

At Present Rate of Win-Lose They'll Break Cubs' 116 Mark; Braves Hold Lead Over 'Bums'

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

If New York Yankees keep pouring it on, they'll break the 1906 Chicago Cubs' all-time record of winning 116 games. Unless something cracks, they should be able to take a month vacation in September and bring the Kansas City club to finish out the schedule.

After Sunday's split with Detroit, the Yanks were playing 46-14 ball for a .767 percentage. At the same rate they'll wind up at 118-36 for .766. High for the American League is the Yanks' 114 victories in 1927.

The Yanks took advantage of another lapse by Cleveland Sunday, dividing a doubleheader with Detroit as the Indians lost to Washington 5-1. As a result, New York moved to another half game ahead of the Tribe, now threatened from below by Chicago which beat New York and won the first game 6-3, for Whitey Ford on homers by Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin and Gil McDougald, lost the second, 10-3, as Walt Dropo drove in five runs with a pair each and two singles. Dropo also hit a four-bagger and drove in two runs in the opener.

The White Sox came back to cop the second game, 4-3, on homers by Fred Marsh, Ferris Fain and Minnie Minoso after Harry Byrd shut them out with seven hits. It was in the first game. St. Louis Browns broke a nine game losing streak on Bobo Holloman's two-hit 2-0 winner over Boston in the second game after losing the opener 3-1.

In the National League, Milwaukee staged another of its comebacks to get a 6-4 tie with New York Giants in a second game, called by darkness after eight innings, following a 5-0 defeat in the opener.

Brooklyn bowed to Chicago 3-2 on a 10th-inning homer by Eddie Mikels and Pittsburgh dumped the Cardinals 5-2. Philadelphia split a pair with Cincinnati, winning the first 5-2 but dropping the second 5-3 on Gus Bell's 15th homer with two on.

Ford survived a rugged ninth inning in 102-degree heat at Yankee Stadium to go the distance for his eighth triumph after the Yanks knocked out Hal Newhouser in the fourth inning.

Billy Hoeft, with the help of Ned Garver, copped the second game, charged against reliefer Tom Gorman.

Spec Shea held Cleveland to three hits to win his sixth, equaling Art Houtteman's starting debut as an Indian.

Holloman, aided by Satch Paige in the ninth, did a fine job on the Red Sox in the second game, the only hits off him were doubles by Billy Goodman in the third inning and Gene Stephens in the fifth.

Gus Zernial's 18th homer and Bobby Adair's third were the big blows behind Byrd in his shutout against the Indians. Byrd suffered his fifth defeat in the second game.

Roben Gomez pitched a brilliant game for the Giants at Milwaukee, retiring the last 22 men in order.

Jack Dittmer's two-run single in the eighth inning topped the big Milwaukee spurt that earned a tie. The game was called on account of darkness at that point because league rules prohibit turning on the flood lights.

Mikels' first-pitch home run in the 10th broke up a tight battle at Chicago between Bubba Church and Dodger Bob Milliken. Roy Campanella hit a two-run single, ending his 19th homer.

Danny O'Connell's four-run double and Murry Dickson's steady nine-hit pitching set up Pittsburgh's win.

The Morrison Trophy was won by Bill Rausch of London in the 75-yard breaststroke. Pete Fowler of Woodstock was second.

McCurdy Tosses Two-Hitter; Loses Game

McCurdy, Northern Electric hurler, pitching two-hit softball, lost a heart-breaker in Point Anne Friday night when the Ox Pointers missed out Herby Hemn's crew by a 6-4 score.

McCurdy allowed but two hits both of them coming in the first innings, and went on to hurl lifeless, scoreless ball until the 8th innings, when Holmes relieved him and also blanked the homesters.

The game was won and lost in the first innings when the Ox Pointers shoved across five runs on two errors, two hits and a base on balls. They scored the other run in the second innings on two walks and an error.

Pat Maracle went the route for the winners scattering seven hits over the nine-innings route. He struck out seven and walked three.

The Northerns whittled that first-innings five-run lead of the Pointers to 5-3 in their half of the frame shoving over three runs off a pair of hits, a walk and an error.

They cut the margin to one run to the seventh off an error, a single and a long fly. Maracle retired the next six men to end the game.

Sammy McBolland and Pat Maracle were the only Point Anne players to connect safely with McCurdy's delivery. Both hit two-bag gers during the first-innings five-run upheaval.

Doug Bone paced the Electrics with a pair of singles with Miller, DeBunzie, Locke, Halsey and McCurdy accounting for the rest.

The game was originally scheduled for Saturday night but both teams agreed to the shift in dates.

The score:

Northern	300 000 100—4 7 3
Point Anne	510 000 000—6 2 2

McCurdy, Holmes (8) and Bone; Maracle and Green.

Brantford Sox Tie London For First Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brantford Red Sox climbed to a first-place tie with London Majors Saturday night in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League. Brantford, who had held top spot briefly earlier in the season, managed the tie by defeating Guelph Maple Leafs 7-3.

Waterloo Tigers dropped Guelph 13-4 in a Saturday afternoon fixture while at night Kitchener Panthers edged St. Thomas Elgins 13-10 and Waterloo Tigers defeated Galt Terriers 6-1. Brantford was to meet Galt in an afternoon game but the game was postponed to resume the ball park was not available.

Lefty Bob Thurman, who boosted Brantford up the league ladder by winning three previous games, was again was the victor. Cecil Kaiser started for Guelph but lasted only until the fourth when Marty Philp took over.

The Sox pounded the two Guelph southpaws for 14 hits and scored all their runs in the first four innings. Thurman and Stan Lipka were the winners at the plate with three hits each. Marv Rich, Sam Hankhead and Phil Smolenski collected two hits apiece for Guelph.

Waterloo won its game in the third inning when 11 players went to the plate and scored six runs on four hits, three walks and a Guelph error. Angie Herchenrather of the Tigers, with three singles, was the game's leading hitter.

Playing manager Hank Biasutti started for the Tigers but, after the first five batters nipped him for four hits, he retired in favor of Bobby Schnurr who finished the game for the win. Philp started for Guelph but was relieved by Sam Bankhead in the third.

In Kitchener's victory over St. Thomas, Dale Markert belted two homers, one with one aboard and the second with two on.

Mel Duncan, the winning pitcher, hit a round-tripper with a mate aboard, and Alex Kvamak hit a two-run homer also. Markert was the leading batter of the game with four for five, including a double as well as the home runs.

Dick Sposato's five-hit pitching did the trick for Waterloo at the night session on home grounds. The win was Sposato's second in two starts. Jay Eaton was the loser, giving up 11 hits.

The Tigers started their scoring in the first inning with one run when Hank Biasutti singled to score shortstop Musselman. They added two more runs in the fourth on three singles and one in the fifth. The Terriers scored their lone run in the seventh on a double and a wild pitch by Sposato.

You hear me poke fun at the bidding of experts. And I can prove it is justified. But the way they play the cards is truly remarkable and makes up for their atrocious bids.

Their fantastically efficient playing ability brings them an additional advantage. Opponents are fearful of being outmaneuvered in play and take no bold chances in defence.

There came in a recent tournament the deal shown here:

NORTH
♠ A K 6
♥ J 7 6 2
♦ 8 3 2
♣ 6

WEST	EAST
♠ Q 7 5	♠ 10 9 3 2
♥ Q 9	♥ 10 8 5
♦ J 4	♦ 10 5 3
♣ 8 7 5 2	♣ Q 10 9 4

South
♠ J 8 4
♥ A K 10 4
♦ A K Q 2
♣ A J

At most tables, south became the declarer at a contract of four hearts; where it belonged. It made five and scored for game with an extra trick. This looked like a good result.

Hoping for more at match point play, a few bid three no-trump. With a club lead, those who played it straight up made exactly as many tricks as the heart finesse went down one.

One finished in five diamonds that just made. But this scored nearly bottom in the match point scale. Because the same tricks in diamonds is less than for tricks in hearts.

One of the most skilled players shoved it into an unsound small slam in hearts. He may not have known in advance that it would not make except by luck. At any rate, he got there.

He took the opening club lead with his ace, cashed trump ace, and ruffed a club. A trump was won with the king. A spade was won with dummy king. Top two diamonds were cashed and another diamond led.

West could have defeated the contract if he refused to ruff the last two diamonds. Because declarer would still be in the lead and must lead a spade or trump. But west ruffed the third diamond.

Now west was endplayed. A spade return left declarer two of all the spades. A club lets dummy ruff and south shift a spade. He must have spooked west into ruffing. Remarkable without television.

Rosenbergs Are Praised At Funeral

NEW YORK (AP)—Funeral services for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg erupted Sunday into fearful echoes of the electrocuted atom spies and angry attack on U. S. government officials.

Defence lawyer Emanuel Bloch declared in a funeral oration that the executions were "an act of cold, deliberate murder."

He said he placed "the murder of the Rosenbergs at the door of President Eisenhower, Attorney-General Brownell and (FBI director) J. Edgar Hoover."

Bloch praised the New York City couple who died Friday night in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison for what he called their "courage and heroism."

Semi-Orthodox Jewish services were held for the Rosenbergs at a Bronx funeral home chapel. About 500 mourners jammed the chapel, and a crowd estimated by police at 10,000 milled around outside in 83-degree heat.

Rabbi Blasted

The chapel filled with hisses and murmurs of "No" when Rabbi Abraham Cronbach said: "Let us give them (the prosecutors) credit for this: That they did what they thought was right."

Cronbach, professor emeritus of the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, Ohio, presided over the service. He is one of a delegation of four clergymen who urged President Eisenhower last week to commute the Rosenbergs' sentences to life imprisonment.

The rabbi told his protesting audience not to be vindictive, even though the executions "broke our hearts."

"We must demonstrate that we are among those most loyal to America. We must not permit any ground for accusations of remission in our American citizenship. We gain when America gains and we lose when America loses."

Hails Eisenhower

In his attack on government leaders, Bloch said:

"The people should know that America is living under the heel of a military dictator garbed in civilian attire."

Bloch was lawyer for the Rosenberts at the trial in which they were convicted of "conspiring to pass U. S. atomic secrets to Soviet Russia. For more than two years he led the court fight to have their death sentence set aside.

A procession of more than 300 automobiles followed the hearses to Wellwood cemetery on Long Island, 35 miles from New York. At the graveside Rev. Glendin Partridge, a Presbyterian minister from Montreal, delivered the final eulogy.

MARROW ESCAPE

OSHAWA (CP)—Thomas Robinson of Prince Albert, Ont., had his car stall on a level crossing near here and a train was coming down the tracks. One of his two companions tried to push the vehicle off the tracks while the other attempted to flag down the train, but neither were successful. All three ran from the car seconds before it was hurled 100 feet down the tracks by the train.

VIEW YUGOSLAV BASES

BELGRADE (AP)—The United States Air Force chief of operations, Maj.-Gen. Roger H. Ramey, and a staff of ranking officers started an inspection today of Yugoslav air bases, establishing a new precedent in American-Yugoslav military co-operation. The party came here officially to check on the use of American jet planes and other equipment being furnished Yugoslavia in increasing amounts.

GOAT FEEDS FAWN

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—An orphan fawn and a lit goat on which she depends for nourishment have found their way to the sanctuary of Kyd-Lower at Beachville. The fawn was discovered in a hayfield on the farm of Lloyd Johnson, RR 2, Mount Elgin, by his 14-year-old son, Len. Only three or four days old, the fawn thrived on milk from the Johnsons' goat Lucy. Both goat and fawn now are at the sanctuary.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1953.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Apt to be some unusual happenings. Incidents that tend to confuse. But calmness —and determination can better situation.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—No real active aspects for your guidance. Side-step take-a-chance methods. Approach problems resolutely. Your treatment of them will insure progress.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Excellent planetary indications, so take things —in stride but not carelessly. Stars show gains, quick changes for the better. Watch for openings.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—An open-book sort of day. It's yours for the taking. Get busy early, enjoy —success later. Would help if you avoid any rash moves.

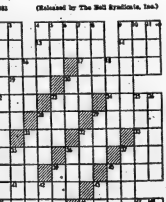
July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Better day in which to gain than seems at first glance. Avoid trying to let others do the figuring of ways and means.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Better tee off early and with confidence. Later on, things don't be as easy to manipulate. Don't try to do everything at once.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra)—Quality of effort and time consumed are important points today. Have a stout heart and fair results should follow.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—You folks have many rare qualities, some of highest order. And some faults to be controlled rigidly. Prospects good. Forward!

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Fine influences to guide you through to —big gains, credits. That percent, too, you have worked on may be started now.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Excellent vibrations for most business and professional endeavors where you possess right knowledge to push ahead.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Should be little to desire this extraordinarily generous day. If you have the will and right attitude, Can reap high rewards.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Use extra good judgment mapping your course or in minor acts. Don't be vexed by outside reactions. Get clear vision of current issues.

YOU BORN TODAY: Usually conventional, you like to stay close to traditional ways, yet recognize honest improvements. Don't let moody thought cause trouble. A fine mind could be very interesting story-teller. You appreciate music. Avoid overcentivement; seek right companions. Birthdate of: Empress Josephine, first wife of Napoleon I; Duke of Windsor, Ex-King Edward VIII.

Canada Will Not Be Auctioned Off Says Pearson

AURORA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson told Aurora Saturday night that Progressive Conservative leader George Drew would have to double present Canadian taxes to fulfil all the pledges he has made during the last session of Parliament.

Mr. Pearson spoke at a York North Liberal convention which nominated Jack Smith as party candidate for the Aug. 10 general election.

Commenting on the election manifesto issued by Mr. Drew in a speech in Guelph last Friday, Mr. Pearson said the Opposition leader should disregard generalities and show where he hoped to save $324,000,000 in taxes if the Progressive Conservatives were elected.

"The present federal budget is about $4,000,000,000," Mr. Pearson said. "About half of that goes for defence, roughly 47 cents in every dollar. Another 25 cents goes for social services, 19 cents for debt retirement, leaving 18 per cent for all other expenditures.

"If Mr. Drew won't cut defence expenditures or social services, then the $500,000,000 must be saved out of the 4 per cent."

The Liberal party, standing on its own record of achievement, will not enter into a competition with any other political party in promises to the electorate, Mr. Pearson said. "Canada is not going to be auctioned off."

Pilot Sights Bomber Wreck In Labrador

HALIFAX (CP)—Wreckage of a Lancaster bomber that crashed with nine men aboard in Labrador's frozen wilds more than 4½ months ago was sighted by a sharp-eyed airlines pilot.

An RCAF ground party was flown Sunday to a lake near the crash scene, some 100 miles southeast of Goose Bay, Labrador, but it was not known whether it reached the plane before nightfall.

An air force spokesman said it may take a "couple days" for the party to hack its way through the dense bush. The plane, based at Greenwood, N.S., disappeared Feb. 2 while searching for a United States civilian plane.

Swirling snows that blanketed the area next day apparently hid the plane from 25 search planes.

The Lancaster's pilot was FO. Thomas C. Waggett of Kingston. Other crew members were FO. Charles B. Scott, Fairville, N.B.; FO. Stephen J. Decker, St. John's; Sergeant D. Forbes, North Bay; FO. Fluoridation Certain WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Fluoridation of city water supplies appeared certain following a week-end meeting at which the city board of health agreed to pay for equipment needed to carry out the operation.

City council approved the plan some time ago. However, the utilities commission declined to pay for putting the fluoridation system into operation. They said fluoridation of the water was actually "mass medication" and suggested the board of health pay the bill.

The board agreed during the meeting and voted to provide $5,000 from this current budget to pay for equipment.

Eisenhower Sends Secret Note To Rhee

Special Emissary Flying to Seoul With Instructions

Clark Meets Rhee Second Time to Get Co-operation

By ROBERT E. TUCKMAN

SEOUL (AP)—A special emissary from Washington flew toward Korea today with a secret note to Syngman Rhee after Gen. Mark Clark talked twice with the defiant president about his objections to a truce.

Clark met for 30 minutes today with Rhee for the second time in two days in the Allies' effort to get Rhee's co-operation.

Whether the United Nations commander succeeded remained in doubt.

Returning to Tokyo, Clark told reporters:

"I have nothing more to say than I said yesterday."

Walter S. Robertson, assistant U.S. secretary of state—fresh from a secret meeting with President Eisenhower—left Washington for Tokyo and Seoul. He was accompanied by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, United States Army chief of staff.

Robertson carried a secret letter to Rhee from State Secretary John Foster Dulles. He was expected to tell the fiery 78-year-old Korean his policies are incompatible with the existence of his nation.

After a 75-minute session with Rhee Monday, Clark said he was encouraged, but warned against over optimism.

Re-double Precautions

Both Clark and the Eisenhower administration, observers said, were understood to be convinced the Communists really want an armistice. But UN officials were reported deeply worried over how to guarantee the Communists that South Korea would not violate its terms.

U.S.-troops guarding prisoner-of-war stockades redoubled precautions against secret agents of Communist Chinese prisoners, fired up by the breakout of some 27,000 anti-Red North Korean captives.

No new escapes were reported.

The North Koreans began escaping Thursday, as guards turned their backs on orders from Rhee. They have disappeared among South Korea's civilian population, which was ordered to protect and feed them.

Might Be Ruse

Despite the crisis caused by the South Korean president, some puzzling developments raised speculation that talks might be easing his bitter opposition to a truce:

Reliable South Korean sources reported that Maj-Gen. Choi Suk has been appointed to take charge of South Korean operations formerly by the Reds after an armistice.

2. In Munsan, North Korean personnel—aided by U. S. engineers—have begun rehabilitating and expanding ROK facilities used last April in the disabled prisoner exchange.

At the United Nations headquarters in New York, a 16-country Asian-African group urged Rhee to co-operate with the UN for an armistice.

The group—some of whose members have recently called for a special session of the UN general assembly—decided to press the U. S. and UN full co-operation before demanding a special general assembly meeting.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: A mass of dense cool moist air from the northwest will continue to affect today. Lower temperatures in southern regions dropped from the mid-80s to the low 50s during the night. However, the sun will bring temperatures back up to near 80 this afternoon. A high pressure area is slowly moving eastward over the Great Lakes and will cause the pleasant sunny weather to continue Wednesday.

St. Laurent Looks For 'Pretty Warm' Election Campaign

CHATHAM (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday that he looks for a "pretty warm" federal election campaign.

Speaking at this Western Ontario city on the way to deliver his keynote speech at Windsor, Mr. St. Laurent said extemporaneously to his first Liberal rally of the campaign that ends at the polls Aug. 10.

"This is a very important election and it looks as if it will be a pretty warm campaign," he said at a reception attended by Blake Hoffman, Liberal member of the House of Commons for Kent.

The prime minister was welcomed at the railway station by mayor W. A. Donovan and was played into the meeting hall by a band rendering "I'm sitting on top of the world."

Mr. St. Laurent said it still is the "principal concern" of the government to do its part to help maintain a world free from the consequences of war.

The country had been doing its share to build up the strength of the North Atlantic alliance which had been creating a large role in averting war.

But the result of these measures he was growing more confident would be to convince the Communists that world peace could be protected from war.

Discussing the coming election, Mr. St. Laurent said all Canadians have a responsibility to exercise the franchise.

"We have to submit our accounts to you every few years," he continued. "I ask you to look over our accounts and draw your own conclusions."

Chinese Arrest Twenty Priests

HONG KONG (Reuters) — A spokesman for the Roman Catholic Church said here that Chinese Communist police have arrested 20 priests, including at least seven Americans, in a new anti-Red campaign.

Ten were reported arrested in Tientsin and another 10 in Shanghai. The spokesman said the arrests indicated a change in the party line. He pointed out that previously missionaries had been comparatively free from interference in many big Chinese cities.

Edinburgh Gives Gay Greeting To Elizabeth, Queen of Scots

EDINBURGH (AP)—The Queen came to her Scottish capital today for a glittering welcome of pomp and pageantry.

Her arrival by royal train and coach and carriage through two miles of grey stone streets, lined by crowds packed 12-deep.

Squadrons of clattering cavalry escorted her on the drive to her Holyrood House palace. Their scarlet and gold uniforms brought a brilliant splash of color to the grey misty morning.

High spot of the week's visit will be a national service tomorrow in St. Giles Cathedral, the high Kirk of the Scottish church.

As the open royal carriage drove through the cheering crowds in front of the palace, a salute of 21 guns was fired from Edinburgh Castle.

After reviewing an honor guard, the Queen inspected a contingent of the Argyll's regimental mascot, a Shetland pony—before stepping into historic Holyrood House.

Fighter aircraft which planned to escort the Queen's aircraft in welcome to the Queen remained grounded because of fog.

There was no sign of any demonstration against the Queen from fanatic Scottish nationalists who object to her use of the designation Elizabeth "II." These factions contend that because England and Scotland were separate kingdoms before the Union, Elizabeth has never reigned over Scotland. Thus the current Elizabeth she—d be the first—for the Scots, anyway.

HUNGER STALKS RUSSIAN ZONE IN REVOLT WAKE

Threatens to Re-Fire Powderkeg of Last Week

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP)—Hunger in Germany's communist eastern zone threatened today to re-fire the powderkeg that exploded last week into a workers' rebellion against Russian depression.

Refugees to West Berlin reported that East Germans, undaunted by Soviet tanks and firing squads, have defied martial law with protest marches demanding bread in Leipzig, Dresden, Dessau and Eisenach.

Willi Stoph, Communist premier of Premier Otto Grotewohl admitted it is a "very serious problem" feeding the 18,000,000 restive East Germans. Its news agency and government-owned state food handling agencies had pledged to make up the losses "caused by the fascist Western agents" in the strike and riot wave launched June 17.

Urges Co-operation

Farmers were urged to co-operate.

East Berlin was better off than most areas, but with two policing Russian armored divisions living off what was available, the city was short of bread and potatoes. Refugees described conditions in many Soviet cities as "catastrophic."

Communist police patrols, they said, toured the streets with sound trucks blaring that things would get better.

Farmers, browbeaten for years by arbitrary communist quotas, were reported withholding their produce from central state collection points, bringing extension of the Red Army's martial law to the countryside June 21.

Arrests Continue

Farmers also were said to be making behind-the-fence deliveries of food to workers and their families in distressed areas.

The wave of arrests and executions continued unabated. Western dergymen put estimated 16,000 alleged strike leaders were behind bars.

Killed 7 Women, Maybe More, Christie Mumbles in Court

LONDON (CP)—John R. Christie went mumbled to an Old Bailey magistrate today that he may have killed more than the seven women admitted by his counsel in describing himself as acting as "mad as a March hare."

The 55-year-old clerk held his head low as he took the stand to tell his strangling story.

Defence counsel Derek Curtis-Bennett, repeatedly urging Christie to speak up, asked:

"May you have done more killing than you are going to tell me about?"

"I do not know," mumbled Christie. "I may have done."

Christie is being tried specifically for murdering his 54-year-old wife, Ethel, but admitted in statements read to the court the strangling for gaining of six other London women in mad sex orgies beginning in 1943 when he was a wartime special policeman.

"Are you aware whether you killed seven women between 1944 and 1949?" asked Curtis-Bennett.

When Christie shook his head, the lawyer pressed:

"Do you mean you might have done?"

Christie nodded and in a low voice replied:

"I might have. I do not know whether I did or not."

Sometimes Christie's lips moved but no words came out as his lawyer questioned him on the story.

Christie, 57-year-old former reserve policeman, had already admitted strangling his wife, but pleaded innocent of murder by reason of insanity. The six other murders were not being tried but were considered at this trial, but were introduced in evidence nevertheless.

Administered Gas

With the confession of his wife, raged "about 58," the women were young. Christie said that before strangling them he gave them "gas of some kind" to "dope."

He said he got three of his victims in this condition by fixing a gas outlet behind a deck chair in his flat.

"When they sat in the deck chair with the tube behind them I just took the clip off and let the fumes rise from the back of the deck chair. Then I started to be overcome—that's when I must have strangled them."

These three—pickup girls Rita Ellen Nelson, 20, Rita Mahoney, Maloney, 25, and Hectorina McKay MacLennan, 25—were killed after he had taken them to his flat, he said. Discovery of their bodies behind a kitchen wall in the apartment apartment touched off a country-wide search for Christie.

Christie said he sometimes used a stocking to strangle his victims but sometimes his wife's bare hands. On one occasion at least used a rope.

He also described how he had said he strangled the 18-year-old wife of another resident of the flat, a tenement in Notting Hill Gate, a London suburb, then invited the husband's mind the fear that he (the husband) would be blamed for the crime because they were known to have been on bad terms.

The husband, Timothy Evans, was later hanged for the murder of his 3-year-old daughter, Geraldine. Because of that sentence the death charge of murdering his wife was not proceeded with.

The two other victims claimed by Christie were Ruth Margaret Fuerst, 24, an Austrian, and Mrs. Muriel Amelia Eadey, 30. Their bones were found in Christie's backyard.

As March Hare

Defence counsel Derek Curtis-Bennett, who described Christie as "mad as a March hare," said the wartime special constable will take the stand.

"There is no doubt that Christie has a history of insanity had been violent, sometimes with a sexual motive," Curtis-Bennett said.

Curtis-Bennett said that Christie told him he had "a terrible urge" murdering women when he served as a reserve police officer.

Attorney-General Sir Lionel Heald told the court just before its lunch recess today that he had completed the case for the prosecution. He said he will call four more witnesses, if necessary, in an attempt to rebut the defence claim of insanity.

Christie's trial is to determine his part in the death of his wife. He pleaded not guilty of murder when the hearing opened Monday before a jury of nine men and three women and a judge.

His lawyer then entered a plea of insanity.

Tells Of Home Horrors

Timothy Evans, 25, a truck driver, was hanged for killing his baby daughter in November, 1949. His wife, Beryl, was killed at the same time. They lived in the same run-down tenement house where Christie had a ground floor apartment.

Christie was a key Crown witness in the Evans trial and had also suffered a nervous breakdown. Evans' lawyer claimed Christie killed his wife, later withdrew the admission and tried to implicate Christie in the crime.

In the statement read to the court today Christie admitted killing Mrs. Evans, but prosecution, judge and defence have witnessed that Evans was convicted in connection with the death of her daughter, Geraldine.

The jury was instructed at one point to state: "There is no suggestion that anybody else other than Evans killed the child."

Strangled Women

It is a long, rambling statement which he made following his arrest last March. Christie admitted strangling Mrs. Evans with a stocking. He already had confessed to killing his wife the same way.

St. Laurent Asks Re-Election Of Liberal Govt. on Record

WINDSOR (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent asks Canadians to re-elect his Liberal government on its record.

In the keynote speech starting off his campaign for a new four-year term starting June 16, he called Monday night for election support on the record of the party's Liberal policies, without holding out specific new platform planks.

It was a long, workmanlike speech that the 71-year-old prime minister delivered—almost exactly four years from the successful 1949 end of the election campaign in Windsor—and he used it largely to counter the "time for a change" slogan of the Conservative opposition.

He counselled the country not to "risk losing what has been gained by turning over the government machine" to a party that has been progressing steadily under the Liberals. Productive capacity had increased, and job opportunities were greater.

"I do not doubt that the government is responsible for all this," he said, "but I think the reasonable people will agree that such spectacular developments do not occur under a weak government or a bad government."

He ended on this advice:

"When we vote, I am sure most of us are going to be careful we do not vote against a party that has served us well."

Mr. St. Laurent's opening 4,000-word address to the country, recorded earlier, was broadcast from Windsor over a CBC network to be delivered basically the same address to a similar audience of about 3,500 in this automobile city.

In this initial invasion, the prime minister moved into southwestern Ontario three days behind George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, who sounded his party's election theme song—"time for a change"—in a series of sweeping changes including a $360,000,000-a-year cut in taxes.

REDS OPEN WIDE AREAS TO TRAVEL BY FOREIGNERS

Regarded as Significant Step by Diplomats

By THOMAS F. WHITNEY

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government has opened wide areas of European and Asiatic Russia to unrestricted travel by foreigners. The first visitor to benefit from the new freedom will be Mrs. Perle Mesta, President Truman's party-giving friend from Washington.

The relaxation was disclosed Monday night in an official note delivered to all foreign diplomatic missions in Moscow. It was regarded as a significant step since even foreign diplomats have been severely limited in their movements.

The order gave no indication that Russia's tight policy on admission of foreign visitors was being relaxed. In recent years only carefully — screened—and usually sympathetic—visitors have been given entry visas.

Action Not Contemplated

There was no immediate indication from Ottawa and Washington that the Soviet move would be followed by similar Canadian-U. S. action. Countering Moscow, the United States since March, 1952, has required all Soviet officials to get State and defence department permission before travelling more than 25 miles from Washington, New York City, Canada and other NATO countries have followed suit.)

The new regulations also specify 16-mile deep forbidden zones along the Soviet Union's borders—and its neighboring countries — Norway, Finland, Turkey, Iran and Afghanistan. They also open many more, however, along borders with such Red Allies in eastern Europe as Poland, or along the Chinese-Russian frontier in Asia.

Despite the remaining restrictions, it apparently is possible now to travel through the heart of the Volga river to its mouth on the Caspian Sea, Moscow and Leningrad to ride the trans-Siberian railway all the way to Vladivostok.

LIBERALS PICK MAYOR

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Mayor J. E. Bellemare of Trois-Rivieres has been chosen Liberal candidate for Trois-Rivieres in the Aug. 10 federal election. In the last house, the seat was held by Leon Balcer, Progressive Conservative.

Hot and Dry Weather Produces Bountiful Hay Crop in Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—The hot dry weather of the last few weeks has produced a bountiful hay crop throughout most of Ontario, the agriculture department reports. Farmers are taking advantage of continuing dry weather to get this crop completely early haying.

Wheat is fence-high in Grey county and is showing signs of becoming a record crop in Essex. Farmers are above average in Dundas county, but Grenville reports a poor winter wheat crop.

Hay crops are in demand in Brant and selling at from $15 to $20 a ton. Alfalfa is being baled in Lincoln and are marketing at 30 cents a quart. Tomatoes are growing rapidly in Northumberland and canning peas have shown bloom.

Weed control in corn and soybeans are keeping farmers in Kent busy and hoeing is being in off to a good start. Most corn is already knee-high in Middlesex and Frontenac reports increased interest in draft horses because of its northern township.

Pastures in Temiskaming are dry while many parts of the county are badly infested with the forest tent caterpillar. Cut worms and army worms are causing concern in Rainy River district. Potatoes are in bud and many farmers experimenting with the new horizontal slips this year.

Truce on Present Terms Not Wanted UN Command Told

President Gives Interview Outlining His Proposals

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea's Army will be withdrawn from control of the UN command and go it alone if a truce is signed on present terms, President Syngman Rhee said today in an interview with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

There was no other reference in the interview to the possibility of South Korea's pulling out of the UN command.

Rhee also listed terms he said must be included in a satisfactory armistice agreement. They were identical with the points of a compromise proposal reported earlier today.

Sources close to the U. S. embassy here said Rhee's terms were totally unacceptable to the UN command.

His proposal calls for:

1. Immediate withdrawal of both UN and Chinese forces from Korea.

2. A mutual defence pact with the United States.

3. A three-month post-armistice peace conference with the war to remain in effect if agreement is reached before the 90-day deadline.

Korean Guards Replaced

PUSAN, Korea (AP) — U. S. troops have replaced all South Korean guards at mainland prisoner-of-war camps holding anti-Communist Korean prisoners, the UN POW command announced tonight.

Anti-Red Korean prisoners are held at seven Allied camps and at the Pusan camp hospital No. 2 and the Pusan processing centre.

South Koreans still guard prisoners in the camp on Cheju Island where a anti-Communist Chinese prisoners are held. ROK troops also guard Communist Chinese prisoners on Cheju and Communist North Koreans on Koje Island.

Since last Thursday more than 27,000 anti-Communist Korean prisoners have fled from Allied stockades. President Syngman Rhee ordered Korean guards to help the prisoners and Korean civilians hide and feed them.

About 1,000 prisoners were recaptured but most were quickly absorbed into the civilian population.

Trucking Strike Threat Ended

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A threat of a province-wide trucking strike in Ontario freight trucking ended Monday when some 200 members of Local 880, United transport truck drivers returned to their jobs.

Today long-distance truck trips were running on schedule. All but crews are reported to have returned to their jobs this morning.

The return to work started Monday following a meeting of union heads and the drivers, L. M. Dodds, president of Local 880, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, called on the men to return to their jobs.

The men left work Friday before a plan has been worked out for a delay in filing a conciliation board report on driver's wages and working conditions. Union officials from the beginning described it as a "wildcat" strike.

Rioting Follows Death in Prison Of Nehru's Foe

NEW DELHI (AP)—Club-swinging police and Hindu extremists battled in the streets of India's capital today in the wake of the death in political captivity of Syama Prasad Mookerjee, a major opponent of Premier Jawaharlal Nehru.

Mookerjee, 52-year-old leader of the extremist Jan Sangh party, died early today in Srinagar, capital of the Kashmir, where he was jailed five weeks ago for defying a ban on his entering the state. Seizure of Hindu-owned lands by the predominantly Moslem Kashmir state government had created bad Jan Sangh agitation and violence in the neighboring Punjab.

The government attributed Mookerjee's death to a heart attack following pleurisy and said he had been moved to a nursing home when he became ill.

Pearson Appeals Directly to Rhee For Co-operation

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson, as president of the United Nations assembly, today appealed directly to Syngman Rhee to halt his "shocking" violation of UN solidarity and to co-operate in getting an armistice and in keeping it.

He criticized harshly the South Korean president's release of 25,000 anti-Red prisoners of war and regretted that "it occurs at a time when hostilities appear to cease."

The letter was sent through UN channels to Seoul during the night.

Mr. Pearson accused Rhee of violating the agreement of July, 1950, under which United Nations forces were placed under UN command, adding:

"As president of the general assembly of the UN, I feel it is my duty to draw to your attention the gravity of this situation. I am confident that you will co-operate with the UN command in its continuing and determined efforts to obtain an early and honorable armistice.

"I am anxious to take this occasion to express, as president of the United Nations general assembly, my profound sympathy and admiration for the people of Korea during the past three years, and my admiration for the great efforts of the ROK Army in its co-operation with the forces of the UN.

"It is my earnest hope that this co-operation will continue, not only in the immediate task of obtaining the armistice but in assuring that the armistice is thereafter faithfully observed, in the hope that we may jointly proceed toward our common objective of the unification of Korea by peaceful means."

The footprints of certain children in the Smythe Park subdivision in the east end of the city will remain imprinted for posterity in the concrete of a new sidewalk and steps poured yesterday by a builder.

The Bayview district homeowner had requested fresh concrete for his sidewalk and steps to his home and finished the job just before supper.

When he returned he found that children in the district had "tried out" the fresh concrete, leaving footprints that were trenched in the rapidly drying walk.

Regent Juniors Ground Flyers By 10-3 Score

By PETER UPPER

The Regent Juniors seem to have finally broken the jinx which has dogged them every game so far this season. They rallied through with their second win of the year defeating the Flyers 10-3 at the C.N.R. recreation field last night.

The Juniors scored 6 runs on five hits in the first inning, tallied another in the third, one in the fifth and added two in the sixth to account for their 10 runs.

The Flyers tallied with one in the fourth and two in the eighth to account for their three runs.

Strachan went all the way for the Juniors striking out six and clouting home while giving up three walks and seven hits for three runs and the win. Lawrence went the route on the hill for the Flyers striking out five and issuing the same number of walks.

Jones led the winners at the plate with two doubles and a single. Strachan helped out his own cause by slamming out two doubles. Goyer also banged out a double. The other hitters for the Regents were Hull, Barclay, Gilmore and Hall, all getting singles.

For the Flyers, Mead was the best at the plate with three singles. McHarg hit a single, Ollette had a double. The other two hits were singles by Hood and Jordan.

The only double-play of the game came when Ollette came off a grounder, relayed to McHarg, who stepped on the bag and fired to Mead on first for the twin killing.

Movie-Goers Flocked to See Coronation Films

People of Belleville who witnessed the magnificent spectacle of the Coronation in film form either outsecurely in two theatres last week made history in local entertainment circles. Never had so many attended either the McCarthy or Belle theatres in four days. Never had the theatre managers received so many compliments upon the excellence of their film presentations. And never had there been an occasion when the same subject was being featured in competitive houses at the same time.

It is estimated that about 18,000 persons saw the films here last week. And both Willard Fawcett of the McCarthy and George Forward of the Belle reported this week that they have had countless calls from citizens who did not get to see the films, inquiring how soon they might be seen in Trenton or in the Eastern centres.

While one film was longer, running to four hours, there were no outstanding productions which will ever be forgotten by those who saw them. In spite of the fact that it rained throughout the filming of the parade, the color was excellent, the color reproduction was of indescribable splendor, and the moving significance of the historic event itself was such that one was impressed by the narrations of Sir Laurence Olivier, in one instance, and Leo Genn, another noted British actor, in the other.

As Commander Richard Todd documents these Coronation films will be seen again and again by many and remain quite as moving and satisfying. hey were a credit to what was perhaps the most colorful spectacle of modern times. And, as well, a credit to those responsible for their production.

Tyro Group Buys Lead

The Sunday evening service at Trinity United Church was a little unusual, but rather interesting. The service was conducted by the boys of the Tyro Group under the direction of Ron Philp and Floyd Wilson.

The boys whose age range from six to nine years looked smart in their new blue uniforms.

The service was opened by one of the Tyro members, Dave Philp, followed by prayers, trios and solos by members of the group.

A review of group activities was given by Floyd Wilson. An interesting address for young people entitled, "The Lamp Lighter", was given by the Rev. W. R. Merrick.

ARM IS BROKEN

CAMPBELLFORD — The two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cryderman of Campbellford suffered a fractured arm on Monday afternoon when she fell off the small wagon on which she was playing. The little girl struck the sidewalk and complained of a pain in her arm. She was taken to Campbellford hospital where x-rays revealed the fracture. After having a cast applied to her arm, she was allowed to go home.

Council to Apply for Removal Of Tracks on Pinnacle Street

Belleville city council members held their last meeting of the season before the summer recess Monday when fog ends of city business were caught up. During any possible special meetings council will not convene again until September.

City council will follow up its campaign to have the interchange railway tracks removed on Pinnacle St. Yesterday after reading correspondence from the railway officials on the matter, it was recommended that application be made to the Board of Transport Commission asking to have the tracks removed.

Ald. Temple observed that the railways were now apparently willing to have the tracks removed as long as a satisfactory provision of costs could be worked out. Removal of the Pinnacle Street tracks would eliminate another interchange track between the two railway systems somewhere outside the city limits.

Demoted Investigating.

Kenneth Rowe, Crest St. James Street, appeared before council asking why no parking signs had been placed on this street near Brown Street. City Traffic Committee Chairman Ald. Robt. Temple said the police had been asked without his knowledge or that of the traffic committee. He did not know why the signs had been placed but promised investigation.

Council approved that no parking signs be placed on the south side of West College St. for a distance of 75 feet from Front St. The request came from Thurlow township council. It being noted that parking on this street blocked the view of cars approaching No. 14 highway.

Referred Back

John S. Canning, Ponton St., complained to council that some years ago he had purchased a city-owned lot only to learn that part of the lot was actually owned by a neighbor. He claimed his rights he had entered into an agreement with the neighbor to pay $100. He asked that council reimburse him for the amount to be paid to his neighbor.

But council demurred on the matter and will defer discussion referred the matter to the property committee. It was pointed out that the onus to have the property properly surveyed has been on the purchaser. Council had sold many lots under the same circumstances and at the point asked by Mr. Canning was conceded a precedent had been left with the city.

Council left on the city solicitor the matter of dealing with Dr. Harold Craig for a certain strip of property owned by the former in widening of Highland Ave. Ald. Don Thomas a chairman of public works, recommended the matter be arbitrated as it would be dangerous to set a fixed price for the property.

It was pointed out that it may be necessary to widen many streets in the future as the city again there was danger of setting a precedent.

"Let us arbitrate," observed another councillor, "this seems to be the best to go to court."

Will Not Renew Permit

City council will not renew the permit to Richard Burrowes for the right to use a 'loud speaker' to advertise his business. At a previous meeting Mr. Burrowes was granted a temporary permit to use this form of advertising, the matter to be reviewed in the meantime.

There was considerable discussion on the matter with Ald. Duffy claiming the recommendation was discriminatory as others were certainly being permitted to use this form of advertising.

He noted that under the present by-law this form of advertising was out. However, special privilege could be given by city council.

It is this sort of thing that causes people to lose their respect for the law," observed Ald. Duffy. "I say either support the by-law completely or not at all."

Ald. Temple observed that in his opinion the by-law ruled out any form of advertising by loud speaker which was controversial.

He noted, however, that special permission could be given by council, but observed that the whole council should decide in this matter. Mayor Charles Hyde said in his opinion such advertising by the chairman was quite all right. He said permission had been given by Lloyd Clark, Bay St. Clair.

"The by-law is clear," said Ald. Cecil Gowsell, "it is necessary for council to give permission."

No decision was made on the motion which would have decided Mrs. Anna Hay to continue operation of a beauty salon at 136 Victoria Ave. It was pointed out that the property abutting the law a beauty salon could be operated in the home. However, a chase offer for the property had been made prior to the granting of the next zoning by-law.

Council concurred in an outlook on provincial government to set a minimum of 15 miles per hour in all school areas.

The city parks board has failed to give approval to a city traffic committee suggestion that the park entrance on Bridge St. be used for a parking lot. Instead the area south of the park will be levelled off and this used for a free parking lot.

Ald. Cowsell observed that it would cost but little to have a parking lot there and that sufficiently for use as a parking lot.

No action was taken on a bill from Moxam and Wood for $5,000 damages in connection with a court order denying them the right to build a service station at the corner of Victoria Ave. and Lingham St. The above two men had been granted a permit to build the service station and then this was later rescinded. In a resulting court action an early city zoning by-law was upheld, and the judge ordered to pay certain damages.

No Action Recommended

City solicitor, A. Pringle recommended no action be taken on the bill submitted, declaring it to be out of order.

To enable prospective builders to build attractive garages, the width of Wallbridge Road will be reduced from 66 to 60 feet, it was decided by council. The request was made by interested citizens living in the area in the district. The recommendation was made by a proper committee of the roadway.

On recommendation of the city health department Harry Schryver, of Hillcrest, was named sanitary inspector.

The city garbage collection situation will be reviewed with the idea of determining the amount of extra work in collection of garbage from city industrial plants. Ald. Bradford pointed out that Moses Mills, present collector, had tendered according to an old by-law which did not call for collection of industrial garbage.

It was noted that the matter was under consideration and something would be done when the amount of extra work involved was determined.

Fewer Diapers Needed

Under general business Ald. Duffy complimented parks supervisor Gordon Hubbard on the appearance of the flower display at the Cenotaph and also at Victoria's Park.

He noted the display were attracting considerable attention and were being admired by many people.

The salary of the Family Court probation officer will in future be paid by the provincial government, according to Ald Thomas. The machine, purchased last year for approximately $600, has already saved the city its cost, after only six months in operation, it was stated.

That the yield of living is affecting everybody, was illustrated to council with the request from Bowling Alleys Ltd., for an increase in the price of gravel supplied to the city. Mr. Fitzgibbon noted his suppliers were receiving an additional 50c per yard for gravel and he asked for a markup of 1% per ton from the present. Council turned down the action by the public works committee of the whole and Ald. Anderman, "we are opposed to paying any more money."

Luxury Travel Across Ocean Shown in Film

"Half the Time" Getting There", a technicolor sound feature produced by Cunard Lines on luxury travel across the North Atlantic on the Queen Elizabeth, was given its first public showing anywhere at the Monday noon meeting of the Belleville Rotary Club in Hotel Quinte.

The picture, presented by the compliments of Cunard Lines, by their representative, Norman Catton made an honest man of president George Campbell whose tales of luxury at sea have been met with less than belief by the membership.

Art Francis expressed the thanks of the club to the Cunard Line for making the film available.

Two new members were admitted to Rotary. They were Harold Legate and Colonel William Ezra of the Salvation Army.

The United Nations flag, presented to the Belleville Club by Waterlown Rotarians at their international meeting in Watertown Monday was displayed upside down in keeping with the topsy-turvy spirit of the day.

An announcement of ladies night and golf tournament and new executive to be held at Tobey's this Thursday evening and the reading of a number of correspondence took up the business portion of the meeting.

Apprenticeship Shown as Step To Higher Pay

Just how apprenticeship training can benefit the young mechanic was demonstrated during the week for supervisory jobs in their respective trades, or are getting higher wages than the top prevailing rates received by regular tradesmen.

And even while serving apprenticeships in the various construction trades young men actually earn more than the rate established by collective bargain. This pay is increased annually until at the end of the apprenticeship period the young worker is receiving the same pay as the skilled tradesman.

Get More Than Minimum

Apprentices in the Belleville area where rates of pay for apprentices are established get more than the minimum called for under the apprenticeship act.

For instance, the first man commencing training as an apprentice carpenter receives 45 cents per hour for the first year of training and then receives 50 cents required by the act. A second year apprenticeship ranges between $1.20 and $1.30 as compared with the 65 cent minimum. A third year man receives $1.50 and a fourth year student, $1.65, the union rate as the journeyman carpenter.

The same relative percentage rates exist in the case of the other construction trades, such as electricians, plumbers, sheet metal workers.

After completing training many apprentices quickly elevate themselves to supervisory positions or because of ability command a higher rate of pay than the tradesman who does not have the qualifications.

Charles Wilson, representative of the Belleville Builders' Exchange, presenting a brief on apprenticeship wages and their position relative to attracting young apprentices, noted that emphasis should be placed on the actual rate received by learners and not on the minimum rate as required by the apprentices act.

Rates Above Schedule

He pointed out that the prevailing rates are approximate in the Belleville area well exceed the rates established by the union and the Belleville Builders' Exchange. He emphasized that an enthusiastic young apprentice can in reality start at a laborer's wage and in a short time outstrip his unskilled brother.

The committee recommended that the provincial advisory committee give consideration to reviewing the minimum percentage wage rates for apprentices to bring them more in line with the actual prevailing rates. A starting rate of 40 per cent. of the prevailing journeyman rate was suggested.

The meeting named Francis Scott, 38 Johnson Street, a third year bricklayer apprentice, to compete in the bricklayers' apprenticeship competition to be held this year at the Canadian National Exhibition. Thirty two apprentices across Ontario will compete.

A Queen Scout's View Of Elizabeth's Coronation

By GEORGE HOSANG

Gilwell Park, June 7

Sunday morning we attended a Scout's own service in the camp chapel conducted by the camp chief, John Thurman.

In the afternoon we had a private bus take us to Westminster Abbey for the Commonwealth Youth service. The service was conducted by the Dean of Westminster and the Archbishop of Canterbury preached the sermon.

The abbey looked magnificent with the very elaborate extra seating stands and the chairs in which royalty sat, especially the dais and the Queen's chair. We saw the Coronation chair with the Stone of Destiny, as we were filing out of the Abbey.

Gilwell Park, June 8

Our bus to ok us to Hampton Court Palace today to visit the palace and Lady Baden-Powell. The palace is a very interesting combination of architecture of different periods. Lady Baden-Powell showed us her apartments. She had many pictures and sketches of Lord Baden-Powell. Gilwell Reunion Park was at one time the Chief Scout of Scouts all over the world).

That evening we went to the Royal Albert Hall to see the show "The Boy Scouts". This was a very outstanding performance written especially for the Boy Scouts' Jubilee Festival by a huge cast of Scouts from the surrounding districts. In brief, it involved a boy who becomes interested in the scouting movement and shows his progress in his troop.

Gilwell Park, June 9

At 9:30 this morning we proceeded to Marlborough House in the afternoon to be inspected by the Duke of Gloucester, the Chief Scout. Lord Rowallan, was there and acted as C.O. of the parade composed of the Commonwealth contingents to the Coronation.

That evening back at camp we started getting our equipment ready for the parade the next day.

Gilwell Park, June 10

Today had been anxiously awaited by the whole troop, we started our free time. Some drew the tents, into their bunks went the rest of the contingent and on went the stickers. I was one of a few who were left to load the baggage truck when the camp was and bunk bunks late. Well, we laborers got a free ride to Buckingham Palace next base of operations.

That night I went to visit one of my relatives here in London.

London, June 11

The beginning of the colors: I decided to brave the crowds and try to get a picture of the Queen riding by in the Coronation coach. Finally, I managed to get myself just inside the Mall at the Buckingham Palace end of it. Before she came, the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret and the royal children passed. The Queen rode perfectly, I had a view of her more than a little trouble with his frisky horse.

After words I made my way to Scout H. Q. on Buckingham Palace Road and went up to the roof to watch the fly past of Canberra jet bombers.

In the afternoon another relative met me and we went to browse around the Queen Mary Museum. It would take a week to do the place justice, but it was very interesting to see the principles and so on being everyday things that we take for granted.

London, June 12

Today I was taken to the Royal tournament. This is a very outstanding affair. It was presented in events, some being precision drill by the Royal Marines, massed military bands drilling, a field gun obstacle course contest between Chatham (Navy) and Fleet Air Arm, (Fleet Air Arm won to the disappointment of many Navy supporters), the R.C.M.P.'s Musical Ride (I think they stole the show) and drill by various cavalry units. In all it was a very excellent production.

Windsor, June 13

Actually this was a poor day to pick to go to Windsor, and on the other hand a good one. I had had enough of crowds to suit me for quite awhile and there was bound to be another crowd at Windsor agreeing with me that I am. She was coming there for the week-end before going to Spithead. Not be earlier I walked all around climbed up to the Round Tower (His step) from which there was a wonderful —view and took pictures of the Horseguards Parade and of George's chapel. The chapel is a very beautiful piece of architecture.

I still do not know how I waited in town for the Royal Party at the beginning of which I was already dead tired. I only hope I am watching with some of the spirit that these remarkable English people have. Certainly have a lot to learn from them!

London, June 14

At Northolt Airport there were not enough airplanes to suit me, so I took the bus to London Airport where I secured a rubber neck. I saw planes from many airlines and of many different types. Presently I decided to go for an airplane ride over London. I managed to take a couple of pictures.

Later when I could wait no longer to try and get home, I went back to Roland House to get ready to go to Gilwell to be what I could see of the Coronation Naval Review.

I took a middle-of-the-night train to Portsmouth Harbor to avoid the crowds. I slept almost all the way. I ed the crowd all right but I did not have the slightest idea where to go when I got there as it was still the middle of the night. Eventually I got to the waterfront and tried to sleep the night away (in vain however).

When I could see, there was a very impressive array of the world's sea power before me.

Later in the afternoon when the H.M.S. "Surprise" sailed to the head of the fleet, a salute boomed out. I watched the Queen's ship as long as possible. Later I took a boat trip out through the lines and saw a number of the ships. Illustrations of various ships, I stayed and watched the illumination of the fleet and the fireworks. On the way back I saw Princess Margaret's ship.

London, June 16

Today I visited some relatives.

Romford, June 17

Today we assembled preparatory to leaving for Southampton to go home. We licked stickers and repacked our clothes all afternoon.

London, June 18

I was up at 6.00 a.m. today. Our train left Waterloo station at 10.02. Our ship the Samaria will sail at 12.45 p.m..

So between the beginning of the end of a trip never to be forgotten by all of us on this contingent and also the rest of the world. I think we were most impressed with the spirit of the British people which never wavered even in the face of the poor weather which besieged them nearly the whole time of their time of supreme rejoicing.

TorontoSymphony Orchestra Will Play at Trenton

TORONTO (CP)—Television was blamed Monday for the $8,935 deficit of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra Association during the 1952-53 season.

At the directors' annual meeting, retiring president W. G. Watson and conductor Sir Ernest MacMillan said United States symphonies have found their audiences returning after the initial impact of television.

Mr. Watson said revenue was down $6,000 from the previous year.

Among concerts arranged for this year are ones at Ann Arbor and East Lansing, both in Michigan. The orchestra will also play at Trenton, Ont., and Kingston.

Quinte Sea Cadet Corps Triumphs In Annual Eastern Ontario Regatta

Flushed with triumph, forty-five officers and other ranks of the Quinte Sea Cadets Corps arrived home Sunday from Kingston bearing with them trophies of victory won in the Eastern Ontario Sea Cadet Corps annual regatta.

Lieut. H. D. MacKenzie's youthful bluejackets won the whaler sailing race in two straight heats, divided first-place honors with the Cornwall corps in the penice sailing division, and took second place in the swimming tournament, and boat-pulling event.

The regatta held off the naval jetty in Kingston harbor attracted some 300 cadet officers and other ranks. Taking part were corps from Belleville, Kingston, Cornwall and Peterborough.

The Cornwall corps divided the senior sailing honors by winning the second heat from "Quinte" by scant inches. Kingston's whaler crew, however, won the swimming events and the boat-pulling event. The swimming races were held in the Royal Military College pool.

Leading Seaman R. Bradshaw of Quinte, was the proudest cadet in the fleet Sunday as he drove his dinghy across the finish line in two straight heats in the penice sailing division. With his as crew were Able Seamen P. Brown and R. Shandrew.

Close Finish

In the senior sailing race Petty Officer Andrew Shandrew skippered his craft over the finish line the winner by a first heat. Crewmen were Leading Seaman K. Bradshaw and Able Seaman "Woody" Woodacre.

In the second heat Shandrew and Woodacre's craft entry were running neck-and-neck when the "Quinte" dinghy deserted in the trouble. Shandrew was forced to come about and lost about four length in the manoeuvre. Quinte seamanship however closed the gap and as the crowd of spectators cheered, Shandrew pushed his craft to within inches of the Cornwall crew's entry and ended the finish line.

The Quinte crew chased the Kingston corps to a close finish in the boat-pulling contest with Cornwall finishing third and Peterborough fourth.

Quinte Corps garnered six seconds bowing to the Kingston natators. Taking part for the Belleville corps were Able Seamen H. Alexander, F. Shandrew, "Woody" Woodacre, Houston, Carmichael and Mitchell.

Lieut. MacKenzie paid appreciative tribute to Lieut.-Col. R. H. Widdifield, commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, who supplied coaches and transports, under Sergeant K. Fisher, to convey the corps to Kingston and return.

Lieut. MacKenzie also expressed appreciation of "the hospitality accorded his command by the host corps. The boys were quartered in "HMCS Cataraqui" barracks on Saturday night.

With the officer commanding were Lieut. R. Watson, executive officer Sub Lieut. Bert Lutes, Lieutenant and Midshipman E. Richards. The latter two were assigned as regatta officers.

The "Quinte" Corps had one hundred per cent of its personnel in attendance.

Up to 150% More Spark Plug Life!
Cars seldom retained their original pep prior to Shell's discovery of TCP! The natural fuel impurities and deposits accumulating on spark plugs and in combustion chambers caused poor performance and required the mixture to pre-ignite—especially when accelerating, hill-climbing or towing heavy loads.
TCP in Shell Premium Gasoline overcomes this power-wasting, fuel-wasting condition. It prevents these deposits from causing misfiring and pre-ignition. The results in an increase of up to 150% more power and 150% more spark plug life and greater gasoline mileage, too!

U. S. CRITICISM OF TRUCE EFFORTS

"Know the enemy" is sound advice.

It is, however, also highly desirable that one should know, and understand, one's friends and allies.

When these friends and allies are ruled by democratic processes, it is not sufficient to understand and evaluate the policies of the government. One must also study the arguments of the opposition—for these arguments may sway public opinion and this public opinion may, in its turn, be reflected by an important change in policy of the government.

Most Canadians, in common with the peoples of other Commonwealth countries and those of the democracies of western Europe, have had their hopes raised in recent weeks by developments in Korea. The Eisenhower administration has shared with its allies the satisfaction in the progress that has been made at the truce table. But in the United States there is a strong current of dissatisfaction, amongst a powerful minority group, with all the premises on which truce efforts are based. For evidence of this fact, we refer to a Washington story at the week-end which reported that, although President Syngman Rhee's stock has sunk swiftly among the Republicans as the result of his liberation of anti-Red prisoners, Rhee has defenders in Congress.

The most recent issue of "U.S. News and World Report," a publication with well-edited news columns devoted to international and national affairs, contains several articles which reveal the type of thinking behind this support of Rhee and this criticism of truce efforts.

We do not expect Canadians will take kindly to the innuendoes scattered throughout these articles — but let it be said right now that the motive behind them appears to be unmistakable. It is a desire, to provoke a Third Great War — and the editors of "U. S. News Report" regard the truce talks in Korea as a type of appeasement which will make such a conflict highly probable, if not inevitable.

"The story of the Korean truce agreement is the story of a Far Eastern Munich," says Editor David Lawrence, in an editorial entitled "Is World War Three Now Inevitable?"

The argument is that, after the North Korean army invaded South Korea in June of 1950, "always there was the objective of unification by military means being employed at last." But it was not long, says Mr. Lawrence, "why didn't the U.N. order a stop before our forces crossed the 38th. parallel in early October 1950 and call them for a truce?"

The answer appears to us to be obvious. The North Korean army was a beaten force. Common sense suggests that the thing to do in October 1950 was to complete its defeat, regardless of whether or not this defeat was to be followed by unification of the country. Lawrence notes that "suddenly in June of 1951 the Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, announced that a truce would be accepted in and around the 38th parallel and that unification of Korea was now only a political objective". This statement was, of course, that by June, 1951, the Chinese Reds had entered the fray and there was no longer any prospect of a quick military victory.

Lawrence unashamlessly admits that "not all the blame rests on our European allies." But he adds that "the British have favored a 'peace at any price' because they feared American military, industrial and financial resources would be diverted to Asia instead of Europe." There is just one word wrong with that statement. It is the word "peace" in the article "a" in the phrase "peace at any price." But what a difference one word makes!

* * *

But if Lawrence is unfair to the British, he is equally unfair to the U.S. administrations, past and present, Democratic and Republican.

For instance, he says that, besides Britain and France, "America, too, failed the world in the 1930's, under Republican and Democratic administrations, by vacillation, declining to make clear that the United States would come to the aid of countries which were the victims of aggression. Hitler took advantage of this aloofness and never regarded seriously the messages of protest that continued to come to him from President Roosevelt in 1939—too late to be respected and giving no hint that they would be backed up by military force."

Has Lawrence completely forgotten recent history? Where is the sane man who will maintain that, in 1939, the President of the United States could have united the nation with him if he had pledged armed intervention in a war in Europe? What brought the United States into the Second World War, anyway? Did it not clearly decided to back up the victims of aggression by military force? Or was there some little episode called Pearl Harbor?

But if Lawrence is unfair to Roosevelt, he is equally unfair to Eisenhower. He quotes with approval remarks by Eisenhower: "This essential, indispensable unity means compromise—always within a clearly defined, clearly understood framework of principle." Then he asks, "Must we compromise with evil men in the Kremlin who have stirred up millions of people against us?"

But Eisenhower was talking about the necessity of compromise with the allies of the U.S., not with its enemies. Could anything be more unjust than to twist thus the meaning of this wise and courageous statement of policy by the U.S. president?

* * *

The editorial is at the back of the magazine. In the front, under the heading "Tomorrow," appear these sentences: "Churchill, for Britain, is playing for the middleman's role between U.S. and Russia. He's the 'honest broker' in the deal. Britain, saved repeatedly by U.S., still doesn't like U.S. leadership, thinks it knows best."

Is that the way to win friends and influence allies? And when we start talking about who saved whom, is there not just a chance that in the Second World War not only did the United States save Britain—and Russia — but Britain also saved the United States—and Russia too, may well have saved both Britain and the United States. With less than a decade passed since the conclusion of the war, we seem to be already forgetting by what a narrow thread victory hung at certain crucial moments of the war. The Battle of Britain and Tobruk, Kursk and Stalingrad, these, to name important battles.

And, lastly, consider an article headed "Allies Will Not Back U.S. Against Communism in Asia." The article itself is the text of a speech by Hon. Lester B. Pearson, Canadian Secretary of State for External Affairs and President of the United Nations General Assembly.

"There are some who believe" that in Asia it may be necessary to provide "active encouragement of and support for anti-Communist elements in China and elsewhere, and strong support for governments of any regime which is opposed to Communism, irrespective of its nature or its popular support." But, he continued, "no decision has been made it is clear that he included himself in this group—who believe "our obligation in this matter is positive, not negative, not to intervene against Asian Communism, intervention which would be misplaced in Asia as Western and colonial, but to help democratic Asian governments build up free and stable institutions which will defeat Communism by defeating the evils and the welfare of the underprivileged and undernourished millions of the East than Communism can ever hope to do."

It is permissible for the editors of "U.S. News Report" to disagree with Pearson on this issue—but is this disagreement justification for interpreting Pearson's statement by a headline "Allies Will Not Back U.S. Against Communism in Asia?"

* * *

In closing, let us make clear the objective of this editorial. It is not to question the right of the editors of "U.S. News Report" to hold such views or to publicize them; it is not even, primarily, to answer their arguments. Rather it is to assist readers of this paper to understand some of the opinions held by some U.S. citizens, by outlining for them some of the arguments on which these opinions are based.

Letter to the Editor

Dentist Gives Facts About Fluoridation

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

First of all may I say I have followed your editorials since you first took over, and I think you have found many of them interesting and instructive.

Your article regarding fluoridation in the issue of June 18th, and particular letter to the unasmuch as I have a little interest in the subject. Do you mind you quote the statements or a pure anti-fluoridationist and from the point of view of a layman who has not given the matter any serious study.

In your second paragraph you have acknowledged its value as a partial preventative of dental caries. I appreciate that. But your statement appears to be only partially correct in that fluoridation is of value only, in large part, during the period of tooth development. Little benefit accrues to the adult.

Therefore, following the latter premise don't you think the proposition, as expressed in paragraph three, is rather illogical when that same adult, likely a parent, dictates to his child that he should not have it, and that because of its future benefit to his children's teeth? Argument it sounds to me both weak and biased. I note you refer to the lighter brush of viewpoint aside.

You may have information on the subject of which I am unaware, in regard to item four, fourth paragraph regarding the contention that no one knows what harm may be done to the body over a period of years. Are there records of the effect on places on the continent, and I refer particularly to sections of Colorado and Colorado where the water has a fluorine content that is far above the amount that carries prevention, where people have lived normal lives and have perfectly normal lives through the generations. I have personally known a number of children's mouths in years past and know that they were practically free from tooth decay. The teeth were badly discolored by the excess of fluorides, but in the groups I saw, ranging from 10 years of age to 20 years, nothing untoward in their general well being. Those children are now going strong in those areas to which I refer, and they are only born out of many, for a number of years and appear to be good livers and healthy citizens.

May I point out what appears to be to me a further weakness in your editorial in paragraph six. Dentistry, as I see it, is not a specialized profession. It is one, among other, reasons. It is the most costly reason because it has to go through and then to equip an office. My observation, public opinion to the contrary, is that often the less expensive courses of treatment are the best. I have a boy friend Gerald Moxton will back me in this statement. Dentistry is very, very little glamor in the profession. And this leads up to the fact that there is a definite shortage of dentists today. The result and consequence is that even the present number of graduates, many of them are forced to enter practice or enter other fields, added to this is the inability of many parents to afford the cost. cities to pay dental fees for adequate treatment, or who through carelessness or ignorance neglect their children's welfare.

Do you not agree with me that these children should have every possible chance with the preference of parents who drive about in unpaid for cars and pay cash for the gasoline?

Yours truly,
J. R. Guthridge.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

An old friend of mine got into the shirt manufacturing business some years ago. He was the most young men were set up in business. Wealthy men did not care to invest in the shirt business because they were too stodgy, nor in stocks because they were too flighty to put their hard-earned up them off to some likely young man who was making his way in some local industry; but who was not yet making anything more than a salary. And this young man was invited to take over the management of his own little factory dustly. He was given a share of it. It exchange for his efforts. And generally, in due time, he was able to buy out the whole thing.

My friend built a grand little business. He had no trouble selling all the shirts he could make, because they were among the best of their line. He was a shirt manufacturer, not a shirt seller. The selling was done easily by a sales manager and his staff because the shirts were tops in their line and at their price.

As time went on the only man in the business who showed any particular interest in the sales was the eager. More and more, my friend, the owner, passed responsibility and authority onto the sales manager. When he reached the age and affluence that permitted him to retire, he left Florida or California or the coronation, he made the sales manager the owner and sold him some shares.

The new boss, a salesman, was hungry for and shirts. Just making shirts that sold themselves, because they were making them well enough, He began directing the factory, and began making and selling solid. In no time at all, the whole character of the business was altered. To those days the factory would make anything. And don't think the sales manager and the new boss proved that the factory could be expanded, new premises added.

"There isn't a shirt", says my friend, "made in the whole place that I would wear. The smartest salesmen in the world couldn't sell me a single shirt of my own manufacture. They won't sell them. As a good price. The new owners are delighted. They don't realize they are in the shirt dropping line at a rate. Me, I want a business in which the making is more important than the selling."

World Language Hard to Accept

(Ottawa Journal)

A good many English-speaking people still believe the way to bring understanding to those unfamiliar with their language is to speak louder. In bygone days, when most of the world found profitable or shrewd to accommodate Great Britain and the United States, the method seemed surprisingly well; other races learned English and the Anglo-Saxons thought they were spreading civilization.

Unfortunately, we now appear to have reached a hard core of resistance. Some 250,000,000 speak English but the stubborn Russians, 150,000,000 of them at least, are not among them, and probably look at English as suspiciously and apprehensively as we examine a Russian document.

Then there are 120,000,000 who speak Japanese, and although they prefer German, while French and Italian have about 60,000,000 each. Then we shudder at 450,000,000 Chinese to whom the benefits of our language have not yet been carried, the 200,000,000 who prefer Portuguese and the 100,000,000 Japanese doggedly sticking by their own language.

Noted linguist professor, Mario A. Pei of Columbia University, has put forward a tentative suggestion for a world language using, as we have done, the Latin roots common to Russian Alphabet. This is intriguing because the English-speaking peoples themselves prescribe Latin to be most determined to have others conform to their own language thought.

We recognize the need of understanding the Russians better, and the Chinese and the Malays and the Serbs. But we are not going to encourage the professor. We can get along with Esperanto as an average English-speaking Canadian, American and Englishman finds French tongues incomprehensible.

But what if peace has to come via a common language we give up right now. Then we will have the Russian and offer a friendly greeting to some one from the Urals, by waving a hand. Or we will sweep over us and our children will be sending smoke signals from the Gatineau Hills, signals that the primitives in the next range will have no comprehension of as Malaysian radio speech is to us today.

To Live Long Jangle Gently

(London Free Press)

From the lips of Satchel Paige, the baseball Negro pitcher, who, according to sports writers, is "45 going on 60", come gems of advice on how to live long and well. He seems to have been around the baseball diamonds since Abner Doubleday, has reduced the formula for Colliers' readers to a few rules any hard-driving executive might well adopt. Says Satchel:

"Avoid fried meats, which angry up the blood.

"If your stomach disputes you, lie down and pacify it with cool thoughts.

"Keep the juices flowing by jangling your arms and legs as you move.

"Go very lightly on the vices, such as carrying on in society. The social ramble ain't restful.

"Avoid like the plague the idea that you are resting when you are not sleeping. Somebody might be gaining on you."

NEVER SAY DYE, SAY DARKER

Some nostrums that purport to restore the natural or original color to hair that has turned gray or fallen out are shipped in interstate commerce and hence under the purview of the federal authorities. Just how to achieve this is a harassing problem unless the person using the nostrum happens to be allergic to one or more ingredients in the preparation. Others are risky.

If I had to dye to win, that is, if I believed I could keep my job a little longer by dyeing my graying hair, you bet your Aunt Carmelita I'd entrust the job to a reliable barber or hair dresser.

Now listen, folks. This serious and I hope you won't laugh and shun my counsel. The only sure cure I know is death, for taxes, I am sorry to guarantee or even assurance of satisfaction from the application of hair tonics or dyes. Could I suggest or recommend to your doctor that you ask him to indicate how earnest I am about the preventives I prescribe? I think that I take my own medicine.

There's the Iodin Ration, for example. My stars, I've been taking this now for years and was a pup but since Mr. Gilchrist came to live at our house. Tony, if you're over here, I'll tell my loved Welsh Terror whose last reproachful tail wag I can't forget, and Mr. Gilchrist was a monster who preyed on rabbits, chipmunks and muskrats—his favorite pastime was - hiding in the bushes and pouncing on passers by to sharpen his claws. Eventually Gil had the household and neighborhood so thoroughly cowed that he presumed too far: as a strolled about, smoking my afternoon pipe, first smoke of the day, Mr. Gilchrist ambushed me and gave me the full treatment. He succumbed shortly afterwards after all, there's a limit to our tolerance.

Tony, Gilchrist and I used to foregather for our daily Iodin Ration. None of us was particularly concerned about graying hair but one of us wanted to keep his arteries free and soft as long as possible, for he felt the call to teach good health and he knew that would take a long, long time.

Through the years a great many readers have reported their convincement that the Iodin Ration has started or rekindled premature graying of the hair. Indeed, many of them insist that it has restored the natural hue of the natural color and lustre to hair that was dull and lifeless.

Remember, now, all I say is this: If you deliberate or have already begun touching up, darkening or dyeing your hair, it can do you no harm, but it may improve your health and spirits, to get the Iodin Ration meant of Iodin.

If space is available we'll have more to say another day about dyeing, darkening or coloring hair.

TODAY'S TALK

NEIGHBORS ALL

When I met a fellow having dinner in London and the next morning breakfast in New York, it makes me do a lot of thinking. What has become of distance? How the world has sneaked up on Time! In reality it is One World, and we are actually neighbors all!

What a world it would be if we could only get rid of our hates, prejudices, and intolerance! The people of this world were created to be happy wherever they have been placed. And it was never meant that any one people should dominate or dictate to any other. I always get a thrill when I pass the border between the United States and Canada—because it's just like calling upon a neighbor at home!

Every nation has its special qualities, and each should be respected and respected. We learn from all the nations. Each has its good points, all the intelligence and good points of the entire human race. God gifted them all. There are joy and happiness in every nation. We see excellence in others and are inspired to do it for ourselves.

For thousands of years nations have carried on war against their neighbors. In fact has it figured end of many a nation, for there are always those who are only temporary conquerors. Where are the triumphs of Alexander, and Napoleon, and Julius Caesar?

Live and let live has a meaning that we have yet to demonstrate. What is the right of a nation to tax beyond the limits of self-preservation, and to see that every citizen under its flag has a decent chance for life and happiness? What a precious thing is universal brotherhood! Neighborliness not all about us, no matter where we live. We don't fight them. We have learned to be well toward them. Then why is all this fighting among nations neighborly? We are neighborn all, whether in small groups or larger ones?

WHAT'S YOUR HURRY AND WORRY?

From a train window a few days ago I looked down upon a parking lot right across the street from a railroad station. It was full of cars. I had to wait a while for a parking lot in which the lanes were so wide. One could get in and out of that parking lot without any difficulty. The whole picture was functional. It spelled out modernity. But there are many parking lots in which one can scarcely squeeze a car, and which is a spell philosophy if we ever heard one "Don't look back. Something might be gaining on you."

Yet very slightly on the vices, such as carrying on in society. The social ramble ain't restful." Finally, I smell philosophy if we ever heard one "Don't look back. Something might be gaining on you."

People—the people whose lives are so jammed with activities that they are tired and exhausted are and frustration is in every accent of their voices, are constantly exhausted. They are mentally confused. In great cities, especially there are others who get no end of work done. It is easily done, with so many people to confer with conversations and hobbies. Such people are like the parking lot with the wide lanes—taking life in their stride, getting nowhere but gaining their ends without tension and hullabaloo. And they make a car, and seem to have all the time they desire.

God took six long ages to make His world, and He rested on the seventh. Nothing in nature is hurried.

Usefulness of Papers

(Editor and Publisher, N.Y.)

Newspaper readers paid $5,000,000 more than $3,000,000 in 1952 for their daily reading matter and almost $8,000,000 more than in 1951 the U.S. and Canada. This totals more than a billion and a quarter dollars spent for newspaper reading the year. No other figures could speak so eloquently as to the day-to-day usefulness of newspapers in the lives of the people.

Hockey Assoc., Past Chairman Of Commission, Answer Charges

The $3,000 guarantee over a 50-50 split of the gate given by the Belleville Arena Commission last winter to the Belleville Hockey Association, went towards the cost of operation of minor hockey in the city, members of the city council were told yesterday through a letter from J. N. Yarover, chairman of the association.

The letter was in reply to a charge made by Alderman Don Thomas in council two weeks ago that the Belleville Arena Commission had subsidized junior hockey.

Mr. Yanover in his letter gave an account of the Association's receipts and expenses and also noted that in fact the Association had subsidized the minor hockey activities, considered by most people to be necessary. The Association had supervised and directed minor hockey with approximately 300 boys up to and including junior age taking part.

Calculated Loss

He said that the Association had recognized that a loss on its operations was inevitable and had calculated last winter's loss would be about $3,000.

Total revenue for the Association for the season had been $11,-342.74 and against this were expenses of $13,198.01. Of the receipts "donated" money, including a payment of $2,101.39 from the arena commission, had totalled $4,254.26.

In conclusion Mr. Yanover said that the relations between the Belleville Hockey Association and the Arena Commission had always been most cordial. The Association had felt the Commission was doing a splendid job in exercising its responsibilities.

Alderman Tice as chairman of the arena commission at the time the guarantee of $3,000 over a 50-50 split of the gate had been given the hockey association, said that he had no apology to make for his vote on the matter.

He quoted the city by-law given authority to the commission to operate, the arena and said the hockey association had waited on the commission and showed figures on its operation had declared it was impossible to carry on under the present arrangements.

He referred to a $500 maximum on a 60-40 split given the senior hockey club at the same time and said it was too bad that Alderman Thomas had not made reference to this at the time he spoke about the juniors.

All Paid Out of Profits

Alderman Tice noted that Belleville ratepayers at no time had been called upon to make up a deficit for the arena. Since the arena was taken over by the city all maintenance, purchase of new equipment, debenture debt and its operations had been paid for out of profits.

In reply Alderman Thomas cited the net figure for junior hockey gates and expressed the opinion that the club had operated at a loss for junior hockey last winter.

Referring to the guarantee given by the commission to the senior club Alderman said it was preliminal" that the commission would give two such contracts to hockey clubs.

He referred to the debenture of about $60,000 still against the arena and noted the only way to hope for improvements to the building was to show enough profit to pay off this debt.

Debt Charges Reduced

Alderman McNevin noted that professional wrestling at the arena received a 60-40 split, this arrangement being in force at the time Alderman Thomas was chairman of the arena commission. In fact the "split" given professional wrestling was even greater than 60-40 as the arena paid advertising and other expenses.

Acting Mayor Charles Hyde said the arena last year had reduced its debt charges from $30,-000 to $24,000.

"The arena commission was lucky it had the money," observed Alderman Thomas.

"Not lucky," returned Alderman McNevin, "it was just a case of good management."

Bus Service To be Restored In Corporation

TRENTON (Special) — Council was quick to take action on the town transportation situation.

Last night the Clerk Treasurer O.W. Larry was delegated to advertise in the local press and any other publication for applicants to operate a bus servcie in the limits of the town.

At the same time Mayor R.E. Whitley was authorized to secure temporary transport service to operate during the Centennial period.

Until yesterday the Armstrong Bus Service held the franchise to operate bus service. On cancellation of service, the Armstrong company cancelled the lease of the contract with the town releasing the municipality of all responsibility and giving the town permission to start negotiations for a new service. The Armstrong Service will continue to operate a service between Trenton, Batawa and Frankford.

Complaints about excess creosote in the river prompted council to protest to the head office of the Dominion Tar and Chemical Co., in Toronto. Lately an number of visiting yachts sailed by the position in the water around the new government dock. And an increase in the number of dead fish floating on the surface of the harbor have given further cause for alarm.

The treasurer was authorized to issue a check for $5,000 to the Trenton Memorial Hospital as the town grant for 1953.

Two Belleville Rinks in Prize Money at Tourney

The Jones brothers, Walter and Bill, of Peterborough, carried off top honors in the doubles tournament held in Campbellford on Saturday. Two Belleville pairs Percy Graham and Cliff Argue, and Gordon Walkin and "Jerry" Hyde were second and third respectively, while Walter Wiggins and Fred Rutherford landed in fourth spot.

Jim Cullen and Ross Hopkins of Peterborough, had two-game high score with William Smith and Dwight Bennett having the one-game high. All the winners were presented with hams and bacon as prizes for their efforts during the afternoon and evening. The tournament was a double draw and was delayed during the first game by a severe electric storm and torrential rain but the tourney was finished before the midnight hour.

The women members of the club served a hot turkey dinner between games and they are to be complimented on the excellence of the repast. The green were in excellent condition, although slowed up a trifle by the rain in the afternoon.

KILLED ON HIGHWAY

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—John Yadro, 52, of Thorold, died in hospital here early today from injuries received Friday night when struck by a car as he walked along Highway 58 on his way to work.

HUNGER STALKS

The latest death penalty reported was meted out to communist Mayor H. W. Hartmann of Doebernitz, in Saxony-Anhalt. He was the first party official reported engulfed in the wave of terror and the 22nd German definitely known to have been executed.

Refugees said Hartmann knocked down a German communist policeman who fired into a crowd of demonstrators.

Soviet military courts dealt out scores of 25-year sentences in Magdeburg and Leipzig. Four thousand East Berliners were reported in jail.

Some Relaxation

There was some relaxation of the barrier of Soviet steel between East and West Berlin. The 40,000 East Berliners who normally work across the border were given special passes to cross the boundary daily. Presumably the beset east government was glad to get them away from the overcrowded food lines.

West Berlin throbbed with sympathy for the East German victims of the rebellion and its ensuing blood bath.

Workers raided three Communist party headquarters in the western sectors Monday night, ripping down Red flags and posters and burning Red literature and propaganda.

ST. LAURENT

No Point-by-Point Reply

Mr. St. Laurent made no point-by-point reply to Mr. Drew's 16-point manifesto, but in an apparent indirect general answer he stated: "When I asked for your confidence in 1949, I said that we Liberals were not going to compete with other political parties in making empty promises and trying to arouse exaggerated hopes. In a sense everybody believes that promises should be made only when they can be kept, and we have a proud record of keeping our promises and carrying out our policies."

"It would be happy," he added, "to have anyone read the speeches I made in 1949 and compare what I said we would try to do with what has been done."

The prime minister referred more specifically to an announced Progressive Conservative policy of "bold and imaginative" measures to expand trade by breaking dollar-sterling barriers.

Not "Blasting"

"I hope that does not mean blasting," he said in a reference to a policy of Conservative M. B. Weeks. "Trade Minister Howe has not been 'blasting' but 'I have greater confidence in his methods than in any I've heard of."

In another reference to opposition policies—on social security—Mr. St. Laurent said: "We must proceed with caution and gradually. They are things we do not make promises about but which we implement to the extent the Canadian people decide they want."

The prime minister did not refer to platform planks of the other opposition parties, and of the future policies of his own group he spoke in general terms. He renewed a 1949 declaration of policy.

Expand Prosperity

"Our aim is a land of expanding prosperity and expanding opportunities. Our aim is work for those who are able to work and security for the family and the home. Our aim is a strong and united Canada which will give full scope for the development of a free and a vigorous people.

"I believe the policies we have followed and the measures we have adopted have benefited Canadians in every walk of life and in every section of the country."

Mr. St. Laurent spoke here at a rally in the Windsor Arena in the East constituency of Health Minister Martin, who was with him on the platform.

Before reaching this city, Mr. St. Laurent got off his train Monday afternoon at Chatham in Liberal-held Kent riding, to assure Liberal supporters there of a "pretty warm" campaign.

Defence Plays Out

Defence played a substantial part in the prime minister's radio and Windsor speeches, with Mr. St. Laurent saying in them that nothing is more important for Canada than the prevention of another world war.

In this field, the government had accepted its share of the international responsibilities. It had given full support to the United Nations and had backed the Korea police action. It had been "unwavering" in support of NATO.

The strength needed for safety has not yet been reached but there are already many indications that the investments of the North Atlantic allies are having their effect.

"We have recognized that the greatest immediate threat of peace is in Korea and Europe, and consequently we have concentrated our efforts there.

"But the immediate defence of North America has not been neglected. Part of all three armed services for home defence has been greatly speeded up. . ."

In an obvious reference to opposition criticism of government spending based on the Currie report alleging maladministration in the army works services, Mr. St. Laurent held that Canada has been getting value for its defence dollar.

"Our political opponents have been able to point to almost no find evidence that our defence programs are extravagant and wasteful, but the evidence they have produced has certainly not been impressive." Prefer Reciprocity

Dealing with trade—on which the Liberals have been under fire from opponents, Mr. St. Laurent said Canada has been "pretty successful" in meeting post-war trade problems.

In the United States, influential groups demanding trade barriers had had "some success" but had not done serious damage up to now.

"But," the prime minister added, "the utmost vigilance and the greatest available wisdom and skill will be needed if Canada's interests in greater trade are to be promoted successfully in the United States and elsewhere in the world."

On federal-provincial relations Mr. St. Laurent said it always has been Liberal policy to safeguard the constitutional rights of the provinces. A major step would be to reach agreement with all provinces on methods of amending the constitution.

"We intend to keep on trying to reach such an agreement. I hope it will come in my day. I am sure it will come some time."

Weddings

GOLDEN—STANTON

Tall spikes of delphinium, petal-pink peonies and double orange blossoms in white standards adorned the chancel of Bridge Street United Church on Saturday, June 20, at 3:00 p.m., for a lovely candlelight wedding when Carol Mildred Stanton, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stanton, became the bride of John Floyd Golden, also of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Golden. The Reverend Duncan Mcrvain, minister of the church, officiated.

The wedding music was provided by the church organist, Mr. S. Alec Gordon, who accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Eric Lasby in her rendition of "Where'er You Walk", before the ceremony, and "O Promise Me", during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of pure white silk Florentine lace fashioned in cascading tiers with crinoline and matching lace with sculptured collar, and long sheath-like sleeves, ending in slip-points over the hand. Her imported tulle illusion fingertip veil was encrusted with seed pearls and held by a matching headdress. She carried a shower bouquet of Sweetheart roses, stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Miss Joyce Stanton, of Belleville, sister of the bride, was maid of honour. She wore a fingertip nylon net over taffeta with shirred bodice and bouffant skirt, and sleeveless chapel jacket.

Mrs. Norma Kemp, cousin of the bride, was attired in turquoise nylon net over taffeta made on identical lines to that of the maid of honour. Both wore matching bandeaux and carried bouquets of daisies in tints from gold to flamingo.

Little Miss Barbara Colden, of Roslin, five-year-old niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl, sweet in her applebloom nylon net over taffeta with sateen headdress and carrying a tiny nosegay of pink Sweetheart rosebuds.

Mr. Grant Badgley, of Belleville, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Don Stanton, brother of the bride; Max Colden, brother of the bridegroom, and John Myers, cousin of the bride, all of Belleville, acted as ushers.

The wedding reception was held in the church parlors, where the bride's mother, wearing rose-wood pure silk chiffon with handmade brilliant-set bertha collar, beige accessories and corsage of Talisman roses, received the many guests. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in delphinium blue chiffon, with black accessories, and corsage of pink Sweetheart rosebuds.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Colden left for Niagara Falls and the Southern United States, the bride travelling in a Mediterranean blue dressmaker suit with pique accessories and corsage of deep pink carnations. They will reside in Belleville upon their return.

Guests were present from Edmonton, Alberta; and Westlock, Alberta; Toronto, Roslin and Tweed, also Ottawa.

• • •

The bride was the honored guest previous to her marriage, at several showers: a kitchen and pantry shower at the home of Miss Pat Rose; a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Earl Morgan; a shower and supper party with Mrs. F. C. Miller, Mrs. G. G. Brearley and Mrs. H. Wray as hostess at the latter's summer home at Peat's Point; a shower, by Mrs. H. Carbutt, Mrs. V. White Mrs. L. Pascoe, Mrs. D. La France, Mrs. K. Fairman and Mrs. H. Mott at the home of Mrs. Fairman. Mrs. E. Kemp was hostess at a luncheon at the Golden Acre Inn, Kingston Road. A presentation was also given by members of the bride's bridge club, held at the home of Miss Dorothy Dobbe.

PAULSON—EDWARDS

In Chalmer's United Church, Vancouver, B.C., at six o'clock on Wednesday evening, June 10, the marriage took place of Miss Eleanor Edwards, Reg.N., third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Edwards, R.R. 2, Brockville, and George H. Paulson, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Paulson, of Vancouver, B.C. Rev. W. H. Watt was the officiating clergyman.

The bride looked lovely in a navy blue crepe frock, with white accessories and carried red roses and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Edwards, Reg.N., of Vancouver, in navy blue faille crepe and white accessories. Her flowers were pink roses and lilies of the valley.

The groom was supported by C. F. Best, of Vancouver, B.C.

Following the ceremony, the happy couple left by motor for Hillingham, Washington, and Vancouver Island, and other points. They will take up residence at Englewood, Vancouver Island, where the groom is on the staff of the Canadian Forest Products Co. The bride is a graduate of the Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Paulson plan on making their permanent home in Ontario.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

What You Should Do Depends on What You Want Most

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Just before I went into service a year ago, I asked my girl if she would marry me when I got out. Perhaps it was strictly a formal engagement, but she certainly gave me to understand that she wanted to marry me as much as I wanted to marry her, and that she would wait for me. She was old enough to know her own mind, too, because she was 23 at the time. I was the same age!

Some time ago I was on a weekend pass and when I tried to talk to her about marriage, she said she wasn't sure of her feelings yet. When I knew I was going to get home last week-end, I wrote as usual to set up a date with her for Saturday night. She wrote back and said she already had plans to visit relatives in another city that week-end, so I managed to get my leave changed for a later week-end.

Now I have just heard from a friend who speaks of having seen this girl out with another man that Saturday night, so she didn't go away and she wasn't with any relative.

What do you think I should do?

H.R.E.

Dear H.R.E.:

What you should do depends, I would think, on what you want most. That is, if you are so serious about this girl that you are willing to wait until she makes up her mind whether or not you are the man she wants, you'd better play along with her awhile without trying to force or argue her into making an immediate decision. Don't forget that, hard as it often is on the young man, when boys go to the service many girls are carried away by the excitement of the moment, and find that they didn't interpret their feelings correctly.

On the other hand, if you prefer to bring things to a head right now, so that if necessary you can close the book on romance and be ready for another, that's another story. Then just tell the girl that you don't want to hang around indefinitely and that it's up to her to say yes or no. It looks more, however, as though she'd be more likely to say no than yes if you confronted her with an ultimatum at this point, so better make up your mind with care before impatiently doing anything you might regret.

She'll Spoil a Nice Relationship If She Doesn't Watch Out!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have a couple 20 years old and I'm pretty sure I love. I am 16. He has taken me out a few times, but what I want to know is how I can find out if he loves me, too. He has never told me he loved me, and has never even kissed me, but holds my hand when we go to the movies and sometimes when we're walking along together. I am wondering if maybe he thinks he should'nt like me too much because we are cousins.

Please tell me how I can find out if he loves me, and if he does, why don't he show it?

Dear H.B.:

Many a teen-age girl has some older boy cousin who is a hero to her and about whom she weaves romantic dreams. That's perfectly normal. And the average older boy enjoys this hero-worship from a young girl relative and likes to keep it alive by paying her a little attention now and then. But if she makes a pest of herself by getting emotional about him, as you seem to be doing, it will embarrass him and he'll call the whole thing off.

So if you want to keep on 'enjoying this young man's company occasionally, I advise you to stop thinking about "loving" him, or whether or not he loves you. It's extremely unlikely that he does in the way you mean it. And stop expecting him to pet you when he takes you out. It would be far better if girls your age got a lot less of that when they go out with boys. Your cousin will like you much better if you take your pleasant relationship for the nice friendly thing it is, instead of trying to turn it into something sentimental. If you do, that'll be the end of it anyway.

In the Middle of a Muddle Do You Sit Down and Laugh?

As Told to Mary Moore by Florence

The writer of the letter which follows has given us three tested recipes and some sterling samples of her philosophy. She is an experienced cook as you can plainly see from the way in which she tells folk who give full measure heaped up and running over.

Dear Mary: When things in general get so thick you hardly know which way to turn, do you ever sit down and laugh? Sometimes I wonder, if I'm the only one who ever gets into muddles. I think I've not. My youngest son, wife and adorable baby have been living in part of my house—thank goodness I can make an apartment out of it—as no one seems to want these cherubs of one year old, unless it is the grandma. I've had to put several rooms of furniture into five rooms for the time being. I have found it quite a struggle, but it has been worth all the effort, especially when I hear that sweet little voice call "Nanna" and be coming over around the corner to find me.

I feel so near a kin to you that I think I adore Maryanne and Peter much as I do my own, and Maryanne and the witticisms as well as wonderful recipes. I just use every part of happy daily living around my home.

Since the warm weather will soon be with us to stay we hope to be "living on the cloud" will stop crying! I have a recipe I would like to share. It is an especially tasty, easy dessert and can be made ahead of time.

When I was at the cottage I would make enough to fill two pies, then if company came it all. If not, I could keep half for another day as the Graham Cracker crust will keep too. At a cottage one never knows if there will be room to share. It is an especially tasty, easy dessert and can be made ahead of time.

"Put into casserole 1 cup graham wafer crumbs—(18 or 20 crackers), 1-3 cup sugar, 1-2 cup melted butter. Mix these well and set aside 1-2 cup crumbs to use later for topping. Line a deep pie plate with remainder. Pat in with back of tablespoon. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 10 to 12 minutes.

Filling—Two cups sweetened cherries and juice. Drain juice from cherries bring to boiling and stir in a paste made of 4 level tablespoons cornstarch mixed with 1-4 cup cold water. Stir until thick and cook until transparent. (I think Florence would do this last cooking in covered double boiler, stirring occasionally.) Add cherries.

Topping—Two cups graham cracker

Time Is Ripe for Jams and Jellies

Tips for Home Jam And Jelly Makers

Beforehand Planning can save you much precious time once you actually get down to making your jam or jelly. Set out all the equipment you need—jelly glasses all thoroughly washed and scalded . . . wooden spoons, knives, colanders, measuring cups, ladles, etc. They should all be in a handy spot in the kitchen.

How Much Fruit to Buy—The actual purchasing of fruits will be governed by the size and requirements of your family. Recipes you get with commercial pectin, tell how much fruit is needed for each batch. It's an idea to consider jams and jellies for gift-giving, too, when you plan your buying.

To measure fruit for jam, pack solidly into measuring cup until fruit and juice come to exact measure. If there is a slight shortage, add water.

Jars and Glasses should be in top condition, of course. Discard all those that are chipped and cracked; it will save you much disappointment later on.

Filling Jars and Glasses: Some of you may be using jars that came with silver or salad dressing, some may have the regular jelly glasses. In either case, allow 1-3 inch space at the top of the glass . . . this gives ample room to pour on the wax for sealing.

Store Jellies carefully: After waxing and cooling, cover or tie down glasses and store in cool, dry place away from dust or dampness. Remember, spoilage is caused by growth of yeast and mold plants which are usually carried by dust.

Buy only the amount of commercial fruit pectin you plan to use in one season. If only 1-3 bottle of liquid pectin is required for a recipe, replace bottle cap, store in refrigerator, and use it within a month.

In most parts of Canada, right now is the time for making jams berries, cherries, currants—these and other favorite fruits, so delicious eaten each other in gay and colorful profusion. And there's no—better way to keep the fresh fruit season with us all year 'round, than by filling every available jar with jam and jelly.

There was a time when jam or jelly making was a job to be undertaken with some misgivings but those days are past. Today's homemaker has benefits of cool, speedy recipes, of modern time saving equipment...of convenient packaged wax to seal her jars. And—so very, very important—the benefits of concentrated fruit pectin.

What Pectin Does

To understand what an important aid fruit pectin is to the modern housewife, it is necessary to understand what pectin is—and what it does. Pectin is the natural jellying substance in fruits. Some fruits, like strawberries and cherries, contain very little natural pectin—and so, are poor fruits for jam and jelly. Others are richer in pectin, but even in these, the amount of pectin increases as the fruit ripens. These fruits "set" best when they are slightly underripe—before they reach the peak of their delicious flavor and rich color.

To get a proper "jell", it is necessary to have just the right proportions of fruit, sugar and pectin. In the old days, that meant that the fruit or juice had to be boiled with sugar, until the pectin reached the proper concentration for the jam or jelly to set. And what a trick it was, to judge just the moment when the jelly was ready to jell. Many batches of jam or jelly were spoiled, because the fruit used hadn't enough pectin to give a proper "set."

Get Good Results

Scientists who know about the necessary combination of fruit, pectin and sugar, did extensive experiments on the problem of jam and jelly-making. Their answer was concentrated fruit pectin in commercial form. When you use this pectin according to the proper kitchen-tested recipes, you get sure results—every time. You can use fruit that is fully-ripe —at its colorful, delicious best. You can use all the sugar called for with fruits' natural pectin and with the short-boil method, using concentrated pectin, you'll make jams and jellies that grandmother would have envied! In the old-fashioned long-boil method, fruits were often robbed of their fresh flavor by boiling. With the addition of concentrated fruit pectin, the jam or jelly is brought to a boil and boiled only one minute. And what wonders that does for the color and flavor of your jams and jellies—aside entirely from the time you save.

Just one word of advice. The recipes prepared by the makers of the well-known fruit pectins, are all carefully kitchen-tested and balanced for best results. Don't double them, or change them. If you want twice the amount of jam or jelly that the recipe produces, it's really more convenient—and surer—to make two single batches. Don't be disturbed if the amount of sugar called for sounds rather generous. Remember with the short-boil method, there is practically no loss of fruit or juice. You get up to half as much again jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit; there is no more sugar per jar —of finished jam, than with the old-fashioned method.

You probably know that there are two kinds of concentrated fruit pectin—liquid pectin, and powdered pectin. Each type carries its own booklet or leaflet of wonderful recipes, for all your favorite fruits. The recipes aren't interchangeable—you get marvellous results with either type of pectin, if you follow the recipes that have been developed for the pectin you use.

Sealing Your Jars

Of course, you'll want to assure a complete seal for these wonderful glasses of jam and jelly. So it's important to use new wax at all times, for old wax can cause spoilage.

Be sure to heat the wax in a small container over hot water—never over direct heat. Use an old coffee pot, or a small pan with pouring spout, or a small double boiler. For the best seal, pour a 1-8-inch layer of the melted wax over your jam or jelly immediately it is poured. Allow the wax to harden, then cover the glasses securely with paper covers, or with metal tops if you have them.

Here are some recipes to start you off on happy jam and jelly making. And look for the other delicious recipes that accompany each package or bottle of natural fruit pectin.

Strawberry Jelly and Jam

You use the same fruit for the jam and jelly.

Strawberry Jelly

2 cups juice
3 1-2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1-3 bottle liquid fruit pectin

To prepare the fruit—Crush thoroughly about 3 quarts fully ripe strawberries in a very large saucepan. Add 3-4 cup water and mix well. Cover and place over medium heat; then bring just to the simmering point. (Do not boil.) Place in large sieve lined with double thickness of cheesecloth. Drain and measure 2 cups juice into a large saucepan. Remove cheesecloth and fruit remaining in sieve for Strawberry Jam below.

To make the jelly—Add sugar and lemon juice to juice in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in liquid fruit pectin. Then bring to full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam with metal spoon, and pour quickly into glasses. Seal at once with 1-8 inch layer of melted wax. (Be sure to use new wax. Melt it in a pouring pot placed in a pan of hot water over low heat. Keep hot until time to use.) Yield: about 5 medium glasses.

Strawberry Jam

4 cups strawberries
7 cups sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1-2 bottle liquid fruit pectin

To prepare the fruit—Use strawberries remaining from Strawberry Jelly above. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan.

To make the jam—Add sugar and lemon juice to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in liquid fruit pectin. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Seal at once with 1-8 inch layer of melted wax. (Be sure to use new wax. Melt it in a pouring pot placed in a pan of hot water over low heat. Keep hot until time to use.) Yield: about 10 medium glasses.

Cherry and Gooseberry Jelly
(Using sour cherries)

4 cups (2 lbs.) juice
7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle liquid fruit pectin

To prepare the juice—Stem and crush (do not pit) about 2 pounds fully ripe sour cherries. Crush about 1 1-2 pounds fully ripe gooseberries. Combine fruits. Add 1-4 cup water; bring to a boil, and simmer, covered 10 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan.

To make the jelly—Add sugar to juice in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in liquid fruit pectin. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Seal at once with 1-8 inch layer of melted wax. (Be sure to use new wax. Melt it in a pouring pot placed in a pan of hot water over low heat. Keep hot until time to use.) Yield: about 7 glasses.

Cherry-Pineapple Conserve

4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
1-4 cup lemon juice

To make Conserve—Add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in liquid fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Seal at once with 1-4 inch layer of melted wax. (Be sure to use new wax. Melt it in a pouring pot placed in a pan of hot water over low heat. Keep hot until time to use.) Yield: about 11 six-ounce glasses.

Note—For stronger cherry flavor, add 1-4 teaspoon almond extract before ladling jam.

Spiced Ripe Blackberry Jelly

3 cups juice
4 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare the juice— Crush thoroughly about 2 quarts fully ripe blackberries (not black raspberries). Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 3 cups into a large saucepan. Add 1-2 to 1 teaspoon each, cinnamon, cloves, and allspice or any desired combination of spices.

To make the jelly—Measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding juice over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Strawberry Jam in 15 minutes from the time your fruit is prepared

COMPARE THESE TWO METHODS

WITH CERTO

1. Mrs. A. makes jam the short-boil way with CERTO. She has 2 pounds of fruit prepared ready to start at 9 o'clock.

2. The dotted line shows level of the prepared fruit in Mrs. A's saucepan.

3. Mrs. A. adds 3 pounds of sugar. A pound of jam made with CERTO contains no more sugar than a pound made the old long-boil way, but she knows the CERTO recipe will give her 50% more jam.

4. Mrs. A. brings the mixture to a full rolling boil; boils hard ONE MINUTE only; removes from stove and adds ½ bottle (4 ozs.) Certo. CERTO is the natural jellying substances in fruit in concentrated form.

5. Mrs. A. is able to pour and paraffin about 5 pounds (10 glasses) of jam from her 2 pounds of fruit. She gets sure results because she follows the CERTO recipe EXACTLY.

6. Mrs. A's 10 glasses of jam were made in just 15 minutes.

THE OLD WAY

1. Mrs. B. makes jam the old-fashioned, long-boil way. She, too, is ready to start her jam making at 9 o'clock.

2. Mrs. B. starts off with the same amount of prepared fruit in her saucepan.

3. Mrs. B. uses the old-fashioned long-boil recipe which calls for "one pound of sugar to every pound of fruit". So she weighs out 2 pounds of sugar and adds it to her prepared fruit.

4. Mrs. B. boils the mixture about 20 minutes before the jam thickens to the desired consistency. This evaporates about ⅓ the weight of the fruit, darkens the color and carries off much of the natural fresh-fruit flavor in steam.

5. Mrs. B. pours and paraffins about 3 pounds (6 glasses) of jam from the same amount of fruit. Until it is finished she cannot tell for sure how well her jam will turn out.

6. Mrs. B. took 45 minutes to make her 6 glasses of jam.

Certo gave Mrs. A. sure results... much more jam... saved time, work and money

How to Play Winning Baseball

By ARTHUR MANN

The Infield — Part I

The over-all position of an infield is a fixed one. It is based on pattern, not on individual talent. Movement in one direction produces a compensating movement in another part. "A big league manager sees his infield as a unit, not as separate pieces, they tell him. The sooner an infielder thinks in terms of pattern — what the others will do when he moves — the smoother he will be part of that manoeuvering pattern. Some of the game's greatest individual players were not part of great infields, because they couldn't regiment or bridle their moves to be part of the shifting pattern.

No infield can stop every ball batted back. The manager can only set up the pattern best suited to stop most of the line drives or ground balls hit to the batter against a given type of pitching. The biggest factor against successful infield defence is the speed of the batted ball. Fresco Thompson, now a Brooklyn Dodger executive, expressed it 25 years ago.

"So Eddie Collins was a smart infielder" said Thompson when the baseball was at its liveliest. "Well, I'd like to see Collins execute some of the grounders that comes at us nowadays."

The situation is really complex, though, when the speed of the batted ball is backed by a speedy runner like Richie Ashburn, Mickey Vernon, Duke Snider, Sam Jethroe, Bobby Thomson and other "sprinters."

The most biggest source of trouble to infield pattern defence is "wrong field" hitting, or the drive to the unprotected spot. The problem belongs in mind somewhat classic remark made by the immortal Babe Herman, of Brooklyn Dodger fame a generation ago. Herman hit a lusty wallop in spacious Braves Field, Boston, only to see it fall into the unprotected hands of a stationary outfielder.

"What a lucky stiff to catch all like that on me," he exclaimed. "He was playing me all wrong. I never hit over there."

Aside of these two annoyances, speed of runner and batted ball and the wrong-field hitting, the adjusted infield pattern figures to stop a maximum number of drives. I once saw Miller Huggins lose two Yankee ball games on successive days in Detroit by playing the pattern to proved each foul line against pinch hitter Johnny Sauser, who always hit down the lines. Sauser singled between short and third one day, and then to the right of the second baseman the next.

"It's ten to one he hits down the lines," Huggins muttered bravely. "Sauser owns me the eighteen."

Sure enough, Sauser pinch hit the third day and right into the Yankee third baseman's hands. Sauser left the big leagues that year and Huggins never got the percentage due him, though his Yankees won the pennant up 12 games.

Basis of pattern play is the area covered by each infielder and making those four areas come as close as possible to touching. A good manager who knows the opposition hits (and knows also the others) in the centre of an egg-shaped area. The marks the extend of ground the shortstop can cover and still get the ball in time to retire the hitter. Speed of batted ball and hitter determines the size of that imaginary oval. The area is wider when the shortstop plays deep for a slow runner. It is necessarily smaller when he comes into challenge the double-barreled speed.

The manager visualizes that coverage area around each of his infielders. When the edges touch — as they do, for instance, when the four play deep for a slow runner — no ground ball figures to get through, barring an error. When he shifts the pattern to play the first and second baseman deep, with the shortstop almost to the baseline and the third baseman on the grass, he is pretty sure that the batter is a left-handed pull hitter who usually hits to right. The manager then instructs his pitcher accordingly. An exaggeration of this pattern play was the Boudreau shift for Ted Williams. It was novel, but not new, for it was used against Ernie Lombardi and, in later years, against Joe DiMaggio. I saw it used many times against Babe Ruth, and I also saw Babe intentionally slice a blooper over the third baseman's head and laugh as the fielders charged after the ball in unprotected left field. Today such a shift is standard defence against full hitters like Johnny Mize, Hank Sauer and Ralph Kiner. Very few dead left — or right-field hitters upset the apple cart, for they are pulling for the fence on their strong side.

While every situation cannot be foreseen, the possibilities that might defeat a given pattern of defence should be discussed. Too often see big league infielders suddenly hold up a game and talk to the pitcher or another infielder. His face just thought of another possibility, or is checking a planned movement.

It is important that the pitcher know each of these movements and possibilities. He should be ready to help the defence, especially on bunts and slow rollers. Above all, he should know the way to move, and always cover or back up third base when the ball is being thrown around the diamond. The pitcher can be made a part of the infield pattern without any trouble and, except for the first baseman, all in- fielders should be able to play any position and switch when needed.

George Sisler was a great college pitcher and outfielder at Michigan University. He started his big league career as a left-handed pitcher, beating such immortals as Walter Johnson, Smoky Joe Wood, Ed Sisler played 70 games in the outfield. During his second year, 1916, he played a few games at third base, and the next year he played a few games at second base, Lefty stated, but Of course there was only one Sisler, but you get the idea.

McColl Paces Wooler to Win Over Northern

Barney McColl's big bludgeon teamed up with his good pitching arm last night at Alemite Field as he led Wooler to a 3-3 victory over Henry Ilesa's Northern District.

McColl restricted the Hornetsen to five scattered hits and his 3-run circuit blast in the third virtually settled the issue there and then.

The big hurler had set the Electrics down with a lone hit by James in the second and was enjoying a one-run lead scored on Schak's double and Leavitt's infield single in the first frame, when the Wooler team came to bat in the bottom of the third.

Austen got a life on an infield single and Leavitt drew a walk. McColl strode to the plate and blasted a line-drive home run down the right field line to give his team a 4-0 lead.

Electrics struck back in the top of the fourth to narrow the margin to two runs. Deshaie cracked out a clean single and Wardhaugh went to first on Mc-Coll's error. Cousins and Papsanckk went out and when Schak dropped James' bid for a hit both runners scored. James went out on a play from second to short-stop.

Wooler lengthened their lead in the fifth, when Schak scored on a fielder's choice, a walk, and an error to the pitcher.

Northern got that run back in their half of the fifth on Deshaie walks and bunt singles by Mulvihill and Deshaie. Wooler, in deep trouble for the first time in the game at this point, were bailed out by second baseman G. Austen, who speared Cousin's line drive and doubled Mulvihill off second base to register an unassisted double play.

Northern, in trouble every inning, kept the score from mounting to astronomical proportions with double plays in the third and seventh frames. Harry Wardhaugh pulled in Harder's line drive to third and doubled off Schak to register the second unassisted double play of the game. Poor base running and Northern's timely errors left a dozen Wooler runners stranded over the distance.

Slow-balling Jack Holmes went all the way on the hill for Northern, walking four, striking out five, and giving up 13 hits for 3 runs. Big Harry McColl struck out seven, walked six, and gave up a measly five singles to register the win.

Carl Austen led the winners with four singles in five trips. DeRaishe had two of his club's five hits in four trips.

The line-up:

Wooler: Cousins; Austen 1b; Leavitt 3b; McColl p; Schak ss; Austen 2b; Harder lf; Harder c; Fox rf; G. Austen 2b.

Northern: Elmer ss; Miller ss; Locke 1b; Mulvihill 2b; Deshaie cf; Wardhaugh 3b; Cousins lf; Papsanckk c; Holmes p; Hailey in 8th.; James c, replaced by Rone in 9th. Holmes p; Young batted for Holmes in 9th.

Success Over Brewtown Braves Brings Drowsy Giants Out Of Doldrums

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

ONCE IN A LIFETIME!

Four years ago come August we were sojourning at Killarney Lodge, Algonquin Park, on a bit of a vacation as the guest of mine host, Elwood Moore.

We were sitting outside the well-appointed log cabin, feeding a friendly, but voracious chipmunk the last of a king-size bag of peanuts. It was evening and the sun had set in a rosy, somewhat tawny, glow behind the magnificent grandeur of the forest-covered hills of the park.

After two or three prodigious yawns (the air in the park acts as an anaesthetic, especially after a steak dinner), we had decided to hit the sack when we heard our name called from the direction of the lodge. "C'mon over, if you want to see a fish what is a fish," sang out Mr. Moore.

The hall roused the "camp." . By the time we arrived, a crowd of excited guests were grouped around Ed. Riley, Lockport, N.Y., tavern-owner. On the table lay the biggest small mouth bass these fish-hungry optics had ever seen. It was "Ole Black Joe" (later identified as "Old Black Josephine), reigning small mouth monarch of the Algonquin Lakes. She tipped the scales at eight pounds, four ounces (that record has since been broken) measured 22½ inches in length and 19¼ inches in girth.

Ed., who was as excited as a small boy after catching his first panfish, hopped around as playful as a chorus girl with her first bill part in a Broadway musical. He tipped a generous dosage of "Mountain Dew" (American) in a glass and let it trickle slowly down Josephine's throat. Whereupon all the male action in the vicinity tried to make a noise like a freshly-captured bass.

Ed. lured the big fella with a piece of crabmeat and hoisted it after a stiff 35-minute battle. He caught the prize-winning beauty—fact garnered $200 in prize money at the end of the season)—in Rock Lake, off Whitefish Lake, a short distance east of Killarney.

Josephine's jaws bore the scars of many a battle with a hook. In fact a part of one was imbedded in the upper jaw when the fish was caught.

Josephine was a tried and true warrior of the small mouth shock troops. She "broke water" at least six times before bowing to the inevitable. She dashed for the safety of her second home beneath a large reef that hugged the shore, staying there for minutes at a time. Then she came out fighting at the sound of an imaginary gong.

"Many times I gave up hope that I would land the fish," Riley said afterwards. "The fighting ability was almost uncanny, and it gave me the hardest battle I have had in six, teen years of fishing in Algonquin Park and northern New York lakes and streams."

Ed. had the beauty stuffed and mounted and if you are ever in his Lockport tavern, look over the television and midway down the bar and there is "Josephine" smiling down in all her finny glory.

All of which is an approach to the fact that the bass fishing season is just around the corner, and lovers of this brand of piscatorial warfare are readying their gear for the season-opening July 1st.

And Ed. Riley's experience with "Josephine" evidences the truth of the statement of Dr. James A. Henshall, who said: "He has the arrowy rush and vigor of a trout, the unstiring strength and bold leap of the salmon, while he has a system of fighting tactics peculiarly his own. I consider him, guards the nest jealously and will strike at anything that swims.

Right now "Ed" Bass is readying himself for the seasonal bout which lasts until October 15. He has been in an ugly mood for the past month for he has been practicing for the battle of battles, and during that session he's just about the "fightingest" puppa that ever took care of his brood. He guards the nest jealously and will strike at anything that approaches, even a chip of wood.

Lands and Forest Dept. officials say that Johnny Bass prefers minnows and fingerlings as a menu during the "fighting season", but its stock food consists of crayfish with a side order of insects when available.

However he will go for any number of artificial baits, such as plugs, spoons, spinners, June bugs which are cork-bodied or wood imitations of various insects—if he is in the mood.

And he is a tasty cuss. Skinned, filleted and fried in bacon fat or butter, he matches the pickerel for fish delicacy. He is no matter how he's cooked, Johnny Bass is still one of the world's finest game fish. And he'll be ready at all weights, to take on any angler this Dominion Day.

TAGTEAMERS AGAIN!

"Shure, and it's us that'll be makin' Yorkshire puddin' out of these rural beef self-styled lords a' wrestlin' creation," warbled Timothy Geohagen, the Irish strong boy, pride of Cork and the terror 'o the colleens from Killarney to Galway Bay. Timmy had just learned he had been signed to team up with popular Don Jonathan in a tag team battle with m'lads Layton and Blears here on Friday night.

"And didn't I get in a couple of good licks at the spalpeens last Friday night,' grinned the irrepressible Tim. "Why, the shame av it. Them omadhauns gettin' the decision over Jonathan and Bobo. Twas not fair, 'twas not. And 'tis us that will be ashowin' them come Friday what's who in a tag team battle."

"Dirty" Dick Raines, of the lacrosse of Raines and Flemmer, will take on Robert Durnatine, a newcomer, in the semi-final, while the terrible Tizer Tasker will be back to clash with likable Bill Stack.

Move in On St. Louis Cards For Second Showdown Series; Tribe Beats Senators Twice

By Ben Pelegar
Associated Press Sports Writer

Leo Durocher's Giants, finally exhibiting signs of arousing from their spring doldrums, move in on St. Louis Cardinals tonight for their second straight showdown series with a first-division club.

Flushed with success after gaining two victories and a tie out of a four-game series with the league-leading Milwaukee Braves, New York has a chance to prove to its followers that it may yet fulfil pre-season predictions.

Leo's lads generally were picked to finish no worse than third. But most of their battling so far has been to keep up to the .500 mark and homeowners within striking distance of the first division.

Durocher is going back to one of his old stalwarts in an attempt to whip the third-place Cards. He's sending lefty Dave Koslo to the mound.

To Start Koslo

For seven years Koslo has been no mystery to the other clubs but he has baffled the Red Birds regularly. The seven hits tonight has been missing. He's tried twice and failed against the Cards in relief in game in Cincinnati last week.

If Leo starts Koslo both nights tonight, he will know there's hope for his club yet.

The Giants will be meeting St. Louis during one of the Cards' better periods. In the current home stand the Cards have won six out of seven including a 4-1 conquest over Pittsburgh Monday night.

Brooklyn continued its miserable western trip with a 9-4 loss to Chicago Cubs while in the American League Cleveland Indians won a pair of 5-3 contests from Washington Senators. The rest of the clubs in both leagues had the day off.

The Dodgers' loss shoved them three full games behind the Braves. Cleveland trails New York Yankees by 10½ games.

Staley Wins 10th

Gerry Staley joined the so-far select group of 10-game winners as he checked the Pirates on eight hits. Ernie Slaughter drove in three runs with a double and another one with a single.

The Braves' seventh home run threat the Cubs were hoping for when they bought Ralph Kiner, along with Hank Sauer worked against the Dodgers.

Frank Baumholtz and Dee Fondy singled in the fourth and Kiner delivered them with his 15th homer. The crowd was still cheering when Sauer promptly added his 19th circuit blast into the same section.

The Indians combined timely hitting with consistent pitching to win two games in a row. Bobby Feller and Bob Lemon both went the distance. His teammates backed Feller with a 14-hit attack in the first game but Washington's three home run barrage against Walt Masterson that was the second.

SATCH SAYS HE'S 47

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Satchel Paige is 47 years of age. The ageless hurler said so himself here Monday when he applied for a Pennsylvania fishing licence. In town with the Kansas City Athletics of the American League for an exhibition game, Satch decided to go fishing. He needed a license and to obtain it had to give his age.

Vancouver Star In 4th Round

TORONTO (CP)—A strong contender for Canada's Davis Cup team, Larry Barclay of Vancouver, advanced into the fourth round of the men's singles in the Toronto Cricket Club's 13th annual invitation tennis tournament Monday night.

The stocky west coast lad, ranked sixth in Canadian tennis, defeated young Peter Stirrup of the Toronto club, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1. It was Barclay's first match.

Lorne Main, formerly of Vancouver and now of Toronto, defeated George Crucchi, Toronto 6-1, 6-2, in another third-round match. In a second-round match, Bill Kovaleski of Washington, D.C., vanquished Bob Middleton of Toronto 6-4, 6-3.

Royals' Nelson Hits 3 Homers, Two Singles

By the Canadian Press

Rocky Nelson is the talk of the International Baseball League today, and why shouldn't he be?

The echo of the 28-year-old Montreal first-baseman's bat exploding for three homers Monday night was heard all over Montreal stadium. He also got two singles for a clean sweep at the plate in pacing the top-spot Royals to a 21-5 victory over Syracuse Chiefs.

Nelson, who bats and throws right-handed, tied the Montreal record for the most round-trippers in a single game by a player. He fell one homer short of tying the loop record.

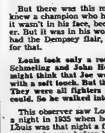
The first baseman, who played part of last season with the parent Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League, batted in 10 runs—a record so far this year for a single game.

Every Royal, except one, got part of the 21 hits off five Syracuse pitchers. Roy Hartsfield hit four times in the Montreal attack on the plate and Ken Wood hit four for six. Each got a triple in the game.

Nelson's big blasts included a grand slam and three two-run homers. They brought his home-run total this season to nine.

Montreal, Toronto, who took over from Bob Ludwick in the first game, Lou Ortiz and Tom Burgess hit for the circuit.

Batting Springfield Cubs and Toronto Maple Leafs split a single twin bill, the Cubs taking the abbreviated opener 4-2 and the Leafs the closely-fought nightcap 3-2.



John Prycha went the distance for Springfield in the first game, striking out nine for his third win since joining the Cubs. He held Toronto to seven safeties, including Mike Goliat's homer.

Bobby Hogue had his fifth win in nine decisions in the second contest, but needed help from Ray Shore in the seventh.

The rampaging Cubbie Bisons, crushed Baltimore Orioles 9-4 un-leashing a barrage of 17 hits. It was Buffalo's 13th triumph in 17 games.

The Calvert Sports Column

by Elmer Ferguson

It was seventeen years ago this week—the count is correct—since Joe Louis became the fourth American Negro...

It's silly, in the writing game, to deal in superlatives. Joe Louis may not be the greatest heavyweight champion that the ring ever has known. Anybody that says he was runs himself into a flood of arguments. Fitzsimmons, Corbett, Dempsey, Johnson, Jeffries, Fitzsimmons and Corbett. Or all the way back to those who think the ring never has seen the equal of John L. Sullivan.

But there was this much about Joe Louis. The ring never threw a champion at his head more unhinged or off his feet, it wasn't in his face, because he was strictly a dead-pan fighter. But it was there in the lethargy of his attack. He had the Dempsey flair, and the Dempsey controlled savagery for that.

Louis took only a round to dispose of opponents like Max Schmeling and John Henry Lewis, and after that anybody might think that Joe would ease up a little when he came up with a soft touch. But there were no soft touches in Joe's book. They were all fighters trying to knock his brains out if they could, the best of them and the worst of them to the last one.

This observer saw Louis when he was, possibly, at his peak, a night in 1935 when he made Max Baer quit in four rounds. Baer, who had come to Toronto from the Coast to start any opponent, even before he raised a glove. Because he was so coldly, so utterly indifferent to his opponent, Louis was first in the ring that night. He dropped into his chair, and looked up at a place that was circling above the ringside. Baer entered the ring, glanced toward his opponent. But Louis didn't take his eyes from the place. Without expression, he watched the circling flight above. Baer, proud of his champion, wasn't accustomed to being treated like this. He was plainly disturbed and nervous. But he was confronted by a cobra, of unknown quantity that seemed to exude a cold, lethal threat. He was being ignored. And from that moment, before a blow was struck, before the impassive and sombre Louis had moved from his corner, Baer was a beaten man. The fight itself was merely a matter of efficiently conducted routine.

I saw Louis again. Louis at the end of the trail, Louis in his thirties, fighting a young, clever Hazard Charles, a Louis whose reflexes had faded, whose fists no longer carried lightning. In his prime, Louis would have knocked out Charles in a few rounds. But this was a Louis stumbling against the heavier of athletic age, whose fists weren't fast enough to do what his brain commanded. A light of truth's cruel

Marlene In Third Round; Rated Favorite

BOATHCAWL, Wales (Reuters) — Soldiers of Canada's occupation Army took get through to the third round of the British women's open championship golf tournament, which began on the Royal Porthcawl links here Monday.

The five who now are among the last 32 in the running include Canadian champion Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., who played some of the day's best golf to win two matches easily—and by margins so great that even approximate scores were difficult to assess.

Miss Stewart did not have to match the set-back of 36 of the young Belgian challenger Arlette Jacquet, who was survived in the second rounds.

Miss Stewart is still a top favorite. She beat a fellow-Canadian, Mrs. F. R. Todd of Victoria, 6 and 5, in the first round.

Mary Gay of Waterloo, Ont., Canada's top amateur golfer, defeated Ireland 3 and 2 in the first round. Then Gail Anne Mackenzie of Toronto defeated C. MacGeagh of Ireland 3 and 1 and Dainty Chisholm of Montreal defeated Doe Brooks of Ireland 3 and 1 in other first-round matches.

In the second round, Miss Stewart trounced Mrs. Alexander Hector of Bristol, 7 and 6, and Miss Gay defeated Nancy Jupp of Scotland, 3 and 1.

The second Canadian to be defeated was Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal who lost a second-round match to Mrs. Brock Park of Bermuda, 2 and 1.

High School Players Get Rich Bonuses

DETROIT (AP)—Happy and bewildered, two June high school graduates today had their diplomas and $25,000 apiece from Detroit Tigers as bonus players.

Robert Lauther, 17-year-old Berwyn, Ill., high school pitcher, was given a $60,000 bonus, and Albert W. Kaline, 18, Baltimore, Md., high school outfielder, received a reported $53,000.

It was the biggest bonus spree ever staged by the Tigers, who hope the promising teenagers will help the Bengals out of the American League cellar this year—or some day.

Miller won 23 and lost six in three seasons for Morton High School in Berwyn. Kaline batted .427 in three years with Southern High School in Baltimore.

Guelph Loses Six in Row; London Wins

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Guelph Maple Leafs are losing ground in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League.

The Leafs have lost six straight games, the latest Monday night to London Majors 5-1. The Leafs now have dropped to sixth place and are just managing to keep ahead of St. Thomas Elgins and the cellar-dwelling Galt Terriers.

Kitchener Panthers defeated Oshawa Merchants 7-4 and Waterloo Tigers took a 5-3 victory from Galt in other Monday night games.

Bob Straigler, newly-acquired southpaw, made his first start with the Majors a successful one, going the route for the victory. He was wild in spots but held the Leafs to five hits. Guelph's Lead-off youthful southpaw, lost his second straight game.

London went ahead with a three-run burst in the fifth inning on three hits, an intentional walk and a Guelph error. They scored two more off Guelph reliever Lee Smith in the ninth when Jim Hallard homered with a man aboard.

Kitchener batted a four-game winning streak by the fifth-place Merchants. Highlighter Chuck Fedoris, who relieved starter Wally Beggs in the fifth, was credited with the win. Gord Johnson, Oshawa righthander, was tagged with the loss.

Merchants tallied all their runs in the fifth. They put together a couple of hits, two walks and an error to score four runs. Also in the fifth the Panthers bunched four hits for four runs to take the lead after adding single runs in the second, third and fourth.

Waterloo got most of the breaks to defeat the Terriers. The Tigers won the game in the seventh on Ed Soto's walk, Rolly Larouche's free trip to first base on a questionable hit by pitched ball and Don Oberndorfer's infield hit for two runs.

Ted Szymanski started for Galt but got into trouble in the sixth with a pair of two-baggers and a passed ball, yielding five hits for three runs and the loss. Wray Upper, who replaced Andy Curowski at second, bit a 340-foot homer in the third.

Tonight Brantford plays at London and Wednesday night Kitchener is at Galt, St. Thomas at Waterloo, and Guelph at Oshawa.

Television Not as Bad as It Seems; Talbot Comes Up With Explanation

BY GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — From the comments we have heard there seems to be some confusion among those who witnessed the middleweight fight between Bobo Olson and Paddy DeMarco the other night. The television customers claim that what they saw didn't jibe with what they heard.

They say they saw Olson belting Young all over the ring and raising welts on his features, while at the same time the commentator was assuring them that Bobo merely was slapping Paddy with open gloves and wasn't hurting him much, really. Some thought they saw Paddy stagger a time or two, as though he might have been fetched a hook on the jaw with a balled-up fist.

Our advice in such a case as this, where there obviously is a wide divergence of opinion between the commentator and the boxer who is getting bit, is to hitch up a little closer to the screen and sharply reduce the volume of sound. That should even things up.

Not Understand

A second group which appears to be having some trouble since the advent of TV is the horse racing audience.

One of the things they do not understand, for example, is the fact that a good, steady rain in the course of an afternoon may actually make a track faster than it would have been if the sun had remained out. They want to know how come the announcer says the track is fast when they can see the water coming down with their own eyes.

The case in point was the running of the Belmont Stakes here on a recent Saturday. Native Dancer won it from Jamie K. in the remarkable time of 2:28 3-5 for the mile and one-half, only two-fifths of a second off the record for the 85-year-old event. Although torrents in millions of homes glistened with moisture and everyone at Belmont plainly was soaked, they called the racing strip "fast." Some thought this gave Ali Vassiliadis's colt less than full credit for his great achievement.

Not at all, says our horse racing agent. The fellow who's going to "call" the track knows it's raining, all right, but he's more interested in the times made in the preliminary races. On Belmont day he saw a number of average dogs he knew personally come bouncing down in near-record time just before the big race was run. He knew then that just the right amount of water was on the track to make the horses love it.

Fiore Defeats Klein

BROOKLYN (AP)—In a gruelling welterweight fight at Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night, rugged Carmine Fiore pummeled tough, but less experienced, Joey Klein for a unanimous 8-round decision. Fiore weighed 146¾, Klein 147½.

There were no knock-downs but many jolting blows were landed. Fiore connecting to the head several times with his dangerous left hook.

Red Schoendienst, Mickey Vernon Top Major Hitters

NEW YORK (AP)—Versatile Bill Goodman of Boston Red Sox is proving Washington's Mickey Vernon for batting honors in the American League.

Goodman, who performs equally as well at first base, second base or in the outfield, went on a batting spree last week that lifted him into the runner-up position with a .327 mark. Vernon leads the league with .33. Figures include Sunday's games.

The Boston handyman gained 22 points as he went 13-for-37, a .447 pace. Goodman won the batting crown in 1950 with .354.

Vernon regained the top spot from Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees, who fell to third with .326.

In the National League batting race Red Schoendienst of St. Louis Cards has moved from a 14-point lead with .344. Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson is in his heels at .340. Schoendienst, third last week, displaced Johnny Wyrostek of Philadelphia Phils as the leading hitter. Wyrostek isn't eligible this week because he has not been at bat 139 times.

Duke Snider of the Dodgers and Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn share third position with .319 each.

Pittsburgh's bonuses in the American loop go to lefty Ed Lopat of the Yanks with an 8-0 won-lost record. Relief specialist Lew Burdette of Milwaukee is the National League leader with a 7-2 slate.

WANTS TO BE REFEREE

BRANTFORD (CP)—Al Dekdebrun, former Big Four Football League quarterback now operating two sporting goods stores in Buffalo, N.Y., has applied for an official's position in the National Football League, it was learned Monday in Silverwater, Saskatchewan.

He might not make it because he lacks whistle-tooting experience.

Moore Favored Over Maxim

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—It took 6 years for Archie Moore to achieve the goal of a world champion in boxing and the 36-year-old ring veteran from California doesn't intend to surrender the title he holds as the top light heavyweight in his 15-round fight with Joey Maxim Wednesday night.

Moore has seen enough of the fight game from the lower rung. It was a long, bitter and often frustrating path he trod coming up from the rough competition with a 327 mark. Vernon leads the league with .33. Figures include Sunday's games.

When he got his chance he made the most of it. This was in St. Louis last December when he handed the champion, Maxim, an artistic lacing in 5 rounds.

The bout is to be televised nationally (CBS network). It will not be broadcast.

Promoters predicted a turnout of 10,000 to 12,000 in the open air Ogden Bowl-Arena and gate receipts approaching $100,000. On top of this will be the television money of the $50,000.

Hogan Arrives For British Open

PRESTWICK (AP)—Ben Hogan landed in Scotland today after a trans-Atlantic flight to prepare for the one major golf tournament he has never won—the British Open. He's never tried it before.

It was a tanned and smiling Hogan who told those who came to greet him that he had made the trip for three reasons: "Everyone back home wanted me to, this year the British Open doesn't interfere with anything I wanted to play in it, and because I am told Carnoustie is one of the finest courses in the world."

The open will be held on the testing Carnoustie layout July 6-10.

BRAVES CATCHER HURT

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP)—Paul Burris, reserve catcher for Milwaukee Braves, suffered a fractured dislocated elbow Monday night in a collision at home plate during an exhibition between the Braves and their Eau Claire farm club in the Northern League. A physician said that probably ended the season for Burris.

The Braves won the game 13-11.

People who appreciate fine cars are turning to Monarch

"...the kind of car I've always wanted to drive"

It was Frank Wayland, a sales-manager I met last winter, who put me onto Monarch. He drives one himself and likes it so well he's always talking Monarch to his friends. He persuaded me to ask my dealer for a demonstration, and now that I'm driving my own Monarch I appreciate just a big favour he did me. This is the kind of car I've always wanted to drive. I suppose it's only natural to feel a kind of pride in owning something as luxurious-looking as a Monarch—but there's more to it than that—If you haven't driven a V-8 lately, you're in for a pleasant surprise. It's so smooth you don't really know it's there—until you want it in a hurry. Then there's no doubt about it. Must remember to drop a line to Frank Wayland and tell him how right he was about Monarch. A sales-manager sold me— but the car itself is keeping me sold. You could be next customer, for . . . ask your Monarch dealer for a demonstration today.

This puzzle has been going around the world for a century or more. It appeared in my column with its solution when I began to write it about the time contract was born.

A new generation of players find it interesting. So, drag it out and try it on your friends. South is declarer at seven hearts and must take all 13 tricks. West leads the club king.

Make no fuss about how south happened to become the declarer. Or how they reached the grand slam in that suit. It was during the days of which when the trump was turned by the dealer.

Notice at once that diamonds must not be led until west has all the trumps taken away from him. Notice also that your south has a flock of losing clubs that must be saved in some way.

No use trying to ruff them with dummy's hearts. Because you can not get back to your south hand often enough. Therefore, your only hope is to save them by shuffs on dummy diamonds.

Sounds good. But watch out. If you take west's trumps out with four rounds of that suit, your south ace and king of diamonds will block the dummy. Because you have no spade to enter there.

Until you take out west's trumps you dare not lead out your ace and king of diamonds to unblock that suit for dummy. Because west will ruff a diamond if you lead that suit.

This tells you that you must find a way of unblocking your two south diamonds. And it must be done without leading that suit while west has trumps. And dummy must be in to lead diamonds finally.

There is a way of doing all this; unblocking diamonds safely. See if you can. Or wait and, I'll tell you.

Frankford Sport

FRANKFORD — Frankford Legion wracked up their second win of the season, this time over the Glen Miller Royals, on Friday night squeezing out an 11-8 victory. Most of the credit for the victory went to Paul Spurrel, who cracked out a single, triple and a home run.

Montgomery got credit for the win, his second, with Hearns receiving. Melarky went the route for Glen Miller.

The Legion, as well as all other teams that have played the Royals this season, were high in their praise of Melarky's boys, both in spirit and in sportsmanship. With a team, most of which are of midget age, Glen Miller is in there fighting all the way. Everyone agrees that in another year or two they will have a team that nobody will push around.

Glen Miller took the lead, and held it until the sixth, when Frankford buried visitors in an eight-run barrage.
